BURIAL OF HATCHET

Hostilities Come to an End Between Classes of 1908 and 1909

The Night-Shirt Parade—Struggle for the Transparencies—Speeches of the Four Orators Around the Bonfire—Seventeenth of March Celebration Concluded by Singing "The Mountains."

With the burial of the hatchet on the old campus last Saturday evening, and the gathering of the entire college around the bonfire afterwards, the 1906 cane week ended with entire success. The wet blanket of snow was only a literal one, not figurative, for the cold and wet had little effect on the interest shown. The spectacular parade, the hard-fought battle for the transparencies on West College hill, the harder scramble in the snow and mud about the bonfire, the eloquent speeches of the orators from the lower classes, and a hatchet oration that Mark Twain would have been proud to own, brought the seventeenth to its closing scene. At the conclusion of the final oration, as the hatchet blazed on the fire, the classes formed around the dying embers, gave cheers for one another, and the March 17th celebration concluded with a long yell for the college and the singing of "The Mountains."

The Parade

The night-shirt parade started from the opera house in a blaze of glory at 7.48 p. m., headed by Nichols' Cadet band of North Adams. In the drag containing the senior March 17th committee, the senior secret committee and the speakers, were the following: Appell, Blaisdell, Botsford, Bowman, Brady, Clapp, Cowell, Curtis, Hogan, Kenuey, Leland, Macnutt, Nomer, Page and Schell, 1906, J. H. Fischer 1908 and K. J. Howe 1909. The freshman class, attired in night-shirts and liberally provided with red lights and Roman candles, followed in ranks of four.

The illuminating feature of the parade was the four transparencies, though hardly up to previous standards of artistic and humorous merit. The shortcomings of 1908 and the achievements of 1909 bore the illustrative burden, but the sophomore who labors while he slumbers, and other references, too personal for publication, were also prominent. On the return march, opposite the president's house, the transparencies were attacked by the sophomores, and disappeared after a good defense.

1909 CANE COMMITTEE

Fight Around the Bonfire

Around the huge bonfire on the old campus the underclassmen formed two circles, the freshmen nearer the fire. At a given signal, the circles locked and the mud, snow and night-shirts mingled. At the conclusion of about half the usual time about twice the usual number of night-shirts had refused to part company with their owners.

Initial Speech

After the last vestige of conflict had subsided Harold Adin Nomer '06, of Plainfield, N. J., made the initial speech.

He began by extending the greetings of the college to all present. "The men of 1908 have always shown themselves men of nerve and spirit, I repeat it, men of nerve." In introducing the speakers, he said that the sophomores had always been good boasters, but (at the close of the freshman orator's speech) "if the sophomores are good boasters the freshmen are good exaggerators." He finished by introducing the sophomore orator.

Sophomore Orator

John Herman Fischer 1908, of Weeping Water, Neb., rose amid cheers from his classmates. His speech soared to heights of oratory to which abstracts can do no justice, and was long on the wing.

"A blight has fallen upon the college in the advent of 1909, which some day, we hope, will become worthy of the title of class. * * * The freshness of 1909 is monumental, their timorous spirit, unequal to the task of starting bonfires, well shown when they mistake a passing train for a band of sophomores. * * * I would

THE VALUE OF DECISION

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, preached the third sermon of the series which he gave in Berkshire county, Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in the chapel, before about 250 students and townspeople.

Dr. Hillis took as his text Christ's reply to the rich young ruler and its effect, as found in Mark 10: 17-23, and began by outlining the Bible story, laying emphasis on its conclusion: "And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved; for he had great possessions."

The rich young ruler did not go away angry, he was merely grieved. He admitted, as so many of us do, that Christ was right, but still he was not willing to give up his all. He did not stand by his convictions. In the same way Daniel Webster, in reaching for the glitter of the presidential nomination against the advice of his friends, was the rich young ruler, as was Stephen A. Douglas in the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago in 1859-60.

It took some time for the ruler to see that Christ was just and he intended to make his noble sacrifice—"on the morrow." He lacked decision, he procrastinated.

There is always this difference between two equally talented men; one postpones, the other rises up quickly, girds himself, and acts. "There are so many people who arrive at the station anywhere from fifteen minutes to six months after the train goes out." It was indecision, then, which destroyed this noble boy. More people are

LIT. ELECTIONS

Six New Members Chosen—Dutton '07 Re-elected Editor-in-Chief

At a meeting of the Literary Monthly board held Friday evening George Burwell Dutton 1907, of Buffalo, N. Y., was re-elected editor-in-chief, and Otis Chamberlain Morrill 1907, of Portland, Ore., elected business manager, for the coming year.

The following new members were elected to the board: William Mansfield Clark 1907, of Salisbury, Conn.; William Richmond Witherell 1907, of North Adams; Willard Ansley Gibson 1908, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Stanton Budington Leeds 1908, of New York city; Gerald Mygatt 1908, of New York city; and Bernard Westermann 1908, of Overbrook, Pa.

Mission Work in New York

Dr. A. F. Schaeffer '67 spoke in reminiscent vein on his life-work in connection with the New York city mission, before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening.

He opened by summarizing the grave problems which confront that city. Passing on to methods of mission work he remarked that the meetings never induced sleep such as he had witnessed in chapel services here.

His advice to college men was that those who have the desire and capacity for the ministry, take up that work when fitted for it. For the right man there are boundless opportunities anywhere for mission service and equally unlimited satisfaction in practical results.

The New Board

With this issue The Record passes into the hands of the 1906-1907 board. The activities of a college paper fall naturally under two heads, news and editorials, and there may possibly be some interest to know the purpose of the new board in each.

It must always be remembered, in the conduct of a college paper, that it serves two distinct bodies—alumni and students. When close to student activities, it is hard to give the alumni a proportional place. Again, with the increase of college activities, the problem of compression of news into the available space has become acute. To meet these two difficulties, after Easter the paper will be enlarged to ten pages instead of eight by the printing of four extra columns of news in an inserted sheet.

In securing news, there are three sources from which The Record should receive co-operation; faculty, alumni and student body. It is useless, however, to request this without showing how it may be given. The proceedings of the administration, and the news of the faculty obviously cannot be reported by a student board of editors, but are at the same time of the greatest news value. During the past year certain departments of the college, particularly that of the dean and the director of music, have helped to remedy this defect. If sufficient news of this character, such as addresses given by members of the faculty, faculty publications, administrative decisions, etc., can be secured, they will be placed under the special head of Faculty News.

The second source is the alumni, and particularly the class secretaries. The third is the student body. A year's experience has shown the wisdom of eliminating from the calendar events not of interest to the entire college. Now The Record, as a semi-weekly, cannot hope to take the place of the daily blackboard bulletins, but at the same time should supplement them by affording that often-needed second reminder of such minor college events as rehearsals, practices, meetings of organizations, etc. No board of eleven men can hope to be in constant contact with the leaders of all branches of student activity any more than they can with alumni and faculty, consequently the paper must depend on other sources than itself for this information.

The editorials of an ordinary newspaper are expressions purely of personal opinion. The peculiar situation of a college paper makes it necessary, in addition, that its editorial department express the point of view of the majority of the student body, to explain their attitude to the faculty, the town, the alumni and the outside world. These two necessities are not incompatible. If the opinion of The Record and that of the majority of the student body clash, it is certainly possible to express the trend of opinion of the majority of the college, and give the board's personal opinion as well.

In carrying this out, The Record will try to avoid two pitfalls, hasty, careless criticism, and unfairness. Because of the first pitfall the old "Stroller" was abolished; it gave too tempting a chance for veiled "knocking." The Record will try to present as fairly as possible both sides of every controversy, in deciding between them. Only by so doing can it make the opinions of the majority of the student body carry any weight. However, as a person who makes up his mind for one side cannot be absolutely impartial, the value of communications from the other side can be seen at once. Such communications are welcomed. In this connection it is to be hoped that faculty communications may be more frequent, if for nothing else, to further the present harmony between student body and faculty by a clear statement of faculty position.

We wish to compliment the board which has just retired for what it has done for The Record. While to the board of two years ago the college owes that a semi-weekly was made possible, to the board of 1905-1906 is owed the newspaper energy and system introduced into the news department, and an editorial department characterized by moderation and sound sense. To carry out this efficiency in securing news and conservatism in editorials will be the aim of the present board.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of the Record,
Sir:—

It is quite fitting that those concerned with a college should be warmly interested in anything which pertains to its prosperity. The question in reference to college taxation now before the legislature by the action of college towns, is one not easily grasped in its full breadth. It suggests at once many opinions, while but few of them reach the principles involved.

One may be strongly in favor of taking collegiate education under the guidance of the State, and still find little to be commended in the aid rendered by Massachusetts to her colleges. She has exempted them from taxation, but has laid the burdens of the exemption not on the state but on the towns which entertain the colleges. As far as Williams College is concerned, a decision was reached in the courts a few years ago which narrowed the exemption, subjecting dwellings owned by the college to the same liabilities as other forms of property.

The towns interested are now asking for a law which shall confirm and extend this exemption to this degree: "No real property, owned and occupied by any educational, literary or scientific institution, which is used or appropriated, wholly or in part, for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes or for dormitories, boarding houses, or for the dispensing of food or meals, shall be exempt from taxation."

This bill, if passed, would settle, at least, for the present, the relation of college property to town interests. The primary possession of the college would still remain exempt from town burdens, but the accessory enterprises on which the colleges, from time to time, are wont to enter, would come under the ordinary obligations of other forms of property.

This adjustment is hastily objected to because the colleges are educational in their purpose and look exclusively to the general welfare. To this, the towns reply: A college is intended to serve and does serve, a large territory. The town where it is situated is only a small portion of that territory, and has no other rights and privileges than those which belong to every part of it. It is beyond the strength of the town to have any considerable portion of its resources removed from taxation. If this is desirable, it is the office of the state to accept and perform this duty.

It is further objected that a college brings to a town many social and intellectual advantages, and that these constitute a compensation for exemption. The response comes that these gains, whatever they are, are not to be bought or sold, that it is, at least, as blessed to give as to receive, and this reciprocity must be allowed to rise to and to rest on its own plane. When one asks for a reward for the beneficence of his presence, a doubt is raised as to that beneficence. Men rarely take any thing from others without finding a good reason for it in the profiting of those thus robbed. In slavery times, slavery was justified by the fact that the benighted negro was brought from the dark continent into a Christian country. A portion of those same people would now fling the negro, neck and heels, back into Africa from the same Christian land, if they could.

"But much money is brought into town by faculty and students." When you paid for your dinner, did you ever have a quarter returned to you, because it was so good of you to buy it? If this idea were fully carried out, every first settler or group of settlers would be put under tribute to every succeeding settler or group of settlers for keeping them company. The natural conditions of commerce know no such rule. Reciprocity, absolute and complete, is the law of trade. All that throws town and college off this basis of equality, entangles their relations. The towns have been so long lulled by this sense of receiving, that they no longer ask for equality, but only that the scales may not be made, more and more, to settle against them.

If Prof. Nelson had been present at the hearing, which was lengthy and constantly assuming new phases, he would hardly have found any one of his criticisms applicable. As, however, the report was brief and disjointed, it is not strange that he should have mistaken the tone of the remarks made, and their bearing. It is well, however, to remember that if one makes haste to get in, he incurs the liability of running against the hourglass.

JOHN BASCOM

Editor of The Record:—Permit me to express my admiration for the manner in which the administration just retiring from office has directed the policy of The Williams Record. Following the able editor of last year, the chairman from 1906 has rendered the news department of the paper unusually efficient, and editorially has done much to lead and stimulate a wise college spirit. This service to Williams is a great one, and for it the retiring editor-in-chief deserves the thorough appreciation of the college.

Yours truly,

Wm. Smith Pettit.

Have you carry away with you as a precious gem in the casket of memory the fact that we, the class of 1908, are the first class in the entire history of the college that has ever won the sweater rush. He concluded by dilating upon other 1908 exploits and victories.

At the conclusion of his speech, Nomer introduced the freshman speaker, Kenneth Jenkins Howe, of Mount Vernon, N. Y. "1909 will not bear the name of class because 1908 has already disgraced that name." The victories of the freshmen in the rushes, the thrilling description of the sophomore battery work in the interclass game, 1909's never-equalled-in-six-years track victory, and the subsequent rushes when "the sophomores found that the Spring street mud was dirty," were told amid yells, appreciative and otherwise.

He bewailed the "lack of an appropriate liquid in which to drink to the class that has always been beaten, has been beaten tonight and always will be beaten—1908! To the victors belong the spoils," but the victors, 1909, don't want 1908 because they are too much spoiled."

The Hatchet Buried

Alfred Miller Botsford '06 closed the program with the hatchet oration, given in a particularly happy vein. His speech began with a number of pat jokes and easily carried off the honors of the evening. He said in part:

Ladies and gentlemen, for I will call you gentlemen in spite of the Boston Transcript—the hostilities (laughter) are over and we come to burn the hatchet. I want to compliment the sophomores on the noble way in which they allowed their irrepressible Lilliputian to escape, borne aloft on the shoulders of his faithful Swain. I am surprised the sophomores couldn't find the canes; the winner of the Dempsey cup, that taxidermist who is always stuffing people, told the fellows where they were. The wily German knew where both the real and the fake box were, only he was in a quandary as to which was which. The other morning he saw that he had to either shave hurriedly or cut chapel. He didn't know whether to cut and shave or shave and cut. I am sorry the audience tonight is so cold. But what if it is zero; zero is nothing. As Judge Tenney said to the student law-breakers, it's a fine day. Closing in serious vein, he urged the two lower classes to put aside class rivalry and all be members of Williams college. "As I throw this hatchet into the fire and the metal melts and fuses into one lump, so may your petty differences also melt away and may you fuse into the body of Williams men."

Spring '06 Hats Now Ready

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

swayed today by indecision than by any other forces. Today there are too many devotees at the shrine in the temple of "Tomorrow," on the street "By and by," in the city called "Never."

"Is our age losing its power to do heroic things?" Great jurists now spend months of labor trying to dodge the laws. Politicians get rid of strong opponents by bribery. Not many rich men are philanthropists. The few men that are not snared by these corrupting influences should be considered great. Wendell Phillips was such a man. He did not net us the young ruler did. Rich in the strength of a noble purpose, he stood for his convictions and his ideals.

We must not betray our great missions. Every time a man resists temptation or firmly renounces a sin he is taking a step toward greatness. "God's hopes are all centered on the occasional rich young ruler with power to rise up, forsake all, and follow Jesus Christ."

on the MaterialThe early beginning of baseball practice, combined with the facilities afforded by the new cage, has brought the work of the squad well along at present. The next cut in the squad will probably be taken directly before the Easter recess when twenty-two or twenty-three men will be retained.The baseball cage has been divided by a long net down the center, providing for practice by two squads at the same time. The cage is not wide enough for an infield, but is long enough to practice the throw from catcher to second, and from short to the plate.
Other nets protect the side-walls and skylights.Coach Dowd left town Saturday after a stay of a week. He will return April 9, and will remain here the rest of the season. When seen Saturday, he expressed himself as very much pleased with the better opportunity for practice given by the cage. With reference to the material in the squad he said:"The material which has appeared so far doesn't seem to me anything more than ordinary, although they are doing well for the time of year. The boys need lots of work, and lots of teaching, before they will make a team. The thing I am going to try to teach them first is speed. They mustn't be so clumsy, and must move around faster and more like ballplayers. I haven't seen enough of the boys to judge them as individuals, but the best man of the new material today is Young.
The team must have some good 'stickers'. The things that most emphasis ought to be laid on in the cage are batting and base-running."Organ Recital TuesdayMr. Salter will give a series of

THE TEAM

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

1906 Basketball Team Second only to Dartmouth—14 Games Won

The 1906 basketball five concluded a successful season with fourteen victories and one tie game to its credit out of the eighteen games played. But one college team defeated Williams. In comparison with last year's championship five, the present team played better basketball at the beginning of the season, although never reaching such a degree of ability as seen in the Minnesota game last year, and only in the last two weeks did the play fall below championship quality. The defeat of this season's intercollegiate league champions and the victories over Syracuse and Colgate, place the Purple second only to Dartmouth in the college basketball ranking.

After rolling up the largest score of the season against Worcester Polytechnic in the first game, the Pennsylvania team, which later won the intercollegiate championship, though at one time 6 points ahead, were finally passed in one of the best contests of the year. A large score was made against M. I. T. On the western trip occurred the Syracuse game, which ended with Williams' withdrawal from the floor with the score 17 to 17, and on the following night an easy win from Rochester. Victories over Tufts and Williston followed, although the latter five, by their close guarding, left the contest in doubt until the last few minutes of play. Wesleyan was beaten in Middletown, and the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. met a like fate after a close first half.

VOL. 20 MARCH 22, 1906 No. 2.

The Basketball Season

Few Williams teams ever started a season with better prospects than the 1906 basketball five. Four players remained of the team which had won a national championship, three of which had played together for three years, and all for two. Disappointment in the new material at the start was balanced by the development of a previously untried player to the same standard as the four experienced men. The season marked the passing of the veterans of 1906, the class to which Williams basketball owes more than to any other save 1903.

In the hard games of the last two weeks of play, the team failed to fulfill the hopes aroused by its excellent work in the preceding two months. The reason for this falling off seems to have been that the team was overtrained, and for this poor condition that the season was too long. There is no branch of athletics in which endurance is more necessary for victory than basketball. A team relying on speed, like Williams, is more affected by poor condition than a team relying on weight and guarding ability, like Dartmouth. Further, the number of weeks over which a schedule is extended makes more difference than the number of games in those weeks. In making out the schedule for next year, the management would do well to keep this in mind and compress the games into smaller compass.

The outlook for next season, as poor as that for this was good, should also be considered. One brilliant player cannot make a team. Williams can hardly hope to develop four men from the players in college, but must rely on new material. However, even if the best of new material should be secured, a championship team can not be expected from men playing together for the first year. That the 1906 team had played long together was one reason for its strength. Next year's schedule should not be made too difficult for the team's ability.

Dartmouth's claim to the championship of the East has already been discussed in these columns. Of the remaining teams, of those in the intercollegiate league U. of P. alone is in the class with Syracuse, Colgate, Williams and Wesleyan. Wesleyan twice lost to Williams, U. of P., Colgate and Syracuse once. Further, Syracuse's claims are lessened by a defeat by U. of P. and Colgate's by a defeat by Syracuse. Comparative scores, then, would place Williams above all other eastern colleges but Dartmouth.

Although the defeats at the hands of Dartmouth were disappointing, one need only ask himself how many Williams athletic teams have held second rank among the colleges of the east, to see that the basketball season of 1905-1906 has been well above Williams' athletic standard. Many of us have, perhaps, hitched our basketball wagon to too bright a star. We have let ourselves be dazzled into expecting too much. It is a safe statement that ten years hence the 1906 five will be ranked among Williams' best basketball teams.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

To the Editor of The Record:—

I ask for a small part of your space for a response to Doctor Bascom's communication in your issue of the 19th March.

I expressly stated in my article to which Doctor Bascom alludes that I had then no intention of arguing the merits of the measure before the legislature. I simply desired to correct some misstatements of fact which Doctor Bascom was reported, in the North Adams Transcript, to have made. These misstatements, it seemed to me, as it seemed to the President of the college, and to all the members of the faculty with whom I have conversed, and to some trustees from whom I have heard, were calculated to do injury to the college. Doctor Bascom upbraid me for rushing hastily into the controversy. I at least had and took the necessary time to find from the treasurer's office that his statements of so-called facts were not true; Doctor Bascom did not have, or did not take, the time to find the truth before he made his argument before the committee on taxation.

Now that I have had more time, and have read Doctor Bascom's two letters, I have nothing to withdraw. Whatever may be Doctor Bascom's theory, or theories, as to the taxation of college property, he made the speech in controversy in behalf of a bill permitting the towns in which colleges are situated to tax their dormitories. He sustained his arguments by certain statements which I have shown to be untrue. Doctor Bascom was not as well informed as he might have been if he had made the inquiry which I, in my haste, did not forget to make.

It is only necessary to add that Doctor Bascom has not replied to my assertion that his facts were incorrect; on the contrary he admits impliedly in his communication to The Record the truth of my assertions. And yet there has been no such withdrawal of the false statements as I have expected. It is sincerely to be hoped that the friends of the measure are unwilling to take advantage of misrepresentations, which may have been made in ignorance, but which were intended for the support of a measure which, if it become a law, will impair the usefulness of colleges, or make education more expensive to students, a measure, therefore, which is an assault upon education.

Mr. Leland Powers Tonight

Mr. Leland Powers, impersonator, of Boston, well known to Williams men as one of the most successful of those who appear each year in the Thompson course, will present tonight in the last entertainment of the season a dramatization of Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" in which he will assume ten different character roles. Although this has been characterized as Dickens' most loosely constructed novel, yet it is also the most theatrical, and hence offers the largest opportunity of any of his novels for dramatic impersonations.

The development of the team reached its highest point in the middle of February when Yale, Brown, Colgate and Syracuse were successively defeated. The Purple won from the Blue at Springfield in a very poor game; the Colgate contest, though faster and closer, was notable for the large number of fouls called on both teams. The twelfth victory was won from Syracuse in probably the fastest home game of the year.

In the concluding games of the season the work of the team was erratic. The first defeat on the home floor in two years was inflicted by Dartmouth, in the last 10 seconds of play. With the team in form again, a very clean game was won from Hamilton, and the strong Washington Continentals defeated Williams by but eight points. Dartmouth decisively disposed of Williams' championship hopes by winning a rough, poorly officialled game 26 to 7 at Hanover, and, in another poor contest, the team brought the season to a close on March 10 by winning from Wesleyan.

INDIVIDUAL CRITICISM

Captain Cowell is absolutely unequalled at handling the ball and breaking away for shots, but is a poor basket-shooter, especially from easy chances. He has been the pivot around which the play of the team centered during the past season, and, always excepting Vose 1903, is Williams' most brilliant basketball player.

Blaisdell has played a consistent, effectual blocking game, often against the best men on the opposing five, and is an accurate shot in a pinch. Although playing at back guard throughout the season, he has played a fair passing game. His worst fault is an unintentional tendency toward roughness.

Gardner plays an unusually good guarding game for a forward, and for three years has had the fewest number of goals scored on him. Usually an accurate passer and a sure shot, his work toward the end of the season fell off, and he missed many easy chances.

Neild takes many long sensational shots with surprising success, is a good passer, but the poorest guarder of the regular five. His work from the foul line, especially steady and accurate in critical moments, has won Williams many games.

Captain-elect Tower is unexcelled at guarding. Though often against bigger men than himself, he allows his opponents few shots, and seems tireless. Though the poorest shot on the team, playing at center this year he has outscored his opponents more than three to one.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

President Hopkins on Taxation

President Hopkins spoke on Tuesday before the legislative committee on taxation in Boston, on the bill regarding the taxation of college property.

He spoke from the standpoint of a citizen, and said that the prosperity of the town depended on the prosperity of the college, which depended on gifts from men outside the state. Taxation would have the effect of taxing those gifts. Nothing has been exempted from taxation since the president's house, while taxes have been paid on professors' houses when, according to a supreme court decision, it was unnecessary.
This has caused a good understanding between college and town.

PRESIDENTS TO MEET

Conference of Y. M. C. A. Leaders April 5-8—Topics of Discussion

In response to an invitation extended some time ago, it has been decided that the annual conference of newly elected student Y. M. C. A. presidents will be held in Williamstown, beginning Thursday evening, April 5th, and continuing through the following Sunday, April 8. Delegates from New England, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware have been invited, including, besides the student presidents, general secretaries of associations, secretaries of city student movements, and state secretaries.

The sessions, which will be held in Jesup Hall, will be addressed by former association presidents and by secretaries related to the general student movement. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the duties, responsibilities and methods of work of the men who lead college associations, to make clear their relation as presidents to all branches of activity of such organizations, and to promote co-operation among those who are to lead the work in eastern colleges.

Among the topics discussed will be: "The Controlling Purpose of the Student Association," "The Association President; his Preparation and his Work," "The Co-operation of the Faculty in the Work of the Association," "The Place of Religious Meetings in the Association," "The Enlistment of Freshmen," "The Promotion of Bible Study among Students," "How Make the Nashville Convention Effective in our Colleges," "The Relation of Students to World-Wide Evangelization," "The World-Wide Student Movement."

BLEAK HOUSE

Finished Presentation by Leland Powers of Scenes from Dickens

Leland Powers renewed his already strong hold on Williams men Tuesday evening in Jesup Hall, when he gave his arrangement of a portion of Dickens' "Bleak House," the entertainment being the last of the Thompson course for the year. Mr. Powers' popularity was shown by the hearty applause which greeted him as he stepped on the stage, his effect on the large audience by the tense silence during the many tragic scenes. His choice of a selection was most happy, giving as it did a wide range for impersonation. It hardly seemed possible that Dickens would "stage" so well.

Mr. Powers impersonated ten characters, of whom perhaps Mr. Tulkinghorn, Hortense and Mr. Guppy were the best. It is rather difficult to use anything but superlatives in speaking of Mr. Powers' art. His knowledge of life is abundant and his humor and pathos ring true. He never permits caricature, and in his most dramatic scenes, conveys enough sense of repressed power to keep him from being melodramatic.

The arrangement from the novel was divided into four parts, the strong scene between Mr. Tulkinghorn and Hortense, and the climax at the end of the first part receiving the heartiest applause.

Sir Leicester Dedlock, the proud, loyal baronet; Lady Dedlock, a complex character whose noble spirit is torn as others come to know her secret—both these were represented with true appreciation. Inspector Bucket, Rosa, and Mrs. Rouncewell, though unimportant personages, were clearly differentiated. Esther Summerson alone seemed somewhat colorless, and this was a true reflection of the character in the novel.

Jo, the London crossing-sweeper, who leads the disguised Lady Dedlock to her first husband's grave, kept the whole audience in laughter, as did also the fawning, conceited Cockney lawyer Guppy, who tells every thing "in strict confidence." The coarse, sly, loud-mouthed Frenchwoman Hortense, who in the end takes revenge for her "ill-treatment" at the hands of Mr. Tulkinghorn by murdering him, was far removed from the quiet, laconic, dignified attorney of the Dedlocks.

It is far more difficult to impersonate adequately such a character as Tulkinghorn than characters with pronounced peculiarities, as Guppy and the French maid, and that Mr. Powers was at his best in impersonating the old lawyer is high measure of his art.

REVIEW OF LIT.

Dr. Wetmore Comments on March Number of the Monthly

The most important contribution to the Literary Monthly for this month is the essay by Shepard Ashman Morgan, entitled "The Greater Fraternity." It is a very thoughtful piece of work and deserves an equally thoughtful reading on the part of every Williams man. A satisfactory review of this essay alone would more than fill the space allowed in The Record for this review. Suffice it to say here that Mr. Morgan describes some of the evils of the fraternity system as worked out in other colleges, and he calls our attention to some dangers that Williams must avoid.

The essay clearly shows, a fact recognized by everyone, that the fraternity system at Williams is on a safe foundation and is not likely to be endangered by any of the evils mentioned. "Williams must always stand first, then may come the fraternities." Such is, I believe, the determination of every fraternity man in Williams College.

Bernard Westermann's two poems show much delicacy of feeling and poetic thought. One enjoys the melody of "Euryale" from the opening verses

"Stone upon stone, the towers stand Back from the sea and the golden sand," to the end.

In his second poem, "Liebestraum," which is particularly fine in its conception and style, the author touches a chord in every heart. Our attention is attracted by the first lines

"Longing is born in the dream-land,

Whither we flee away

Out of the striving present,

Out of the lime-light of day."

No one can fail to enjoy the entire thirty verses.

The poem by Stanton Buntington Leeds, entitled "Till Thou Return," is most charming. It is full of sentiment and its rhythm carries us along, enchanted, to the close of the last verse. Mr. Leeds also has a very pretty little stanza on "The Wind of Evening" in the department of the magazine called Suggestions.

The number opens with Graham Ryle's story of the Far North, "Extreme Occasion." One who takes delight in the stories of Jules of the Great Heart will read this story with interest. It is

LECTURE ON HEREDITY

Dr. E. B. Wilson of Columbia Discusses Its Scientific Position

Through the generosity of Ira J. Geer '82, of Chicago, a lecture was delivered by Dr. E. B. Wilson of Columbia, on the subject "The Key to the Mechanism of Heredity" in the Biological Laboratory Friday evening. His discussion was upon some of the more recently discovered phenomena of biology. The principle of heredity is one of the most important factors in human welfare and progress. Dr. Wilson defined heredity as the native characteristics which are implanted in us from birth; hereditary characteristics, however, are to be distinguished from those which are developed through training, such as the use of the vocal organs or of the limbs.

A hereditary constitution consists of individual units which behave as such, and which may be called hereditary units. Dr. Wilson discussed three phases of the main topic, the presence of unit characters, the fact that these unit characters sometimes cease activity only to appear in future generations, and the fact that when two characters are combined, one often dominates, while the other remains recessive.

The presence of latent characteristics was illustrated by charts showing the results of the cross-fertilization of certain plants; experiments with hybrid guinea pigs were explained with the use of lantern-slides. Taken collectively, such experiments show that inheritance is not the vague process heretofore supposed, but that there is a fixed law of heredity. Experiment has sought to find the proof of hereditary unit character in investigating the number of "chromosomes" in each nucleus or cell, and it has been found that there are equal numbers of these bodies from each parent in a cell, after fertilization. Hereditary characteristics are supposed to proceed individually from the various "chromosomes" of a cell.

In general Dr. Wilson showed the manner in which the subject was treated by scientists of today, with the broad results they have arrived at. In conclusion he predicted that within the next twenty years a much clearer insight will probably be obtained into this naturally complex branch of biology.

Freshmen in Athletics

Athletic eligibility has been a burning question since last fall. The football rules committee which met in New York in December authorized a sub-committee to draw up eligibility rules for the entire country, and these rules will be presented within a week. Recently, on March 8 Brown excluded from athletics "all students in their first year of residence." On Wednesday last a faculty ruling was announced at Amherst prohibiting freshmen "from representing Amherst college on 'varsity' athletic teams after this year." On Saturday, coach Reid of Harvard held a conference with the Dartmouth authorities on this point, and the subject is now under consideration at Wesleyan. Clearly the question of freshmen in athletics must come before this college as well.

NEW YORK

The colleges which have made this radical step have done so, according to their statements, for two main reasons, to stop commercialism and to raise standards of scholarship. Any rule that can check the scouring of preparatory schools for athletes will be welcomed, but this rule cannot do all predicted for it along this line. It will have no effect on far the largest class of athletes, men who come to college primarily for a college education.

There is, however, a very small class of college men who have little hopes of graduation, but can make an athletic name for themselves. Such men could not say "I will just pass the entrance exams, and slide through as long as I can." Forced to spend a year out of athletics, they would not be interested in coming to college. These are the men who are the easiest bait for athletic "proselyters."

The testimony of the West, where a six-months eligibility rule is in effect among the "big nine", would not even support the rule on this point. Experience seems to have shown that the athlete will take his disqualification medicine and then, by staying five years, take part in intercollegiate athletics the full time allowed. It is not probable that the East, with different athletic standards, would go to such lengths as this, but the rule should be coupled with one limiting representation to three years to make its effect certain.

The new rule must stand or fall on the question of scholarship. The case of those opposing it is not weak. They claim that habits of study are largely formed in the preparatory school before coming to college, and the amount of time spent on curriculum work varies very little with the amount of outside work, except in extreme cases.

This view does not seem to give enough place to the formative influence of the college. Freshman year is for many a year of adjustment, and therefore dangerous. It is easy to feel that the only way to rise above one's fellows is to become an athletic hero, at the expense of the curriculum, if necessary. This temptation is strongest at freshman year, just at the time when the demands of the curriculum are greatest, and the first impressions are made upon the faculty. The combination has kept many good men from continuing in athletics, and continuing in college. After a certain limit has been reached, the more athletics, the less study.

Viewed from the stand-point of athletics alone, the rule will hurt the small college more than the large because of the scantier material, will help it more because it will help do away with the large college evil of "proselyting." It will be noticed that all the athletic evils it affects are at a minimum in the small college, and particularly in Williams. The benefit the rule affords to scholarship outweighs the objections brought against it.

The question cannot be decided for the Purple on its merits alone, if the other colleges which are rivals of Williams abolish freshmen from intercollegiate athletics. Not to follow this lead would be to invite here the undesirable element in athletics that in the past has gone elsewhere. Williams' eligibility rules must continue to be kept as strict as those of its opponents. In case of adoption of the rule by Wesleyan and Dartmouth, the athletic ideals of the college would demand a similar adoption here. A step which Williams might not need to take for its own interests would be forced upon it as one of the body of New England small colleges.

Editor of The Record,

Sir:—In regard to the late discussion that has arisen in the college concerning the abolishing of hazing, I should like to say a word. It is not in criticism of the stand taken, but the manner in which it was arrived at. It seems absolutely ridiculous that a body of men of the caliber that Williams students are should vote for a motion one day and the next against it: an outsider might think Williams was a girls' college. It is better indeed to admit you are in the wrong and to change, than to persist in the wrong course after your eyes are opened, but it is best to take plenty of time before coming to a final decision as you are more likely to be in the right.

My suggestion is that in deciding any question that involves the policy of the college as much as the one under discussion, the student body should be addressed by a member of the faculty before and not after the vote is taken, and shown just what stand they take and their reasons for it. Under such circumstances the decision arrived at would be satisfactory to both faculty and student body and a second meeting would be unnecessary.

The library has received from the board of judges of the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis in 1904 a bronze, shield-shaped medal, for deposit with the other exposition medals in the Library. The obverse bears a representation of Louisiana, as a female figure, putting off the cloak of France and receiving a drapery of the American flag from the hands of Columbia. The reverse bears an American eagle. The medal was struck off at the Philadelphia mint.

forceful in expression and well told, though one might wish that the author had made a little greater effort to handle the dialect, or else had omitted it entirely. It is also hard to believe that a man of ordinary intelligence would give a revolver to a man clearly half insane and then lie calmly down to sleep not far away.

The longest story of the month is "Monsieur le Concierge, Detective," by Alfred Phineas Hanchett, Jr. It is altogether a pleasing tale and one that will hold the reader's interest throughout. The conclusion is a complete surprise and is most effective.

"The Gods Decide," a story by Gerald Mygatt, is cleverly written and no reader could put it aside unfinished after once beginning it. Doubtless this is the most dramatic story of the month. In some respects it reminds us of Weir Mitchell's "Autobiography of a Thief." No one can admire the ethics of the "hero" in either story, and both stories are unpleasant, like so many others of the present day.

The dialect piece, "Over the Hills," under the head of Suggestions, is amusing, though the dialect itself is faulty in many places. The scene is clearly New England, but the author is not a Connecticut Yankee at any rate. The reviewer wonders that, towards the end of the journey, the old man did not lean over and exclaim: "Say mister, if the world is as big the other way from my house as it is this, it must be a whacker!"

The departments are equally good. Mr. Lowe's short article on Kellogg Hall must bring up pleasant memories to many a Williams alumnus. The editor of "Sanctum" gives deserved praise to our Honor System, and such student loyalty to Williams as shown after President Hopkins' convincing speech of March 6. Mr. Morgan's timely article in "Chat" should be read by every undergraduate and particularly by every freshman. The editor of the "Sign of the Shears" has a bone to pick with an illogical writer in the Yale Lit. Surely this department, as conducted by the Williams Literary Monthly is interesting and notable.

ALUMNI NEWS

'44—Hon. Marshall Wilcox, the oldest practicing lawyer in Massachusetts, celebrated his 85th birthday on March 19. Mr. Wilcox has practiced law since his admission to the bar in 1847.

'81—Bliss Perry, L. H. D., has been offered an appointment to the faculty of Harvard university as professor of English literature. Even if he accepts, he will not leave the editorship of the Atlantic Monthly, and will not take up academic work until March 1, 1907. The only previous incumbents of the professorship to be held by Dr. Perry have been George Ticknor, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and James Russell Lowell.

Ex-'88—The wedding of Mrs. Susan Andrews Field, widow of Cyrus W. Field, Jr., and Franklin Wells Graves, took place on February 22, in the Reformed church at Greenville, Westchester county, New York. Mr. Graves was a member of the class of 1888 at Williams, and after leaving college was for a number of years a financial writer in New York city. He recently became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and is heavily interested in Mexican mining properties.

OBITUARIES

Ex-'52—Colonel William Fessenden Allen died at his home in Honolulu, Hawaii, on February 5, aged seventy-three. Colonel Allen was born in Brattleboro, Vt., in 1832, the son of Elijah H. Allen. He attended Williams for two years in the class of 1852. When his father was appointed United States minister to the Sandwich Islands, Mr. Allen accompanied him, and has lived in the islands since. Col. Allen was a leader in philanthropy on the island, and served as collector of the port of Honolulu for many years. He was at one time a member of the staff of King Kalakaua.

'94—Eugene Richard White, one of the most brilliant newspaper writers in western New York died of appendicitis in the Sisters' Hospital, at Niagara Falls, N. Y., Friday, aged thirty-four years. Mr. White was born at Buffalo, July 19, 1872, prepared at Burr and Burton seminary, Vermont, and graduated from Williams in 1894. While in college he was assistant editor-in-chief of the Weekly, an editor of the Lit., chairman of the Gul., and wrote a Williams play, "The Courting of the Colonel," a burlesque on the founder of the college. After graduation he was reporter successively for the Buffalo Express, Buffalo News, and the Buffalo Enquirer. In 1899 he became editor of the Niagara Falls Daily Gazette, and at the time of his death was both editor and chief owner. He wrote much for Scribner's, Harper's and the Atlantic; and published a book of verses, "Songs of Good Fighting," which has received wide commendation.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

THE WILSON

North Adams, Mass.

Address by Dr. Goss

Dr. Chas. F. Goss, who preached in chapel Sunday morning, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. He defined progress as "conquest of the bad by the good, of the good by the better, and of the better by the best". In the material world it is especially true that men who have had superior advantages seldom choose voluntarily the inferior, for which they feel a natural revulsion. It is the tragedy of life that this law does not operate so universally when applied to morals.

Reversion, atavism, and degeneration are moral tendencies with which everyone must reckon. However, redemption need not be despised of by the man who, like Paul, will so devote himself to high ideals that former temptations become distasteful. Deep-rooted depravity can easily be checked by mere determination to reform; "spiritual displacement" by those principles embodied in Christ's life is what will give the largest possible incentive to noble living.

Insurance and Advertising

The college library has recently received two books on modern business methods of more than ordinary interest. "The Life Insurance Company," by William Alexander, one of the Equitable Life Alexanders, and "Modern Advertising," by E. E. Calkins and Ralph Holden. Mr. Alexander pleads for serious consideration of his subject, beginning in these words: "Charles Lamb, while at the East India House, is said to have written on the fly-leaf of one of his ledgers, 'This book is full of interest.' And many people would also regard as a jest a similar inscription in a book on life insurance."

"Modern Advertising," to any one intending to enter business, is particularly valuable, treating of the history of advertising, with numerous illustration of type styles and forceful advertising "copy". The difference between the crude cuts used in the clothing business as late as 1890 and the artistic modern wash-drawings of Mr. J. C. Leydendecker, is especially noticeable.

Curtiss '06 General Secretary

William Hanford Curtiss 1906, of Olean, N. Y., has been appointed general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for the ensuing year. The committee of appointments, elected last June by the alumni, is composed of D. Channcey Brewer '86 of Boston, Rev. Adolphus F. Schaeffler, D. D., '67 of New York city, and Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson '67.

Ex-'08—W. H. Holmes is in the sophomore class at the University of Missouri.

NEW LEAGUE PROPOSED

Debates with Amherst and Wesleyan Voted by Adelphe Union

The Adelphe Union decided last night to accept provisionally Amherst's offer for a tricollegiate debating league for next year. Mr. W. H. Webster, for Amherst, proposed a dual debating league with Williams early last October to take the place of a similar league between Amherst and Bowdoin. The Adelphe Union suggested that a triangular league be formed, with Wesleyan for the third college and a conference was held between Mr. Webster and officers of the Adelphe Union early this month.

At the meeting of the Union last evening letters were read from Mr. Webster and from Mr. J. M. O'Neill of Dartmouth. Amherst desired to complete arrangements for a triangular league next year, and Dartmouth to renew this year's relations with Williams. After considerable discussion the following motion was carried: Resolved; that the president of the Adelphe Union be authorized to complete negotiations with Amherst and Wesleyan for a triangular debating league for 1906-1907.

A motion to permit men who have been on a previous 'varsity team to enter the second preliminaries without having gone through the first trials was carried. Case '07 was elected as the Williams delegate to the proposed Brown-Dartmouth-Williams debating conference. A motion that in next year's final trials, the candidates should be told which side of the question they were to defend, but that the elimination trials be otherwise the same as those this season, was carried.

After the Adelphe Union adjourned, both Philotechnian and Philologist elected quarterly officers, as follows: Philotechnian, president, McGown '06; vice-president, Hulst '06; secretary, Wheeler '07; critic, Stanley '07. Philologist, president, Scholle '06; vice-president, Matthews '07; secretary, Byard '08.

Election of Gul. Board

A 1908 class meeting will be held in Jesup Hall tonight at 7.30, to elect the Gul. board of five regular editors and two art editors for next year.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, who preached in the chapel a week ago Thursday, will occupy the college pulpit Sunday, May 20th, as provisionally announced some time ago.

LEHMAN CUP FINALS

Horrox '09 Wins Trophy—A. Brown '07 Second

Gilbert Horrox 1909, of Montclair, N. J., won the seventh Lehman cup contest as a result of the concluding events, held yesterday afternoon on the board track. Horrox' total of points was 49; A. M. Brown 1907, of Troy, N. Y., again won the cup for the second place, with 38½ points. The cups were first offered in 1900, and have been won in 1900 and 1901 by Paul Potter '01, in 1902 by J. F. O'Neill '02, in 1903 by L. G. Blackmer '03, in 1904 by R. G. Leavitt ex-'07 and in 1905 by W. A. Newell '05. The cups are given by Herbert H. Lehman '99, 'varsity track manager in that year.

The indoor events were held on March 3, and on the following Wednesday, March 7, the 40-yd. dash, 40-yd. low hurdles and the half-mile were run off. There were eleven events in the competition, two more than last year, and out of this number Horrox won the pole vault, one of the 40-yd. dashes, and the 40-yd. high and low hurdles, besides tying for first in the high jump. Sixteen men obtained points. In the shot put Marshall '08, with a put of 39 ft., exceeded the distance made in any of the other Lehman cup performances.

The mile run was the least interesting of the events yesterday, as only two of the starters finished, and the winner gained over a lap on his opponent. The quarter-mile was run in good time.

The summary of points gives Horrox '09 49; A. Brown '07, 38½; Chapman '07, 33; B. P. Allen '08, 28; Marshall '08, 20; Lament '08, 18; Hurlbut '07, 15½; Mintz '09, 12½; M. Brown '07, 12; Bowker '08 and Wadsworth '09, 9; Griswold '06 and Ayers '06, 6; Cowperthwait '06, 5½; Lapham '07, 3; Conover '07 and Fisher '08, 2.

The summary of events held yesterday follows:

40-yd. dash. Won by Chapman '07; second, Cowperthwait '06; third, Horrox '09; fourth, A. Brown '07.

40-yd. high hurdles. Won by Horrox '09; second, A. Brown '07; third, Lapham '07.

Quarter-mile run. Won by Hurlbut '07; second, Horrox '09; third, Ayers '06; fourth, Cowperthwait '06; fifth, Chapman '07.

One-mile run. Won by B. P. Allen '08; second, Chapman '07.

THE GARFIELD CLASS

Fiftieth Reunion of 1856—The First Amherst-Williams Banquet

The class of 1856, which celebrates the semi-centennial anniversary of its graduation at Williams-town this June, contained among its members the most widely-known alumnus of the college, President James Abram Garfield, and the man who was most generous in gifts to the college, Frederick Ferris Thompson.

Of the fourteen members of the class now living, eight are expected to be present at Williamstown. Nine of the members live in New York state, and the remaining five in Virginia, Missouri, Iowa, Maine and Pennsylvania. The headquarters of the class will be at the Richmond Hotel, North Adams, and the reunion banquet will be held there Tuesday evening, June 26.

Six of the members surviving are lawyers, four ministers, two teachers, one a doctor, and one a civil engineer. Among these are Hon. James Gilfillan, treasurer of the United States under President Hayes, and Hon. Silas P. Hubbell, formerly United States consul at St. Johns. Of forty-six graduates of 1856, fifteen saw service in the Union armies in the Civil war. William R. Baxter fell in the battle of Brice's Cross-roads in 1864, Charles E. Halsey, an army surgeon, died of disease contracted in the service in 1862, and Amos B. Shattuck was mortally wounded in the battle of Fredericksburg in 1862. James A. Garfield was major-general, Ferris Jacobs a brevet brigadier-general.

While in college the class participated in an event probably as yet unparalleled in American college history. During the autumn of their senior year (Oct. 15, 1855), the entire class of 1856 and the entire Amherst class of 1856, fifty in each, met at the parsonage in Charlemont and went in procession to the top of the near-by mountain at that day called Pocumtuck. A twenty-foot American flag, presented to the class by the young women of Williamstown, was used at this occasion, and will be used at Commencement this June. After various exercises the classes went to Shelburne Falls, where a banquet was held, at which toasts were given to both colleges.

FEIKER BILL UPHELD

$500 Voted for Committee at Town Meeting—No-License Majority

At the annual Williamstown town meeting, held in the Opera house Monday, the town voted that it is in favor of the passage of the Feiker bill for the taxation of college dormitories, and elected a committee, of which Clarence M. Smith ex-'77 and Samuel P. Blagden, Jr., ex-'96, are among the members, to represent the town in the interests of the bill. $500 was appropriated for the committee's expenses. Notice was served yesterday on the selectmen to the effect that this appropriation was illegal, as not being a reasonable and proper expense for the general welfare of the town. Mr. C. M. Smith, town counsel, was in Boston yesterday and today with Mr. Blagden, representing the town at the last public hearing before the taxation committee. No action will be taken until he has been consulted.

Torrey's woods were accepted by the town for a public park, and placed in the hands of a committee of which President Hopkins is to be a member. The Williams men elected to town offices were George W. Grundy ex-'97, re-elected town clerk; Samuel P. Blagden, Jr., ex-'96, selectman; Prof. Leverett Mears, school commissioner for three years; Charles S. Cole '70, auditor. The town voted no-license, 361 to 233. At the organization meeting of the school committee, held yesterday, W. G. Mitchell '70 was reappointed superintendent of schools for the coming year.

Date of Sophomore Prom.

The Sophomore prom. will be given in the Gymnasium on May 29. The supplementary dance will be held Wednesday, May 30, at the Greylock. Other arrangements have not yet been completed.

VOL. 20 MARCH 20, 1906 No. 4

The Proposed Debating League

Last evening the Adelphe Union decided to propose to Amherst and Wesleyan a tricollegiate debating league similar to that now in force between Williams, Dartmouth and Brown. Williams already has yearly debates with Wesleyan and, so far far as it has been made known, sentiment in Amherst is in favor of the proposed agreement. There is little doubt that the league will be formed.

At first sight this might seem too long a step forward. There must certainly be good reasons to justify the college in entering a second tricollegiate debating league so soon after the adoption of the present one. Is there enough debating material in college to justify the step? Five of the eight men who debated in March were underclassmen. This, however, it may be argued, is unusual, is not a condition that will be repeated in succeeding classes. The answer to this lies in the fact that this growth of material seems due more to increase of interest in debating, caused by the chance given by the two tricollegiate debates to make a varsity team, than to an original excellence of material in the under classes. With this interest strengthened by a second series of debates, the college, as far as men to represent it goes, would be justified in entering the proposed agreement.

Does a second debating league mean too great an amount of work for those taking part? This is the vital point. Williams debates Wesleyan now. The proposed scheme adds but one debate to those now held. The debates early this month were more satisfactory to the debating team than any held in the past few years. The experience of the past year has shown how much easier it is for two teams to get up a debate, working on opposite sides of a question, than it is for one team, with only the alternate, who knows he will get no chance to speak, to develop the side of the opponent.

The question is covered more completely, and the work done more thoroughly because the two teams have a definite end in view — upholding their side on the night of the final battle. Work in rebuttal, the speeches in which a debate is usually won or lost, has proved to be more careful and satisfactory because of this same keen competition. Confidence in work done is given which makes for success. In short, instead of finding the work of two debates too much, the experience of this month's contest has shown a real gain in effectiveness. A triangular league with Wesleyan and Amherst would result in more thorough preparation than the present dual league with Wesleyan.

If this new agreement is ratified by the other colleges, the debaters should receive more honor from the college body. To expatiate on the work done by the debaters is trite, but the work remains, and is none the more easy because it is largely unrecognized and unappreciated. The additional league will mean, for the four or five best debaters, at least, constant mental labor for practically the whole year.

In the final analysis, of course, the test for the bestowal of college honor in any one activity must be the benefit to the college from it rather than the work put into it. However, by entering this second league, the debating interests of Williams will become more widespread than those of any other New England college. The college will hold a position in the debating world, in comparison with the other New England colleges, analogous to the position in the athletic world of Bowdoin, in comparison with the other Maine colleges, and for the same reason, diversity and number of contests. This debating world unfortunately has slight importance among undergraduates, but among the alumni it has far more than supposed. A greater college respect should be felt for those who, by hard work, are to maintain this position in that world.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Williamstown, March 27, 1906.
Editor of the Record:—

I notice in your editorial in the issue of The Record of March 26th the following statement: "The football rules committee which met in New York in December authorized a sub-committee to draw up eligibility rules for the entire country". This gives expression to an error apparently so prevalent that I would like space in your columns for a correction. The fact is that the Committee on football rules is but a part of a very wide movement and subordinate to the officers of the organization representing that movement. At the National Intercollegiate Football Conference held in New York on December 28, 1905, it was voted that the organization be made permanent and that its work be carried on by an Executive Committee, consisting of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, and four other members, who should report on general eligibility rules to govern intercollegiate athletics. This Executive Committee has prepared a Constitution and By-laws for the permanent organization, which will probably be known as the Athletic Association of the Colleges and Universities of the United States, together with eligibility rules to be recommended to the different colleges and universities. The Committee on football rules, that is, such part of it as was appointed by the National Football Conference, is responsible to the Executive Committee.

The proposed Constitution and By-laws for the permanent organization, and the suggested eligibility rules are now being printed, and will, it is hoped, be distributed among the different institutions within a few days.

Very truly yours,
Henry D. Wild

July 5, 1881, three days after Garfield's assassination as he was leaving Washington for Williams. Rev. John W. Lane, secretary of Amherst '56, had invited the president to the 25th reunion of that class, in memory of the friendly meeting at Charlemont. The Amherst reunion occurred several days before that at Williamstown, and had the president accepted Mr. Lane's invitation he would have escaped the shot that caused his death.

Mr. Lane has suggested a reunion of the two classes this June, and the famous meeting fifty years ago will be commemorated by the few that survive. Mr. Lane has been invited to speak at the alumni meeting here in June.

Call for Track Candidates

A call is issued for all candidates for the track team to report on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the gymnasium. A large squad should report at this time, as but five weeks remain before the first meet, on May 5th. No cut will be made in the squad until after Easter. The work of the squad will consist in daily setting up exercises in the gymnasium and jogging as soon as the condition of the roads will permit. Men will be expected to report at 3 o'clock on Wednesdays and Saturdays and at 3 or 4 on other days.

COLLEGE NOTES

D. M. Hills 1906 has gone to Greenwich, Conn. He will resume college work after the Easter recess.

Hulst 1906, one of the delegates who attended the student volunteer conference at Nashville, addressed the Epworth league of the North Adams M. E. Church Tuesday night. He spoke of the work of the convention, giving different phases of the missionary movement.

NORTH ADAMS, - MASS.

New Richmond Hotel Building

Work Begun on Berkshire Hall

The work of construction on Berkshire Hall was begun this week, and with the return of settled weather will be pushed as rapidly as possible. By a change of plans, the three entrances to the dormitory will be on the west side, instead of opening, one on the east side, and one each on the north and south ends. This change was made because of the excessive grade at the north end.

The main entrance will be open the west side, and its three glass-fronted doors will be approached by a stoop with steps on either side. The roof will be nearly flat, surrounded on the sides with panels, like that on East and South Colleges. The dormitory will have a lower facing of granite. Practically all of the material is on the ground, and the contractors, L. D. Willcutt and Sons of Boston, hope that the building will be completed by the middle of August.

Room Rents in New Dormitories

The schedule of prices for rooms in the new dormitories, Berkshire Hall and South College extension, has been completed. Berkshire Hall is in three sections. In the south end are six double rooms with the same conveniences and at the same prices as the rooms in West College. In the middle section there are six double rooms and three single rooms. Each man in a double room pays $60 a year and in a single room $35 a year. Triple rooms can be made if desired. In the north end there are fifteen single rooms ranging in price from $45 to $90. The six double rooms in South College extension are at the same price as those in West College.

Deutscher Verein Plays

The Deutscher Verein is at work on two plays for presentation in the near future. The plays selected are "Post Festum" by Ernst Wichert and "Muller als Sundenbock" by Benedix. Parts have been assigned for Post Festum" as follows;

von Witzleben '09
Emila von Tautern
Baomeister '08
Professor Walther Stern

Winston '08
Regierungs-Assessor Fritz von Brunner

The second play will be given shortly after the first. The cast, which has not been fully selected, will be announced later.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage.

All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

1906 ALUMNI REGISTER

2334 Alumni Living—Important Innovation in Index

The Alumni register for 1906, number 2 of series 3 of the Williams college bulletin, has just been issued. The pamphlet is 96 pages long, and is superior in typography, accuracy, appearance and scope, to that of last year. It is for circulation among the alumni of the college alone, and is not for general distribution.

The register gives the names and addresses of 2334 living graduates of the college. The oldest living graduate is the Hon. William Rankin, LL. D., '31, of Newark, N. J.; the second oldest, Rev. Thomas Wright '35, of Fenton Mich., and the third, Hon. Thomas Nelson '36, of New York City. Two of the alumni are over ninety years old, eleven are between eighty-five and ninety, and thirty-one are between eighty and eighty-five. There are eighteen foreign missionaries among the alumni.

A very valuable innovation is made in this number of the register. Besides the usual alumni index alphabetically by classes, there has been added an index of all alumni by the places of their residence, the alumni being arranged by classes in each locality, and the places alphabetically under the states. From this it is seen that the states containing the greatest number of Williams men are New York with 503, Massachusetts with 307, and Illinois with 133. New Jersey, Connecticut, Ohio and Pennsylvania follow in the order mentioned. Williams men reside in every state and territory of the Union except Arizona, Arkansas, Nevada and Montana. Williams graduates are living in Argentine, Chili, Guatemala, Africa, China, India, and Turkey, besides in European nations. Of the localities New York City is far in the lead in number of graduates with 351. Strangely enough Chicago has 82 to Boston's 81. 46 alumni are living in Williamstown.

Dr. Henry E. Cobb Sunday

Rev. Henry Evertson Cobb, D. D., will preach in the chapel Sunday morning and will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Jesup Hall in the evening. Dr. Cobb has been pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Church, West End avenue and 77th street, New York City, for the last fifteen years. With the exception of last year, when he was unable to come to Williamstown on account of illness, he has preached to the students regularly for several winters. He is an effective speaker and his popularity here in the past has been attested by the number of times he has filled the college pulpit.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

List of Prominent Speakers—Reception to Delegates Thursday

The program for the Y. M. C. A. convention to be held in Williamstown April 5-8 is not yet completed. Most of the sessions will be conferences and informal discussions by the presidents and general secretaries of the Associations represented, the discussions being introduced briefly by the main speakers. The sessions will be held in Jesup Hall. Among the speakers will be H. P. Andersen of the executive department of the International Y. M. C. A. committee; Clayton S. Cooper, of the Bible Study Department; F. P. Turner of the Student Volunteer Movement; W. H. Tinker of the Students' Club, New York city; Prof. L. H. Miller, assistant professor of biblical languages in Princeton university.

A reception in honor of the delegates will be held in Jesup Hall Thursday evening, to which the faculty and the members of the various association committees will be invited. On Saturday morning a discussion on "The Enlistment of Freshmen" will be informally conducted. On Sunday afternoon a meeting open to the college as well as to the conference delegates will probably be held, and it is hoped that F. Boyd Edwards 1900 will address the meeting. The number at the convention will probably be less than in former years, because of the recent widely-attended student volunteer conference at Nashville. About eighty delegates will attend.

At the opening meeting in Jesup Hall at 7:45 Thursday evening the convention will be welcomed by President Hopkins. An address will be given by Prof. Russell on "The College World a Battle Ground of Great Forces."

Baseball Election

Candidates for the position of vice-president and assistant manager of the baseball association will hand their names to Eugene M. Hogue '07 before noon of Sunday, April 8.

The annual meeting of the Williams College Baseball association for election to the above office will be held Tuesday, May 1, at 7:30 p. m. Meeting of the class of 1908 for nomination from the names presented will be held Tuesday, May 1, at 1:30 p. m.

A. W. McAllister, Mgr.

At the 1908 meeting last Thursday Atwater was elected manager of the class baseball team.

1906 FOOTBALL RULES

Ten Yards in Three Downs—Forward Passes—Opinions of Captains

At the close of an all-day session held at the Murray Hill hotel, New York city, Saturday, the American intercollegiate football rules committee, the consolidation of the old football rules committee and the rules committee appointed by the national intercollegiate football conference Dec. 28, announced its revision of the football rules for 1906. Ten of the members of the committee were present. Another meeting will be held in New York city April 14, at which the rules will be finally passed upon in the re-edited and codified form as presented by Mr. Walter Camp and Mr. William T. Reid, Jr., but the only changes now to be made are verbal ones.

The principal changes made in the rules are the following:—Ten yards to be gained in three downs, one forward pass permitted except over the goal line; increased power for the officials; two umpires instead of one; six men on the scrimmage line and not more than six on defense; no hurdling in the open field or in the line; all players on side after a kick as soon as the ball strikes the ground; halves limited to thirty minutes.

"Striking with the fist or elbows, kneeling, kicking, striking the runner carrying the ball in the face with the heel of the hand * * * and roughing the fullback after he has kicked the ball" are punished by disqualification for the rest of the game and loss of half the distance to the goal line, with a recommendation of disqualification from football for one year after a second offense. "Piling up, tripping, tackling the runner out of bounds and all other acts of unnecessary roughness" are punished by a 15-yard penalty. Tackling below the knees is prohibited, and a strict definition of holding given.

The referee shall not be allowed to rotate the ball before measuring to its forward point on a down. The referee is obliged to impose penalties for violations of the rules reported to him, by umpires or linesmen. A penalty of fifteen yards is given for coaching from the side lines.

"The ball shall be considered dead when any portion of the person of the runner with the ball, except his hands or feet, touches the ground when in the grasp of an opponent."

H. D. Bixby, captain of the 1905 team, commented on the rules

MISSION CENTENNIAL

At Haystack Monument Next October—History of Mission Park

The one-hundredth anniversary of the inception of the American foreign mission movement will be observed at Williamstown this fall by a convention commemorating the original haystack prayer-meeting in August, 1806.

A committee, of which Dr. Cornelius H. Patton of Boston, one of the secretaries of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, is a member, will meet at Williamstown on April 9, to formulate definite plans for the centennial celebration. Dr. Patton preaches in Williamstown on April 8. President Hopkins is vice-president of the board. It is expected that a convention of the American Board will be held at North Adams and Williamstown in October, and that special services will be conducted in Mission Park.

On a warm afternoon in August, 1806, five Williams students gathered in a maple grove in Sloan's Meadow, now Mission Park, for an open-air prayer-meeting. A passing rain-storm drove them for shelter beneath a haystack and here Mills announced to his companions the idea of going out as foreign missionaries for the evangelization of the world. The five men present at that meeting, whose names are on the present monument, were Samuel J. Mills 1809, Byram Green 1808, Harvey Loomis 1809, James Richards 1809, and Francis LeBaron Robbins 1808. It was from this prayer-meeting beneath the haystack that the great foreign mission movement has grown.

In 1852 a movement was started to purchase the land upon which the meeting took place, and in 1855 the land was bought from funds, nine-tenths of which were subscribed by alumni and one-tenth from undergraduates. On August 5, 1856, a missionary jubilee was held on the spot, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the meeting. Addresses were made by Hon. David Dudley Field, LL. D., '25, Prof. Albert Hopkins '26, Rev. Chester Dewey, D. D., '36, President Mark Hopkins '24, Rev. Dr. Rufus Anderson, senior secretary of the American Board, Gov. George N. Briggs of Massachusetts, Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng '58 of New York city, and a number of early graduates and returned missionaries.

The present Mission Park monument was dedicated on Baccalaureate

INTERCLASS DEBATE

Between 1908 and 1909 After Easter—Question of Summer Nines

In response to a challenge sent to 1909 by 1908, the second annual interclass debate between the lower classes will be held directly after the Easter recess. Trial debates for both teams will be held on Friday, April 6, in the Biological Laboratory. Those who wish to compete in the trials should sign their names to the notice in Hopkins Hall as soon as possible, or hand them to the respective class debating managers, Knight 1908 and Sayre 1909. As 'varsity' debaters are ineligible by the terms of the agreement, a larger number of men should come out. The question for debate follows:

Resolved; that college ball players should be allowed to play on summer baseball teams.

Dr. Ferry Back This Week

Word has been received from Prof. Ferry that he will return to Williamstown to resume his college work some time this week. Prof. and Mrs. Ferry reached New York March 21, on the Konig Albert of the Norddeutscher Lloyd line. They have been abroad since December, spending most of the time in Italy and on the Riviera. They have been in Washington since their return, and are now at Saratoga.

A Mososaur Coming

The geology department has just received the skull of a mososaur, which will be placed on exhibition in Clark Hall. This reptile lived in the Cretaceous period, and attained a length of 25 or 30 feet. The bones were found in the chalk deposits of Kansas, and were restored to their present conditions through the kindness of the American Museum of Natural History, in New York city.

VOL. 20 APRIL 2, 1906 No. 5

The New Football Rules

The football rules announced Saturday by the consolidated rules committee must be satisfactory to those who have been urging the reform of the game. The committee cannot be accused of doing its work hastily. Five long sessions, covering eight days, have been held during the last three months, and the rules announced show that all the more important schemes have been considered.

The committee did not try to reform intercollegiate athletics, nor all the evils that arise from football, but merely the game. That an extravagant amount of money has been made from football or an extravagant interest in the game aroused were not problems for a body revising rules. The main charges against the game have been that brutality is common, easy and unpunished, that there are too many mass plays, and that the game is not interesting enough for the spectator.

The new rules seem to incorporate the best suggestions made against these objections. As for brutality, the more flagrant offenses are met with a disqualification penalty, with loss of half the distance from the goal line. A provision that the ball is dead as soon as any part of the runner but his hands or feet touches the ground takes away the occasion for the injuries coming from "piling up". The tackle in the open, which has caused more numerous but less serious injuries, becomes less dangerous when hurdling and tackling below the knees are prohibited.

The provisions with regard to opening the game seem less effective. Will it open up the game to require ten yards in three downs? In the 1903 Yale-Princeton game, in which the score was 11 to 6, both teams averaged over ten yards per three downs. This is not an isolated instance. To come nearer home, in the Amherst-Williams game last fall, Amherst averaged ten yards, excluding Shattuck's long run from the calculation. Amherst's style of play was hardly the open style of game. Under the new rules, the offense has been strengthened by the forward pass, the defense weakened by allowing only six men in the scrimmage line. It would seem all the more likely that ten yards can be averaged in three line plays.

On the other hand, in a game played under what were essentially the rules as revised between two evenly-matched college teams in Kansas on Christmas day, but seven first downs were made. The Washburn College Review for Jan. 9, 1906, states that "the ten yards in three downs was too much for either team" and that the game was "very tame to spectators."

Perhaps the ten-yard rule will strike the happy medium between these two. There is nothing in the new rules to show that it is going to be any easier to gain around the ends than it is through the line. However, when the present five-yard rule was adopted, it seemed so radical to all but Mr. Camp that it could only be introduced on trial. Perhaps his ten-yard rule is another stroke of football genius, but it does not look so on paper.

To consider the rules in detail is impossible, but a few others deserve comment. That a kicked ball which touches the ground can be secured by either side will further weaken the defense by forcing that more than one man be kept far back of the line, and will make the ends the most responsible positions on the team. The provision that a ball cannot be rotated to determine its forward point in measuring improves a rule that has caused endless disputes between teams and officials.

It is easy to theorize about the work of the committee, but nothing can really be known until fall. The committee have met the technical objections of the critics by adopting the best of the critics' own suggestions. Their work has been careful, thorough, inclusive. They have done what they could to eliminate the worst points of the game.

Santry 1909 was operated on in Boston yesterday for appendicitis. The operation was entirely successful.

Again Thursday

At a meeting of the sophomore class held in Josup Hall Thursday evening, the five regular editors of the Gul. board and the business manager were chosen. The election was illegal. By Article II, Section 1, of the election regulations adopted by the college Feb. 19, the Gul. board is included among the organizations affected. Nominations for the regular editors at the meeting were not by ballot, as stipulated by article IV, section 2. The business manager was not elected by the board, as required by article II, section 3, but by the class. The election will be held over, Thursday noon, at 1.30.

The men chosen were Elmer Philip Groben, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Stanton Budington Leeds, of New York city; Gerald Mygatt, of New York city; David Burnet Scott, of New York city; William Ernest Slattery, of North Troy, N. Y.; Harold Conant Payson, of Portland, Me., business manager.

The preliminary report upon the shellfisheries of Massachusetts by the commissioners has recently been published by the state. The report is submitted by David L. Belding 1905 and sets forth a series of experiments to determine the most practical methods of increasing the yield of shellfish under different conditions of tides, currents, etc., besides facts in the life history of the edible mollusks.

In closing his introduction to the report proper, the chairman of the committee, George W. Field, Ph. D. says, "The work upon the food mollusks has been carried on under the general direction of the chairman and immediately in charge of Prof. James L. Kellogg of Williams college, perhaps the best authority on this continent upon the clam and oyster. The work has been carried on with great credit to himself and to the satisfaction of all, by the biologist to the commission, D. L. Belding, A. B., assisted by Mr. R. L. Buffum and others."

A conference of the classical teachers of New England will be held in Springfield, Mass., on April 6 and 7. THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

as follows: "It is rather hard to criticize the rules before seeing how they work. I don't know whether the attempt at making the game more open will be successful or not. The forward pass rule, meant evidently to aid open play, seems to be changing the character of the game a little too much, making it more like association football. The heavy penalties and the disqualifications will make the game less rough if the officials will be able to see the fouling. For this purpose the extra umpire is a welcome addition. The rule forbidding hurdling ought to help the new game immensely. The new code will be rather tough on the coaches, who will practically have to relearn the game. On the whole the new rules, putting a premium as they do on tricky and fast play, should prove of great benefit to a light team such as Williams generally has."

Captain Waters' opinion of the committee's changes follows:

"The new football rules, which have just been made public by the committee, have undoubtedly solved the problem in regard to opening the play. With ten yards to gain in three downs, a team must resort to more end plays than heretofore, and, as Prof. Russell suggests, a premium will be placed on the punting game. This will serve to make the play more interesting from the spectator's point of view, but there is a question as to whether the danger of injuries to players will be lessened. This of course cannot be demonstrated until next fall. It is a question whether more men are injured in mass or in end plays.

"The other revisions in the rules are perhaps of less importance than the above, but there has been a much-needed effort made to make the game less rough. Heavy penalties are to be inflicted for all slugging and unnecessary roughness. The danger of injuries has been lessened by forbidding hurdling of any kind and this ought to make the game more interesting for the spectator. With forward passes allowed and more end plays and punting, football should be a much faster game.

"In regard to the scores next fall, it can only be shown by practical application of the rules whether the defense has been weakened enough, by allowing only six men in the line, to make any material difference in the points. It would seem, judging from past experience, that the small colleges would have a better chance against the larger ones."

'05—J. Joseph McCarty has left the employment of the Pennsylvania Steel Co., and taken up a position with the First National Bank, of Corning, N. Y.

Trip by Taxation Committee

The Massachusetts Legislature committee on taxation is planning a tour of college towns of the state, to investigate the conditions in relation to Senate bill No. 106 for the taxation of college dormitories. If the trip is made, Wil-week.

The committee is composed of Senator Seiberlich of Suffolk, chairman; Senators Garfield of Plymouth, Chase of Bristol, and MacCleod of Middlesex; Representatives Davenport of Malden, Morse of Haverhill, Williams of Attleboro, Barber of Lynn, Hil-

Boston, Stowe of Springfield, Shields of Boston and Mooney of Boston. It will be noticed that no man on the committee comes from further west than Springfield.

The order authorizing the trip has passed the Senate, and has been referred to the committee on the rules in the House.

The Force of Character

Dr. H. E. Cobb of New York city, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. He contrasted the "Kingdom of Heaven" as conceived by John the Baptist and Christ. Christ anticipated a transformed world in which men help their fellows not so much by words as by the up-lifting force of character. The greatest sermons are not those delivered in pulpits, but preached by the lives of men who have the courage of their convictions. That life is useless which does not, by its fidelity to its ideals, inspire confidence and sympathy in those with whom it comes in contact.
This "silent influence" is the greatest force within man's control.

Ex-'05—Carl B. Moore, probably the best quarter-back Williams ever had, has sighed to play baseball with the Jersey City team of the Eastern league. He played a few games with Providence last year.

Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENTS

First Meeting Tonight—Delegates and Conference Hours

At 7:45 this evening the annual conference of the college Y. M. C. A. presidents and association leaders will begin with a meeting in the Biological Laboratory. Delegates will be present from all the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. Thirty-nine delegates will attend. In addition secretaries of the student department of the international committee of Young Men's Christian Associations and secretaries of the general committee will be present. In the absence of John R. Mott, now in Europe, H. P. Andersen, of the executive department of the committee, will preside over the meeting.

As at present arranged, the conference hours of the presidents will be as follows: Thursday evening, April 5, 7:45-9:15; Friday morning, April 6, 9:00-12:00; Friday afternoon, 2:00-4:15; Friday evening, 7:30-9:30; Saturday morning, April 7, 9:00-12:00; Saturday evening, 7:30-9:00; before chapel Sunday morning, Sunday afternoon, and Sunday evening 7:30-9:00.

The place of the opening meeting this evening has been changed from Jesup Hall to the Biological Laboratory. The delegates will be welcomed by President Hopkins and addresses given by Prof. Russell, as announced in the last number of The Record, and by H. P. Andersen, on "The World Student Movement." After the meeting a reception to the delegates will be held in Jesup Hall, to which are invited the faculty, the chairmen of the old Y. M. C. A. committees and the chairmen and members of the new committees.

The program for Friday morning is not yet settled. At the Friday afternoon meeting Clayton S. Cooper, international secretary for Bible Study, will lead the conference in the discussion of Bible study. Friday evening E. P. Turner, secretary of the student volunteer movement, will lead the discussion of Missions.

Saturday morning's program is not completed. At the Saturday evening meeting addresses will be given by E. Boyd Edwards '00, catcher of the 1899 and 1900 baseball teams, Prof. L. H. Miller of Princeton, and W. H. Tinker of Amherst.

A devotional service will be held in Jesup Hall before chapel Sunday morning, led by Prof. Russell.

GUL. ELECTIONS

Board of Editors Chosen by 1903 This Afternoon

At a meeting of the class of 1903 held in Jesup Hall at 1:30 this afternoon the following men were elected to the Gul. Board:—Willard Ansley Gibson, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Elmer Philip Groben, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Stanton Badington Leeds, of New York city; David Burnet Scott, of New York city; Bernard Westermann, of Overbrook, Pa.; Gerald Mygatt, of New York city and Glenn Nelson Rowell, of Keene, N. H., art editors.

First Outdoor Baseball Game

The first outdoor baseball game of the year was played between the first and second teams of the baseball squad on the Blackinton diamond yesterday afternoon. Five and one-half innings were played, during which neither team scored. The fielding work of both nines was good, considering the condition of the field and the lack of previous outdoor practice. The 'varsity worked without an error. In hitting, there was an unexpected weakness, only three hits being made. The teams lined up as follows:

'Varsity: Waters c, Williams p, Harman 1b, Kelley 2b, Neild 3b, Young ss, Hogan lf, Warren cf, Pierce, Redick rf.

2nd team—Southworth, Morrison, Bates c, Mears '03, VanInwegen p, Gardner, D. Brown 1b, Osterhout 2b, Domett 3b, Wadsworth ss, Stower lf, Osborne cf, Ford, Gillett rf.

Trials for Interclass Debate

The trials for the 1908-1909 debate will be held tomorrow evening at 7:15 p. m. in Philotechnian Hall, the freshman trials preceding the sophomore trials. The judges are to be Prof. J. E. Russell, Asst. Prof. Lewis Perry, and Mr. B. J. Rees. The method of trial will be the same for both teams. Each speaker will be given five minutes to speak, including rebuttal, and from the candidates, three debaters and an alternate will be chosen.

Philotechnian-Philologist

The Philotechnian and Philologist societies will hold a debate on the evening of May 2, in one of the society halls, probably with faculty judges. The contest will be informal, and largely extemporaneous, as the question, to be selected by a joint committee, will not be made known until the day before the debate. The following men have been elected to form the two opposing teams:—Philotechnian, Case '06, Hulst '06, and Sayre '09; alternate, Bullard '08; Philologist, Nomer '06, Case '07, and Matthews '07; alternate, Byard '08.

Williams and College Missions

The religious year just begun is to be notable for two things, the convention of college Young Men's Christian Association presidents which begins tomorrow, and the celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the haystack meeting, in October. That the meeting around the haystack in what is now Mission Park started the American foreign missionary movement is well-known to all Williams men, that it also started independently the mission movement among college Christian associations is not so well-known.

Briefly summarized, the links of the chain are as follows: Apparently the efforts of these Williams students to start an intercollegiate mission movement failed. However, a pamphlet written by one of these men who went to the mission field induced Dr. John Souder to become a foreign missionary, who in turn led James Brainerd Taylor into Christian work. The Philadelphia society, founded at Princeton by Taylor, united with the Young Men's Christian Associations in 1876 and at once took the lead in intercollegiate work, started at a convention at Louisville in 1877. At first no intercollegiate mission movement was thought of, but in 1878 a member of the Louisville convention, hearing of the effort and apparent failure of the Haystack men, said, "Let the students in these closing years of the century consummate what our fellow students in the early part attempted. Let us engraft the mission idea upon the intercollegiate movement."

He wrote to President Mark Hopkins, and in consequence H. P. Perkins '79, then preparing for mission work, was sent to the Baltimore convention in 1879. The result of his earnest appeal to the delegates was the inauguration of the mission department of the college Y. M. C. A. The intercollegiate movement which the haystack men had not been able to bring about directly had come to pass indirectly, when strengthened by further inspiration from the college where the force of the ideals of these men had lived on. Williams can lay direct claim to be the source of the intercollegiate missionary movement as well as the greater American mission movement.

We like to feel that there is something in the environment, in the inspiring uplift of the purple hills, which made the Christian spirit stronger here than elsewhere. May the members of this convention of Young Men's Christian Association presidents gain a like spiritual inspiration for the discussion of those religious problems among the most important in the life of every college today.

The Colgate Honor System

By a vote of over two to one the students of Colgate have put themselves on record as desiring the adoption of the honor system. The exact system has not yet been decided upon, but the proposed constitution has been printed in The Madisonensis, the college paper. We congratulate Colgate on the spirit of this step, but the letter of the system proposed seems to negative the end desired. As a college in which the system has been in successful use for ten years, we can venture a few words of advice.

In two important articles the Colgate constitution differs from that at Williams. Article IV, Section I, reads: "In case of reported frauds in examinations, the committee * * * shall conduct a formal investigation * * *. In case of conviction * * *"

the penalty shall be, for the first offense, reprimand by the committee, and for the second offense, a recommendation to the Faculty of separation from college." This practically says, "You can cheat as much as you want to until you have been caught once."

Article V, Section I, reads as follows: "Should a student happen to see a man cribbing, he shall be expected to reprimand him personally at once, and obliged to report this reprimand to the committee. Two such reports demand an investigation according to Article IV."

That the obligatory report to the committee—the only method of ensuring enforcement by the students—is included, is admirable.

but look at its qualifications! Two reports for an investigation, two convictions for dismissal! To call a system an "honor" system which will allow without penalty a man to be caught cheating three times and convicted once is a queer idea of honor. These articles, which give a positive temptation to dishonesty, must be altered, for Colgate's honor system to become successful by becoming an honor system in spirit.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record,
Sir:—The new football rules should be a disappointment to those who desire and have been looking for a real improvement in this game. All things considered, football played under these rules will be a less desirable game than was the game under the old rules.

The worst feature in the present game, and the feature to which are to be traced most of the evils of the game, is the use of mass plays. The new rules, so far from discouraging the employment of these plays, distinctly encourage their continuance. They do so by strengthening the offense and weakening the defense in the scrimmage. The required gain of ten yards instead of five yards will not seriously diminish the resort to mass formations, such as the tandem. These plays will become more strenuous and more destructive to the weaker team: since they will be employed to gain six, seven and even more yards instead of the hitherto necessary five yards. There can be no great improvement in football so long as mass plays are allowed.

The most serious objection to our American game in its present form, is the severe physical strains to which the players are subjected, and the liability to injuries that is inseparable from the game as it is played at the present time. No student can safely or successfully play this game, who does not give himself almost as severe a training and toughening of his muscles and sinews as the gladiator or the prize fighter needs. I think a game which makes such demands upon the energies and the time of a student, has no place in an institution devoted to liberal education.

students are going to protest in mass meeting and if necessary. I understand, appeal to the trustees.

"It seems to me, whatever merit there may be in it for the larger institutions which have either the money or disposition improperly to induce material, it is unnecessary and unwise for the smaller colleges, and to adopt it would be playing right in the hands of the big colleges, for most healthy boys have athletic ambitions and, even if possessing no 'varsity' qualifications, would in many cases prefer the institution which would permit them on teams freshman year if otherwise eligible.

"I think if the smaller colleges do not adopt the rule, they will gain largely in point of numbers at the expense of the overshadowing universities, and that it is poor business policy to throw away such a valuable advantage."

COLLEGE NOTES

The musical clubs will give an informal concert at the opening session of the Y. M. C. A. conference in Jesup Hall this evening.

The training table will begin next Wednesday. Couch Dowd will arrive Saturday.

The baseball squad was outdoors on the old campus Tuesday afternoon for the first time for batting practice.

The gym clock has gained but 28 seconds, since December 18. The record is the best the clock has ever made. The clock was set accurately again Tuesday.

NOTICES

—The Lit. board will meet Monday evening, April 9th, to consider manuscript for the May number. All contributions must be in the hands of some member of the board or left at No. 6 East College before 6 p. m. of that day.

Dr. C. H. Patton to Preach

Rev. Dr. Cornelius H. Patton, of Boston, who will preach in the chapel Sunday morning, is the Home Secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Dr. Patton was for many years pastor of a church in St. Louis, before he was called to Boston to take his position on the American Board.

Dr. Patton will confer on Monday morning with a committee of arrangements to formulate plans for the centennial celebration, in October, of the haystack prayer-meeting. The committee will be appointed by President Hopkins, vice-president of the American Board, and Rev. Dr. Francis Treadway Clayton of the Congregational church.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

BASKETBALL CAPTAINS

Leaders of Chief College Fives for Next Season

The list of next year's captains of the basketball teams from the colleges usually on Williams' schedule and the other strong college fives is nearly completed. A majority are forwards and men from 1908.

Dartmouth has elected George Warren Grebenstein '07, center and right forward, a 'varsity player of three years' experience. He shot the winning goal in the decisive game against Williams at Williamstown in February.

George M. Flint, '08 D, a forward, has been re-elected by Pennsylvania. Flint scored more points than any other player in the inter-collegiate league.

Wesleyan's choice is G. E. White '08, the center of this year's team.

David D. Stowell '07 will lead Colgate. He has been a member of the 'varsity for the past three years, and has shown steady improvement in the position of left forward.

Ernest R. Halliday '08, who made the 'varsity this year for the first time as guard, is the choice of Princeton. He is a steady, aggressive player.

C. W. Cathel '07, of Columbia Law school, succeeds Hurley '08. Cathel has played forward for three years on the 'varsity teams.

Other captains are: Syracuse, George L. Redlein '08, forward; Hamilton, Oscar Kuolt '07, forward; Trinity, E. J. Donnelly '08, guard; Oberlin, Wm. Most, Jr., '07, center; Yale, Haskell Noyes '08, guard.

1906 CLASS BOOKTo Appear May 15—Several New Features Introduced

The contract for the 1906 class book has been let to the Tuttle, Morehouse and Taylor Co., of New Haven, Conn., the printers of the college catalogue and of most of the work for Yale and the State of Connecticut. The book will follow the general plan of the Yale books, while still adhering to the traditions of our own publications. Especial attention will be paid to the half-tones, the plates for which will be made by the Stoddard-Brown Co., of New York city. The half tones will be printed on thin paper and pasted on the pages, as in the 1902 book, the best in recent years from a printer's standpoint.

A new feature will be the use of red ink in printing part of the title page as well as the names of the class on the biography pages. The book will be cloth-bound, with a red basket-pattern cover, ornamented by a design incorporating the chapel tower. A table showing every vote cast for most popular man, etc., etc., is a new feature in the book. The book is expected to be ready for distribution by May 15, 1906.

Gun Club Shoots

The college gun club defeated the North Adams team yesterday afternoon in a return shoot at the home traps on the golf links, winning by the score of 82 to 73. An uncertain southerly wind made Fitch's perfect shooting all the more remarkable. The match is the first won from North Adams by the local club in two years.

The detailed score follows:

Prof. Kellogg	22	Graves	21
Geer '07	18	McHale	18
Fitch '06	25	Pratt	21
	82		73

The shoot for the Sercomb cup will be held on two half holidays in May. No one will be allowed to compete who has not taken part in at least five local shoots of this college year.

Pictures in Jesup Hall

Held During Four Days—Sessions Closed Yesterday

The annual conference of college Y. M. C. A. presidents and association leaders came to an end last evening with the address of Rev. F. Boyd Edwards '00 at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall. The convention was not so largely attended as in recent years, but over fifty representatives were present. The conference meetings were very informal, and gained much of their value from the fact that the majority of the delegates took an active part in the discussion.

Opening Meeting

President Hopkins gave a brief address of welcome at the first session of the conference, on Thursday evening in the Biological Laboratory, emphasizing the fact that such a conference is entirely spontaneous. Prof. Russell was the first speaker, taking as his subject "The College World a Battle-ground of Great Forces." He discussed the good and bad forces which affect the college man. College men are living in the future; anything which is fitted to open the great gates of life rouses in them a ready response. A lack of strenuousness, an unwillingness to submit to criticism, and a love of ease are forces which affect adversely. Too many men adopt as their maxim, "Do that which is expedient." In conclusion Prof. Russell proclaimed it one of the chief duties of college life to stand as an exponent of the genuine life in the world.

The last speaker, Mr. H. P. Andersen, discussed the features of the world-wide student movement. He reviewed the important epochs in the history of the Association. In 1877 several students at Princeton took the initial steps in the organization of a united college Y. M. C. A. The chain of events shows that the hay-stack meeting in Williamstown in 1806 had a marked influence on this formation of the Christian Association seventy years later. Less than thirty years ago the mission department of the Y. M. C. A. was organized, and in 1884 the different corresponding organizations throughout the world were amalgamated under the name of the Christian Federation.

Reception to Delegates

An informal reception was held in Jesup Hall for the delegates after the conference meeting. Light

HOW SAVE THE TREES?

Interesting Lecture on Insect Pests—Danger to Williamstown

Prof. W. L. Underwood, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gave one of the most interesting lectures of the year on "The Ravages of Gipsy and Brown-Tail Moths," in the Biological Laboratory on Friday evening before a small audience. The lantern slides were of unusual excellence, showing well the damage caused by the animals in the eastern part of the state. Prof. Underwood outlined the history of the pest, told his experiences in trying to save the trees upon his property, and explained the methods of exterminating the moths.

The gipsy moth was introduced into this country by a Frenchman in 1868, to breed a new silk worm, and first spread through accident. Since that time the insect has spread so rapidly that legislative methods have been found necessary if its extermination is to be accomplished. The brown-tail moth has penetrated as far as the Connecticut river and Greenfield, and a visitation may be expected in the Berkshires this summer.

The golden-brown nests of the gipsy moth are deposited in every conceivable place and contain from four to five hundred eggs. The caterpillars, grayish-brown and hairy, are three inches in length when full-grown. Although showing especial preference for deciduous trees, the caterpillar will occasionally attack evergreens. Thousands of trees are denuded by them each year in Massachusetts.

The brown-tail caterpillars are reddish-brown, hairy, with two prominent orange spots, and attain a length of one to one and a half inches. When the human skin is brought in contact with the hairs on the caterpillar a serious irritation occurs, and a welt or rash results.

Several equally efficient agents for the extermination of the pest are used. Creosote is often applied to the nests, and kerosene sprayed upon the foliage. Trees are also well protected by putting a girdle of some sticky substance around the trunk. Whole sections of land may be protected by encircling the area with a narrow strip of hay saturated with creosote oil.

The moth pest is serious, and in view of the fact that Williamstown is likely to be affected this summer, is a problem that must be studied and met, to save the shade trees.

Track Insignia

At the meeting of the athletic council to be held immediately after the Easter vacation, the question of insignia for the relay team will come up for discussion. The consensus of college opinion seems to be that the relay team are deserving of the letter. That a single victory against Dartmouth has in the past been awarded by the bestowal of a letter certainly affords a precedent for a similar gift at the close of a season marked by two victories and no defeats. Wesleyan is as much a natural rival of the Purple as Dartmouth, Brown as large a college and as hard to defeat. The honor of the letter seems due the members of the 1906 relay team.

The one argument that has seemed applicable against granting this for the work this winter would come from comparison with last spring's track work. Track work in the spring is harder than that in the winter; the season is longer, the training more severe and undergone by a greater number of candidates. Last spring's track team was not lacking in ability. The five firsts won in the Dartmouth meet showed its strength more truly than the thirteen points won at Worcester. That but three "W's" should be given in the spring and four in the winter seems to some inconsistent.

If this argument were based on any consistent policy, we might sympathize with it. However, the trouble lies with the action last spring, and, back of that, with the constitution of the track association. In football and baseball a man who plays in the last games with Amherst and Wesleyan is sure of his letter, except in extraordinary cases, and in track a point-winner at the Worcester meet is likewise certain. The constitution of the track association awards this letter to every man on the team "who shall have scored a point in a championship meet". This wording compelled that each point-winner in the Dartmouth meet of 1904 be awarded the "W", if the letter was to be given for that meet, and dissatisfaction over the seventeen letters in that year may have helped in causing a swing as far the other way in 1905. To have awarded it in the Dartmouth meet last year, under the wording of the constitution, would have given eleven men "W's" who did not win their letter at Worcester.

There should be some amendment to the constitution by which it would be possible—to take last year's case—to strike a medium between three and fourteen, for the over-conservatism of the one is just as unsatisfactory as the over-liberality of the other. This medium could be reached by an amendment awarding the letter to those winning first place in a dual "championship meet", in addition to those winning points in the Worcester meet. This amendment could scarcely be objected to on the grounds of awarding the "W" to too many—but four more would have received it in 1905—or on the ground of lowering the standard of ability, for Dartmouth, Amherst and Wesleyan are all certainly strong enough in track to make "W" ability necessary to get the letter. At any rate, the athletic council always retains a check on the award through deciding what is a championship meet and what is not. Such an amendment would give a deserved honor to a number of athletes, able to win first in a meet between two colleges, but not able to get points in a meet where nine others compete.

The natural tendency in the award of a letter is to give it to too many. The athletic council, however, has always shown itself able to maintain a proper conservatism in opposing such a policy. The system proposed will give them an opportunity to maintain this conservatism without being forced into the present unjust di-

'Varsity Defeated Second Team

On Saturday afternoon the first nine inning game was played between the first and second teams of the baseball squad on the Blackinton grounds. The fielding work was not as good as that of Wednesday. In batting there was a slight improvement. Coach Dowd was on the field and paid especial attention to the batting. The work of the pitchers, in the cold weather, was poor. Warren made a three-base hit in the eighth inning.

The batting order and score by innings follows:

Easter Baseball Plans

The entire baseball squad, with the exception of those who receive special permission from Capt. Neild, will be kept in town over the Easter recess. Regular practice will be held mornings on the old campus, and afternoons at Blackinton until Weston Field gets into condition. A game will be played with Blackinton Saturday afternoon.

Prof. Cleland in Bermuda

Prof. Cleland is planning a trip to the Bermudas during the Easter vacation to study the interesting coralline and sand formations of the island. The Bermuda group is built of coral formed upon the craters of two sunken volcanoes, and offers an interesting field for geological research. Prof. Cleland will leave April 12, and will be back by April 23. He expects to obtain some lantern slides, and to give an illustrated lecture on Bermudas after his return.

Conference Meetings

Continued from page 1, col. 1 refreshments were served. During the reception the musical clubs gave "The Royal Purple" and "Come Fill Your Glasses Up." The Glee Club sang the "Bells of St. Michael's Tower" and the Banjo Club played a selection entitled "College Life." The reception was concluded with "The Mountains".

The Conference Sessions

At the Friday morning meeting the duties of Association presidents were considered. Charles W. Gilkey led the discussion. At the session Friday afternoon Clayton S. Cooper, international secretary for bible study, introduced the discussion of bible study work. Friday evening's meeting was led by F. P. Turner, on the subject of Missions.

At Saturday morning's session the enlistment of freshmen was discussed, general secretary Pettit opening the discussion. In the afternoon no sessions were held. President Hopkins accompanied the delegates to the points of interest about the campus, and spoke briefly at the Haystack monument.

Addresses Saturday Evening

At the meeting in Jesup Hall Saturday evening, open to the college, F. Boyd Edwards 1900, Prof. L. H. Miller of Princeton and Mr. W. H. Tinker of Amherst gave addresses.

The first address was by Mr. Edwards. The greatest thing in the world is personality, and this we must develop. Are we willing to be nobodies in Christ's service? We must use our personality and take a stand. The only way to get this personality and power is through the contagion of Jesus Christ.

Prof. L. H. Miller spoke on the relation between the faculty and the Y. M. C. A. The ideal relationship between the two is of course harmony and co-operation—an ideal which does not exist. A faculty may be divided into four groups: the few who co-operate with the movement, the many who are passively favorable, the number who ignore the Y. M. C. A. and the few who are unfavorable toward it. To secure the help of certain of these men the association must enlist the best men in college and thus compel the regard of all.

Mr. W. H. Tinker gave a few suggestions to Y. M. C. A. presidents, advising them to master the history of their college association and of the whole movement. Remember that you are working for the future, and try chiefly to arouse interest.

True Strength in God

Prof. Miller spoke before the closing meeting of the conference yesterday afternoon on "Truth".

Several of the conference delegates remained to hear Rev. F. Boyd Edwards '00, who addressed the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. True strength is in God, and where human means fail, the answer to any problem must be sought from Him. Because of man's control over the elements of nature, and his insight into the mysteries of chemistry, astronomy, and surgery, the average student is led to believe that man's absolute power over this world is a question of only a little more experiment and insight. But, although progress is continually being made in all lines of work, this very progress only discloses more field for advance. In every subject, a point is reached where no human strength avails and where the only answer is God.
"We see not yet all things, but we see Jesus."

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Interclass Debating Trials

The trials for both the 1908 and 1909 interclass debating teams were held Friday evening in Philotechnian Hall. From the fourteen freshmen and six sophomores who contested, the judges, Prof. Russell, Asst.-Prof. Perry, and Mr. Rees, chose the following teams: 1908, McIntyre, H. Johnson, L. Fowle; Baumeister, alternate; 1909, Ernst, Pike, Robb; Muehly, alternate.

The time for the final debate has not yet been definitely fixed, but will probably be ten days to two weeks after Easter Monday. The question will be slightly different in wording from that used in the trials.

Dr. Gerig at Columbia

Dr. John Lawrence Gerig, instructor in French, will join the teaching staff of Columbia university next fall as lecturer on the Romance languages and Celtic philology. He will spend the summer in southern France, where he will be engaged in editing, in company with M. Picot of the French Academy, the hitherto unpublished biographical (Latin) letters of Antoine Arlier, documents which throw much light upon important events of the earlier part of the sixteenth century. He expects to publish the book within a year.

Mr. Ray Leaves Saturday

Mr. John Arthur Ray, instructor in French, will sail Saturday on the "Philadelphia" of the American line for Paris, where he will spend the summer. He goes to sustain his thesis written a year ago and to take the final examinations for the degree of "Docteur de l'U. Paris".

Dean's Notice

—The Easter vacation commences at 12:30 p. m. on Wednesday, April 11, 1906, and extends, through Wednesday, April 18, 1906, all regular college exercises being resumed at 8:15 o'clock Thursday morning, April 19, 1906.

Attention is hereby called to the following extract from the Administrative Rules:

"9. Absence before Christmas and Easter vacations—Attendance on the last college exercises before the Christmas and Easter vacations is required. Any student failing to fulfill this requirement, and not excused from the same by the Dean, will not only be charged with the consecutive absences thus incurred but will also have his allowance for the next semester diminished by a like amount. In no case will a student be permitted, in connection with any vacation, to exceed his allowance of absence in any department."

FIRST BASEBALL GAME

With Union on Weston Field Saturday—The Line-up

Williams will meet Union at 2:30 p. m. Saturday on Weston Field, in the opening game of the season for both teams.

Dr. H. L. Towne '94, who is an English instructor at Union, has coached the latter's team this year. D. H. Osborne '05, who is in the Union Technical school, will probably take part in the game. Weston Field is quite dry, except near third base, and in the grass back of second. The line-up follows:

UNION: Hildreth ss, Rider 1b, capt., Hagar cf, Diver or Perry 3b, Burgin lf, Osborne or Bayliss rf, Davis p. Harvey 2b, Vogt c.

WILLIAMS: Ford or Pierce p, Waters c, Harman or Gardner 1b, Wadsworth 2b, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Warren cf, Osterhout or Gardner rf.

ON THE DIAMOND

Even Break with Town Team—Yesterday's Game

In the game yesterday afternoon at Blackinton the baseball team made up for its defeat Saturday by defeating the Williamstown Athletics by a score of 15 to 7, in a loosely played and uninteresting contest. The 'varsity showed better form than hitherto and were charged with only five errors. They hit well, although many of the safe drives were fluky. The Athletics did not play anywhere near their game of Wednesday.

Williams scored first, Osterhout and Young crossing the plate on a double by Neild, and a little later Gardner and Neild came home on Waters' single. The Athletics tied the score in the third inning, but Harman's well-placed single with the bases full, and Wadsworth's two-base hit, placed the Purple three runs in the lead. The Athletics tied the score again in the fifth, but Waters scored on a single and errors by Keefe and Mears. Seven more runs were scored by the 'varsity.

Young at short-stop and Harman at first base played in good form, and Neild did well at both bat and field. Sears pitched well after the fifth. For the Athletics Prof. Lewis excelled at the bat.

Score by innings:

Athletics	0	1	3	0	3	0	0	0	—	7	11	11
Williams	4	0	3	0	1	6	1	0	x	—	15	15

'Varsity Beaten Saturday

A team composed of faculty, alumni, ex-professionals, town talent and students defeated the 'varsity 7 to 6 on the Blackinton diamond in November weather Saturday wholly because of wretched work by the infield. Ford pitched the first five innings, and was in good form, but one hit being made off him. A tendency to wildness toward the close got him into bad holes twice. Pierce, who

For Next Year's Football Coaching—Head Coach Not Yet Chosen

The Yale system of football coaching, begun under Morris Ely two years ago and continued by Mr. Ely and J. A. Hatch '03 last year, will be continued in 1906. Two plans have been under consideration for some time, one of a head coach with numerous assistants, the other, first proposed by L. L. Draper '00, of several coaches who should meet in New York before the football season began, determine upon the method of coaching, and divide up the coaching season in Williamstown between them. It has now been definitely decided to adopt the Yale system entire, except that last year's captain will not necessarily come back as next year's coach.

The coaching force for 1906 will then, consist of a single head coach, with numerous other coaches from the alumni and others to assist him, that there may be always at least two coaches on the field. The head coach has not yet been definitely selected. Mr. Morris Ely, head coach for the last two years, will be unable to give any time to football coaching next fall owing to his law practice. The matter will be further discussed at the meeting of the athletic council called for April 28.

Northern N. Y. Alumni Gathering

The Williams alumni association of Northern New York held its annual smoker at the Troy Club, at Troy, N. Y., Thursday evening, April 12. A large number of alumni from Troy, Albany and vicinity attended. The president of the association, Justin Kellogg '65, was the presiding officer. The committee in charge consisted of the officers of the association and the executive committee, which was elected at the annual banquet held at Albany. The committee was as follows: President, Justin Kellogg '65 of Troy; vice-presidents, Hugh P. Blackinton ex-'87 of Hoosick Falls, and J. Warren Bott '85 of Albany; secretary, Frank C. Huyck ex-'96 of Albany; treasurer, W. S. Elder '90 of Troy; executive committee, Walter H. Cluett '93 of Troy, Fred E. Draper, Jr., '95 of Troy, Dr. Fred J. Cox '89 of Albany, Arthur P. Sayles '99 of Albany and Prof. Herbert L. Towne '94 of Schenectady.

Rev. Mr. J. H. Denison to Preach

Rev. John Hopkins Denison '90 will preach in the chapel Sunday morning and address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening. Mr. Denison, the son of Rev. Dr. John H. Denison '62 of Williamstown, is pastor of the Central Congregational church, of Boston. He was for some time first assistant pastor of the Madison Square Presbyterian church, of New York city, under Dr. Parkhurst, and was later pastor of the Church of Sea and Land on the lower East side, in that city.

EASTER BASEBALL

Eleven Men at Training Table—Capt. Neild on Prospects

The work of the baseball squad has come along fast during vacation week. The weather has permitted morning practice on the old campus and the soft diamond at Blackinton has been used afternoons. Reports of the games played will be found in another column. Training table began a week ago, with the following, besides coach Dowd: Gardner, Hogan, Captain Neild 1906; Ford, Pierce, Warren 1907; Harman, Osterhout, Waters 1908; Wadsworth, Young 1909. In regard to the prospects of the season as a whole, and the work of the different candidates to date, Captain Neild says:

"The weather has kept the baseball squad in the cage later than usual this year but thanks to our new cage the squad has not felt the handicap as much as it would have done in previous years. The prospect for a good team is not as encouraging as it was last year at this time. However, the squad is working hard under the direction of Coach Dowd, and we are hoping for the best. We should have as good a fielding team as last year and if we can back up our pitchers by hitting we should win the majority of our games."

"For catcher the team is fortunate in having Waters to fill in the gap behind the bat left by the graduation of Captain McCarty. Southworth and Bates are the other catchers. Ford and Pierce are the leading candidates for pitchers with Sears and Williams as reserves. For first base Gardner and Harman are the candidates. The latter is the best fielder while Gardner appears to be the best hitter. For second base Wadsworth is the leading candidate, and at short stop Young is doing the best work. For the outfield Hogan and Warren of last year's team will probably play left and center field respectively with Osterhout as leading candidate for right."

TRIP OF MUSICAL CLUBS

Unusually Successful Concert at Englewood

The first of the two concerts given on the New York trip was held in the Berkeley Lyceum, 44th St., near Fifth avenue, Monday evening, April 16. The audience was very small owing to the fact that tickets were not put on sale at the box-office until late in the afternoon of the same day. The entertainment started at 8:45. The numbers were given smoothly, perhaps the best work being done by the banjo club. The solos by Pevear 1907 received much applause. The imitations and monologue by Pierce 1907 were funny and well appreciated.

The attendance at the second concert, held Tuesday evening at the Lyceum, Englewood, N. J. was large. The work of the clubs was far superior to that at New York Monday and compared very favorably with that of the Cornell and Yale clubs, which appear in Englewood every year. The concert was easily the best given by the clubs this year. The work of the reader, and of Gale '06 and Smith '07 in their swing and exchange banjo duet, received the most applause. About seventy-five alumni and students were on the stage at the singing of "The Mountains" at the close. The members of the clubs were entertained at the houses of alumni and and townspeople, and a dance was held in the Englewood armory after the concert. Van Baar's orchestra of New York furnished the music. The decorations in the armory were in yellow and white bunting with the 1905 basketball championship banner hung across the end of the hall.

Freshmen to Oppose Summer Ball

At a meeting of the freshman debating team held before vacation, it was decided that the wording of the question remain unchanged. The negative of the question was chosen; i. e., opposing summer baseball, and Ernst elected captain. The debaters will speak in the following order: Robb, Pike, Ernst.

A Suggestion for History 8

The early history of the college is, we venture, practically unknown to the average undergraduate. Beyond the fact that Ephraim Williams founded the college and Mark Hopkins made it, he can recollect little except such occasional events as the haystack meeting and the story of Bryant and "Thaumatoposis." Nor is this a slur on the undergraduate, for its cause is lack of opportunity rather than lack of interest. Information is hard to run down and poorly classified. Of the standard histories, the accurate one stops fifty years back, the more detailed one is too critical and too hard to get hold of for general use.

The few short articles that have appeared in the Lit. this year have merely whetted our appetite for more. The rebellion of 1808, the dark days when the college came near moving to Amherst, the story of the old Gym—a multitude of subjects and episodes suggest themselves on which information should be more wide-spread. That even in recent years, such events as the story of Goodrich Hall and the origin of the March seventeenth celebration are generally unknown, shows that something is needed to keep our college history from oblivion.

The Record can scarcely ask for a chair of the "History of Williams College," or a new history of the college, although the latter, at any rate, is sorely needed. In these days when next year's new courses are being whipped into shape before announcement, however, we do suggest that no more popular course could be given than one on this topic. If every American should know his own country's history first, every college man should know his alma mater's history by the same reasoning. Perhaps such a "History 8" would be too popular, would not be hard enough to be "practical", but educational value does not depend alone on the difficulty of the subject taught. At any rate let us ask for at least a series of lectures on the subject, for something to shed light on this darkness where there should be no darkness.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

Recently there came into my hands a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association; and the reading of it has suggested this question: after all, what are the necessary and the proper qualifications for playing in intercollegiate games? Now, at the risk of being tried and banned because of dangerous heresy, and woeful defection from the cause of pure, amateur athletics, I am going to give to this question, what, in my opinion, is a sufficient answer, and I do so by saying:

1. A player in intercollegiate games should be a bona fide student in the college he represents. A bona fide student is a student who has presented satisfactory qualifications at his entrance into college, and who is maintaining satisfactory scholarship in college.

2. Players in intercollegiate games should be the best athletes in college; they should represent the best athletic ideals of the college.

3. Players in intercollegiate games should represent worthy ideals of gentlemanly and sportsmanlike conduct. They should always play a clean and manly game. They should prefer to lose a game to winning it by unfair means. And now comes the head and front of my heresy; I do not believe that any other qualifications whatsoever are necessary or expedient. I will not attempt at this time to justify this belief of mine; I will only say that it is a conclusion to which I have been led from rather intimate connection with college athletics during a period of more than twenty years. I have ventured to make this statement in the hope that it will provoke a more thoughtful and a more thorough discussion of this matter of college athletics.

A NATURE NUMBER

Review of April Literary Monthly by Prof. Howes

Any one who attached himself to the Williams community for the first time last fall, whether as a student or as a member of the Faculty, received perhaps as one of his strongest impressions, during his first few days, the feeling that traditionally, at least, the "Mountains" formed one of the most potent factors in the education and development of the best that is in man. One of the first songs that he heard was "The Mountains." In the Y. M. C. A. reception he was welcomed by President Hopkins who told him that the best influences at Williams were the men and the mountains, and that he should cultivate both. Soon came "Mountain Day," and many availed themselves of the opportunity of becoming acquainted with Greylock.

Such an issue as the April number of the Monthly would hardly be possible, surely it would not be probable, except in a college with a beautiful outlook upon Nature. Evidently the "mountains" and the valleys and the brooks and the woods do awaken in us a feeling for the beautiful in Nature. Of the seven numbers in the Monthly four—two in prose and two in verse—are directly inspired by a love for the beauties in Nature, while a fifth is a most sympathetic appreciation of a poet of Nature.

The first of these sketches is entitled "The Phantom of the Glen Brook," by Shepard Ashman Morgan. The writer, we do not hesitate to say, has climbed the mountains and roamed the hills and penetrated the woods. His ideal of young womanhood, Margaret Hale, though she is "The Phantom of the Glen Brook," is only one figure in his broad view of Nature. Two sentences especially showed the writer's skill. We are cleverly introduced to her by the words: "Margaret Hale rode well." Again, as young Bruce sees her down the bridge path, after he has been wondering whether there might not be in the trees and mountains a wood maiden, a "quintessence of this green and blue creation", he refers to her, not by name, but more subtly by an earlier description, here repeated, "The more substantial part of the vision was clad in a garment which seemed to partake of the soft and unobtrusive shade which one finds on the under side of the hemlock bough."

I suppose the reviewer's duty is to discriminate. There seems a desire for antithesis in the expression, "balancing the relative merits of energetic contemplation and contemplative energy." As I said before, however, the sketch is a fine bit of description of Nature.

The second "Nature Study" is "The Children of the Pool," by G. M. Objectively, the sketch is merely outlined; subjectively, it betrays the heart in sympathy with Nature in her quieter moods.

The other two tributes to Nature are in verse. "The Awakening," by W. A. G., is especially appropriate to the season. There seems to be a verse lacking in the second stanza. "Chiaroscuoro," by Stanton Buntington Leeds, is a dainty bit of verse, in which the skies above, rather than the lower aspects of Nature, have furnished the inspiration.

The literary criticism in the issue appears in "The Prophet of the Unfulfilled Hope," by Stanton Buntington Leeds. One is not surprised to find the writer of the verse just referred to as the sympathetic critic or rather interpreter of a poet of Nature, Edward Rowland Sill. Our interpreter tells us, "Only a few are acquainted with the facts of his life and likewise in the great world of literature only a few know his work." As the present reviewer, in both these respects, would have to be counted, not among the "few" but among the many, it were idle to attempt to criticize. He may say, however, that the impression from the sketch is of a man of strong poetic feeling entering into the spirit of the poetry of another. We are glad to note, in the writer himself, both religious tolerance and optimism. Is there not, however, a little of dogmatism, out of harmony with his religious tolerance, in this sentence, "Among Sill's shorter verse 'The Fool's Prayer' is best known, but those who esteem it his best are mere superficial critics not acquainted with his work as a whole, the whole that breathes of the man himself." (The italics are the reviewer's). The best tribute to the worth of the sketch is, perhaps, the statement that the writer brings before us a poet who, we realize, was close to Nature in her various moods, and makes us eager to turn to his poems themselves.

The one real tale in the issue is "The Consummation," by William Richmond Witherell. This takes me back to my college days. I have just discovered Poe. I read one after another his subtle, weird tales, from The Gold Bug to The Murders in the Rue Morgue, The Mystery of Marie Roget, etc. I wonder if the present writer has not saturated himself with Poe. The story has a distinctly Poe flavor.

The story is well told, is really a psychological study. One could wish, however, the omission of the grotesque feature of the ghoulish banquet on the murdered man's heart. I query whether the probability of such a weird tale, which carries with it extreme improbability, is strengthened by the statement of the narrator, "I am resolved to make this an exact truthful narrative."

Another bit of poetry, subtler than the nature verses, is found in "Ways Forged," by Bernard Westermann. This grows upon one stronger with each re-reading. It is the darkness groping for the light.

All in all, a worthy number, largely a reflection of the atmosphere and natural advantages of Williams College.

GREEK ATHLETICS

Discussed by the Classical Society—
A Fifty-five Foot Jump

At the meeting of the Classical Society held in the Library Monday evening, April 9th, "Greek and Roman Athletics" were discussed. Neild '06 read a paper dealing with the place of bodily training in the social systems of the various Greek tribes and the different systems adopted by them.
The principal "track events" of the Olympic games were described —running and jumping. A record of 55 feet in the broad jump has come down to us.

Gardner '06 dealt with the more strenuous exercises of boxing and wrestling, showing how these events differed from the modern out growth. The two best known contests were the Pancration, a promiscuous rough and tumble fight, and the Pentathlon, an "all-round championship" in which only a versatile athlete could expect victory. In this last throwing the quoit and spear-hurling were introduced. Discus throwing and ball playing were also popular. Training was carried on by the Greeks and the professional gymnasts of the Roman games even more strictly and scientifically than today. A brief discussion of several main points followed the reading of the papers.

It was voted to elect officers at the final meeting of the society, on May 8. The meeting for April 24, at which Greek music was to have been one of the topics for discussion, will probably be postponed until May 1st, that Mr. J.
B. Lord 1905 can be present to assist.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Specimens from the Bad Lands

The recent arrival of several new specimens which have undergone restoration at the American Museum of Natural History, has completed that portion of the geological collection which consists of fossils from the Bad Lands, of South Dakota. These were procured several years ago by Prof. Cleland and, with the exception of the skull of the Mososaur described a short time ago, formed the Wells collection.

Most prominent among them is the complete skull and jaws of a Titanotherium, a huge herbivorous animal resembling a rhinoceros, nearly as large as an elephant, with a saddle-shaped horned skull. The brain cavity is very small, denoting a low order of intelligence. A set of casts shows the animal as it existed in life, and illustrates clearly the development of the horns. The college now possesses an almost complete skeleton of this monster.

Another specimen is the skull of a Caenopus, an early species of rhinoceros. This species flourished in North America several million years ago, but finally became extinct probably owing to the increase of cold. Besides these the skulls of the Elotherium, a hog-like creature, the Oredon, a connecting link between the deer and the hog, and ancestors of the giraffe and hog have been secured.

TWENTIETH REUNIONTo be Held by 1886 Next Commencement—48 Members LivingThe class of 1886, which will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of its graduation at Williamstown this June, is making extensive plans for the reunion. Of the fifty-two graduated from Williams twenty years ago this June, forty-eight are now alive, and it is expected that thirty-eight of these will be present at the reunion.The plans for the reunion are in the hands of a committee of five, composed of Edgar C. Leonard of Albany, John B. Carse of New York city, Rev. C. B. F. Pease of Plantsville, Conn., Theodore M.
Taft of New York city, Judge Sanborn G. Tenney of Williamstown, and D. Chauncey Brewer of Boston. The committee has engaged for class headquarters the old Waiters house, next to the Alpha Delta Phi house at 106 Main street. The reunion banquet will be held at the Greylock hotel Tuesday evening, June 26. The men of '86 will make themselves known by means of some distinctive headgear bearing their numerals.The twenty year class, graduating fifty-two strong, has lost four men by deaths, Edward L.
Dixon, Walter D. Mapes, John Person and William H. Smith.
The forty-eight members are distributed in twelve states of the Union, and in France. The class contains more lawyers than members of any other profession, there being twelve, including the class secretary, George W. Anderson, a Boston school commissioner; D.
Chauncey Brewer, to whose efforts is due the present system of a resident general Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Judge Tenney of Williamstown. There are nine ministers and eight teachers in the class, including Dean Appleby of the Minnesota School of Mines, Paul C. Ransom, headmaster of the Florida and Adirondack school and William M. Marvin, principal of the Portland, Me., High school. There are seven manufacturers, including Josiah M.
Lasell, one of the donors of Lasell Gymnasium, four doctors and eight in miscellaneous lines of work.COLLEGE NOTESPresident Hopkins preached in the Lee Congregational Church on Easter Sunday.The old board track on the old campus has been taken up and sold. A new track will be built next winter with more rounded corners. The matter will come up before the athletic council for consideration at their meeting called for April 28.There is strong probability of a baseball game with Manhattan on Weston Field on Saturday, April 28, the first open date. Manhattan plays Yale Thursday, and, if they can schedule another game for Friday, will play in Williamstown Saturday.The basketball management has received a letter from the collegiate basketball rules committee requesting the opinion of Williams upon their rules for this year.
The more important rules on which criticism is requested are dribbling and allowing the player

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Walls of Berkshire Hall Up By June —Contractor Smedley in Town

With the present force of 48 men at work and a continuance of favorable weather, it is expected that Berkshire Hall will be ready for roofing by the end of May. Although the girders are in place, the floors will not be laid until the walls are up. The building will not be painted to correspond with East and South, but will be left in the natural dark red of the brick, with white marble facings around the four sides just beneath the first-floor windows and below the eaves of the roof. All of the windows are to be trimmed with white marble, those on the west side second floor having large marble arches over them. The facing of the roof parapet will be terra-cotta with inlaid festoon panels. Each of the Western entrances will have marble porticos, flanked by two marble columns, and there will be a marble entrance on the north end. A retaining wall and terrace are to be built north of the building, and The Hermitage, now used as a chart house, will be torn down after the dormitory is finished.

The dormitory will be strictly fire-proof. It will be divided into three entirely separate divisions by brick fire-walls. The flooring will be composed of two alternate layers of concrete and wood, the stairways will be of iron frame-work, with black slate treads, and the roof will be concrete with a tar and gravel covering. The outer bricks are of a very hard variety best adapted to resisting fire. The steam-fitting will be done by Cleghorn & Co., the plumbing by Wells & Newton, and the plaster-work by McIntosh—all Boston firms. It is confidently expected that Berkshire Hall will be completed by August 15 and ready for occupancy next Fall.

With the return of Mr. Smedley, who has been at Pinehurst, N. C., recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, work on South college and the swimming tank has been resumed. It is expected that the middle of next week will see the South college extension built to the first floor. Specifications have been sent out for the concrete work and tiling, and until these contracts have been sub-let it will be impossible to give an idea of the time when the pool will be completed.

The Spirit of Sympathy

Those of the college body who contributed over three hundred dollars in a few minutes to aid those injured in the San Francisco disaster made a notable expression of their feeling for their suffering fellow-men. College men suffer in the eyes of the world because the world believes them to hold a bit aloof from other mortals. In no more fitting way could Williams men go to prove in this great crisis that they are members of "The Greater Fraternity", that they can show a nobler spirit than "college spirit", than by the action of yesterday. There still remains an opportunity for those unable to be present at yesterday's vesper service to give some expression to the sympathy which must be in their hearts if they are members of this greater brotherhood. The fund should be raised to as large

With the current number the 1905-1906 Lit. editors turn over the monthly to a new board. Now that the balance can be struck, we can see that the past year has been one of progress. The Lit., while losing none of its old-time dignity, has kept itself interesting to the college, and made itself a Williams publication in something more than name by keeping local color in its articles. For some it has been made more readable by publication of stories which, if not so deep, or of such great literary value as more studied efforts, charm by light handling of plot. We mention "In the Parlor Car" and "The Secretary and the Gunboat" as the best examples of this type. As a whole, however, the short stories have lacked originality, and the more thoughtful shown a surprising turn toward the pessimistic. Perhaps the best developed was "The Man in the Gallery."

Each board must be superior in something. Two years ago the thoughtful philosophical essay was predominant, this year it has been rare. We trust that the new board will be able to remedy this scarcity, while continuing the intelligent literary criticism of 1905-6. The successful allegory was a notable effort for an undergraduate publication.

The Monthly's verse has been its leading feature. Its range has been unusual, from the many melodious descriptive poems of nature to the more ambitious narrative and philosophical verse, and its quality uniformly high. Perhaps the best of the year was the dramatic poem "Until He Cometh." To choose the best of the poems of nature would be difficult. Sanctum, in interpreting the literary and scholastic side of college life, has broadened the field of the Lit. Its stand has been bold, its treatment of difficult topics, in reminding us of college ideals from which we may be falling away, unconventional and eminently sane.

The work of publishing the monthly is not, we trust, so unappreciated as it appears on the surface. Sanctum's "easy chair" is an editorial fiction, especially when there are but two helpers instead of the usual six. Sanctum does not do his work out doors, we cannot enter his den and see the busy hours he employs in pruning and remodeling contributions — and Sanctum would not want us there if we could — but it is to these hours that the excellence of the form of the literary matter the past year is due. Inspiration may be a will-o'-the-wisp, but good literary expression grows only by careful tending. No artist can bring out the inspiration in him without technique, and in technique the Lit. has come very close to its ideal goal in the year just past.

Editor of the Record:

In connection with the deliberations of the collegiate basketball rules committee concerning the rules for next year, for which Williams has been asked to offer suggestions, the following proposals have occurred to me as the simplest means of doing away with the evils which have grown up in the playing of the game.

1. No player shall attempt to take possession of the ball while it is in the hands of another player.

2. Guarding shall consist solely in intercepting the passage of the ball from the player who is being guarded to some other player.

3. In guarding, no player shall use any part of his person to interfere with the free movement of the player he is guarding or to move this player out of his position.

4. The player who is being guarded must pass the ball before the official shall have counted three, otherwise the ball shall go into the possession of the player who is guarding him.

I suggest the following advantages from the adoption of these proposed regulations:

1. They will eliminate practically every occasion for rough and illegitimate playing.

2. They will greatly reduce the number of fouls during the game.

3. They will materially increase the speed of the game.

4. They will greatly facilitate a satisfactory direction of the game by the officials.

5. They will do much to make basketball the sort of game it was designed to be; a game in which quickness in judgment and action, accuracy in throwing the ball, and team work are to be the essential factors; rather than weight, brute strength, and ability to sustain hard physical shocks and strains, which are the most important factors in the game as it is now played.

In Golf Tournament at Lakewood
—L. Mitchell '07 Qualifies

A. L. White of Harvard, the 1904 intercollegiate champion, defeated Ardo W. Mitchell '07 in the final round of the open golf tournament held at Lakewood, N. J., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the first big tournament of the year in the north. There were 52 golfers in the tournament, including Pierre A. Proal of Seabright, W. T. West of Princeton, a semi-finalist in the 1904 national amateur championship, Fred Herreshoff of Yale, a runner-up in the national championship; Howard J. Gee of Princeton and others.

In the qualifying round A. Mitchell was second with 162, L. Mitchell '07 fifth with 166. L. Mitchell was beaten in the first round by D. C. Clark, Jr., of Princeton, 1 up, 21 holes. A. Mitchell played good golf in the preliminary rounds, winning his way to the finals by defeating C. L. Tappin of Garden City. In the final round Mitchell drove poorly, but outplayed White at the short game. With the match all square and four holes to play, Mitchell went off his game, and White won 3 up and 1 to go. The cards follow:

White Out—6 4 6 5 4 4 6 5 6—46
In—3 4 4 5 5 4 5 5 x—35
Mitchell Out—4 4 6 5 4 5 5 6 6—45

On account of the absence of one of the members of the freshman debating team, the date of the interclass debate has not yet been fixed. The sophomore debaters will speak in the following order: Johnson, Fowle, McIntyre. The latter has been elected captain.

See Me About a Position.

I want to have a personal talk with every Williams College man who will be in the market for a good position in business or technical work on or after July 1st.

If you will call and see me at the New Richmond Hotel, North Adams, Mass., at any time to suit your convenience, from April 25th to 28th, inclusive (afternoon or evening), I can tell you frankly just what the prospects are of securing the sort of position you want and are fitted to fill. I can give you full information concerning a great many of the best opportunities for young college men in all lines of work in the United States and several foreign countries.

It will pay you, I feel sure, to see me before deciding definitely what to do after graduation.

Committee to Investigate Courses

A committee of five members of the faculty, consisting of Professors Nelson (chairman), Clarke, Howes, Morton and Wahl, has been appointed to investigate the relative amount of time spent by the students on their various courses, and on their college interests outside of the class room. This action was taken to accomplish three results: to ascertain the relative time spent by students on their different courses and whether there is a great discrepancy between the work required by some departments and that required by others; to give instructors an idea of how much time is required in the preparation of the work they assign; and to find out whether an undue amount of time is spent by students upon their athletic and other outside interests. A similar investigation was conducted by Harvard three years ago.

The committee has sent out blanks to men of every grade of scholarship in every course in college. The results will be very carefully tabulated and will show the average amount of work put by an "A man" upon a course, by a "B man", and so on. An exhaustive report of the findings of the committee will be made to the president.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The N. E. I. A. A. track meet will be held on Worcester Oval May 18 and 19. The place of the meet was not settled until the involved financial dispute resulting from poor local management at Worcester last year was adjusted.

O. R. Lovejoy, of New York, of the National Child Labor Commission, will be unable to address the Good Government Club. Only one more address will be given before the club this year, probably by Herbert B. Clark '03, of North Adams. At the ordination on Thursday of G. M. Bryant as pastor of the Church of Christ, the famous church in White Oaks founded and so long maintained by Prof. Albert Hopkins '27, President Hopkins was moderator, and among those present were Dr. Bascom, Prof. Wild and Rev. W. R. Stocking ex-'69.

Taxation Trip Before Legislature

After a long struggle the Massachusetts legislature committee on taxation secured on Thursday by a vote of 9 to 7 its order to travel to the state college towns, including Williamstown, to investigate local conditions. This was considered the first sign of victory for the supporters of the Feiker bill, at present in the hands of that committee. On Saturday, however, house chairman Davenport brought it about that the order was laid on the table until today. There is much friction between the house leaders and the committee in charge of the bill.

He attended the Brockport Collegiate institute and Canandaigua academy and graduated from Williams in the class of 1855. Entering the law office of Hill, Cogger and Porter at Albany, he at the same time attended the Albany Law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1856. He was subsequently engaged in the manufacture of reapers at Lockport, in the lumber business and in farming. Removing to Michigan, he was elected to the State House of Representatives from Cheboygan in 1880; in 1882 he was elected state senator from the same district, and was re-elected in 1886. At the death of Seth C. Moffett, he was elected to the national House of Representatives, and represented the Michigan district in the 50th Congress, from 1887 to 1889.

'57—General Merritt Andrews Barber, LL. D., a retired army officer, died at his home, 1464 Broadway, Watervliet, N. Y., Thursday, at the age of 69 years. At the close of the war he was mustered out of service, and later was brevetted captain U. S. V. for bravery at the Wilderness and Major of U. S. V. Entering the regular service, he became assistant adjutant general and lieutenant colonel. In the war with Spain, he was assistant adjutant general, and finally adjutant general under General Otis in the Philippines. In 1901 Williams conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. He is survived by a cousin, Hon. Daniel J. Barber '59 of North Adams.

THE ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Important Meeting Sat'day—Freshman Eligibility Unquestioned

An important meeting of the Athletic Council will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 in Jesup Hall. Besides the eight members of the council in Williamstown, Irvin M. Garfield '92, of Boston, will be present, as well as, from New York, President Henry W. Banks '85 and James A. Hatch '03, last year's assistant football coach, representing the Alumni Athletic Association. F. E. Draper, Jr., '95, of Troy, will probably be unable to attend.

The first important matter to be taken up at the meeting will be the question of joining the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States, formed as a result of the National Intercollegiate Football Conference held in New York Dec. 28 of last year. The question of football coaching for next year will be considered and the basketball and track insignia voted on. The usual number of appropriations will be voted ordinary and extraordinary, and in this connection decision will be made as to a new board track, if time remains. It is given out that probably the question of freshmen in athletics will not be considered, as nothing very definite on this matter has been heard from any colleges but Amherst and Brown.

FARCICAL CONTEST

Springfield Training School Gives Nine Poor Practice

In a seven-inning game that was only interesting in the number of tallies by the home team, Williams defeated the Springfield Training School on Weston Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 20 to 1. Williams solved the delivery of the Springfield pitchers to the amount of fifteen hits, the visitors being compelled to use three different men in the box. The large score was due in part to the nine errors charged to the visitors, and the sins of omission that turned many of Williams' slow grounders and short flies into hits.

In Williams' half of the first inning, a bunt, a short liner, a base line grounder, a gift, and a hard drive to center-field, intermingled with errors, gave four runs. Springfield made its first hit in the third but the batter was retired by Wadsworth after a sensational catch, while trying to steal second. The visitors secured their only run in the fourth inning when Purinton came in on Hawkes' single and an error.

Williams played fast ball in the field, and in the fourth a fine running catch of a hard drive by Osterhout saved runs. Pierce's delivery was effective, allowing but four hits and one walk to first. The visitors' pitchers were wild, and lacked speed; Gray at third did their best work.

WORK OF TRACK TEAM

Over Fifty Candidates Out—Trial Meet on Saturday

The track squad has been at work daily since the Easter recess on Weston Field. The track is in good condition for so early in the season, except for the 220-yard straightaway, which is still soft at the upper end. Much work will be necessary to put this in condition for the Wesleyan meet. On Saturday a trial meet will be held to determine what men shall be entered in the dual meets with Wesleyan and M. I. T. on the two following Saturdays. It is probable that the first three men in each event will be entered in the Wesleyan meet. Of last year's Worcester point winners, Griswold and Marshall alone remain, while Ayers '06, A. Brown, M. Brown, Hurlbut '07, B. P. Allen, Clark and LaMent '08 of last year's team are out again. Of the men not on last year's team the best work being at present is being done by Cowperthwait in the 100, by Blaisdell in the discus, by Allen in the two-mile and by Horrax. The work of the high jumpers has been consistent.

Prospects can be better determined after the trial meet than before it. The list of candidates and the events in which they are competing, follows:

Broad jump: Griswold 1906; A. Brown 1907; Horrax, Jenkins 1909.

COMMITTEE COMING

Legislators in Williamstown by End of the Week

After a prolonged struggle the Massachusetts legislature committee on taxation has finally secured permission from the legislature to make its tour of investigation of conditions in Massachusetts college towns, with reference to the college taxation bill. Last week Friday, the committee voted by 9-7 to take the trip, but on Saturday chairman Davenport procured delay of consideration until Monday. On that day the legislature took up the matter, and after hearing both sides of the question argued by members of the committee, finally voted to allow the committee to take its trip. The committee will visit Amherst, South Hadley, Northampton, Northfield and Gill, and will probably reach Williamstown at the end of this week. They had not left Boston by noon of today.

VOL. 20 APRIL 26, 1906 No. 10

An Interclass Track Meet

In 1896 Mr. Willard E. Hoyt '92 presented the track association with the Hoyt cup, to be competed for yearly in an interclass meet, and in the same year the Gargoyle cup was given for the athlete scoring the greatest number of points in a similar meet. These two meets were combined in 1898. Each of the cups was to be permanently held by the class or individual winning it three times in succession, and accordingly in 1901 the Hoyt cup became the property of the class of 1901 and the Gargoyle cup of Paul Potter '01. In 1902 a similar meet was held, and 1904 won the class championship, and L. G. Blackmer '03 the individual championship. Since then no such meets have been held.

In the old days these contests occurred late in the season, after all the other track events, and as a result the better athletes had often broken training, the poorer had little incentive to compete, and a few star men monopolized entries and points. The general interest was so low in one of the meets that the only men entered in the hundred were two of the three who now hold the Williams record in that event.

The prime purpose of any track games between undergraduates of one college is, under present conditions, to secure material for track meets with other colleges. Thus all the track activities of the fall and spring center on the Worcester meet. The preliminary meet, then, which can get the most men out and get them working hardest, is the best one for the term. The trouble with the old contest was one of time, not kind. Even class rivalry could not be expected to keep the second-string athletes interested in a meet which closed a season instead of giving them a chance to qualify for events in the immediate future. To add another meet to the present list would be impractical. What could be done, however, and what The Record believes would be a benefit to track athletics, would be to retain this old interclass meet in the track schedule in place of the spring trial meet.

The main advantage of this plan is obvious. The incentive in the present meet to the place-winner is the opportunity of representing his college in the next dual and subsequent meets. By making the contest a class contest class rivalry is added, and class rivalry means much at Williams. The place-winner has this same opportunity as before, if the meet comes at the right time, and at the same time each man is struggling to do the best he can to help his class and himself win. Not only would the rivalry be keener and the men work harder, but a class track captain, too, could get out men that a variety captain could not reach.

There are some obvious objections advanced to this form of meet. The star man, by competing in more events than he could in a dual or Worcester meet might keep good second-string men from securing places. To be sure but three men can be entered in the sprints and hurdles in dual meets. However, the present system is not cut and dried. If there are so many good men in one event that one of them is shut out in the trials (not a very common occurrence), that fact will not keep that man from being entered at Worcester. The struggle for an individual championship proves to have excellent results in the Lehman Cup contest, why should it not have equally good results in an interclass meet? It is too late for any such system to be adopted for Saturday's trials, and to have an interclass meet at the end of the season would be of little advantage, but The Record feels that in another season such an interclass meet like that last held in 1902 could well be restored to a place in the track schedule.

D. degree was conferred on him by Brown. Before his call to Springfield in 1894 he occupied Baptist pulpits in Cleveland and Boston. He preached before the World's Peace Congress, and has been identified with all the late Peace Congresses. Dr. Moxom is also a corporate member of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

Committee on Scholarship Honors

Asst.-Profs. M. N. Wetmore and D. T. Clark have been appointed by the faculty a committee to ascertain by correspondence the systems existent in other colleges of awarding honors and distinctions for high scholarship. The specific object is to learn whether any other modes of conferring scholarship honors are in operation, than the election of Phi Beta Kappa and the award of special prizes. The effect such awards have in other colleges in stimulating study and promoting scholarship will also be ascertained. The report of the findings of the committee will probably be submitted to the faculty at its next meeting, Monday evening, May 7.

Winslow 1907, Frank and Howe 1908, have resigned from college.

The 1906 cap and gown picture was taken on the chapel steps yesterday noon.

Gillett has been elected captain of the sophomore class baseball team.

Domett 1907 has been appointed official scorer for the home games of the baseball association.

There will be a meeting of all interested in the camera club in Jesup Hall Saturday at 1:15.

At the weekly roll-off held on the Olympian alleys last night Murphy '07 and Moditt '07 tied for third at 267, candle pins.

Case, Loomis, Morgan, Nomer and Perry 1906 have entered their names for the VanVeehten prize speaking contest, which will be held Monday evening, May 7.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, will be unable to occupy the college pulpit May 20, as planned. His place will be taken by Prof. Edward C. Moore of Harvard.

Word has been received from Bruce ex-'08, who is a student at the University of California, and whose family lived in San Francisco, that he was not injured in the earthquake or fire.

The attendance at the Cap and Bells performance of the "Man from Mexico" at the opera house last night, given for the benefit of the Good Will club, was large. S. R. Pevear 1907 sang between the acts.

Cowperthwait has been chosen chairman of the senior smoker committee in place of Hogan, resigned. A smoker will be held in the reading room in Jesup Hall some evening next week if possible.

H. Livingston 1905 has given the following books to the library: Pollard's "Life of Thomas Cranmer", Gladden's "Witnesses of Light," and Wheeler's "Daniel Webster, the Expounding of the Constitution."

At a recent meeting of the Scientific Association, Prof. Milham read a paper on "Extra-Tropical Cyclones." He traced the causes, attendant circumstances and general features of the storms and entered into a brief discussion of the work of the weather forecasting bureaus.

1907 Begins With Victory

In the first class baseball game of the season, played on Weston Field after the varsity game yesterday afternoon, 1907 defeated 1906 by the score of 12 to 5. Tower, who started to pitch for the juniors, proved ineffective and was replaced in the third inning by Hoyne. The features of the game were Schell's home run to the football bleachers, the longest hit made on Weston Field this year, and the pitching of Hoyne, who struck out the entire side in the fourth.

The score by innings.

See Me About a Position.

I want to have a personal talk with every Williams College man who will be in the market for a good position in business or technical work on or after July 1st.

If you will call and see me at the New Richmond House, North Adams, Mass., at any time to suit your convenience, from April 27th to 28th, inclusive (afternoon or evening), I can tell you frankly just what the prospects are of securing the sort of position you want and are fitted to fill. I can give you full information concerning a great many of the best opportunities for young college men in all lines of work in the United States and several foreign countries.

It will pay you, I feel sure, to see me before deciding definitely what to do after graduation.

Work on Swimming Tank

Contracts for the work on the swimming tank have been sublet by Mr. Smedley and it is expected by him that the pool will be ready for use in six weeks. The pool will be lined throughout with two inches of concrete, over which enamel bricks will be laid, and the whole will be reinforced with expanded metal. The measurements have been slightly changed. The tank will be 60 by 22 feet and will have a depth at the east end of 7 feet 8 inches and at the west end of 4 feet 10 inches. On the eastern end a platform 15 feet 6 inches wide is now being built, and a four foot walk will extend along the entire northern side.

The long delay in the construction of the pool has been due partly to a change in plans which called for a four-foot widening of the tank and the shoring of the roof with large girders, as well as to the illness of Mr. Smedley.

Episcopal Students Conference

The conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held in Trinity Church, Boston, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Circulars were sent to all Episcopal students in New England colleges, and at least one delegate from the Church students' Missionary Association of each one of these colleges as well as from Princeton will probably attend. Gardiner '09 will represent Williams at the conference.

Addresses will be made at the convention by Rev. Alexander Mann, pastor of Trinity church, by New England district bishops, headmasters of several New England Episcopal schools, and officers of the brotherhood. Among the topics of college interest to be discussed are "The Needs of the College Student and How to Meet Them", "What Should be the Aim of a College Church Society?", "How can the College Chapel be made more of a help to the Development of the Spiritual Life?" Devotional meetings will be held on Saturday and Sunday, and the conference will close at 4 p. m. Sunday with a sermon by the Right Reverend A. C. A. Hall, Bishop of Burlington, Vt.

Williams Shoots Straightest

The gun club held a match shoot with North Adams at the Zylonite range yesterday afternoon, winning by a score of 74 to 64. The weather conditions were most unfavorable, but on the whole the scores were good. The men shot as follows:

North Adams		Williams
Graves 17	Dr. Kellogg 22
Pratt 18	Geor '07 16
Hodge 15	Fitch '06 18
Krum 14	L. Allen '08 18
64	74

During the four years of the Williams gun club it has shot against North Adams six times, the score now being three matches all. This was the first match won from North Adams at their home traps. Today Dr. Kellogg broke 79 of a total of 84 pigeons, the last 31 consecutively.

The regular class prayer meetings will be held Friday evening at 7:15. Subject and references: The Spiritual Kingdom; Matt. 3, 19-34. Leaders: '1906, Wakefield; 1907, Russell; 1908, Hazen; 1909, W. S. Pettit '05.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE

From June 22 to July 1—Expense, Program, Recreation, and Speakers

On June 22, the Friday immediately after the closing Wednesday of the June examinations, the annual Northfield student conference will convene in East Northfield, Mass. At this conference delegations, numbering in all 600 or 700 men, will be present from almost every college in the East. This year the date of meeting has been placed a week earlier than usual, and as a result many colleges are planning for very large delegations.

Williams occupied the same desirable quarters in Marquand Hall for several years in succession until last year, when those rooms were allotted to Columbia on account of the latter's larger delegations. This year the choice of rooms will be given to the colleges in accordance with the amount of registration fees which they have paid in by May 14. This means that if Williams has by May 14 a larger paid registration than Columbia or any other institution, Williams will secure previous choice of rooms, consequently it is important that within the next two weeks and a half as many men as possible shall definitely decide to go.

The conference opens Friday evening, June 22, and closes Sunday evening, July 1. If a delegate cannot stay the entire ten days, it is well worth his while to attend for as long as he can.

The conference expenses are as follows: Registration fee, $5 for the 10 days or 60 cents a day; board $9 for the 10 days or $1 per day; room $3 for the 10 days or proportionately less for a shorter period. For the many who room in excellent tents provided by the conference this last item is somewhat reduced. The railroad grants a one and one-third fare for the round trip and, counting possible incidentals and the fare from Williamstown and return, the necessary additional expenses would be between $3 and $3.50 for each man. There are available several waiterships by which men who desire to do so can earn their board.

The conference consists of Bible classes, mission classes, classes of immigration and social problems—meeting at 8:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. daily—and a platform meeting in the great auditorium in the morning; in the afternoons a tennis tournament open to all the delegates, a baseball tournament between teams of all the larger delegations, a golf tournament, a track meet, and various other forms of recreation; in the evenings a short meeting where various professions are considered, and then the chief platform meeting of the day. Each delegate goes to such meetings as he chooses, and only when he chooses. The leaders and speakers are all men of notable ability and prominence. Among them are Robert E. Speer, Rt. Rev. C. S. Anderson, Bishop of Chicago, Dr. Endicott Peabody of Groton School, Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin of New York and others. A definite program is not yet made out.

The general secretary of the association states that he will appreciate it, if men who expect to attend the conference will notify him at once.

FOOTBALL COACH CHOSEN

Offer Made to Hatch 1903—Council Grants Relay "W"s

At their meeting in Jesup Hall Saturday evening the Athletic Council voted to have James A. Hatch 1903 as head football coach for next year. Mr. Hatch's name was recommended by both the captain and manager of next year's team. He will accept the position, if possible, but was unable to state definitely Saturday night whether his law practice in New York city would enable him to take it up or not. He will communicate his decision to the council within at least a month. No appropriations for salary of a coach will be made until the football schedule for next year is handed in, nor was any action taken with reference to an assistant coach or coaches.

It was decided that Williams join the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States, the association formed by the colleges who met in connection with the revision of football rules in New York last December. By taking this stand the college particularly subscribes itself (in article VI. of the constitution) "to enact and enforce such measures as may be necessary to prevent violations of the principles of amateur sport such as" (a) proselyting, which is strictly defined, (b) playing of those not amateurs, (c) playing of those not bona-fide students in good and regular standing, (d) improper and unsportsmanlike conduct of contestants, coaches, assistants, or student body. The college still retains its eligibility rules, the association merely suggesting a minimum. None of the big four, which have largely directed collegiate athletics in past years, have yet joined the association, nor have Amherst, Dartmouth or Wesleyan.

The usual appropriations were made, including about $100. for necessary repairs made on Weston Field. The "W" was given to the four members of the 'varsity relay team' which defeated Wesleyan and Brown: Ayers, Griswold, Osterhout 1906; Hurlbut 1907. The question of ratifying the recommendation of the basketball captain and manager for granting the "B W B" to members of the team was not brought before the council.

Cap and Bells at New York

Cap and Bells gave its New York city performance of "The Man from Mexico" Friday evening at the Carnegie Lyceum, 57th street and Seventh avenue. The show was given very smoothly, the work of Botsford 1906 receiving the usual hearty appreciation. The Spanish dance by Combes 1906 was encouraged as were the solos between the acts by Pevear 1907, with piano accompaniment by Yarnelle 1907. The house was well-filled, a large number of alumni being present.

TRIAL TRACK MEET

Held on Weston Field Saturday—Well-Contested Races

The trial meet to determine the entries for the Wesleyan meet next Saturday was held on Weston Field Saturday afternoon with more men competing than ever before. No times or distances were given out for publication. The closest races of the day were the two-mile and 220-yd. dash, while the work of the high jumpers was good. The quarter was particularly hard-fought, the two leaders falling when near the tape, and all the races but the low hurdles were well contested. The distances in the weight events were poorer than expected. Horrax '09 did the best individual work, winning first in the high hurdles and high jump and second in the broad jump. Counting points for the first three places, 1908 leads with 34 points, followed by 1909 with 30, 1906 had 27 and 1907, 17.

The summary follows:

220-yd. dash: 1st, Clark '08; 2nd, Watters '08; 3rd, Cowperthwait '06.

440-yd. dash: 1st, Johnston '09; 2nd, Hopkins '09; 3rd, Wells '07.

880-yd. run: 1st, Ayers '06; Eggleston '06; 3rd, Conover '07.

Two-mile run: 1st, Bonner '09; 2nd, Davis '07; 3rd, Allen '07.

Hammer throw: 1st, LaMent '08; 2nd, Swain '09; 3rd, Lapham '07.

Track Training Table

The following men were taken on the track training table at Mrs. Murphy's Saturday evening: Ayers, Cowperthwait, Eggleston, Griswold (capt.), Osterhout 1906; A. M. Brown, Chapman, Davis, Hurlbut, Lesser 1907; B. P. Allen, LaMent, Marshall, Watters 1908; Horrax 1909.

Baseball Election

The annual meeting for the election of an assistant manager and vice-president of the baseball association will be held in Jesup Hall tomorrow evening, at 7:30. A meeting of the sophomore class will be held to-morrow at 1:30 for nomination of candidates.

'VARSITY IMPROVES

Second Team Defeated 8 to 3 in Fast Game

In a contest which showed a high quality of baseball the 'varsity' team took a game from the second team Saturday afternoon on Weston Field, by a score of 8 to 3. The 'varsity' lined out seven hits, but the runs scored were due rather to the poor support that Pierce received than to poor pitching.

CAPTAIN NEILD

Pierce struck out eleven men while his team mates made four errors. The 'varsity', playing an errorless game, supported Ford's somewhat erratic pitching in snappy fashion.

Warren, second man up for the 'varsity' in the first inning, sent out a two-bagger, and Hogan opened the 'varsity's' half of the third with the first three-base hit of the season. The heaviest hitting occurred in the sixth inning, when Osterhout went to second on a long drive, and three singles followed. The second team tied the score in the second inning. Redick and Gardner crossing the plate after Southworth's single to right field. Their only other run came in in the fifth when Stower scored on a wild pitch Ford allowed four bases on balls, while Pierce gave six men passes. Redick used the bat well, securing three hits, and Warren excelled at the bat for the 'varsity. Waters threw well, but had three passed balls.

AN ALUMNI GROVE

1906 Inaugurates College Custom—Nomer Speaker at Alumni Banquet

At a senior class meeting Thursday evening the question of having an alumni grove, where each graduating class should plant a tree, was discussed. The grove will probably be situated at the south-east corner of Weston Field near the football bleachers. The following committee was appointed to confer with President Hopkins on the subject: Loomis, Lowe, Morgan (chairman). In addition to planting a tree the class will hold the usual ivy celebration this year.

Arrangements were made that five members of the faculty, including President Hopkins, give Sunday afternoon talks to the seniors during the spring. Nomer was chosen to speak for 1906 at the annual Commencement alumni banquet.

Rewards For Scholarship

A committee of the faculty will report at the May meeting of that body concerning an improvement in the present system of rewards for scholarship. The committee has been working to find out what systems are in use in other colleges along two lines: systems by which all high-standing men can be grouped in some broad scholarship classification each year, and systems by which high scholarship in a single particular subject can receive recognition.

Each college has its own system of awards for high standing, outside of cash prizes. At Michigan, for example, no grades are given at all. At Amherst and Wesleyan prescribed work outside the curriculum in particular subjects becomes a basis for awards of honors in those subjects, and at Amherst honorable mention may be given without this outside work. Dartmouth and Princeton have the scholarship classification system. The former college prints in its catalogue a list of all in the three lower classes who have averaged 92, as "Rufus Choate Scholars". Princeton awards "high general honors" and "high honors" at the end of each year for the work done in that year.

No Williams man who does not hold a scholarship has any chance of knowing from the college how he averages with others until the end of his senior year. By figuring from his semester marks he can get only a rough idea, for not even the scholarship holder can estimate accurately the group in which his grades place him. Again, the only classification of high-standing men in the catalogue, that of the scholarship men, conveys a wrong impression to the casual reader. It is easy to get the idea that this list of one-sixth of the college is the honor list of the whole college. Some plan of publishing at the end of each year groups of those of the highest rank in all classes would give the man who does not hold a scholarship recognition for his curriculum efforts, and would lessen his temptation to ease up, more or less unconsciously, on scholastic ideals.

The second part of the committee's work effects everybody. Phi Beta Kappa awaits only those who keep high scholarship in everything. Williams offers no honors in individual departments of study except in connection with prizes. Here, too, some departments are over-prized, in others there are no prizes at all. There are fourteen rhetorical prizes available, and seventeen in the classics. In all the sciences but three prizes are offered, in history but two, in government one, in philosophy and economics none.

This, of course, is not the fault of the college, since gifts for such objects are made for prizes in specified subjects. What Williams can do, however, is to award honors and honorable mentions for special excellence. Without overlooking the fact that in a college broad culture ought to have the greater emphasis, special excellence requires in a more limited field the more concentrated use of the powers of the mind. The curriculum aims for a special education, combined with a general education. Phi Beta Kappa and Commencement appointments are given for the high rank of the many who excel generally in all studies alike. Why not, then, give honors for the high rank of the many who excel specially, and give them in each one of the particular studies?

Neither of these lines along which the committee is working will cost the college pocket-book anything. There is some faculty sentiment in favor of the system. The faculty can surely secure more work from those who wish to lay greatest emphasis on curriculum work by adopting it, and more will wish to lay greatest emphasis there when they see more glory by so doing. From the student side, all A and B men will know accurately whether they gain or lose each year, the brilliant specialist whose standing in other subjects may be low will receive proper recognition, and the five-sixths that do not hold scholarships will have a chance to get representation in the "honor list".

Classical Society Meeting

A meeting of the classical society will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the choir room in the basement of the chapel. Mr. Salter will treat Greek music, and will explain the subject by piano accompaniment. Mrs. Howes and Mr. John Bright Lord 1905 and Pever 1907 will assist him.

Papers will be read on "Some Comparisons Between Rumanian, Umbrian and Classical Latin", by Dr. Gerig, and on "Aristotle's Contributions to the Theory of the State", by Mr. P. Smith.

The musical program follows:
1.—First Pythie Ode of Pindar (500 B.C.) Mr. J. B. Lord 1905
2.—Fragment of Chorus from the Orestes of Euripides (5th century B.C.) Mr. J. B. Lord 1905
3.—Delphic Hymn to Apollo (278 B.C.) Pever 1907
4.—Two Homeric Hymns (200 B.C.) (a) To Demeter (b) To Aphrodite Mrs. G. E. Howes

5.—Seikilos Ode (1st century A.D.)
Hymn to Nemesis by Mesomedes (2nd century A.D.)
Mrs. G. E. Howes.

Rooms For Next Year

The allotment of dormitory rooms for the next college year will begin Wednesday, when members of 1907 will meet at 2 p. m., in 4 Hopkins Hall to draw lots for choice of rooms. Drawing for remaining rooms by members of 1908 (and '07-'09 couples) will occur Saturday, May 5th, same place and hour, and for 1909 the following Wednesday. In the faculty room at the same hour on May 3d and 7th respectively, pairs composed of men from '07 and '08, and '08 and '09 will be offered choice of rooms still open. On May 10th reservations may be made by men who intend to room with prospective freshmen.

The opening of Berkshire Hall, with accommodations for 42 men, and of South College extension, with accommodations for 14 men, will increase the total dormitory capacity to 267. No changes in rentals are announced, except that $72 will be the price of College Hall rooms formerly costing $80. Prices of rooms for Berkshire Hall and South College extension have already been announced. "The payment of one-half the yearly rental when the assignment is made is required of all who take rooms" (1905-1906 catalogue, p. 106). No applicants will be allowed to secure rooms until they present a receipt from the treasurer.

Amherst Freshmen Can Compete

The action of the Amherst faculty, debarring freshmen from intercollegiate athletics, has been laid on the table by them for one year. In its place a student committee will be appointed to look after the curriculum work for freshmen athletes, and stricter scholarship requirements will be demanded from any freshman who represents the college, not only on athletic teams, but on any club or publication.

The debate between the Philological and Philotechnian societies, scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed indefinitely owing to the sophomore-freshman contest the same evening.

University of Vermont Wednesday

Williams will meet the University of Vermont in the third baseball game of the season at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, on Weston Field. Williams has met Vermont but once before in baseball, winning from them in 1894 by the score of 6-0, although in 1904 the score was 3-0 in Vermont's favor when ruin stopped the game in the second inning.

The batting-orders of both teams follow:

U. OF V.: Gardner 3b, Collison 2b, Campbell p, Peck cf, Kibbe c, Whitney 1b, Williams ss, Collins lf, Berry rf.

WILLIAMS—Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford p.

Vermont's Scores

Vermont 4	Harvard 9
Vermont 10	Univ. of Maine 4
Vermont 12	Univ. of Maine 16
Vermont 10	Bowdoin 6
Vermont 4	Bowdoin 5
Vermont 22	Norwich 2

New Baseball Score-Books

The baseball score-book will probably be on sale for the Vermont game, Wednesday. It will contain eight pages, including the line-ups of the teams, the baseball schedule, scores of games and a cut of Capt. Neild. The cover will be in purple and gold with a conventional design by Reid '06.

Another Freshman Victory

The second game of the inter-class baseball series was played between 1908 and 1909 on Weston Field Saturday afternoon after the varsity-second team game, the freshmen winning after a typical class-game struggle by the score of 10 to 9. Towards the end Sears pitched well, while Gillett was erratic. Moies played a strong game behind the bat, putting out four men by his accurate throws to second. Tiff's home run and the strong brace taken by 1908 in the last half of the sixth inning provoked much enthusiasm.

The score by innings:

1908	2	0	2
1909	5	0	2

Batteries—1908, Gillett and Moies; 1909, Sears and Nelson. Umpire—Southworth 1907.

Y. M. C. A. Handbook

The Y. M. C. A. handbook, which is expected to appear in June, though much similar to those of former years, will have several new features. There will be a map of the college and if possible a cut of Berkshire Hall. Instead of a daily diary there will be a memorandum, thus cutting down the number of pages and permitting of a better quality of paper and workmanship. The cover will be in black leather, with "Williams" in gold lettering. The contract is not yet placed.

Golf Match Wednesday

The golf team will hold its first match of the season against the North Adams Country Club on the latter's links at 3:00 p. m. Wednesday. The team will be composed of Clapp 1906; A. Mitchell, L. Mitchell, Gregory 1907; Lynde 1908; Wilcox 1909. The entire schedule is not yet approved by the faculty committee.

Interclass Debate.

The second annual interclass debate will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30, in Jesup Hall, between 1908 and 1909. The question chosen, that of summer ball playing, in view of recent action by Brown and Cornell, is one of great interest to the college, and is distinctly two-sided.

The 1908 debaters will speak in the following order: L. Fowle, Johnson, Capt. McIntyre, 1909, opposing summer ball, will speak as follows: Robb, Pike, Capt. Ernst, Bachmeister, is alternate for 1908, Macley for 1909. The judges are not yet chosen.

History Teachers Meet

Prof. Goodrich represented Williams at the annual meeting of the New England Historical Teachers association, held in the Center Church, Hartford, Conn., on Friday and Saturday. At the opening meeting on Friday evening, Prof. J. H. Robinson of Columbia, the author of the "History of Western Europe" used in History I, made an address on "The Fall of Rome." The chief subject discussed was the history papers of the college entrance examination board, of which Williams has recently become a member.

Lit. Meeting

The Lit. board will meet Friday evening, May 4th, to consider manuscript for the June Lit. All contributions must be in the hands of some member of the board or left at 6 East College before 6 p. m. of that day.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Dr. Philip S. Moxon of Springfield addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall yesterday evening on what might be called the parable of the vacuum. He spoke briefly of the demons of old times who were held responsible for all evil, and gave Jesus' parable of the demon which, after having been driven from a man, returned again with seven others and re-occupied him. Dr. Moxon drew from this the lesson that action is necessary to growth. A man must use his body, mind and soul methodically to have them grow. Growth in faith is gained by exercise of heart toward God. On the other hand, if unexercised, the moral power will retrograde.

The mind and soul must be occupied by something, and if not good that something will certainly be bad. Thus with weeds, if you cut them out, they will return. The only way to exterminate them is to plant good seeds to take their place. A man who turns from sin will in the end, unless he occupies himself with good, slip back seven-fold. The price of progress is continued endeavor.

PROM. PLANSColor Scheme Yellow and White—Forty-two Dances

The arrangements for the annual Sophomore Prom., to be held in Lussell Gymnasium Tuesday evening, May 29, are nearing completion. All except the minor contracts have been placed, and the decorations definitely planned. The general color scheme will be yellow and white, and the bunting will be draped up to a cluster of lights in the center of the roof as in former years. A new feature will be the use of electrically-lit Japanese lanterns, which will be hung singly and in strings, the latter following the bunting and drapery. The pillars will be twined with greens. Gioscia's orchestra will furnish the music, and the many minor details, such as palms, rugs, cosy corners and flags, will be much the same as last year. There will be forty-two dances, with no extras.

The contracts have been placed as follows: Decorations, Murray of Springfield; lighting, Costine of North Adams; stationery, Charles Elliott and Co. of Philadelphia; catering, Lucas of Troy (to be served by T. H. Halla); music, Gioscia of Albany.

College Not Visited

The legislative committee on taxation has completed its tour of investigation with reference to the college dormitory taxation bill, and Williamstown was omitted from the itinerary. The committee arrived in Northampton Thursday evening and visited Smith, Amherst and Mount Holyoke Friday. On Saturday it visited Northfield and Mount Hermon. The committee's final order to travel did not allow them to visit Williamstown.

Theatre Attractions

The Richmond-Vaudeville all the week, except Saturday. Saturday afternoon and evening, Eddie Foy in "The Earl and the Girl". The Empire—Thursday afternoon, Sousa's band; Friday evening, Howard Kyle in "Her American Prince"; Saturday afternoon and evening, "A Foxy Tramp". Frank Daniels will appear May 10th at the Empire in "Sergeant Brne"; at the Richmond a probable booking early in June is Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Zaza."

Lit. Contents

The contents for the May Lit will be as follows:

SPRING GOLF SCHEDULE

Team Plays Yale, Harvard and Princeton—Eleven Matches

The spring schedule, approved by the faculty committee this afternoon, follows. Asst.-Mgr. Jaekel has arranged ten contests, five away from home. The date for the alumni match is not definitely decided. The team will meet three of the members of the intercollegiate league on a trip to be taken in May: Princeton, Pennsylvania and Yale, the intercollegiate champions. A match with Columbia is being arranged.

The five members of the team which won the New England intercollegiate championship at Wollaston last fall from Dartmouth, Brown, Amherst, Bowdoin and M. I. T. are all in college. Captain Clapp 1906 put out A. Mitchell 1907 in the finals for the individual championship at that tournament. A. Mitchell 1907 played in the national championship tournament, and was only beaten in a hard match in the final round of the Lakewood tournament this spring, in which many of the leading golfers of the intercollegiate league took part. Wilcox 1909 was metropolitan champion in 1904. The other members of the team, who have played for three years, are L. Mitchell 1907 and Gregory 1907.

The schedule:

Sat., May 5, Harvard at Williamstown.
Wed., May 9, Open.
Sat., May 12, Island Golf Club at Troy.
Thurs., May 17, Princeton at Princeton.
Fri., May 18, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.
Sat., May 19, Yale at Garden City.
Sat., May 26, Mt. Anthony Golf Club at Williamstown.
Sat., June 2, Springfield Country Club at Williamstown.
Wed., June 6, Mt. Anthony Golf Club at Bennington.
Sat., June 9, Tekon Golf Club at Williamstown.
Tues., June 23, Williams alumni at Williamstown.

Williams-Harvard Golf Match

The Williams golf team will meet Harvard on the Taconic club course Saturday. Harvard defeated Williams at Wollaston last spring 11 to 11. Among the prominent players on their team are Ray Ingalls, who has played for three years, Pierre A. Proulx, Jr., and A. L. White, intercollegiate champion in 1904 and the winner of the recent Lakewood tournament.

FIRST AMHERST GAME

Purple and White to be Played at Amherst—The Batting Order

Williams meets Amherst on the Pratt Field diamond, Saturday, in the first game of the series of four between the two colleges. Amherst possesses practically a veteran nine, the positions of catcher and left field being the only ones at which new men are playing this year. McRae, in his last year's form, is a strong factor in the box: Yale managed to get but two hits from him in the game which Amherst won 1-0 at the opening of the season.

In last year's series Amherst won four out of the five games played; in 1904 Williams won the two scheduled by a wide margin. Since 1883 Williams and Amherst have met each other at baseball 74 times, 39 of which were Williams victories, but since 1894 Williams has won 22 games to Amherst's 13.

The batting orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford and Pierce p.
AMHERST: Wheeler cf, Palmer 1b, Storke 3b, Beach ss, Shattuck rf, Spring c, McRae p, Jones lf, Allaire 2b.

LEAVITT WINS HURDLES

Former Williams Track Captain Secures Olympic Honors

At the finals of the 110 meter hurdles (120 yds. 10 3/4 in.) in the Olympic games in the stadium at Athens, Tuesday, Robert G. Leavitt ex '07, elected track captain at the end of last year's season, won first place in 16 1/5 seconds. A. H. Healey of England was second, and Duncker of Germany third. One other American was in the finals, Hugo Friend of the University of Chicago. The hurdles were stationary.

At the college meeting held Tuesday evening a committee was appointed to express to Leavitt the appreciation of the college, and the following cablegram was sent yesterday morning:

"Robert G. Leavitt,
"Care United States Athletic Team.

"Athens, Greece.
"Williams college sends heartiest congratulations."

Sunday's Preacher

Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Englewood, N. J., will preach at the morning chapel service next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Robbins graduated from Yale in the class of '99 and from Cambridge (Episcopal) Theological Seminary in 1903. Before going to Englewood he was assistant rector of St. Peter's in Morristown, N. J. No word has yet been received as to whether he will be able to address the Y. M. C. A. meeting or not.

MUSIC OF THE GREEKS

Topic at Classical Society Meeting—Weirdness a Characteristic

At the classical society meeting held in the choir room in the basement of the chapel yesterday evening Mr. Sumner Salter spoke on the development and phases of Greek music. In the piano illustrations of the music he was assisted by Prof. T. C. Smith on the bassoon, LaMent 1908 on the violin, and by solos by Mrs. G. E. Howes, Mr. J. B. Lord 1905, and Pevear 1907.

Greek music is generally considered to be alone in ugliness, but to understand it we must divest ourselves of our modern ideas of music and think in terms of lyre, cithra, and flute. The only real fragment of Greek music extant is a part of the chorus of the Orestes of Euripides, which has signs for instrumental accompaniment of the voice. Ancient music was never for instruments alone; they merely accompanied singing. The character of the music was weird, the weirdness largely taking the place of harmony, and the whole cast in a minor strain. The Gregorian chants perhaps follow the old Greek model more than does any other mediaeval or modern style.

Greek music was the handmaid of poetry. It was considered false taste to use the flute or lyre otherwise than as accompaniment to song. The Greeks evolved an exact system, using even quarter tones and five time, which we cannot get. Perhaps the reason moderns cannot appreciate this accurate but intricate music is that it is too refined for our ears. At first only three notes were in use, then notes were added singly and in groups until there were thirty or more. At last an octave series came in. Mr. Salter spoke at length on the growth of the scale and of the tetrachord, the basis of Greek music.

As regards the notation, in reading music the singer had the words and the inflections to guide him, but for instruments the old Dorian letters were used, their different positions indicating the tones required. The various keys were used to express different moods and feelings.

The other illustrations were characterized by the same weirdness shown in the Orestes, all being peculiar in that they ended on the dominant note, rather than on the tonic note as modern music does. The selections by Mrs. Howes were enthusiastically enjoyed. The music sung by Lord and Pevear was of a character demanding vocal gymnastics rather than musical interpretation.

In closing Mr. Salter played the present Grecian national hymn, showing the great change between their ancient and modern music. The readings by Mr. P. Smith and Dr. Garig were postponed on account of the lateness of the hour until the next meeting of the society.

VOL. 20 MAY 3, 1906 No. 12

The Golf Schedule

The golf schedule ratified by the athletic committee yesterday is the hardest any Williams golf team has ever undertaken. The four strongest members of the intercollegiate league are played, two of them on their home grounds and one on a neutral course, and the strongest club team in Massachusetts west of Worcester is on the list.

So difficult a schedule could only be justified by unusual excellence of material. The position in which Williams golf has been placed by the men on the present team in the last two years is exceptional. That a publication like the Illustrated Outdoor News should suggest editorially that Williams, New England intercollegiate league champion, meet Yale, the intercollegiate league champion, to find out which is the best college golf team in the East, is testimony from an unprejudiced witness.

The feature of the schedule is the May trip, on which matches will be played with Princeton, U. of P., and Yale. The team cannot expect to win the majority of these matches. The men on the large college teams have had more tournament experience, and better opportunities for practice this year. To play three of the of the best teams in any line of sport in successive days, and two of them under local conditions with which they are absolutely familiar, is a hard proposition for any team. While victories over both Yale and Princeton, which met in the finals of the last intercollegiate championship, would give the team a claim to first rank in college golf, such a double victory is not to be hoped for. The significant fact is that these matches are possible.

If the season of the team is to be successful, practically all the other matches are to be won. That more contests with local clubs and colleges in the New England league could not be arranged to make the schedule less difficult is to be regretted, but all efforts to secure such matches have failed. The team has been forced into these matches with colleges which are out of our class in major sports.

The Northfield Conference

The Northfield conference, held this year immediately after college closes, is a source of deep inspiration to many from its religious side alone. Those connected with religious interests of colleges find there the best speakers of the day, and in the conference room become filled with ideas which help them make their colleges better.

However, the majority of men at the conference are there on a vacation, what might be called a week's play under religious auspices, and even those who attend for more strictly religious reasons get most good from association with their fellow collegians. Over half a hundred men from all the eastern colleges go to Northfield. There is no other intercollegiate gathering so large. The opportunity to meet these men, the best types of the student-bodies, to get hold of new ideas and new viewpoints of old ideas, is something that is given nowhere else. This personal association counts for far more than the more formal religious influence.

The religion a man cannot help from getting there is not driven into him, but is rather absorbed with the atmosphere of the place. Nobody has to attend a meeting unless he wants to, but you cannot help wanting to. It is a healthy kind of religion, bred out of association with right-thinking fellows. If you consider religion to mean a dogma and a creed, it is not religion at all, but simply goodness. Every Williams undergraduate would gain by attending the conference. He would come back a broader, better man, more able to do the college good.

Graves Prize Essays Announced

The Graves prizes for essays written by members of the senior class on assigned subjects have been awarded to the following four men: Albert Francis Buchanan of Indianapolis, Ind., subject, Paolo Sarpi; Charles Henry Brady of Rye, N. Y., subject, St. Francis of Assisi; John Adams Lowe of Fitchburg, St. Francis of Assisi; Wilbur Jewell Page of Concord, N. H., subject, The Ethics of Modern Business.

A prize of $80 is awarded with the other prizes at Commencement to the student who shall deliver his essay in the most effective manner before a public audience. The prize-speaking contest comes the evening of Saturday, June 23.

DUAL TRACK MEET

Wesleyan vs. Williams on Weston Field Saturday

Williams will meet Wesleyan in a dual track meet on Weston Field Saturday afternoon. For Wesleyan Kent in the sprints, Capt. Benson in the two-mile, and Dearborn in the weights have done the best work. Benson is good for around 10.20 in the two-mile, and Dearborn was but fifteen inches

Fire Stops Smoker

The first senior smoker was held on the steps of Jesup Hall immediately after the college meeting Tuesday evening. Cheers were given for Leavitt ex-'07, and plans for a second outdoor smoker were discussed. As the class was marching about the campus in single file singing, an alarm was rung in for a fire off Belden Avenue, near Hemlock Brook, and the smoker broke up. The effective work of a student bucket-brigade got the fire under control.

RAIN STOPS GAMESharp Contest with Vermont Ends with Score a Tie

With the score standing 2-2, the game between Williams and the University of Vermont yesterday afternoon on Weston Field was called on account of rain after four and one-half innings of play. The game was fast, and the teams evenly matched. The visitors hit the ball hard, but sharp, brilliant fielding in tight places prevented more runs. Williams obtained but one hit, but it came at the right time.

University of Vermont, first at bat, opened the game with three hits and a run. Gardner reached third on an error by Warren, and crossed the plate on Campbell's line fly to center, which was misjudged. A sharp throw by Wadsworth after a hard stop out off Campbell at the plate. Williams' two runs were brought in after two were out when Young was hit, the visitors' short stop fumbled Neild's grounder, and Hogan's single got by the center fielder, Young and Neild scoring. Rain interrupted the game for a few minutes at the end of the third inning, but play was resumed and Vermont tied the score on a wild throw to first after a hunt. The game was declared "off" by Umpire Jeffrey after Vermont had been retired in the fifth inning.

The score by innings follows:

Williams	2	0	0

The two best scores of the afternoon were made by members of the college team, 77 and 79 for eighteen holes. The score follows:

1909 WINS FROM 1908

In Second Annual Interclass Debate Last Evening

The freshmen, supporting the negative of the question, were victorious in the second annual interclass debate held in Jesup Hall last night. The subject, "Resolved, that 'varsity' ball players should be allowed to play on summer baseball teams," was presented in such a manner as to leave little choice between the relative merits of the teams. The general arguments were emphasized by considerable repetition, and neither of the teams was very strong in rebuttal. A notable omission was the failure of either team to define the subject.

The affirmative in general showed that present evils of summer baseball are not done away with, that abolition of summer ball is not the solution of the problem, and that there are manifold benefits of summer ball to players.

The negative argued that other sports would be contaminated by professionalism in baseball, and that this professionalism would thwart the main objects of intercollegiate athletics. For the affirmative McIntyre did well in the general argument and Johnson excelled in the rebuttal. Robb did the best work for the negative.

The judges, Mr. Lewis, Prof. T. C. Smith and Prof. McElfresh, were out about five minutes.

Freshman Oratorical Preliminaries

The following freshmen have been chosen to take part in the preliminaries to the annual oratorical contest: Bottsford, Carlisle, Dodd, Erast, Eurich, Hanson, Hazelton, Hill, K. J. Howe, Johnston, Klauser, Menard, Noehren, Robb, Russell, Sayre, Sterne, Toll, von Witzleben, Westen, Westbrook, Wood. The preliminaries will take place about May 14, and the final about May 21.

Mission Anniversary Oct. 9-12

The American Board of Foreign Missions has accepted the invitation of the churches of North Adams to hold its annual meeting in that city next October. The meetings will be held from October 9 to 12. On Wednesday, Oct. 10, there will be special services in Williamstown, in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Foreign Missions in August 1806. Meetings will be held in the chapel in the morning and at the haystack monument in Mission Park in the afternoon.

A meeting of the general committee for the celebration in Williamstown, consisting of Prof. Mears, Rev. Mr. Clayton and Mrs. Wild, was held last evening and the various matters of business pertaining to that event were assigned to six sub-committees, which have not yet definitely organized.

NOTICES

—All candidates for the position of assistant business manager and assistant stage manager of Cap and Bells are requested to hand their names to Bottsford 1906 before Friday.

—The Van Vechten speakers are requested to meet Mr. Lewis for a moment immediately after chapel Saturday morning.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

TENNIS

Schedule of Four Tournaments— The Prospects

In spite of the loss of a strong player in Northrop 1905, the tennis team gives promise of another successful season this spring. Smith 1906, New England intercollegiate singles champion in 1904, and with Northrop winner of the doubles championship last year, will captain a team strengthened by new material. Besides Westcott 1908, who played last year, Linen 1907, who was not in college last spring, and T. K. Thompson 1908, who entered this year from the University of Minnesota, are candidates with much tournament experience.

With relation to the other colleges in the triangular league Dartmouth shows a strong team, while Wesleyan seems to be somewhat weaker. The Amherst team will probably not be up to last year's standard. Fanning of M. I. T., last year's New England intercollegiate singles champion, will play in the tournament again this year. The schedule, approved yesterday by the faculty committee, follows. All the matches, except one with the faculty on a date as yet undecided, will be out of town.

May 16, Springfield Country Club, at Springfield.

May 25 and 26, Triangular Tournament at Middletown. (Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams).

May 28, 29, and 30, New England Intercollegiate tournament, at the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston.

June 9, Amherst at Amherst.

COLLEGE NOTES

Dr. Pratt will speak before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening, May 20.

President Hopkins left for New York today on college business, and will speak before the students of Mt. Holyoke college Sunday.

The spring handicap golf tournament will begin Monday. Handicaps will be posted in the clubhouse, and the chart of holes at which strokes may be taken.

The annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Basketball association was held this week at Columbian University. The University of Pennsylvania was formally awarded the championship for the season of 1905-06. The membership will be unchanged for next year.

Mr. W. S. Pettit 1905 read a paper on "The Religious Condition in the College" before the monthly meeting of the ministers' club of Williamstown Monday.

Cap and Bells will give "The Man from Mexico" at the Pi Eta club-house, Cambridge, Wednesday evening, May 9. The Pi Eta Society is largely a dramatic club and has a private theatre connected with its club-house.

An article by Dr. Pratt, entitled "Types of Religious Belief," which appeared in the March number of the American Journal of Religious Psychology and Education, has recently been reprinted in pamphlet form. This embodies the results of much investigation by means of printed circulars widely sent out, inquiring about religious ideas and experiences. It is to form a chapter in a book Dr.

Purple and White Shut Out on Pratt Field—Ford Fans Twelve

Williams shut out Amherst Saturday, 2 to 0, on Pratt Field in a brilliant game of baseball. The Purple won by Ford's baffling pitching, which retired 12 men and allowed one scratch hit, and by two hits and base-running in the second. The fielding of both teams was sharp. Waters' accurate throwing allowed no stolen bases. Warren covered half the field in center, and Young, in the last play of the game, made a lightning stop and throw to first for a double play. The Amherst pitchers were located frequently, but only five safe hits were scored, all clean drives. Newell made two lucky stops and Hogan was robbed of three hits by sensational catches. The outcome of the game was never in doubt.

The two runs were made in the second. Osterhout walked and took second on Waters' sacrifice. Harman's single gave him third, and he came home after McRae had caught Ford's long fly to left. Wadsworth then scored Harman on a two-bagger. McRae replaced Newell as pitcher in the third, and allowed but one hit. Jones made Amherst's hit on a slow roller toward third in the eighth and reached second on a sacrifice; only one other Amherst man got as far.

WESLEYAN

Track Meet Won from Red and Black, 79 Points to 47

Williams defeated Wesleyan Saturday afternoon in a dual track meet on Weston Field, 79 points to 47, exactly the same score as the Dartmouth meet of last year. Williams won nine firsts, eight seconds and ten thirds, scoring in each event. In the 880-yd. run, high hurdles and high jump, Williams secured all three places. The rain of the morning made the track slow but the times made were, on the whole,

CAPTAIN BENSON OF WESLEYAN

good. Horrax got 14 points, and Griswold 10 for Williams. Kent, McCormick and Dearborn made 34 of Wesleyan's 47 points.

The surprise of the day was the defeat of Capt. Benson of Wesleyan in the two-mile. Tired out by the hard race in the mile, which B. P. Allen won by a good spurt at the finish, he started off fast, running the first half in 5.10. He was not able to stand the pace, and was passed by Bonner and Davis on the last lap, Bonner winning out by a yard in fast time. The time in the half was the best of the day. Ayers and Eggleston, a yard apart at the finish, winning easily. The finals of the dashes were close and Kent chased Griswold out well in the low hurdles.

The field events were not so closely contested. Dearborn threw the discus eighteen feet beyond the Williams record, and also won the hammer and was second in the shot. Bowker, in the discus, made second on his last throw, and Kent of Wesleyan won the broad jump in the same way.

The officials were: referee, P. H. Hurley of Worcester; starter, H. L. Damm of Worcester.

Williams Defeats Crimson Golfers 23 1-2 to 0—Best Ball of 73

The golf match with the Harvard team, played on the links of the Taconic club, Saturday afternoon, resulted in a victory for Williams by the unexpectedly large score of 23½ to 0. Tuxedo system of scoring, a point for the match and half a point for every hole up. On the morning rounds of eighteen holes, individual match play, Williams scored 15 points, Harvard 0; in the afternoon rounds of eighteen holes, four ball foursomes, the score was Williams 8½, Harvard 0.

Although the course was not in the best of condition, the greens were smooth and true. The Cambridge team was handicapped by the absence of Pierre A. Proal, who usually plays No. 3. Throughout the match the Williams players were in exceptionally good form, while most of the Harvard golfers, especially in the individual matches, were off their game. Three holes were made in the unusual score of 2, one of them, the seventh, having a bogey of 4, by Wilder of Harvard, squaring his match with L. Mitchell. The White-A. Mitchell match carried the gallery in the morning. The Harvard captain led by a single hole going out, but saved himself from defeat by accurate putting on the seventeenth and eighteenth. Wilcox 1909 made the best rounds in the individual match, scoring 40-41, 81; Gregory 1907 had no difficulty with Hickox.

In the afternoon White and Ingalls were paired against Clapp and Wilcox, who took the lead at the first hole, were three ahead at the end of the first nine holes, and finished eight up, having a best ball of 73. Wilcox scored a 39 and Clapp a 38. White had a 39 on the first round, while Ingalls was not in form. The best ball of the two Williams players follows:

4 5 4 3 3 5 3 3 5—35

4 5 5 3 4 5 3 4 5—38-73

A. Mitchell played the most consistent game in the afternoon, with an 81.

The score follows:

A Williams Day

Amherst had a veteran team in Saturday's line-up, Williams but three players of two years' varsity experience. Amherst started the year with one of the best amateur pitchers in New England still in college as well as an experienced second-string man. Williams' two candidates had pitched in but five full games of college baseball. That in spite of these handicaps the nine was able to defeat Amherst on Pratt Field in the first game of the series shows hard work in practice, and is particularly gratifying. Though Ford's pitching was the prime cause of Amherst's defeat, for Captain Neild's men thus early in the season to play with but one error in the enemy's country shows that the team was playing ball all the time. The nine has the confidence of the college. It is early to get too enthusiastic, but if the present ability in the field and the box can be supplemented by equal ability at the bat, an old-time season is to be hoped for.

Meanwhile it was all purple in Williamstown. The track men surprised the college not so much by the size of their victory as by the quality of their performances and the evenness of the ability shown. The trouble with Williams in track in the past has been a lack of second-string men. That nineteen men won points is an encouraging sign for next Saturday's meet with a team that always wins on seconds and thirds. The golf team's victory was the most decisive and least expected of any. Harvard ranks just as high in golf as in the major sports and is defeated just as seldom.

Not in three years has the Purple won so many important victories in one day as on Saturday. Baseball, track, and golf have all started the season right. It certainly was a Williams day.

Williams Songs

During the past year our nearest colleges have been singularly fortunate in the advent of the song-writing spirit. A Wesleyan sub-freshman wrote in "While We Shout Victory" what to our mind is the most successful of the many songs of the Red and Black, in combining tuneful melody with a yell-rhythm that makes it a musical cheer. Amherst undergraduates have written "Lord Geoffrey Amherst" and, still more recently, "Here's to Amherst". Not since the writing of the "Alma Mater Song" by D. W. Marvin '01, has a catchy new song been written by an undergraduate. Perhaps the fault is not with the musical geniuses. Certainly no attention was paid to the song written by T. M. Banks '90 last fall to the dignified, inspiring tune of the Russian national air—a song better than any number of parodies of popular tunes written to be used on a single occasion.

College songs are of two kinds, the hymns and the slogans. Williams has many of the first kind, the "Alma Mater Song" and "The Royal Purple" are on the border line, while even "Come Fill Your Glasses Up," the only real Williams rallying song we can claim, is written to borrowed music. Even "The Grand Old Duke" might have been a Dartmouth song as well as a Williams one, had not fate perhaps thought it more fitting for those so much more used to marching up hills and down.

Williams needs more slogans, songs truly localized, with a swing and a dash to them that can make them as effective as cheers. There is a good field for any undergraduate that can compose—and there must be some—to do something for the college right here. The Record claims no musical genius, but it does feel competent, if it cannot write a rallying song, to try to revive an old one we do not use. We refer particularly to the third verse of "The Royal Purple". For the benefit of freshmen and others to whom it is not familiar or readily accessible, we have been asked to quote the verse in these columns:

"They may lead us ev'ry inning,
We keep them hard at work;
And with little chance of winning,
We not a moment shirk.
They may be batting strongly,
Their fielding may be great;

One game out of every six in the big leagues last year was decided in the ninth. We will probably see a ninth or two on Weston Field that will need to be made straight in baseball this year, and can use here an effective supplement to organized cheering.

SPRING TRUSTEE MEETING

Will be Held in Williamstown
Next Thursday

The regular spring meeting of the board of trustees will be held during the morning and afternoon of next Thursday, May 10, at President Hopkins' residence. The reports of all the different members of the faculty have been printed and copies sent to each of the trustees. These will be considered at the meeting, and the routine appropriations made. The honorary degrees given at Commencement will be decided upon, although these are never announced until the day before Commencement. Promotions will be made, arrangements for new instructors announced, and leaves of absence granted by the trustees at this meeting.

There will be no special business of an important nature like the consideration of the new dormitory last year, to come up. During the year the two oldest in point of service of the permanent trustees have died, Hon. James Madison Barker, L. L. D., '60, of Pittsfield, a member of the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, on Oct. 2, 1905; and Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., L. L. D., '49, of New York city, a member of the executive committee, on Nov. 23, 1905. Rev. Dr. Booth had been a trustee thirty-nine years. It is probable that any action with reference to new trustees will be confined to the discussion of candidates, and the election put over until the Commencement week meeting on June 25.

Basketball Election

All candidates for the position of vice-president and assistant manager of the basketball association are requested to hand their names to Manager Moies on or before Sunday, May 13.

A meeting of the class of 1908 for nomination of candidates for the above office will be held on Monday, May 21, at 1:30 p. m., and a college meeting for election of assistant manager on that date at 7:30 p. m.

C. P. Moies, football manager.

Cap and Bells Officers

At a meeting of Cap and Bells held Friday evening in Jesup Hall the following officers were elected for next year: President, Jaekel 1907; executive committee, Combes 1907, Jaekel 1907, Pierce 1907; assistant business manager, Webster 1908; assistant stage manager, MacLaren 1908. It was voted to give a loving cup to Donald McDonald as an appreciation of his services as coach of the cast this season.

The Medical School admits as candidates for a degree only those who have graduated in arts or sciences from an approved college or scientific school.

Certain special requirements in science and in languages are fully described in the annual announcement which will be sent on application.

The classes are small, the laboratories are large and well equipped and unusually satisfactory clinical facilities are offered by the John Hopkins Hospital and Dispensary. The practice in both of these institutions is under the control of the Professors in the Medical School.

For further information apply to the Dean of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, Washington and Monument sts., Baltimore, Md.

Votes Veer

On Thursday morning the Massachusetts Legislature committee on taxation held an executive session to decide on the report to be made to the legislature on the Feiker bill for taxing revenue-yielding college property. At the morning meeting the committee voted 9-6 to recommend reference to the next session of the legislature. Those close to the leaders in the legislature had considered that such an adverse report would kill the bill. Shortly afterwards, through the efforts of Senator Feiker, two members of the committee changed their votes, and by a vote of 8-7, the committee decided to report the bill favorably to the legislature, with this amendment, however, that dormitories be exempted from taxation. This would tax presidents' and professors' houses, athletic fields, farms, infirmaries, etc., including every property yielding revenue to the colleges except dormitories. Thursday afternoon, however, the committee decided upon another reconsideration and by a vote of 9-6 determined to report adversely again.

Extemporaneous Speaking Contest

At 8 o'clock tonight in Jesup Hall, the annual contest for the A. V. W. Van Vechten extemporaneous speaking prize will be held. This prize, amounting to seventy dollars, which was established by Mr. A. V. W. Van Vechten of the class of 1847, is open only to seniors. The candidates will come to Jesup Hall one hour before they are scheduled to speak, and receive from Mr. Lewis a list of ten subjects of general or peculiar college interest, from which to choose one. The decision of the three judges is not made public until Commencement. Mr. Van Vechten has recently published a list of the winners of the prize.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church of Eaglewood, N. J., spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last night. He took as his text the words of the Assyrian sorcerer, "How shall I curse whom the Lord hath not cursed? How shall I defy whom the Lord hath not defied?" in reproving the present day tendency to give ear "to the man with the muck-rake."

Meeting of Worcester Alumni

The fourth annual meeting of the Williams alumni association of Worcester county will be held at the Worcester club, Worcester, on Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock. It is expected that President Hopkins will represent the college. The question as to the future of the organization will be brought before this meeting. The president of the association, G. Stanley Hall, Ph. D., L. L. D., '67, president of Clark University, will preside.

'97—Lyman H. Toombs has recently accepted a position with the law department of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., New York city.

'95.—William B. Frear has been elected president of the Troy High school alumni association, one of the first associations of High school alumni ever formed.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

THE EASTERN TRIP

Purple Plays Andover Tomorrow and Harvard Wednesday

The Williams team left on the 3:50 train this afternoon for an eastern trip in which Andover will be played on Brother's Field tomorrow, and Harvard on Soldiers' Field, Wednesday. Williams has won but one victory out of the five games played with Andover in recent years. The Purple won in 1898 by the score of 2-1; in the last three years, Andover has won consecutively. Lanigan, who pitched against Williams the last two years, will probably be in the box tomorrow.

Since 1893 Harvard has won 16 games to Williams' 4, usually by a wide margin. Harvard was defeated in 1894, 13-11; in 1896, 2-1; in 1899, 6-4; and in 1901, 5-4, the last two in Cambridge. The Crimson was defeated on April 28 by Dartmouth in a game lost because of Skillin's pitching and Harvard errors.

The batting orders of the teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neidl 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce (at Andover), Ford (at Harvard) p.

ANDOVER: Murphy lf, H. Merritt 3b, Fels ss, B. Reilly 2b, Gunning 1b, Daly rf, Lanigan cf or p, Jones or Hennessey c, J. Reilly p or cf.

HARVARD: Dexter lf, Leonard 3b, Stephenson c, McCall 2b, Burr 1b, McCarty rf, Hellman cf, Hartford or Castle p, Harvey ss.

In addition papers will be read by Durfee '07 on "The Development of Roman Tactics and Roman Contributions to the Art of War", and by Buffinton '07 on "The History of the Gladiatorial Shows". In case it is decided to hold no other meeting later in the month, the annual election of officers will follow.

HARVARD BEATEN 5-2

1906 Team Wins Greatest Baseball Victory in Five Years Wednesday

Williams Plays Errorless Ball—Ford Again Strikes Out Twelve—Long Hit by Warren, Fast Base-Running and Harvard Misplays in Third Inning—Attempted Steal Home Fails in Ninth.

For the first time in five years, Williams defeated Harvard in baseball yesterday 5-2 on Soldiers' Field. The team played an errorless game, and made their hits count. Ford, after a bit of wildness in the second, pitched strongly, struck out twelve men, and kept Harvard's nine hits scattered.

The third inning won the game. Waters walked, and Harman followed him to first on an error. Hartford struck out Ford and Wadsworth, but Warren came to time with a hit good for three bases that produced two tallies; but as he overran first he had only time to get back to the base again before the ball was fielded in. Young got a base on balls, Warren and Young made a pretty double steal, and Stephenson's passed ball let Warren in. Harvard began to throw the ball around. Hartford went into the air, and a gift to Nield, an error by Harvey, and a hit by Hogan sent two more men into the run column. Castle went into the box in the fourth and held Williams safe, striking out six of the last eight men that faced him.

A double and a single in the third scored Leonard for Harvard, and two more hits in the fifth gave him another run. Castle, first up in the ninth, sent out a two-base hit and took third on an out, but was caught by Ford and Waters in an attempt to steal home. Warren's hitting and basel running featured for Williams; Ford gave the fielders few hard chances. Both pitchers, when not striking batsmen out, made them hit into the air. Harvard's stolen base was due to interference by Stephenson with Waters' throw. Leonard did the best work for the Crimson, while Capt. Stephenson dropped two third strikes and had one passed ball.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES

Routine Business Considered—Mr. Lewis and Dr. Hardy Promoted

The regular spring meeting of the Board of Trustees was held in the seminar room, Griffin Hall, this forenoon. The session commenced at 9 and adjourned at 1:40 o'clock. The following members of the board were present, besides Pres. Hopkins, who presided: Rev. William Wisner Adams, D. D., '55, of Fall River; Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., '63, of Worcester; Francis Lynde Stetson, M. A., '67, of New York city; William Henry Hollister, Jr., B. A., '70, of Troy, N. Y.; Pres. Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D., '83, of Boston; Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D. D., '84, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hon. Bently Wirt Warren, B. A., '85 of Boston; and Hon. James Robert Dunbar, B. A., '71, of Brookline.

Only routine business was considered, and no gifts were announced, or special appropriations made. The question of the election of new trustees was not discussed. Samuel E. Allen 1903 was appointed instructor in English. Mr. Allen comes from the Case School of Applied Sciences, Cleveland, O., where he has been at the head of the English department. An instructor in German was appointed, whose name is as yet not given out for publication.

The appointment was announced as instructor of French of M. Albert L. Guérard, of Paris, France. M. Guérard was secured by Prof. Morton while in Europe last summer from Emile Legouis, the professor of English literature at the Sorbonne. As teachers in France are pensioned after a long unbroken term of service under the government, arrangement was made by which M. Guérard's year at Williams will count the same as if he was working in France. He will assist Asst.-Prof. Weston in the course in Old French Literature, French 5, and will also teach part of French 2 and French 3. He speaks both English and French.

Dr. James Graham Hardy was promoted to the newly-created office of associate professor, of Mathematics. An associate professor will rank as a full professor, but will differ from a full professor in not being the head of the department. Mr. Edward Morgan Lewis was made assistant professor of Public Speaking and Oratory. Mr. Elmer Irwin Shepard was granted leave of absence for next year.

Ass't. Prof. Perry was granted fifteen months' leave of absence for next year. He will travel in France and Switzerland during the summer and fall, and will remain in France next winter attending lectures on literature at the Sorbonne. In the spring he intends to go to England and then to one of the colleges at Oxford in order to make a further study of English literature. He will remain in England until his return.

M. I. T. MEET SATURDAY

On Brookline Oval—Technology Records and Probable Points

Williams will meet the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in a dual track meet at 2:00 p. m. on the Brookline Oval, Brookline, Saturday. The Williams track team of twenty-three men will leave at 12:58 tomorrow. The team will stop at the Copley Square Hotel while in Boston, and will return to Williamstown Saturday night on the 10:53 train. The following men will be taken on the trip: Ayers, Cowperthwait, Egleston, Griswold 1906; A. J. Allen, A. Brown, M. Brown, Chapman, Conover, Davis, Harlbut, Lesser, Wells, Wilder 1907; B. P. Allen, Bowker, Clark, Lamont, Marshall, Watters 1908; Bonner, Horrax, Swain 1909.

The Technology team contains four star athletes in Buckingham, Callaway, Knapp and Farrington, but has lost from last year's Worcester point-winners Capt. Lightner, the old Harvard sprinter. The team is not evenly balanced. It is weak in the sprints, with 10 4-5s. this year's best effort in the 100. Buckingham ran third to 4.36 3-5 at Worcester last year, and has done 4.44 this year. Callaway did the two-mile in 10.25 in 1904 and 1905, was fourth to 10.12 4-5 last year, and has done 10.25 3-5 this year. Clapp, their other two-miler, is about to leave to take up technical work in Chicago. Noyes, their best hurdler, has been unable to compete in any events this year, leaving M. I. T. weak here. As their best low hurdle time is 29 2-5, second can be given to Williams if A. Brown and Griswold both start. Wilson, fourth to 2.01 1-5 at Worcester in the half, is entered, though he has not taken part in any meets this year.

In the weights mention should be made of Capt. Knapp's hammer throw of 126 ft., 7 in., at Worcester last year. Nisbet has a mark of 98 ft., 8 in., in the discus. The figuring for the jumps needs a word of explanation. Farrington, with a record of 5 ft., 9 in., in the high jump, and 10 ft., 3 in. done at Worcester in the pole vault, is a consistent performer. He should at least tie for first in the high jump, on which basis points have been estimated. Orr, with a vault of 10 ft., in competition on April 21, is given third in the pole vault. Other records of Technology men are 55 s. in the quarter, 2.07 4-5 in the 880, 17 3-5s. in the high hurdles, 19 ft., 8 in., in the broad jump and 35 ft., 3 1/2 in., in the shot.

The following estimate, conservative except in the sprints, gives

N. E. I. A. A. Meet at Brookline

A meeting of the N. E. I. A. A. was held at Boston Saturday, at which the place for this year's championship track meet, to be held May 18 and 19, was discussed. Williams was unable to be represented. As no satisfactory final settlement of last year's involved accounts had been made by the Worcester management, it was decided to hold the games this year at Brookline Oval, Brookline, under the auspices of the M. I. T. This is the same track on which the Williams-Technology dual meet will be held Saturday. The track is a quarter of a mile long, with 220-yd. straightaway. The grandstand and bleachers seat about 1800 people, and the track house is equipped with shower-baths and lockers.

The Harvard Game

For the second time within five days the baseball team has won a remarkable victory. Yesterday was the first time the Purple has floated above the Crimson on Soldiers' Field since 1901. Timely hitting and zeros in the error column show why baseball stock has gone above par. Three successive out-of-town games have wrecked neither fielding nor batting averages.

Syracuse, Yale, Dartmouth, Vermont, Wesleyan, Princeton and Amherst, the games of the hardest part of the schedule are to follow. The pine is confident of itself. Add to this that the college continue to make clear—and loud—its confidence in the nine, and the victory over Harvard, in itself enough to redeem some seasons, should be only a prelude to further success on the diamond.

Vandalism

It has been brought to our attention that cases of vandalism in the Library are becoming altogether too frequent. On preparing periodicals for binding recently it was found that an entire story had been cut out from the March 1905 Scribner's, and several pages of pictures from the April Cosmopolitan. Two numbers of the Lit. had to be secured from outside sources. It has been found necessary to keep a duplicate file of The Record to guard against this mutilation, and so examples might be multiplied.

The library affords a free reading-room for periodicals. Its files are only valuable in proportion to their completeness. Their mutilation is not a penal offense because it is too petty, so petty that any but petty men ought to be above it. That every year there are one or two in college who do it is all the more remarkable. It would seem that a man's sense of common decency would keep him from such acts of vandalism.

BOOK NOTICES

Biography of Samuel J. Mills 1809

The Pilgrim Press, of Boston, has recently published "Samuel J. Mills, Missionary Pathfinder, Pioneer and Promoter", by Rev. T. C. Richards '87. Mills graduated from Williams in the class of 1809, and was the moving spirit of the five who met under the haystack in 1806 and there started what became the foreign missionary movement. Mills later went to Andover, and, with Adoniram Judson, drew up a petition which led to a favorable report for the institution of a "Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions". He went on two missionary journeys in the United States, and died at sea, while returning from a trip to Africa, June 15, 1818.

This first extended biographical account of the real founder of American foreign missions is the result of much patient research work in a large amount of hitherto uncollected material. In the part dealing with Mills' life up to 1809 particular emphasis is laid on the formative influence of Litchfield County, in Connecticut, where Mills was born, and the two strangely mingled dominant traits of Mills' character, a remarkable power of earnest leadership, and great modesty. Mills' college life is treated in much detail, and the haystack meeting fully described. His aim and spirit are best described by his own words:—"Let us go over and help them!"—"We can do it, if we will." Though his more active religious life lasted but twelve years, his influence by both character and career was profound. The book is attractively gotten up, with purple cloth binding, and a Williams seal on the cover.

New Book by Prof. Russell

Prof. Russell has just issued his new text-book "An Elementary Logic", a 250-page 12mo. published by the Macmillan Company, New York. It aims to give a briefer and simpler treatment of the subject of logic than any book heretofore issued, and will be used as a text-book in Philosophy 5 at Williams next year.

Especially effort has been made to omit all technical and extraneous matter, and to present the pertinent facts clearly and definitely. As deductive logic is the logic of consistency, and inductive logic the logic of science, the main division of the book is into two parts along these respective lines. The first part, the logic of consistency, discusses concept, division, definition and classification, judgment, the logic of propositions, reasoning, the syllogism, and deductive inference. The second part, the logic of science, treats of the ascertainment of causal connection by observation and experiment, hypotheses, the calculation of chances, generalization from experience and analogy, and fallacies. At the end are a number of practical exercises and questions for the use of instructors in illustrating principles of reasoning.

Although Prof. Russell states in his preface his indebtedness to John Stuart Mill's "Logic", he has made departures from prevailing methods in four branches of the study: inductive logic, judgment, syllogism and fallacies. The book affords in clear, concise and tangible form, without masses of topics too perplexing for a beginner, an elementary study of the principles of logic.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS

Reunion of the Class of 1876 This Commencement

The class of 1876 will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of its graduation at Commencement at Williamstown this June. The class will have its reunion banquet at the Greylock hotel on Tuesday evening, June 26. Not enough members of the class will be present to warrant securing a house for headquarters, but the class will have some insignia in the way of hats and badges. It is expected that about fifteen members will be present.

The class of 1876 was small, graduating but thirty-seven, and of these, five have died, George K. Thompson in 1890, Dr. Roswell P. Collin in 1891, Prof. Hosmer C. Hill in 1896 and Stanley R. Kitchell in 1900. The present members of the class reside in fourteen states of the Union, and in Turkey. The occupations are divided as follows, nine lawyers, six teachers, four manufacturers, four ministers, three doctors, three editors, and three in miscellaneous lines of work. Among the better-known of its members are Rev. Lyndon S. Crawford, a missionary at Trebizond, Turkey; Francis H. Dewey of Worcester; Rev. James F. Eaton, a former president of Whitman college; Prof. John H. Haynes, formerly principal of Williamstown High school, United States Consul at Bagdad, and general manager of the Wolf expedition to Babylonia; Dr. Frank W. Olds of Williamstown; Clarence B. Roote, principal of Northampton High school; and corporation counsel George B. Wellington of New York city. Rev. Charles W. Huntington, D. D., of Toledo, is class secretary.

Trip to Helderberg Mountains

Weather permitting, on Friday and Saturday, Dr. Cleland and about fifteen members of Geology I. will make the fourth annual trip to the Helderberg mountains in Albany County, N.Y., southwest of Albany, in the northern end of the Catskills. Those on the trip will leave Friday afternoon and spend the night in Albany. The party will drive fifteen miles from Voorleesville to New Salem, where the "Bear Trail" begins. The region offers wide opportunities for the study of limestone fossils, glacial boulders, and sink-holes, and the "Indian Ladder" is one of the most picturesque bits of scenery in the state. The party will return late Saturday night.

LONE RUN WINS GAME

Usual Result at Andover—Error Decides Pitcher's Battle

Andover added another to her successive list of victories over Williams by inflicting the first defeat of the season on Brothers' Field Tuesday. But a single run was needed, as Andover fielded faultlessly, and Lanigan allowed but two hits. Pierce was effective in the box, striking out eight, allowing Andover but five safe drives and steady in critical moments.

The game was lost, in general, because of weakness at the bat, in particular, because of the lone error of the game, in inning five. Fels, first man up stretched a single into a two-bagger, the ball hitting third base and bounding out to left field. Pierce then struck out the next two men. Daly sent a hard fly to left field which was dropped by Osterhout after he had got the ball squarely in his hands after a long run, and Fels scored from second base before the ball got home. Only two Williams men reached second during the game, Nield in the fifth and Waters in the eighth. Nield got part way to third, but was tagged out.

Williams meets Syracuse Saturday, on Weston Field, in the fourth home game of the season, and the first home game with a first class team. THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CLOSING MEETING

Four Papers Read Before Classical Society—Blagbrough '07 President

The last meeting of the Classical Society for the year, held Tuesday evening, proved of unusual interest. At the conclusion of the program, the officers for next year were elected, as follows: President, Blagbrough '07; secretary, Coleman '08; faculty adviser, Asst.-Prof. D. T. Clark; members of the executive committee, Bullington '07 and Ballard '08.

Dr. Gerig opened with a short account of the differences between Classical Latin and the kindred Umbrian and Rumanian. The latter is the farthest removed of the Romance languages from the parent, largely through the influence of Slavic tongues. Our knowledge of Umbrian and Oscan is derived from a few inscriptions and tablets, from which sources complex grammars have been written. The most noteworthy deviations from the Latin are the change of "l" to "rsh", the substitution of "p" and "b" for the "qu" and "g" sounds, and of "lt" for "et". There was no word for "yes."

Mr. Preserved Smith, discussing "Aristotle's Contributions to the Theory of the State", called attention to the government of Greek city-states in Aristotle's time, as well as the political theories of his contemporaries—the most important influences affecting Aristotle's views. Aristotle made politics a science, an end rather than a means, applied historical and comparative methods to his study of it, and established theories of the origin of the state and of sovereignty as dependent on local economic conditions, which are still held.

Durfee '07 read an interesting account of Rome's chief war machine, the legion, in the successive stages of its development, including the significant facts known about Roman cavalry and artillery. The Romans were pre-eminent in tactics and, at times, in unexampled discipline. Buffinton '07 read a history of the growth of the gladiatorial shows from 264 B. C., the year of the first contests in Rome, down through the huge public games which engrossed and debased the city in Augustus' time. The degrading influence of the shows was an important cause of Rome's fall. The papers were the best contributions of the year from members of the student-body.

Communion Service Next Sunday

The sermon in the Thompson Memorial chapel next Sunday morning will be given by Rev. Dr. Albert J. Lyman, pastor of the South Congregational church of Brooklyn, N. Y., following which the Lord's supper will be observed. Dr. Lyman will conduct a service in the basement of the chapel at 7:30 Saturday evening, preparatory to the Communion service. Rev. Dr. Lyman is one of the best-known ministers in Brooklyn, having been pastor of his church, which now has over twelve hundred members, since 1874. Dr. Lyman is one of the college preachers whose ability and popularity results in his preaching here each year. Dr. Lyman will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening.

VAN VECHTEN CONTESTHeld in Jesup Hall Monday—Orations Generally GoodThe VanVechten Prize speaking contest was held in Jesup Hall Monday evening before a small audience, six men participating.
Judge S. G. Tenney '86 presided, and the judges were Rev. Dr.
Busfield of North Adams, Rev.
William E. Foley and Judge Tenney of Williamstown. The winner will be announced on the Commencement stage.The first speaker, H. A. Scholle, took for his subject "Should freshmen be debarred from college athletics?" He maintained that such a system would do harm. The modern idea of playing to win would keep men through freshmen year, and "proselyting" would be greater, as athletes would demand more inducements. The system would injure the small college more than the large. Scholle spoke well, but did not seem to treat his subject appreciatively.W. H. Curtiss spoke on "The religious life at Williams". The main trouble with our religious life is reluctance to show religious feeling. There is also a lack of faculty co-operation as well as a need of a definite basis for the Y.
M. C. A. The needs must be met by a good, earnest corps of workers. Curtiss was in sympathy with his subject, but his delivery was characterized by some repetition.J. E. Perry spoke on the subject
"Why not teach?" The questions before a college man are his life's aim and his life's work. Teaching wields a greater influence than any other profession; it affects the growing mind. Perry's style was quite oratorical, and his speech well thought out.H. A. Nomer gave "A criticism of the United States Senate".
We like to think of the Senate as a model body, but can we fairly do this? Those who compose it put business first and national interests second. The attitude of the Senate is selfish, in that it has blocked every important reform movement this year. It has been encroaching on the functions of the House. Something must be done. Put into the Senate good men, elected by popular vote.
Nomer spoke fluently and clearly, and seemed to have complete knowledge of his subject."Why not teach?" was again treated by S. A. Morgan. The benefits of teaching are many—study, time for travel, a country life, and congenial companions.
These are nothing compared to the benefits the teacher can render others. He moulds men in their formative age and may add to the world's knowledge. He has time to be kind. Morgan spoke slowly, choosing his words with care, but was not forceful.W. S. Case concluded by arguing that freshmen be debarred from college athletics. Such a course would do away with two evils—"proselyting" and the bad effect of too much athletics in college. The adoption of this system would bring back the old tradition—the man picking the college, not the college picking the man. Case spoke directly and simply, but perhaps a trifle too informally.KEELER'S

CLOSE TRACK MEET

Williams Defeats M. I. T. 66 2-3 to 59 1-3—Discus Record Broken

Williams defeated M. I. T. Saturday afternoon on Tech Field, Brookline, in a meet which was not decided until the last event had been finished. The final score was 66 2-3 points to 59 1-3. A Williams record was broken by LaMont, who threw the discus 103 ft. 1 1/2 in., 2 ft. 1 1/2 in., better than the former record, made by Anderson 1900 in a triangular meet on June 1, 1900.

M. I. T. won first place in all the runs except the two-mile, while Williams won the hurdles and all the field events but the hammer throw. Each event was closely contested, the 440-yd. dash and two-mile run furnishing the best races of the day. The 440-yd. dash was even racing between Howe, Blackburn, and Gould of M. I. T. and Hurlbut of Williams to within fifteen yards of the finish, when Hurlbut, who has been in poor condition, fell and did not finish. Callaway of M. I. T. was picked to win the two-mile. He led in the last lap until near the finish when Bonner passed him, and won by about 10 yards in fast time.

In the last event, the low hurdles, Williams won all three places and the meet. Horrax did the best individual work, scoring 17 points by one first and four seconds.

Summary of Events

THE THIRD SHUT-OUT

Syracuse Beaten 7-0—Errorless Game with Timely Hits

Syracuse was shut out on Weston Field Saturday by a score of 7-0, making four runs scored against the team in six full games. The game was the third shut-out of the season, and the second in succession in which no errors were made. Pierce pitched a steady game, allowing four hits and no passes and sending seven men to the bench. But one Syracuse man passed first.

The work of the Williams infield was almost professional: Wadsworth accepted nine chances, Young made a lightning throw of a pop fly over Pierce's head, and Neild made a quick throw of a slow hit. Seven of the Williams hits and five of the Syracuse errors came in the three innings when Williams scored. The scoring began in the first inning when Warren scored on Rutherford's fumble of Neild's grounder. A shower interrupted the game in the second, but play was resumed after ten minutes. Osterhout opened the Williams half of the second by a single, but was later thrown out at the plate. Clever hunting, followed by Wadsworth's timely single, brought in two runs. Warren's two-bagger to centerfield gave Wadsworth another tally, and Davis left the box. The Syracuse fielders went to pieces in the seventh, whereupon Williams found Watkey, and two singles and a double, by Hogan, scored Wadsworth, Young and Neild.

THE MAY LIT.

Prof. Russell Reviews Current Number of the Monthly

The May number of the Literary Monthly brings quite a wealth and variety of matter, and food enough, no doubt, for the critic who is more willing to censure than to praise. The present reviewer, however, will shrink the unpleasant task of adverse criticism, and exercise the more agreeable function of saying good things, but doing so with the clear intent of saying only what he thinks is true. In the historical sketch, "The Passing of an Old Landmark," Mr. Lowe has done well to revive the memory of Old Goodrich Hall in the minds of the present generation of Williams men, ere that building dies out of their remembrance, as the splendors of so many sunsets have died upon its walls.

The fiction in this number of the Literary Monthly is good; less ambitious in undertaking, more natural in its descriptions and its representations and truer to nature and life than is the usual product of early essays in this department of literature.

"For Monsieur" is a well told story. The style suits well the matter; the narrative is easy, direct and spirited; the movement of the story carries the reader straight to the close, with a growth of interest all the way. The contrast between the rude alarms of war outside the sanctuary and the solemn peace that reigns within is effectively presented. Jean Mortier is well drawn; his pride in his family and in his inheritance, his devotion to Monsieur, his valor, his heroism to the last, make him a person you regard as real, and really deserving respect and admiration; and the last struggle to defend the church in which he falls, is described in a way which gives one the sense of an actual scene.

In "A Friend of the Family" we have a social situation,—alas, too common in these times—effectively handled. The struggle between the nobler natures and the lower selves in the man and in the woman, the salvation of both by the cry of a child, and the triumph of the better part in both souls, are described with a true feeling of moral values. Would it not, however, have been truer to life, had the unworthy husband not so easily taken away the barrier to their union by his sudden taking-off?

"The Dinosaur" is a breezy, vigorous and natural story, in which incident, action and speech go so fittingly together that we have a genuine bit—that life in our far west that is still untouched by the refinements of civilization.

The poetry offered in this number of the Lit. is, in general, marked by a good feeling for truth, sobriety of taste and pure tone of sentiment. The verses on the "Chant d'Amour" reflect quite well the fitting mood evoked by

The Chapel Prayers

The influence of the new chapel on the student-body seems to have been good. Attention has been dignified, literature less popular, the sedentary and the sleepy fewer. Conditions never will be ideal, but as long as improvement is shown, it does not matter much if the few entirely irresponsible continue their cherished foibles. By junior year the readers and sleepers have either lost their battle with the curriculum, or else acquired a sense of fitness.

The dignified beauty of the building seems to have reacted differently on the faculty leaders. Some future historian of the college may discover when the custom of reading prayers in chapel sprang up. A great many students start studying languages with high ideals, slip once or twice, and in the end become habitués of the handy help. Those who have been here longest tell us that many of the faculty leaders began with prayers of their own making, read once or twice, only to become habitués of the ready prayer-book. It may have been thought that in this way more dignified prayers would be obtained to suit a more dignified chapel service. Whatever the cause, but one of those who have led in chapel during the present term, excluding the president, has used his own prayers, and the simple beauty of these has been in marked contrast to the formality of the others.

The inference to be drawn may be a little hard on the other leaders, who can scarcely hope to be Professor Hewitts. More fairly put, the question is whether prayers not spontaneous, necessarily delivered with less true expression, are better than prayers, perhaps in some cases cruder and less polished, but spoken with more forcefulness. The dignity gained by reading does not balance what is lost. It is hard enough for a student to get any uplift in a ten minute service. Appeals to him, to be of any effect, must be made as forcible and as clear as they can. No one can make the prayers of another as convincing as his own, especially when those others are written in ecclesiastical language and with many set phrases. To make an impression a man must talk from his own heart and not from some one else's. Better grope for words than to have the form of what is said impress more than its content.

A final consideration should be mentioned. Formality brings dignity, but it can go too far. Not a few outsiders have commented unfavorably on the fact that the present chapel service is too Episcopalian, and this not with any stricture on the beautiful Episcopal service, but because a college church should avoid anything that can even be made to look like denominationalism. The reading of prayers, by suggesting a ritual, strengthens this unfortunate appearance.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Englewood, N. J., May 9, 1906.
Editor Williams Record:

Sir:—

Noting your appeal for more Williams field songs, I send a few verses to the air of the "Eton Boating Song"—a good tune, with a first-class swing, easily caught up by a crowd. It isn't as good as a tune of our own, but may help until that undergraduate musical genius arrives.

The arrangement of the "Boating Song" found in the "Williams Song Book" suits these words, with the exception of the last two lines, which should be run together somewhat, as required by the number and quantity of the syllables. After all, I can't see that the 1906 baseball team needs much more help, except to keep 'em at it. In this last week's games, the folks down Amherst and Cambridge way seemed, like the Bowery girl, to have 'troubles enough without singin'."

Very truly,
Talcott M. Banks, ('90.)

COLLEGE SIDE WINS

First Senate Vote on Feiker Bill—
Further Discussion Today

The bill for taxation of college property came up for discussion in the Massachusetts Senate Thursday and Friday, and after much further debate, was lost.

Later, however, an agreement was reached between Senator Feiker and the opponents of the measure by which a reconsideration will be moved Monday, the bill taken out of the hands of the committee that have it in charge at present, and referred to the committee which is to consider taxation matters during the recess.

The discussion commenced Thursday, when Senator W. H. Feiker of Northampton, who framed the bill, made a long argument in favor of substituting it for the adverse report of the committee, citing cases in Northampton and Amherst which he claimed were especially aggravating. He called particular attention to Smith College, and quoted statements by President Seelye. Some amusement was caused when he showed several photographs of thirteen acres of exempted land, surrounded by a high picket fence with a padlocked gate, which, according to President Seelye, was open to the public as a park. Senator Seiberlich, chairman of the taxation committee, outlined the reasons of the committee for reporting "Next General Court" on the matter. He stated that the business men of Northampton had declared that they would lose half their business should Smith College leave the city, as it might be compelled to do if the bill became a law.

At Friday's session, Senator McLeod of Cambridge spoke in favor of the bill, and the vote then ordered resulted in favor of the substitution of the bill by a vote of 15 to 11. A reconsideration was moved, and the bill was finally lost by a tie vote of 15-15. The matter was again discussed this morning.

Power and Freedom

Rev. Dr. A. J. Lyman, pastor of the South Congregational Church, of Brooklyn, addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting last evening. Men under twenty-five consider freedom above power, men over twenty-five power above freedom. The secret of life is the proper adjusting of these two elements, and for this Christianity is the best guide. The rights of the individual must be upheld by the broad, college-educated man. A man who has graduated from a college which can hold the haystack monument in one hand, and the winning of a hurdle race at Athens in the other, has a breadth of mind which will give him power, not only to affirm, but also to say "no" to any proposition.

'99—John Barker, son of the late Judge James M. Barker '60, has closed his law offices at 77 Ames Building, Boston, and on May 1 commenced law practice at Pittsfield.

1904—James G. Pottit has been elected director and secretary of the Vermont Unfading Slate Company, of Enir Haven, Vt., with which he has been employed since graduation.

COLLEGE NOTES

Dean Ferry went to Boston Friday to attend a meeting of the New England entrance examination board.

The postponed baseball game between 1907 and 1909 will be played on Weston Field next Thursday.

The following alumni have been in town: Rogers '77, Putney 1900, Patterson ex-'00, Cole, Eldred, Murray 1905, Eldridge ex-'08.

The freshman declamation contest will be held Wednesday, May 16. Rehearsals will be held the evenings of May 14 and 15. All contestants are requested to see Mr. Lewis tomorrow morning to arrange for rehearsal.

The exhaust fans for ventilation of the gymnasium locker room have been put in place in the north and west windows. The fans, controlled by small individual electric motors, are placed in short suction tunnels.

Prof. Hewitt was elected a member of the executive committee of the Association of Classical Study at Athens, at a meeting of the managing committee of that organization last Friday. Prof. Howes attended the meeting.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New England Classical association held in Springfield, Saturday, it was decided to hold the next general meeting of the organization at Phillips Andover academy next spring. The association will probably be sub-divided into several branches: a Connecticut division has already been formed.

A senior class meeting was held Saturday noon to make definite arrangements for the alumni grove, to be inaugurated by 1906. The grove, which will be of oaks, will be started near the football bleachers on Weston Field. It is planned for the freshmen classes to plant trees each spring as well as the graduating class. The arrangements for the ceremonies at the 1906 tree dedication were left in the hands of the committee.

Williams 32, Island G. C. 0

The golf match with the Island Club at Troy Saturday was won easily by the college team, 32 to 0, straight hole scoring. The average for the Williams team was 80 for eighteen holes. Wilcox scored 40, 36-76, his second round equalling the amateur record of the course. The score:

Williams	Island club
A. Mitchell 9	F. Draper '95 0
E. A. Clapp 8	Cluett 0
L. Mitchell 7	Harrington 0
H. Wilcox 3	Hartwell 0

Two-One, Freshmen Ahead

The freshmen defeated the seniors on Weston Field after the varsity game on Saturday afternoon by 2 runs to 1. The game was featureless. Captain Bassett made the only hit and run for the seniors. Both pitchers were in good form. Sears struck out nine men in the six innings.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

that chant. "Roses" is almost a "swallow flight of song". There is a truly lyric mood reflected in these lines, in which the scent of the roses lingers still.

Mr. Westernmann, in "Beyond the Barrier," has made large demands upon his readers, by a poem of such length, vibrant as it is with a high note of passion, sustained all the way through these eleven cantos, which tell the story of a love undying, but never crowned with success. If there is much in this poem that should be pruned away, and much that should be refined and subdued; it is the vigorous imagination, the exuberant fancy of a truly poetic mind that has thrown out these rather wayward shoots. If the critic's ear is pained by some jarring notes in these verses, he must be ungenerous not to recognize much refined and truthful sentiment and many fine harmonies of verse in this poem. The poem rings true and at times rings finely true. A man's noblest passion is strongly portrayed and, on the whole, effectively handled by the author. The chivalrous love of the man is finely voiced in the lines

"For the tenderest power Is the love that can leave without plucking the flower
Of its love in her bower;"

And the cry of the lover's hungry heart is heard in the words:

"I am waiting your answer here under the vine.
Heaven and Hell, you have both in your hands for me, Both on your lips, dearest goddess divine!"

There is a fine recognition of the sympathy of nature in these lines;

"I know not why the night should be
So sweet a counsellor to me.
Or why the moon should seem to lend
The countenance of a loving friend
To my distress."

John E. Russell.

Philologist vs. Philotechnian

The question will not be announced until tomorrow. The teams are:—Philologist, Nomer '06, Case '07, Matthews '07; Byard '08, alternate: Philotechnian, Case '06, Hulst '06, Sayre '09; Bullard '08, alternate. Two of the judges will be Mr. Preserved Smith and Dr. Fowler.

For Sercomb Cup

The annual shoot of the gun club for the Sercomb cup, donated by Albert A. Sercomb 1903, will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the traps at the Taconic golf club. Only those who have qualified by taking part in five local shoots during the college year may compete.

The club tried to arrange a triangular match shoot with the North Adams and Pittsfield clubs, to have been held either May 12 or 19, but was not successful.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIPSystem Opposed by H. B. Clark
1903 in Practical Address

Mr. Herbert Brayton Clark 1903, of North Adams, a member of the common council of that city, spoke before the city government club in Jesup Hall Thursday evening on "Municipal ownership of public utilities in the United States." He treated the subject from a practical point of view, and talked informally and forcefully. Taking the stand that municipal ownership is an evil, he showed that a costly and radical change is necessary for its adoption, that the present profits of private corporations are not excessive, that even under ideal conditions in England municipal ownership is almost a failure, while in the United States under present political conditions it has utterly failed.

Municipal ownership of an absolute human necessity, such as a water-supply system, has proved a success, but for gas or electric lighting or car lines, where expert skill, efficiency and economy are demanded of managers and workers, it has shown itself to be an absolute failure. In proof of this he cited a number of cases in which costs had risen over one hundred per cent after certain public utilities had been taken over by city government. The question is of great present importance on account of the enormous increase in the Socialist Labor vote, and the great opportunities it would give for boss and machine favoritism. The profit of private corporations in these lines is not an exaction. Such concerns have done much toward the development of this country.

Mr. Clark gave many figures to show the failure of municipal ownership in America and even in England, the most startling of which was that over half of the total British debt is the debt of municipalities. He concluded by showing that in municipally owned utilities lack of competition results in lack of public interest in securing the most efficient service.

On account of the small number present the business meeting of the City Government club was postponed until after the college meeting a week from to-night.

Affiliation of College Alumni

On Thursday, May 17, a meeting of delegates from a number of eastern colleges and universities is planned to be held in the Cooley House, Springfield, to consider plans for the affiliation of the alumni associations of different colleges and universities into a useful national organization, for the particular purpose of combining college men in large centers into a movement for clean, good government. At the "Williams Night" given by the Graduates' Club of New York city during the winter, President Hopkins made a speech advocating this very affiliation. This was even before this movement for affiliation, originated at Brown, was started. Nothing has been done about sending a Williams delegate, as President Hopkins has not yet received any notice from Brown of final plans of the meeting.

Yale Makes But Two Hits—Exciting Seventh and Eighth Innings—Hit by Osterhout with Two Out and Bases Full Wins the Game—Sensational Stop by Harman.

For the fourth time in the history of the college Yale was beaten at baseball by Williams, 2 to 1, at New Haven yesterday. The game was a pitcher's battle, and a fine one to watch, the excitement increasing as the game progressed. Ford pitched a shade the better game, and was far steadier in critical moments. Neither pitcher was found at all until the seventh, and Yale's only run came as the result of a sun fly.

Not a Williams man saw first in six innings. Hniskamp got to second on Ford's error and a sacrifice in the first, and Yale had a chance to score when, with one out in the third, Church walked and stole. Jones hit to Neild, who threw wild to first, but Harman made a wonderful one-hand stop in the first base base-line, retired the runner, and held Jones on third.

The seventh inning started the scoring. Wadsworth, first up, drew a pass and went to third when Erwin threw Warren's perfect bunt poorly, whereupon Warren promptly stole second. Young hit to O'Brien, who threw Wadsworth out at the plate, and Young stole second. Neild walked and the bases were full. Hogan knocked a hard drive between second and short that hit Young, and the bases were still full, with no runs and two men out. Osterhout came to time with another drive in the same place, scoring Warren, and Neild tallied on O'Brien's poor throw. Waters hit to Camp.

Yale got a man to second at the start of the eighth, when Hogan lost Madden's fly in the sun. An out put him a base nearer home. Erwin hit a grounder to Young, who kept Madden from scoring but threw wide to first. Erwin stole. Wylie's hit scored Madden, but Hniskamp grounded to Wadsworth and O'Brien was easy. Warren got a hit in the ninth, but was caught off first.

SENIOR CLASS BOOK

To Appear Saturday—Results of the Elections

The 1906 class book, edited by John Adams Lowe, of Fitchburg, Mass., will be out for distribution to the class on Saturday, the first class book in recent years to appear on time. The book is bound in red full cloth covers, with a sketch of the chapel in gold, drawn by Bridgman 1903, on the front. The covers are lined with an imitation of watered silk. The interior of the book shows great improvement on past class publications, comparing favorably even with the 1902 book. The book is printed in two colors, red and black. The individual biographies have the names printed in red and the title-page is a fine bit of tasty printing. The cuts, which are printed on the best half-tone tissue, are pasted on the lower corners of the pages containing the biographies. The price of the book will be $1.25.

The book is dedicated to President Hopkins, and contains a short introductory article on ideals written by him. Contrary to precedent the history of the college years of the class of 1906 is at the very beginning instead of at the end of the book. The histories are by Hniskamp, Botsford, Buehnan and Hoyt. There are about 150 pages in the book, one page being devoted to each of the individual biographies. There are numerous other half-tones besides the cuts of members of the class.

The class statistics, given in a table showing the exact number of votes received by each member of the class for the different honors, are as follows: Most popular man, Griswold; man that has done most for the college, Neild; brightest man, Cowell; class grind, Bowen; class sport, Fleischmann; worst bluffer, Case; laziest man, Wilcox; class cup, Cowperthwait. Neild and Osterhout tied; most likely to succeed, Clapp. The favorite professor was Prof. McElfresh, with Prof. Russell second; the best lecturer and teacher was Prof. Mears. Favorite courses, Biology 3, and English 13; best conducted department, chemistry; hardest courses, French 3, 2 and 1; most valuable and enjoyable year, senior.

The printing and binding of the book were done by the Tuttle, Morehouse and Taylor Co., New Haven, Conn., and the half-tones made by the Stoddard-Brown Co., of New York city.

New Debating League

Word was received this noon from Amherst that that college was favorable to the inauguration of a triangular debating league with Williams and Wesleyan. As Wesleyan is known to favor the league, the final arrangements are now certain to be made for a series of debates next fall, like those in the Williams-Brown-Dartmouth debating league.

YALE AND PRINCETON

Golf Matches Today and Saturday—Pennsylvania Cancels

The college golf team left yesterday noon for the spring trip, playing Princeton today, and Yale Saturday. Pennsylvania cancelled the match scheduled Tuesday night, without assigning any reason. The following men went on the trip:—E. A. Clapp '06, A. Jaekel '07 (mgr.), A. Mitchell '07, L. Mitchell '07, A. Gregory '07, G. Lynde '08 and H. Wilcox '09. The team will return from New York Sunday.

The match with Princeton today was scheduled for eighteen holes in the morning, four ball foursomes, and eighteen holes individual match play in the afternoon. As with Pennsylvania and Yale, scoring will probably be by the Tuxedo system. None of the Williams players have been over the Princeton course, where the match will take place. The Princeton team is made up entirely of players of wide tournament experience. Laird, Clark, Peters and West have been low score men in the Metropolitan competition for the last three years. The match with Pennsylvania was to have been played tomorrow on the links of the Merion Cricket Club, at Haverford, Pa.

Saturday afternoon the team will line up against the intercollegiate champions at Montclair, N. J., on the links of the Montclair Golf Club. Eighteen holes will be played, with five men on a side. Wilcox 1909 will head the Williams team, Montclair being his home course. Yale has an exceptionally brilliant lot of golfers, and is conceded to have the strongest college team in the country. Abbott, the individual champion, Knowles, the runner-up, and Dwight Partridge, who heads the team, are in the front rank among eastern golf players. Captain Abbott is known as a "slashing" player, strongest on his long game. Knowles holds many records and is best known for his incredibly low scores.

Prof. Moore of Harvard to Preach

The college pulpit will be occupied next Sunday by Prof. Edward C. Moore, Parkman professor of theology at Harvard. Prof. Moore graduated from Marietta college in 1877, and from Union Theological seminary seven years later. He was given the degree of Ph.D. by Brown (1891) and D. D. by Marietta College (1893). He held pastorates at Yonkers, N. Y., and Providence, R. I., before being called to his present position in 1902.

Another Baseball Victory

A second Williams victory from the big four should have been surprising enough, but was by no means not looked for by the college. The crowd around Watson's all the afternoon showed that the students had expected good news from New Haven. That such a victory came away from home was unfortunate. The only trouble was that the team could not see and hear the outbursts of enthusiasm that followed, when the news was received, and in the celebration afterwards.

It is a poor kind of congratulation that The Record can give the team in black and white in comparison to what the college was giving it last evening. The nine has now made a record equalled only by that of 1896, the high water mark of Williams baseball. The chapel bell has had one of the most overworked springs in its history. The college expects to continue to ring that bell, dominate the local stock of boxes and barrels and keep cheering the team to victory all the time from now till the season ends.

The N. E. Intercollegiates

Williams has a better chance at Boston Saturday than in 1905. The most careful estimate of points possible makes it clear that in this year's intercollegiate track meet second place is anybody's. Brown, Williams, Amherst and M. I. T. will be fighting it out on Tech Field next Saturday and the least thing will make the scales tip in Williams' favor or against her.

The trip is an expensive one, but is the only call that will be made upon the student body to go out of town to cheer athletic teams this spring. The entire trip can be taken on Saturday and the Boston alumni have engaged a block of 100 seats to make sure of a nucleus for a Williams section. The meet will be close and exciting and, as always, one of the most interesting athletic events of the year to watch. There will be pleasure enough for everyone, and every man's voice will be needed. Every man who has the cuts and can afford it has here a chance to do his best for the track team, at the meet to which all their past effort has been only a prelude.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

The program for "The Thirtieth", including dances, dramatics, the Williams-Amherst ball game, and Gargoyle elections, has long been one of our so-called time-honored customs and as such it is not to be too boldly criticized by an undergraduate. Nevertheless, custom or no custom, the fact remains that we have long been desecrating the day set apart for the commemoration of our country's honored dead, giving no place in our busy round of social affairs to the one function for which the day was set apart. It is out of the question to ask that we change entirely our program for Memorial Day but it is certainly not unreasonable to ask that we add to it a service which, if nothing more, would serve to remind us that the day was originally intended to be something more than a Williams-Amherst day. Even at the risk of crowding out one of the events, an opportunity should be provided for a proper observance of the day, a simple and brief observance, if necessary, but one which shall be sincere.

We are, some of us, sons and grandsons of those who fought in the Civil War; we are all sons of an Alma Mater who sent forth many a loyal son to fight and die in that great conflict. The founder of Williams was a Revolutionary officer; President Hopkins is a veteran of the Civil War. Surely if national holidays are to be observed at all, they should be observed by Williams men, by men educated in an atmosphere of patriotism and enjoying the rich opportunity afforded by a free and united government. Let us show our guests that the sparks of patriotism still live at Williams, that we still respect our nation's holiday, and honor our country's dead.

A Junior.

Victory Celebrated

The victory over Yale yesterday was celebrated last evening. A college sing was held on the steps of Jesup Hall, after which the student-body, led by a drum corps, marched to the houses of President Hopkins and Professors Cleland and Wahl, each of whom responded with a congratulatory speech. A speech was made by Professor Russell from the porch of the Greylock hotel. The march then returned to the old campus where a bonfire had been built.
Cheers were given for each member of the team, and the celebration closed by singing "The Mountain". The baseball team did not return until 10:09 this morning.

Eighteen Errors in Class Game

1908 was defeated on Weston Field yesterday afternoon by 1907 12 to 5, in the poorest game of the interclass series, a total

TENNIS TEAM TIES

In First Match of Season at Spring- field—Return Match Scheduled

The tennis team tied the Springfield Country Club on the Springfield courts yesterday afternoon, each team winning three matches. A hard wind was blowing across the courts, interfering with the play. Smith 1906 and Thompson 1908 won their single matches, and Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 their doubles match. The longest match of the day was between Westcott 1908 and Newton, the latter having a lead of 5 to 1 in the last set, when Westcott braced and tied the game at 5 all, finally to lose 9-7. A return match was scheduled for June 16 at Williamstown.

The summary follows:

Singles—Smith 1906 beat Miller of Springfield, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; Newton of Springfield beat Westcott 1908, 5-7, 6-2, 9-7; Thompson 1908 beat Groesbeck of Springfield, 6-3, 6-1; Pike of Springfield beat Schell 1906, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles—Newton and Miller beat Smith and Westcott, 6-1, 6-2; Schell and Thompson beat Groesbeck and Pike, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

Tennis Matches

In the preliminary round of the spring tennis tournament, C.
Brown '09 beat Buttrick '09—6-3, 6-3, and in the first round Ford
'08 beat Dodd '09—6-0, 6-4.

In the round robin tennis tournament two matches have been played. Schell '07 beat Brady '06
—6-2, 6-2, and Westcott '08 beat Schell 6-4—6-1.

Freshman Oratorical Trials

The trials for the freshman oratorical contest were held last evening at eight o'clock in the vestry room of the Congregational church. The judges, Prof.
Spring, Ass't.-Prof. Perry, and Mr. E. A. Green, chose nine speakers instead of the usual eight. The following were chosen:
Dodd, Ernst, Jones, R. C.
Mitchell, Robb, Sayre, Toll, Westbrook, Wood. The final contest will be held next Wednesday.

Gun Club Notice

At a meeting of the gun club held before the Sercomb Cup shoot yesterday, it was voted that the contest be divided and an opportunity be given to all members of the club, whether they have qualified or not, to enter next Saturday. Each man will be awarded a distance handicap based on his former scores. Contestants will meet at the Biological Laboratory at 1:30 Saturday.

Majority for Taxation Monday

The college taxation question was again considered in the State Senate Monday. Mr. Feiker moved reconsideration of the adverse report made by the taxation committee. This was passed 17 to 9.
He proposed a compromise, moving the passage of the taxation bill, but exempting dormitories from taxation. It was finally decided by reconsideration to substitute his bill for the adverse report of the committee 18 to 12. The bill as amended passed the Senate yesterday.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

N. E. I. A. A. Track Meet

Entries have been received from Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Dartmouth, M. I. T., Trinity, Tufts, U. of Maine and Wesleyan. Dartmouth, with every man in college of the track team which won 36 points last year, is practically sure of winning, although the loss of Swasey, who won both sprints in 1904 and 1905, but wrenched his knee at the Harvard meet and was unplaced in the 100 in 10 1-5, will take points away. Second place will be closely fought out between Amherst, Brown, M. I. T. and Williams, with Brown having a little the best chance. The Maine colleges are not so prominent this year. Amherst, by the graduation of Rollins and Orrell, the illness of Captain W. P. Hubbard, and the disqualification of Stearns, White, and their new weight man, Kooyunjan, is much weakened. The Purple and White team has taken part in no meet, and its strength, outside of J. H. Hubbard, Read, Crook and Bishop, is unknown.

The best races of the meet will undoubtedly be the high hurdles and the two-mile. In the hurdles Shaw of Dartmouth did 15 4-5 two weeks ago, and J. H. Hubbard of Amherst was only inches behind Ex-Capt. Leavitt in 15 4-5 at Worcester last year. Mayhew of Brown has done 16 2-5, Capt. Tobey of Bowdoin and Capt. Griswold 16 3-5. Wright of Brown, winner of the mile and two-mile at Worcester last year, and holder of the New England Interecollegiate mile record, will try for the two-mile record of 10.03 4-5 this year, and should have no difficulty winning the event. For the other places are left Capt. Benson of Wesleyan, Robinson of Bowdoin, and Callaway of M. I. T., who won places last year, Capt. Tucker of Brown, who won the event two years ago but was unable to compete last year, Shorey of Bowdoin, who was third two years ago, and Bonner 1909, who has beaten Benson and Callaway. Wright should certainly get all the pace he wants in his attempt to beat the record.

Thrall of Dartmouth in the half, and Capt. Hazen of Dartmouth in the pole vault, should win their events. The outcome of the three dashes will depend on the condition of Swasey, and the eligibility of Rose, a Dartmouth freshman, and Prout, a new man at Brown, both good for 51s. in the quarter. In the field events, the high jump, where in competition Farrington of M. I. T. has done 5ft. 9 1/2 in., Horrax 1909 and Zeller of Tufts 5 ft. 7 1/2 in., and no less than six other men over 5 ft. 6 in., should be the closest. Dearborn's (Wesleyan) easy victory in the discus will be balanced by a very close hammer throw. Marshall 1908 has the best record of the shot putters.

While each year develops a number of dark horses, and the points to be made in any N. E. I. A. A. meet are absolutely unpredictable, a rough survey of the events gives Dartmouth first with about 40 points, Amherst 21, Brown and Williams 22, M. I. T. 18, Wesleyan 13, and University of Maine around 10. The two-mile, high jump and hammer are the doubtful events which will decide Williams' position.

STRICTER RULES PASSED

Covering Men in Outside Interests
—To Take Effect in Fall

At a meeting of the committee on administration held last week new disqualification rules were adopted for all students representing the college in athletic, dramatic, or musical organizations. The rules, in practically their present form, were laid before the faculty at their May meeting by the athletic council, which passed a favorable vote on them and referred them to the rule-making body, the committee on administration. The rules, which will not go into effect until next fall, follow:

Added to the second paragraph of rule 22, "Earlier trials may be allowed by permission of the Dean."

Added to rule 27, "Additional warnings will be reported not later than October 25th in the case of members of athletic, dramatic and musical organizations."

Rule 39, amended to read, "No student will be allowed to represent the college in any athletic, dramatic, or musical organization as member, substitute, or officer, if he is under discipline for irregularity of attendance or conduct, or if he has failed to complete at least twelve hours of college work during the previous semester. He will be debarred from such representation for the remainder of any semester in which, at the time of the formal warnings, he has not a mark of at least sixty in nine hours of current college work."

"No freshman will be allowed to represent the college in any athletic, dramatic, or musical organization as member, substitute, or officer who has entrance conditions amounting to three points."

The distribution of points among the entrance subjects will be as follows:

Musical Clubs Elections

At a meeting of the musical clubs Friday evening the following officers were elected: James Michael Stower 1908 of Plattsburgh, N. Y., assistant manager; Selwyn Reed Pevear 1907 of New York city, leader of the glee club; and Telford King Thompson 1908 of Minneapolis, Minn., leader of the mandolin club.

A DOUBLE LOSS

Dartmouth Wins 7-2 at Hanover, Vermont 1-0 at Burlington

Dartmouth defeated Williams in baseball Friday at Hanover 7 to 2. Timely hits following poor decisions gave the victory to the Green in the first three innings. Williams had a bad inning in the second, when Dartmouth tallied five times on a single, double and triple. Main walked after a questionable decision, and it seemed to be generally conceded that O'Brien, who doubled with the bases full, was struck out fairly. A single, an error and a well executed double steal enabled the Green to score twice in the third. Neild scored for the Purple in the eighth on Waters' single, and Gardner led off in the eighth with a long three-base hit, later scoring Williams second tally.

The baseball association's summary:

Collins' Pitching Baffling

General failure to hit safely Collins' puzzling shoots was responsible for the shut-out of Williams by Vermont 1 to 0 Saturday at Burlington. Vermont scored its only run in the first on a drive by Woodward, after which the batsmen went out in order, though Vermont errors made matters interesting in innings three and eight. Ford pitched steadily, striking out ten men, while Collins allowed but one hit. In the eighth Osterhout made third on errors and Harman's sacrifice, Gardner died to Whitney in right and Osterhout, starting slowly, was cut off at the plate by Whitney's perfect throw-in.

TWO CLOSE MATCHES

Golf Team Loses to Yale and Princeton—Low Scores Frequent

Princeton defeated the college golf team 15 to 5 1/2, in an interesting match on the university course at Princeton Thursday morning and afternoon. In the fourball foursomes Williams' first pair won from West and Peters on the eighteenth green. Wilcox scored 40, 38-78 and Clapp 40, 40-80. Bogey for the course 6,400 yards in length, is 80. A Mitchell and L. Mitchell played steady golf, but Barrows of Princeton struck a phenomenal game coming in, making the last four holes in four under bogey. In the afternoon individual matches, L. Mitchell won from Laird by taking the last three holes. Gee scored a 38 on the second round and defeated Clapp 2 up. A. Mitchell finished 3 up on Peters, but Gregory was no match for Barrows, who played no less brilliantly than in the morning. The members of the Williams team were entertained at the Ivy Club.

The score:

The match with Yale on the links of the Montclair Golf Club was exciting from start to finish. Low scores were the rule. When the first three pairs finished Williams was in the lead by three points. Tuxedo system, or four holes. The fourth and fifth men of the Yale team won, and the final result was Yale 7 1/2, Williams 4 1/2. A. Mitchell made the best medal score and perhaps played the best game, though Wilcox won from Partridge by two holes. Phelps was one up on Clapp playing the eighteenth; the home hole was halved under bogey. Gregory was in better form than at Princeton, while L. Mitchell was slightly off and met one of Yale's strongest players in Knowles, the intercollegiate runner-up.

DARTMOUTH CHAMPION

At N. E. I. A. A. Meet—Williams
Gets Fourth with 19 5-6 Points

For the first time since 1897 Dartmouth won the annual championship meeting of the N. E. I. A. A., held at Brookline on Saturday, breaking Amherst's successive string of victories since the competition for the new cup began five years ago. Dartmouth scored 36 points. Brown, winner of second place, with 23 points, Technology with 21 5-6 points, and Williams with 19 5-6 made the competition for second place the real contest of the day. Williams, without Leavitt, scored 8 5-6 points more than last year.

Three association records were broken. Dearborn of Wesleyan threw the discus in the trials 120 feet, 11 1/2 inches, bettering Ehmk's record of last year by 1 foot 8 inches. J. H. Hubbard of Amherst took two-fifths of a second off the former record of 25 1-5 seconds in his trial heat in the low hurdles. In the jump-off for first place in the high jump, Farrington of Technology cleared 5 feet, 10 1/4 inches, breaking the old record of 5 feet 9 3/4 inches, made by Baxter of Trinity 10 years ago. Marshall broke the college record of 40 feet, 4 3/4 inches made by him last year at Worcester with a put of 41 feet 5 inches.

Capt. Griswold won third in the high hurdles and fourth in the low, scoring more points than ever before. In the weights, Marshall won five points in the shot. LaMent, by throwing the hammer 115 feet, 2 inches on his last throw, beat out Dearborn and won fourth place. He also was fourth in the discus. In the broad jump A. M. Brown tied with Kent of Wesleyan at 21 feet 5 1/2 inches, only 2 1/2 inches less than the winning distance. Horrax was in good form and tied for first place in the high jump with Farrington of Technology at 5 feet 9 3/4 inches, and for fourth place in the polo vault at 10 ft. 4 in. The best race of the day was the two-mile run. Wright and Tucker took the lead and held it until the last lap when Bonner challenged them, passing Wright and finishing but two feet behind Tucker. VOL. 20 MAY 21, 1906 No. 17

College Rules on Athletics

The administrative rules passed last week regarding athletic qualifications deserve careful consideration. The rules are sweeping, and affect upperclassmen as well as freshmen. A few points should be made clear. In the first place, the impulse for the rules came from those who represent the athletic interests of the college—the athletic council—and not from those who represent the scholastic interests, and were only passed in their final form by the faculty committee on administration because that committee is the only body that can make administrative rules. Secondly, they are the outcome of the wide-spread discussion of athletic eligibility, and show that Williams endorses the principle of that movement, that athletics are less important than an average standard of scholarship, a principle ple that can scarcely be denied.

The entrance condition provision affects only freshmen, and is primarily aimed at football, since not many freshmen have left, by their second half-year, enough entrance conditions to total three points. As a matter of fact, the rule would have affected, even in September, but six men from 1909, two of whom were athletes and none on the football squad. Further, as the old rule (No. 21) for passing off conditions is so amended as to permit trials before Christmas, every football-playing freshman has a fair chance. A disqualification of all freshmen would bear too heavily on the small colleges, where there is no "proselyting": the present rule gives a chance to separate the athletic wheat from the chaff, from the scholarship point of view.

The other provisions apply to all classes, and will affect many men in each class. Taking any class at random, in the first semester of this college year, had the new rule been in effect, sixteen sophomores would have been debarred from representing the college, ten of whom were in neither athletics, dramatics or the musical clubs. That the freshman needs some check-rein to keep him from neglecting everything for the plain road to college honor that lies in athletics is evident, but the upperclassman is supposed to know his own mind. There is another side, however. Though athletics, like every other outside college interest, tend to lower scholarship, as long as an athlete keeps his scholarship up to a certain standard, no objection ought to be made by the administration of a college to the time and interest he puts in athletics. What this rule does is to lay down a definite standard which we did not have before. One suggestion which would add to the fairness of the rule would be to notify every man immediately in case of disqualification.

The question whether the college will be handicapped in comparison with the other colleges by this rule is a minor one when compared to this greater one of obtaining an accurate, satisfactory adjustment between scholarship and athletics. The rule looks as if it would disqualify more than it really will. That a rule which is so radical a change affects but eight athletes in the two lower classes even when applied, for calculation's sake, to men who had never worked to satisfy its provisions, goes to prove what has long been the contention here, that Williams is as little troubled with "overathletics" as any college. "Satisfactory qualifications at entrance" and "satisfactory scholarship in college" are what one long identified with Williams athletics has given as his written opinion as part of the conditions on which a student should be allowed to represent this college. A definition of "Satisfactory" is what the new rules amount to, and in our opinion the definition is a just one.

AN INTERESTING CITY

Lecture in German on "Munich" by Prof. Wahl

The old Bavarian city, Munich, was the subject of an interesting lecture by Prof. Wahl, Thursday evening. The lecture, given in German, was illustrated by a number of lantern slides, and was well attended.

Munich, founded by Henry the Lion in the twelfth century on a place which had belonged to a monastery, and derives its name from the German word for monk. It has always been one of the principal seats of German catholicism, just as the Kingdom of Bavaria, of which it is the capital, is one of the strongholds of catholicism in Germany. As reason has had freer sway among the people in North Germany than in South Germany, so catholicism in Bavaria is more enlightened than in Italy. From Bavaria sprang the movement of old-catholicism, so-called, inaugurated by Prof. Doellinger of Munich, a movement which opposed the newly established dogma of the infallibility of the pope and broke away from narrow ecclesiastic ordinances of modern times.

The city ranks foremost among German cities in art, and owes this position to the Bavarian rulers of the nineteenth century who adorned the city with fine churches, museums, public buildings and monuments, established a great university there, awakened the interest of the people for art, and made the city the center of Wagnerian music, by the side of Bayreuth.

WESLEYAN WEDNESDAY

On Weston Field—Scores of all Baseball Games with Red and Black

Williams and Wesleyan meet at baseball only twice this season, the first game coming Wednesday on the home diamond. Although the Red and Black have already played fourteen games, they have met only a few first-class teams. Monroe, who was no enigma to the Williams batsmen last season, is pitching good ball this year; Clark, not yet recovered from a recent illness, is not in last season's form.

A list of all the baseball games ever played between Williams and Wesleyan follows:

WESTON FIELD AFFECTED

By Feiker Bill—President's Residence Probably Taxed

The portion of the Feiker bill, which passed the Massachusetts Senate 19 to 15 Wednesday, which applied to colleges, is as follows: "But real property owned and occupied by any scientific institution authorized to grant degrees, which is used or appropriated, wholly or in part, for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes, shall not be exempt from taxation."

The college has paid taxes on professors' houses for years, although not obliged to, by law. President Hopkins states that in his opinion probably the only property owned by the college, now exempt, which will be affected by the Feiker bill is the president's residence and Weston Field. The bill must pass the House of Representatives before it becomes a law.

Case 1907 President of League

The delegates of the Brown-Dartmouth-Williams debating league met at the Copley Square Hotel, Boston, Saturday morning and elected Case '07 president of the league. Two changes were made in the league rules: the main speech was cut down from twelve to eleven minutes and the rebuttal from five to six minutes. It was also decided that the judges should give their decisions without consultation.

OBITUARY

'42—John Benjamin Gale, LL. D., for many years a prominent citizen of Troy and Williamstown, and one of the oldest alumni of the college, died at his home on South street early Thursday morning. Mr. Gale was born in Troy May 9, 1824, prepared for college in the local schools, and after graduation took up the practice of law in that city, first with H. P. Hunt, and later in partnership with the late Charles L. Alden, '51. He removed to Williamstown about twenty years ago, when he retired from his law practice, and at once became actively interested in college affairs, although serving the town as auditor, and serving as director of the Williamstown national bank from 1890, and as president from 1893 until his recent retirement. The Gale hose company was named after him. He presented the college with his extensive law library, and gave $1000 for the grading about West College Hill when the Thompson laboratories were built. He was given the degree of LL. D. by the college in 1894. Mr. Gale is survived by his widow, his daughter, and three grandchildren, one of whom is Prof. John G. Hen '99. The funeral was held Saturday in Troy. All business places in town were closed from 10:30 to 11:30 in honor of the funeral.

Buried in College Cemetery

Mrs. Rebekah Wheeler Griffin, wife of Edward Herriek Griffin, D. D., LL. D., '62, for seventeen years (1872-1889) a professor first of Latin, then of Rhetoric and then of philosophy, in Williams college, was buried in the college cemetery Friday morning. Ex-president Capter '62, Rev. Dr. John H. Denison '62, and President Hopkins took part in the service. Mrs. Griffin died May 15 at Baltimore.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

Knowlson '43 has been in town. The new Greylock flag pole has been put up.

Asst.-Prof. Lewis will read a paper entitled "In the wake of the Welsh revival" at the North Berkshire conference of the Congregational church Wednesday at the Church of Christ, White Oaks.

The 1909-R. P. 1-1909 baseball game to have been played on Weston Field last Saturday, was cancelled by R. P. 1.

Dr. Baseom has an article on "The Unemployed in London" in the current number of the Bibliotheca Sacra.

The 1907 Guls. are in town, but will not be put on sale until the end of the week.

The president of the Adelphe Union has invited the delegates of the proposed Williams-Amherst-Wesleyan debating league to meet in Williamstown on decoration day.

The F. M. A. C. baseball team, composed of students, defeated the Bennington nine Saturday 15 to 5 at Bennington. B. Mears '03 and Bates '06 were the athletic club battery.

The 1907-1909 baseball game was postponed from last Thursday till Wednesday afternoon, and will count for two games.

Linen 1907 went to Springfield Saturday to attend a meeting of the Connecticut Valley Missionary association, to discuss plans for the annual fall meeting.

The annual Lit. banquet was held Friday evening at the Richmond Hotel, North Adams.

"A Knot of Blue," by William R. A. Wilson '92, published last summer, has just been started as a serial in the North Adams Transcript.

Pennell 1909 was taken to the infirmary Wednesday evening with a light case of scarlet fever. He had not been feeling well for some time, but on examination his case was diagnosed as a very mild one. He has been improving rapidly at the infirmary and it is thought that his confinement there will be short. Thorough precautions were taken to insure against any possible contagion and his college room fumigated.

L. vP. Allen '03 Wins Sercomb Cup

The annual Sercomb cup shoot, held Wednesday and Saturday was won by L. vP. Allen '05 with 41 birds. The scores follow:

L. vP. Allen '08 (17 yds)	19-22, 41
Fitch '06 (18 yds)	22-18, 40
Geer '07 (16 yds)	23-17, 40
Dawson '08 (16 yds)	19-21, 40
Scholle '06 (16 yds)	14-14, 28

At the first shoot held Wednesday conditions were favorable but on Saturday a gale of wind made the targets dip and sky. Allen shot after all the others had finished and, though the wind had increased, made the best score of the day. On Wednesday Geer broke 26 straight, the longest run made by any undergraduate member of the club, with the exception of the 33 straight of Harts ex-'05.

For Better Politics

Nineteen colleges were represented at the conference held in Springfield, Thursday afternoon and evening, to form a federation of the various alumni clubs. The object of the organization was defined by the different speakers, as aiming to encourage college men to promote actively civic and social life for the political betterment of the country.

At the afternoon meeting a letter of indorsement from President Hopkins was read. Nearly all of the delegates gave their views on the proposed federation. Edward
B. Sellow '90 of New Haven, Conn., said that while he did not speak officially for Williams, he felt sure that all Williams men would favor the plan.

Williams was not represented by any official delegate but the following alumni were present: J. C.
Robinson '86, Rev. J. L. Kilbon
'86, E. B. Sellow '90, W. H.
Brown 1903, 'R. F. Day 1905.

not be given this year.

"W" WITH CROSSED GAVELS

Awarded Debaters by Adelphe Union—Corwin Chosen Asst. Mgr.

At a meeting of the Adelphe Union held in Jesup Hall last evening a motion was passed unanimously to grant a "W" with crossed gavel to varsity debaters and managers but not to alternates. This action was taken by the Adelphe Union under the authority granted it by the college body at the college meeting Monday night. "to take complete charge of debating matters". The action will be brought before the college at the college meeting Friday.

A faculty committee composed of Prof. Maxcy, Asst. Prof. Lewis and Prof. Ferry, will have general superintendence of debating affairs in an advisory capacity. Roy Stanley Corwin 1908, of Riverhead, N. Y., was elected assistant manager of the debating association at the meeting.

Election of a Football Manager

Since the term of the president of the football association will expire Saturday, May 26, and the vice-president has been compelled to resign, it is necessary to fill this office immediately. Consequently with the authority of the Athletic Council I hereby announce an election of a vice-president and assistant manager tomorrow, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. For this election the usual method of class nomination will be omitted. Anyone from the class of 1907 who hands his name to me before 6 p.m. of that date will become a candidate before the college.

W. S. Case, Mgr.

Hurlbut 1907 Chosen Track Capt.

At a meeting of the track team held this afternoon Bert Elmer Hurlbut 1907, of Gouverneur, N. Y., was elected captain for next year. Hurlbut prepared for college at the Gouverneur High school, from which he graduated in 1903. He has been on the varsity relay team three years, holds the college record in the quarter-mile run, and has won first in that event in every dual meet but one in which he has contested for the three years.

Two Victories In One

The juniors defeated the freshmen decisively on the old campus Wednesday afternoon 10 to 2 in a game that counted double. Hoyne could not be found, while Sears was batted out of the box and had poor support.

The score by innings:

THE FIFTIETH GUL.

1907 Year Book Out Tomorrow—Description of Features

The Guliemensian of the class of 1907 is here. The first shipment of 400 copies arrived in town a week ago and the books will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at C. G. Smith's and N. H. Sanford's. This issue, Vol. L, is the first of recent years to be delivered on time. The price of the book will be $2.00.

This year's Gul. certainly presents a pleasing appearance. It is 10½ inches long by 7¾ wide. The covers are of smooth, tan-colored leather and extend over the edges to meet. The paper stock used is heavy plate India tint, especially adapted to getting the best results from half-tones. The inserts bearing the fraternity seals are of imported French Japan printing paper which harmonizes well with the body of the book. The use of two-tone, or as it is better known, double tone ink of a green tint on a background of black gives the printed page an air of richness impossible of attainment with ordinary one-color ink. The cuts are greatly improved by the use of this ink and are in most cases excellent.

The book contains more drawings and reproductions from photographs than recent Guls, but has fewer headings for the different associations and clubs. The old feature of having a representative drawing preceding the pages allotted to each class has been restored, the four full page pictures having been made by Hanchett 1907. There are a number of excellent drawings from Fred Squires 1900 and George M. Richards 1904, both of whom have been generous in work and suggestions. The photographs are varied in their selection and show many phases of college life. The college and Worcester records have been carefully corrected to the beginning of the track season.

As usual, the "grinds" are fewer in number than the book should have, but this defect has been partly compensated by the addition of pictures. The advertised "alumni section" is also lacking in quantity but this fault may be laid at the door of the alumni themselves, whose co-operation, though absolutely necessary for the success of such a feature, we understand it was impossible to secure to any extent. The alumni have been liberal in subscribing for the book and over 200 copies have been sold to them in advance. The leading article, "The Princess in Purple," is by President George E. McLean '71, of the State University of Iowa.

The typographical work on this year's book was done by the Hansaner-Jones Printing company of Buffalo, the cuts being furnished by the Electric City Engraving company of the same city.

LIGHT AND SHADE

Wesleyan Beaten 9-4—Errors, Trips, Squeeze Plays, Many Bunts

The fifth home game of the season was won from Wesleyan yesterday on Weston Field 9 to 4, in a contest in which only two earned runs were made. Spectacular features were not lacking, two double plays, a perfect short throw with men on first and third, and a pair of squeeze plays figuring in the Williams column. Errors on ground balls were frequent, and altogether those who watched were on edge to see what would happen next. Williams was fast on the bases, and the bunting was beautiful to look upon. Wadsworth made the prettiest error seen on Weston Field this year.

Wadsworth opened the first for Williams by trotting around the four bases on a drive too hot for Cunningham, followed by a wild throw under the bleachers. Two singles and a three-bagger by Hogan—who narrowly missed a home run—brought in two more runs. Pierce juggled Cunningham's grounder in circus-ring fashion in the second, and Bristol scored Wesleyan's first tally.

The first squeeze-play came in the sixth when Osterhout, starting from third with the pitcher's motion, scored on Harman's bunt. A wild throw by Young and a wild pitch by Ford, who replaced Pierce in the seventh, accounted for Wesleyan's last two runs. A second squeeze play and Cunningham's three bad errors in the eighth brought Williams' score to nine.

NEW BASEBALL SONG

To be Used at Dartmouth Game—Practice Sing Tomorrow

A new baseball song has been written by A. M. Botsford 1906 to an air composed by him, the verses of which follow. A college sing will be held on the Jesup Hall steps at 8:00 tomorrow evening to practice the new song for immediate use in the Dartmouth and Amherst games.

We march and sing as all along the line,
We raise our battle cry,
The valley echoes sending back a cheer for men who do or die.
Then onward, steadfast, forward to the fight,
With hearts and voices strong,
The purple floats above us,
Cheering for the team we march along.

CHORUS.

As we go marching, marching,
marching on to victory,
Raise our banners high along the way,
As we go cheering, singing glory to the team,
For this is Williams' day,
Forever loyal Williams sons will stand
In battle side by side,
And ne'er a foe is found throughout the land to stem the purple tide,
In football, baseball, basketball or track
Though we be weak or strong,
We'll back the team forever,
Once again we sing our marching song.

VOL. 20 MAY 24, 1906 No. 18

Some Taxation Conditions

The attitude of the legislators who are supporting the bill to exempt certain college property from taxation is moderate. Senator W. H. Feiker, of Northampton, who has given the bill its popular name, is not a radical. He specifically states that he is not "hostile to the educational interests" but does join issue on the "money-making" end of the college, directing his bill against property used for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes. The state senate has voted once or twice for and against the bill every week with confusing regularity, and apparently it is at present about to recommend it to the next general court, although reconsiderations and recommitments have followed so closely that it is hard to say just what it will do.

It seems too bad that, just for the sake of "letting the defeated side down easy", the legislature should put the whole question over without deciding against taxation. To be sure, the most objectional part of the measure, the proposal to tax dormitories and college boarding-houses, has apparently been amended out of the bill. The principal properties affected by the measure as it now reads are professors' houses and athletic fields, enough still to impose a heavy burden on educational institutions.

Space will not permit a discussion of the question of what the town owes to the college. A few points should be mentioned. The expansion of the real property of the college has caused the recent agitation—for it can be shown that fifty years ago college towns were ready to pay to keep the institutions—yet it must be remembered that in most cases the money paid for the land has been turned over to residents of Williamstown, and the money for the improvements on it paid to Williamstown contractors and laborers. The current funds of the college, non-taxable, have thus become the personal property of Williamstown citizens and therefore taxable, balancing, if the assessors make an accurate valuation of personal property, the loss in taxable real estate. Indeed, in the case of such purchases as the real estate on the north side of Main street recently, there is a gain in taxable property, since the money paid by the college for the real estate is turned from non-taxable to taxable, and the property is still taxed, in fact taxed for larger amounts after more non-taxable college funds have been turned into taxable improvements on that property.

As for the taxation of athletic fields as used for "commercial or mercantile purposes," President Eliot has made the point, that while money is taken in at the gate, the word "profit" has no application, for no individual reaps anything. Certainly the development of the body has a place in the all-round education beside the development of the mind, a common truth which this interpretation of the bill does not seem to recognize.

All colleges are at present undergoing radical adjustment to suit the needs of the time—specialized education, more courses of study, improved methods in the laboratory, the elective system, the small division. It needs money to carry through this adjustment. It is a poor time for the people to lay an added burden on the colleges when they are making an extra effort to keep up with what the people demand.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Matches Between Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams at Middletown

The triangular league tennis tournament will be held at Middletown tomorrow and Saturday. Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams are the members of the league. The teams will consist of two men each and there will be twelve matches in all. Each man will play a man from both the other teams in singles, and each team will play a doubles match with both other colleges—making six matches to be played by each team. Wesleyan has two championship courts which will be used for the tournament. F. R. Smith 1906 (capt.), Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 will represent Williams.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Notice has been given for all those desiring to become competitors for the Philadelphia alumni cup to meet Mr. Seeley at his office in Lasell Gymnasium at 7.00 p.m. Friday. The cup, to be given annually, is offered for the second time by Messrs. Felton Bent, F. W. Rawle, and H. D. Riley of the class of 1895, under the following conditions: "to be awarded on the 30th day of May in each year, . . . to that member of the freshman class who, in the opinion of the council and the faculty, or a committee thereof, has shown during his first full year in Williams college, the most marked progress in those branches of athletics which now are and hereafter may be prescribed by the faculty as compulsory courses to be taken by the entering freshman class. It is further understood that the recipient of the cup shall have maintained during his first year an average of at least seventy per cent in his other college work."

Preliminaries for Debate

The preliminaries for the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debate will be held in the Biological Laboratory Monday, May 28, at 8 p.m. The question will be "Resolved: that it would be for the best interests of American colleges that freshmen be debared from all 'varsity athletic teams.'" Five minutes will be allowed each speaker, including two for rebuttal if desired. Contrary to the arrangement last fall, the participants, of whom there are fourteen, have been notified which side they are to uphold.

THE 1906 CLASS BOOK

Review of Senior Publication by Mr. W. S. Pettit 1905

The 1906 class book is noteworthy among the long series of class books which succeeding senior classes here have edited.
The appearance of the book is unusually good: the excellent cover, the two colors of ink, the inserted half-tone cuts, and in general the careful editing and printing make it exceptional.

The chief weakness in the book is undoubtedly among the "write-ups". The review of junior year, for instance, is a hodge-podge of strained metaphors and a capricious style. It suffers much by comparison with the reviews of the other years. Some of the descriptions of the members of the class are well done and have the great merit of emphasizing the more prominent characteristics of the men; others are more poorly written and seem somewhat inane.
their humor is too sweet. The old custom of describing metaphorically a man's birth and education is continued, it has too many limitations to be really acceptable in a class book. There is one omission in the account of "sometime members".

With these exceptions the book is most commendable. The 1902 class book is the only one which as a whole can be compared with it and the choice between them must be very nearly even. The book has been more than ordinarily expensive and the editor has done his work with much painstaking. He and the class are to be congratulated on having produced one of the two best class books ever published here.

SIXTEEN INNINGS

1-0 Victory Over Dartmouth in Greatest Ball Game Ever Played on Weston

The Game all Ford and Skillin—Each Pitcher Strikes Out Eighteen—Fast Double Play in Fifteenth—Double by Wadsworth and Single by Warren Wins in Sixteenth after Two are Out.

"Allie" Watson can talk no more about the teams a dozen years ago. Even that all-conquering team of '97 never played a sixteen inning 1-0 game. The memory of none closely connected with Williams baseball nor the pages of any of the numerous records can hark back to a ball game in Williamstown that lasted as long as Saturday's, and not since Mr. Lewis struck out 23 men in nine innings back ten years ago has any Williams pitcher fanned so many as did Ford.

At the end of sixteen innings Williams had beaten Dartmouth, when with two out and nobody on bases it had looked as if the game was good for sixteen innings more. Wadsworth came up and hit a two-bagger over the third baseman's head. A moment later he made a clever steal of third. Warren, who had struck out his last two times up, got two strikes on him again, but hit a slow bouncer between short and third—which he would have beaten out had not Richardson fumbled—Wadsworth scored and the game was won.

The game was of a kind that most of us are favored to see but once in a lifetime, and needs unlimited superlatives and unlimited space to do it justice. It was a pitcher's battle, but a pitcher's battle where there was excitement every minute. Ford and Skillin, evenly matched, kept hits down and strike-outs up all the way. In the middle of the game Skillin was the stronger, striking out three men on nine pitched balls in the 11th, but tired towards the very end, while, Ford pitched as strongly in the last inning as in the first. Ford was remarkably steady, giving no bases on balls, and keeping the Dartmouth batters guessing by a puzzling drop ball which he combined with fast shoots, all under perfect control. The umpire's decisions on balls and strikes were of ten poor.

There were fielding features too. In the fourth O'Brien drove out what he thought to be a triple to right but sharp throwing caught him at third. In the fifteenth came the play of the game. Gardiner singled with one gone. Skillin shot a hard bouncer to Young, who fielded it perfectly and a lightning fast double play resulted. Dartmouth never got a man past second, and Williams but three.

TENNIS AT LONGWOOD

Annual Tournament of the N. E. I. T. A. Begins Today

The New England Intercollegiate tennis tournament will be held May 28, 29, 30 and 31 at Longwood. Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Dartmouth, M. I. T., Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams and the University of Vermont will be represented.

Last year the Williams team (Northrop 1905 and Smith 1906) won the doubles championship and Northrop 1905 lost to Fanning of M. I. T. in the singles semifinals. This year Williams will be represented by F. R. Smith 1906, New England intercollegiate singles champion in 1904, and Wescott 1905. Fanning of M. I. T., last year's singles champion, is still in college and is playing a strong game; Wallis of Dartmouth, the runner-up, has graduated. Tobey of Bowdoin, the Maine champion, promises to be a dangerous man in the singles, while in the doubles McLane and Rotch of Dartmouth are putting up perhaps the most consistent game. The Dartmouth team tied the Springfield Country Club Thursday.

Rain Prevents Matches

(By telegraph to The Record)

Longwood, Mass., May 28, 3:00 p.m.—Rain prevented all tennis matches in the championship tournament today.

TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Williams Defeats Dartmouth and Wesleyan at Middletown

Williams was victorious in all its matches in the triangular league tennis tournament held at Middletown Friday and Saturday, winning the championship silver loving cup. Wesleyan took second place and Dartmouth third. F. R. Smith 1906 (capt.), Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 represented the Purple. The matches were well contested, though at no time was Williams pressed for the lead. White of Wesleyan and the Dartmouth doubles team made the best showing.

On Friday Thompson defeated Rotch of Dartmouth 6-3, 8-6; Smith defeated White of Wesleyan 6-2, 3-6, 6-1; Thompson defeated Gatch of Wesleyan 6-3, 8-6. In doubles Smith and Schell defeated Rotch and McLane of Dartmouth 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Saturday Smith and Schell defeated Gatch and White of Wesleyan 6-3, 6-1. Gatch and White defeated the Dartmouth players 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. The singles matches between Dartmouth and Wesleyan were defaulted to Wesleyan, as the Dartmouth men had to leave.

Schiffer 1907 has resigned from college. He will take a trip to Europe, and in the fall will enter the employ of Pelgram and Meyer, manufacturers of ribbons, New York city.

Prom. Time

For our friends who are with us for a few fleeting hours 'neath the shadow of Greylock by day, and the effulgence retailed by the North Adams light company by night, we this week ungrudgingly tear ourselves from our long unbroken communion with the books. Again we recite to the sympathetic ears of an indulgent chaperone the cost of the new chapel and the explanation of Bryant's sarcasm at the expense of his alma mater, while our roommate chats with her ward on far different and less weighty subjects. Again we wipe the dust from our dressing mirrors and leave our dollars with barber, haberdasher, and purveyor of the prancing steeds, for again is prom. time upon us.

Williamstown helps us to bid you welcome. The lawns and trees have anticipated our intention by decking themselves in their best in your honor, and the weather department has anchored down the annoying dust of Spring street under four inches of good Berkshire mud. The Man from Mexico has said he will be here on Wednesday morning and our friends the enemy from Amherst in the afternoon. The road through Torrey's woods is still open to travel and the view from Stone Hill awaits your pleasure. And, incidentally, there is to be a dance in the gymnasium tomorrow night.

Debating Insignia

The question of insignia for debaters is one which seems bound to recur every five or ten years in every college, usually with the same result as at the college meeting Friday.

An impression given at that meeting should be corrected. The colleges near us do not, as a general rule, grant a debating letter. Harvard, mentioned by one of the speakers, gives no insignia at all for debating. At Wesleyan (quoting from a letter from the Wesleyan Argus) "the debating teams are allowed to wear the 'W' with crossed gavels, but none of them ever do it. Last year the members of the team were given watch-fobs with this insignia on them." At Amherst "alumni have awarded victorious debaters with medals", but no insignia are given. Dartmouth this last year granted the "D" with crossed gavels. Whatever argument can be made from the customs of other colleges would be against the proposed action.

The whole question is the basis for awarding the "W". In our opinion the only ground for the granting of the letter is the representation of the college in any intercollegiate athletic contest. This has been the basis at Williams for thirty years; it has been as rigidly adhered to and much more widely extended in other colleges. The letter has always been regarded, throughout the college world, as given for athletic excellence. Current joking comment shows how any extension of the letter outside the athletic field would cheapen its value.

Of course the "W" with crossed gavels would aid debating. There are not many interests in college so dead that they would not take a new lease of life if the "W" was granted their members. We scarcely think debating is in such straits as to demand this radical aid; last year's interest would certainly prove the contrary.

The work done by the debaters is not to be belittled, nor do we think it is wholly realized. Debaters deserve more recognition from the college than they get at present. They deserve the proper kind of recognition, however. Whether they would even wear a letter if awarded them would seem doubtful after the testimony quoted from Wesleyan. The right to wear the purple is not yet definitely crystallized like the right to the "W". To award the debaters this right, while defining strictly those in athletics who should have it, would be our suggestion.

At any rate, if insignia are to be granted, the debating interests ought to be as definitely organized as the athletic interests, as an association under the control of the student-body, and the organized supervision of graduates. Undergraduate award and graduate ratification seems necessary in athletics. It is hard to see how, with faculty judges determining the make-up of the 'varsity teams and therefore determining who should wear this college insignia, as is necessary, such undergraduate award could be brought about in debating. The organization must be double; certainly no body composed solely of students should have the power to grant its members 'W's or any other insignia.

FOOTBALL MGR. CHOSENM. Brown 1907 Elected—Motion for Debating Insignia Tabled

Montague Brown 1907 of Portland, Maine, was elected assistant football manager to fill the office of Moies 1907, resigned, at a college meeting Friday evening. He became manager of the football association Saturday with the expiration of Manager Case's term.

MONTAGUE BROWN 1907

Brown prepared for college at Hotchkiss school, where he managed the school paper, and was a member of the track team. He was one of the Prom. committee sophomore year, is treasurer of the class, and has been a member of the track team and the football squad for two years.

The question of debating insignia was brought before the meeting. Nomer 1906 moved that the college grant the 'W' with crossed gavels to members of debating teams and to the managers, but not to the alternates. Nomer 1906 and Perry 1906 spoke in favor of the motion, Curtiss 1906 and Clark 1907 against it. A motion to lay the matter on the table was passed by a small majority.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Dr. Jefferson of New York, who addressed the morning chapel service yesterday, answered questions on religious and ethical matters at the evening Y. M. C. A. service. The discussion was free and informal, and was participated in by nearly all present.

Purple and White on Weston Field Decoration Day

The annual prom. week Williams - Amherst baseball game will be played Decoration day on Weston Field. The game is the second of a series of four, the first of which was won by Williams 2 to 0 on Pratt

Dartmouth have been defeated by Amherst—the last in a pitcher's battle between McRae and Skil-lin.

The Amherst nine took a western trip last week for the first time since the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. The trip resulted in two victories and two defeats:
Michigan was beaten by a large score, but the Purple and White was shut out by Illinois. The Williams game will be the first after the western trip.

teams follow:

The junior team won their fifth victory in the interclass base-from the seniors 13 to 10. A shower before the game made good fielding difficult. The game was ball between the baseball cage put the last 1906 man out by catching a hot liner.

The fifth was Dartmouth's first bad inning. Osterhout got a hit, Waters was safe on Gardiner's error and Harman's hunt put the men on third and second with one out. Ford hit the ball hard and on a line, but straight at O'Brien and then Skillin struck out Wadsworth. Again in the eighth, with two out, Wadsworth walked and stole. Warren smashed a long liner to the track just in foul ground in left field and then hit to the pitcher. In the twelfth and fifteenth Williams came near winning again but Skillin's strikeouts, like Ford's, came at the right time.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

GUL. REVIEW

The Year Book Criticised by Asst. Prof. Perry

The work of editing a "Gul." is the most laborious and least appreciated of all the literary or semi-literary tasks which come outside of the curriculum in the college and one feels like offering sympathy rather than criticism to a board which has for so long a time striven to produce something of an original quality, only to have the book read for a day and then relegated to back shelves where it is seldom seen except by future "Gul." boards who use it mainly as a book for prejudiced comparison.

The fiftieth "Gul." is elegant in appearance with its tan colored leather binding and its French Japan printing paper. The general tone of the book, the printing, and the careful editing must be conceded at the start. The cuts come out well, and the drawings, while not of unusual excellence, are satisfactory. The snapshots, showing distinctive glimpses of Williams life, appeal to more men than any other feature of the book and one wishes there were more of them. Here the "Gul." is performing a function for the college which is worth while. They give real charm to the captains of the athletic teams are disappointing.From a literary point of view the "Gul." is distinctly mediocre.

The verse at times is pointless doggerel and never seems to have a reason for existence. The poem which purports to have come from the pen of Morris Rudnick is a cruel libel on Mr. Rudnick, and in "Aspirations of a Freshman" the lines:"I'd walk up near the grand stand then.
And you with shining eyes
Would toss a rosebud through the net—
Ah, what a victor's prize!"do justice neither to Williams poetry nor Williams athletics.
The prose is better, but never rises above the average of preceding "Guls". The humor does not seem to be spontaneous and in the "Sunday Evening Vesper Service" it is quite absent. It is unfortunate and in poor taste that our beautiful vesper service should be held up to ridicule, but when the ridicule is pointless it seems to the critic that the result is doubly distressing. Real humor could not be denied in "The Ten Commandments of Williams," and in certain other of the prose selections which are of too personal a character for particularization.Is the "grind" department of the "Gul." worth while? For the last fifteen years there has been a steady decrease in the space allotted these personal comments.
The fact that at present only a few men are honored makes the position far more conspicuous than it used to be and in the choice of subjects precedent seems to be the controlling factor. At the universities this part of the year book has been entirely eliminated, with a distinct gain in dignity. The "grinds" mean nothing except to a very few, and they do not add to the value of the "Gul." as the authentic record of the happenings of the college year. Certainly to the alumni and to those who read the "Annual"
with an idea of choosing a college the "grinds" are of no interest. Perhaps there would not be such a large sale if the "grinds" were omitted but this has never been proven. The difficulty of getting original matter in this department is becoming yearly more evident; the bitterness which some of these innocent thrusts causes is seldom realized, and they do not further the real purpose of the "Gul."

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Held in New Chapel and at Soldiers Monument

Informal Memorial day exercises were conducted in the chapel yesterday morning before about two hundred people. President Hopkins spoke briefly upon memories of the civil war and stated that the purpose of the holiday was to serve as a reminder of the sacrifices and sufferings of that struggle and to aid us in realizing the tremendous cost of religious and civil liberty.

Further exercises were held at the Soldiers' monument where President Hopkins read the names of twenty-eight Williams men who died in the war and mentioned many of the two hundred and twenty-six Williams men who fought in the conflict.

THE MAN FROM MEXICO

Cap and Bells Plays in Opera House—Changes in Cast

Cap and Bells gave its prom. week performance of "The Man from Mexico" before a large audience in the Williamstown Opera house yesterday morning at 10.45. The lines were given smoothly and the acting was of even excellence, with the caricature parts not overdone. As usual, A. M. Postford 1906, as Benjamin Fitzhew, the Man from Mexico, was the life of the show, keeping the audience in laughter all the while he was on the stage.

Fift 1909 made more of the part of Nettie Majors than has been done in the previous performances, and the German dialect work of Case 1906 received merited applause. Latson 1909 played the part of Pierce 1907 as Timothy Cook, and Hanson 1909 did creditable work in the part of Miranda, played in previous performances by Carlisle 1909. The Spanish dance, by Botsford 1906 and Combes 1907 suffered by comparison with Donald MacDonald, but by this only.

Ex-president Carter will preach in the chapel next Sunday.

WILLIAMS 3; AMHERST 1

Large Crowd Sees Purple and White Outplayed in Dull Game

The annual Decoration day game with Amherst was won by Williams yesterday afternoon 3 to 1 in ideal weather before one of the largest crowds ever gathered on Weston Field. The game was unusually fast, and not very interesting, though perhaps after Saturday's contest an ordinary game looked commonplace. Not a run was earned, but Amherst was outbatted, outfielded, and outpitched. Two of Amherst's hits were scratches.

Each team was credited with a run at the end of the first inning. Storke drew a pass to first, reached third when Young missed Jones' grounder, and crossed the plate on Shattuck's single. Warren scored for Williams on Young's single after gaining second on a muffed fly.

In the second, Osterhout drew a wild throw in stealing second, and another wild throw to third by Wheeler brought him home. With two out Jones lined out a three-bagger to center-field in the third inning and was the last man to reach third for Amherst. After Wheeler's single in the fourth no Amherst man saw first. The third run came as a result of Ford's three-bagger which took a lucky bound past the left-fielder, Harman coming in from first.

For Williams, Harman made his usual good pick-ups, and Wadsworth covered much ground at second, accepting nine chances brilliantly without an error. Spring's accurate throwing caught four men who attempted to steal.

SOPHOMORE PROMENADE

Annual Dance in Lasell Gymnasium Tuesday Evening

The sophomore prom. is over and Nineteen-eight has joined the list of Williams classes which have given successful proms. But to say that the 1908 prom. was a success, is to be prosaic. An efficient committee, many diligent assistants, and no end of painstaking labor prepared the gymnasium for the event. An unsurpassed evening, cool and clear, a management that provided for every need, and by far the largest number of guests at any recent college dance, contributed in making 1908's a truly perfect promenade.

Lasell gymnasium was transformed from its barn-like gymnastic aspect, into a splendid ballroom, the color scheme of light green and white being followed throughout. The walls downstairs were concealed by bunting, with many Williams and 1908 banners and pennants. Over the center of the floor was a canopy of green and white, with the bunting draped from the running track up to the center-piece of electric lights from which hung a large Japanese umbrella. Electric lights shone from the eastern end of the track, while from pendants of greenery above the hall hung numerous electric-lighted Japanese lanterns. At the eastern end of the gallery back of the running track, were cosy corners. The usual easy chairs, divans and sofas lined the walls downstairs, and rugs surrounded the dancing floor.

The sophomore promenade committee consisted of Richard Bradley Rising of Springfield, chairman; Richard Meldrum Brady of Washington, Pa.; Payson Stone Douglas of East Orange, N. J.; Harold Hull-Griswold of Meriden, Conn.; and William Ernest Slatery of Troy.

Another Baseball Victory

A victory over Amherst is always pleasurable: a victory in the midst of prom. time doubly so. And yet it was hard to get up enthusiasm. In comparison with Saturday's Dartmouth game, this or any other seemed dull. The Williams pitcher was too obviously superior to the Amherst batsmen. That no men got to first in five innings shows that pitchers and fielders were playing baseball as best they knew.

The team has won a series of victories seldom equalled. Amherst, Harvard, Syracuse, Yale, Wesleyan, Dartmouth and again Amherst have been successively defeated, and Williams has scored as many runs in a single game as its opponents in all twelve. And now for Princeton!

Where Improvement is Necessary

Is it not strange that when the object of the interscholastic meet held Saturday is avowedly to give track men in the near-by preparatory schools an impetus to come to Williams, that so little interest is taken in the meet by the college? In other colleges these future students are made to feel that they are the guests of the college: here at Williams that majority of us who are not awake to the interests of the college have ignored them.

The time of the meet, determined by train connections, is inconvenient, to be sure, but the meet is naturally run primarily to suit these guests of the college rather than the college body. Recitations, it is realized, interfere somewhat, but not all the college are reciting every hour Saturday morning; certainly there are not many of us unable to take a few extra steps to see the end of the meet in the afternoon. That it is necessary to run the meet through the noon hour and therefore difficult to entertain at the fraternity houses makes it all the more necessary that each man do all he can, for this is the one chance of the year that every one has to help men to come to Williams.

It takes something more than an impression of the beauty of Williamstown to get these men here. A little personal interest, and quite a little, if not in some one individual, at least in the Here at any rate is our opportunity down on Weston Field, by united effort, with cheer and song leaders present, to give these visitors an impression of college spirit and college interest in themselves that will help make them realize that Williams is the very best place for them to come to.

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Tidiness is the patron virtue of the Village Improvement Society. It may not furnish forth the model saint but it goes a good ways with the average sinner. Some animals attain this grace under very unfavorable circumstances, and some sink into the opposed vice let nature be ever so kindly. Domestic animals—with the possible exception of the cat, washing her face with her paw—decline into slovenly ways, and leave the question of grooming to man. Men, who wear garments, live in houses and crowd public places, are compelled to be decent. Civilization registers itself on this scale of tidiness: yet some of its chief agents awaken at the same time, the devil of dirt.

The paper, the post-office, the package, each yield some things to be thrown away, and to make a trail of refuse behind them. We wish to request the young men of the college, whose general consideration we have occasion to recognize, to hold fast to the fugacious paper, the treacherous peel, till they have reached a place of deposit, and to huddle the disorder which dogs our steps in the street.

We do not go so far as to ask you to "keep off the grass", but we would like to request you to keep off the places where the grass ought to grow. Our walks are bordered with paths on either side, in ridicule of their proper service. The young man who makes no offense in going, and leaves no offense behind him, is entitled to the world, even if it be the beautiful world of Williamstown. Village Improvement Society.

'VARSITY VS. ATHLETICSFour Professionals and Two Faculty Members on Town Team

The 'varsity baseball team will play a third game with the Williamstown Athletics Saturday afternoon on Weston Field in place of the scheduled game cancelled by Trinity. The college team broke even with the Athletics in two practice games early in the season, the Athletics winning the first 7 to 6, and the 'varsity, the second 15 to 7. The Athletics will be considerably strengthened Saturday by the presence of Murphy of Adams, recently released from the Utica team of the New York State league, and Howells, a former player in the Western outlaw league. Mackey, coach of Wesleyan's team last year, and Rudman, both of Blackinton, are also players of league experience. Asst. Prof. Lewis will probably pitch for the Athletics, but Bryant, who pitched in the other two games, may be in the box.

The line-ups of both teams follow:

ATHLETICS: — Walden c, Lewis p or 3b, Mackey 1b, Prindle 2b, Murphy ss, Bryant 3b or p, Rudman lf, Howells cf, Mears rf.

WILLIAMS: — Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

COACH DOWD LEAVESWill Manage Holyoke Team of Connecticut League

Thomas J. Dowd, coach of the baseball team, has accepted an offer to manage the Holyoke baseball team of the Connecticut League, and left on Wednesday. Holyoke is Coach Dowd's native town.

He was captain of the Holyoke High school team for four years before going to Brown and Georgetown, and, in his career of professional ball, was left fielder on the Holyoke team in 1904 and captained the nine for a time.

He will begin his duties as manager today. Although he had agreed to stay with the team until the end of June, his offer from Holyoke was so large that the management did not think itself justified in keeping him for the remainder of the year. He was at the game yesterday, will go on the trip to Princeton June 6 and will be with the team at the Amherst game at Amherst June 23. Asst. Prof. Lewis will act as coach of the team in his place from now on.

Williams-Springfield C. C. Golf

The Williams golf team of five men will play the Springfield country club team on the links of the Pittsfield Country Club at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The Springfield team is the strongest country club team in Massachusetts west of Worcester, and has not been defeated yet this year. Ralph P. Alden and S. N. Stickney, the old St. Paul's school player, are the best men. The Williams team defeated Springfield 9-6 last fall, the latter's first defeat on its home course in three years.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

Held on Weston Field Saturday—
Eleven Schools Competing

The annual track meet of the Williams college interscholastic athletic association will be held on Saturday morning and afternoon on Weston Field. The entry list is the largest ever received. The schools which are to compete this year are the Adams High school, Albany academy, Ballston Spa High school, Cambridge High school, Drury High school, Hoosick Falls High school, Pittsfield High school, Searles High school, Troy Conference academy of Poultney, Vt. and the Williamstown High school. The Troy Conference academy is entered for the first time.

The meet promises to be even better than last year when Drury High school unexpectedly won with one-quarter of a point more than Pittsfield. The usual thirteen events are on the program and the first heat of the 100-yd dash will be started at 10 o'clock sharp. The meet will continue through the noon hour and will be over by about 3:00.

A banner will be awarded to the school winning the largest number of points and gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to winners of first, second and third places in each event.

First Preliminary Debates

The following men were chosen from the contestants in the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league preliminaries in the Biological Laboratory Monday evening: Foxle '08, Dodd, Ernst, Howe, MacLay, Robb, Wood '09. In addition to these men Case, Matthews '07, Byard, Groben, Murray '08, Syre, Toll '07, the Varsity debaters and alternates, are eligible. No further trial debates will be held this year. The judges were Prof. Macy, Asst. Prof. Wetmore, and Asst. Prof. Perry.

Debaters Meet at Amherst

Case '07 will represent Williams at a meeting to be held at Amherst Saturday to complete arrangements for the formation of the proposed Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league. This meeting takes the place of the one to have been held in Williamstown yesterday.

MUSICAL CLUBS CONCERT

In Jesup Hall Last Evening—Banjo Club Excels

The concert by the musical clubs in Jesup Hall last evening at eight o'clock was attended by a fairly large audience, composed principally of prom. guests. The work of the clubs was somewhat ragged in comparison with previous performances, but was well received. The banjo club made the biggest hit, sharing the honors with Pever's solos and Pierce's piano-mimes, especially the realistic imitation of a student dressing for chapel. The concert closed with "The Mountains", followed by a long college yell.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

Review of the June Number by Professor Nelson

In the very few moments that I may almost truly say are given me to "review" the Literary Monthly, I am forced to content myself with an inadequate amount of general observation. As the editorial parts of this number are not submitted to me, let me say of these elements of the magazine, that they are open to the objection that may justly be made to this effort of my own when it is considered in reference to this particular number of the monthly publication,—they deal too generally with life in the large and too skimpily with the concrete and often interesting life about us. Students, who are usually inchoate men, give the better promise of an earlier manhood if they like the kind of thrust, say as that which Mr. Pettit gave in the last Record for the education and mental enlargement of the editor or editors, of this year's class book.

The monthly publication of this college is well worth talking about, and as it is so, it is worthy of hard and honest handling. No deadlier insult can be offered to the literary work of young men who are taking their first steps in a pleasant, but exacting, art than unacidulated praise. Untempered honey is nauseating. To administer it in a so-called criticism is, in effect, to say that the vices of the thing criticised are so truly basic that the bettering of them is impossible, or that the promise is so slight that it is not worth while to suggest a better way for its fulfillment.

The monthly has so much of excellence, the writing in it is so often good, so surprisingly good occasionally, that it may plainly be improved. Much more space than the Record has to bestow upon the subject might be profitably filled with illustrative remarks.

I must confine myself to a mere suggestion. The fiction and verse of the monthly lack authenticity. Imaginative literature is of no value, speaks no word of moment, is not instructive or inspiring, is not even amusing, unless it comes from the experiences of the writer,—unless his message is from his mind or his heart, unless he speaks the truth that is in him, the truth that he has seen or the truth that he has felt. Human life may not adequately, for the artist, be learned from books, nor can passionate longings be implanted through the eye or ear. These are simple, fundamental truths, the application of which may be left to some of the very best of our young writers. That those who put in pleasing verse the emotions of others or who imitate with facility, and with good taste, the social or personal studies, the inherent peculiarities often, of more or less popular favorites, is not to the point. The maker of a scrap-book may do as much. Those whom I have in mind can do better.

As to essays: there are two in the present number, written for a college exercise, which suggest that the work and reading of the college courses often furnish abundant subjects for better treatment than is possible for subjects

THE TEN-YEAR CLASS

Decennial Reunion of 1896—Two Members on the Faculty

The class of 1896 will celebrate at this Commencement a decennial reunion which promises to be the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the class. A committee of sixteen has been appointed to make arrangements, consisting of the class secretary, F. A. Alden of Montour Falls, N. Y.; John W. Boekes of Brooklyn, Horace G. Brown of Worcester, chairman; E. Harold Cluett of Troy, Clarence W. Dunham of Warrensburg, N. Y., Edward C. Durfee of New York, George B. Kilbourne of Columbus, Edward M. Lewis of Williamstown, William A. Lockwood of New York, Thomas C. McDowell of Boston, Henry S. Patterson of New York, Edmonds Putney of New York, James W. Reed of Groton, N. Y., Sanford Robinson of New York, Theodore H. Simmons of Providence, R. I., and Dudley W. Strickland of Denver. The class has secured the entire second floor of the Adams Block (with the exception of the co-operative store rooms) as headquarters, and will there entertain its friends. The class banquet will be held at the Wilson House, North Adams, on Tuesday evening, June 26. The committee expect that between forty and forty-five members of '96 will attend. The class boy will be among those present. There will be no tax and the committee is depending on subscriptions to pay expenses. The class will probably drive to North Adams for the banquet. Corwin McDowell will be toastmaster. At the banquet a number of toasts will be given, including tributes to the two members of the class who have died, and to Professors Dodd, Fernald and Safford. Ass't.-Prof. Lewis will respond to the toast "The College Today." Lamoureux's Italian band of North Adams will furnish the music.

The class of 1896 graduated 62, and has lost by death Walter W. Cooper in 1904 and Paul C. Mitchell in 1902. The remaining sixty are scattered in 15 states and territories, with one member in Paris, France, and one in Honolulu. Of the sixty members, fifteen are lawyers, eleven doctors, and eleven teachers. There are two of its members on the Williams faculty. Ass't.-Prof. Karl E. Weston, who is in Paris, and Ass't.-Prof. Edward M. Lewis.

The last of the class prayer meetings for this year will be held tomorrow evening at 7:15. Leaders: 1907, Russell; 1908, Aldrich; 1909, Horrax. Topic and references. NEW DEBATING LEAGUE

Constitution Drawn Up at Amherst—Two-Man Debates

Casa '07 represented Williams at a meeting held at Amherst on Saturday to complete arrangements for the formation of the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league. Amherst's delegate was Wilson, Williams' ex-'07, and Wesleyan's Travis '06. Wilson was elected president of the league, which will be completely formed after the ratification by the several debating societies of the colleges of the constitution drawn up on Saturday. This constitution is similar to that of the Brown-Dartmouth-Williams league except for two important points. There will be two men on the debating teams instead of three, allowed fourteen and six minutes respectively for main speech and rebuttal. The judges are to be chosen by a committee of three men, one representative from each college, meeting in New York city before October 15.

The debates will be held Friday, December 7, 1906. The Amherst team will debate at Wesleyan, the Wesleyan team at Williams, and the Williams team at Amherst, the home team debating the affirmative. Some outside coaching will be permitted. The question for debate will be decided on or before June 23 by delegates meeting in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD SHUT OUT

Williams Wins Golf Match by Unexpectedly Large Score

The Springfield Country Club golf team proved unexpectedly easy for the college players Saturday afternoon. The match took place on the links of the Pittsfield Country Club, and was won by Williams 16½ to 0, Tuxedo system of scoring. The nine hole course, an even 3000 yards in length, was in fair condition; a slight rain shortly after the match started did not interfere with the play. Williams played a strong match game, while the lowest medal score was 2 under bogey. L. Mitchell, in third position, was matched against Brand and more than reversed the same opponent's score against him last fall. A. Mitchell again won a hard-fought contest from R. P. Alden, playing first on the Springfield team. Clapp and Parlett were even up going out, but the Springfield player weakened coming in and lost four out of the last five holes. Gregory defeated Rowley, the Amherst captain, 6 up. Lynde and Morton had the hardest match of the day, and finished all even on the last green.

The score:

WILLIAMS	SPRINGFIELD
A. Mitchell 2½	R. P. Alden 0
E. A. Clapp 3	E. J. Parlett 0
L. Mitchell 3½	J. W. Brand 0
H. Wilcox 3½	H. W. Baker 0

SMITH SINGLES CHAMPION

At Longwood Tennis Tournament—Williams Loses Doubles

Floyd Reeves Smith, 1906 for the second time won the New England intercollegiate tennis championship in singles by winning from F. B. Fanning of M. I. T. in the final round of the tournament at Longwood Thursday afternoon, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5. Smith was New England intercollegiate champion in 1904, and last year lost to Fanning in the last round. In the morning Fanning and Nicholl of M. I. T. beat Smith 1906 and Westcott 1905 in the final round of doubles in a hard fought five-set match 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5. By the Williams victories the college now has six of the eight points necessary for permanent possession of the cup.

The Williams-M. I. T. doubles were the most interesting matches of the tournament, both teams fighting it out to the very end. In the fourth set M. I. T. braced with the score 5-1 against them and lost only by 8 games to 6. In the last set, with the games 5-4 against them the Tech. team made another rally, tying the set, and finally winning the match and the championship.

In the afternoon Fanning seemed tired out by the morning's play, and lost largely on account of his errors. Smith's play at the end was as fast and steady as it had been at any time during the morning.

In the doubles, although Technology won, Williams scored 184 points to their 181. In the singles Smith made 126 points to Fanning's 109. Smith had 28 place shots to 29 by Fanning, but the latter made 98 errors to Smith's 70.

The summary:

Championship doubles, final round—Fanning and Nicholl of M. I. T. defeated Smith and Westcott of Williams, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5.

A LISTLESS GAME

Berkshire Athletics Defeated 9 to 3—Double and Triple by Neild

Williams won a poorly played and uninteresting game from the Berkshire Athletics Saturday afternoon on Weston Field by the score of 9 to 3. Contrary to expectation the Athletics were not athletic enough, and did not prove a hard proposition even to the somewhat ragged playing of the 'varsity. The game was an unhappy contrast with that on the previous Saturday, the four errors by the team being mostly of the glaring sort. Two easy double plays by Wadsworth and Harman and a double and triple by Neild were the only features of the game.

In the first inning, after the Athletics had gone out in order, Wadsworth walked to first and stole second. Warren's bunt gave him first, and he scored with Wadsworth on Neild's double. Osterhout's single brought in Neild for a third run. The third gave three more runs to the 'varsity, with Neild's long three-bagger responsible. Mr. Lewis went into the box in the seventh, but was not quite in old-time form.

APPLIED CHRISTIANITY

Its Relation to Every-Day Life—Address by Prof. Russell

Prof. Russell spoke last evening at the Y. M. C. A. service on the subject of Christian faith and its place in every-day life. Personal religion does not consist primarily in acceptance of prescribed dogma regarding the person of Jesus, but in having the kind of principles and faith that Christ had, those which, by his example, he still inspires in the average man. Christ believed in an eternal ruling spirit whom he called Father, in the supreme value of good character in its multifold forms, and in the immortality of the human soul. Whatever else one may hold, if his life shows a response of his heart to those simple beliefs, he is essentially a Christian.

Action tests faith. The mark of the real Christian is his passion for excellence and his daily ambition to make his life the best he can. Laziness and aversion to sustained effort are unchristian, and it is here that Christianity meets the greatest need of modern college men—the need of more earnest mental effort, of moral backbone, and of more sympathy with the rest of the world. The first aim of a man in his college course should not be pleasure, keenness without principle to support it, cultured polish, or athletic perfection, but this awakening of a just appreciation of values and a determination to make the best use of the talents in him.

Examples could be drawn from every line of college activity. If each student sought to do his best in curriculum work, there would be no constant agitation to decrease its amount, more classroom competition would bring more respect for brains, and the requirements there would not conform, as in many labor unions, to the inclinations of those that want to do the least work, but be raised to the real capacities of those able to do the least work. The realization of these aims of the college course would increase Williams' influence among other colleges and enlarge the service of her graduates to the world outside of college.

Tennis With the Faculty

The tennis team will play the faculty team on the Taconic club courts Wednesday at 2:30. The faculty team will be composed of Asst.-Prof. Perry, captain; Prof. Howes, Mr. Shepard, and either Prof. Wild or Asst.-Prof. King.

VOL. 20 JUNE 4, 1906 No. 21

The Grand Old Duke of York

Some years ago a Williams nine lost an important college game solely because men of that college crowded onto the base-lines, jeered at the players and threw fire-crackers and torpedoes at the man in the box. In Williamstown, fortunately, we have never reached that stage, so far as base-line thronging is concerned. However, there are more ways than one of putting a team into the air. Vocal fire-crackers can be just as effective as powder and fuse.

Just what is "The Grand Old Duke of York"? It was once a college song, but is not so treated now. A man not able to sing a note is not afraid to start "The Grand Old Duke". It has no reference to Williams in it and what little music it has is drowned out by hand-clapping, foot-stamping and other attempts to disconcert opponents that are not even disguised as music.

If it is a yell, it is certainly a yell like those fire-crackers of our opponents. It can scarcely fail to be admitted that its purpose is to "rattle" a visiting team. It is never used when Williams is in the field, and apparently does not help the man at the bat towards home runs. It is noticeable that the runs it causes come more through errors than through hits. If further evidence is necessary, it need only be remembered that it is used rarely save in baseball, the sport where momentary nervousness and a single bad play are most apt to prove serious.

Trying to "rattle" visiting players in this or any other manner doesn't win many games, and even if it did games so won would not be worth the winning. We can see no difference at bottom between going down on the base-lines and hooting out victory and winning it by "The Grand Old Duke". We may save self-respect by staying in the stand, but what we are trying to do is the same.

The great hold of the song—for that is what it must be called—comes from association. It is Williams' by virtue of constant use rather than patriotic verbiage. This, however, cannot justify its use to our opponents, to whom its aim to "rattle" is only too apparent. Our attitude toward visiting friends and visiting ball-players should not be different—both are the college's guests and should be treated like gentlemen. If custom has demanded the song, it seems time that that custom was broken in this a gentlemen's college.

Let no unenthusiastic person—for in spite of the excellent cheering given this spring there are always a few spiritless impassives—interpret this as directed against cheering. The two things differ at the root. Cheering is to encourage those of your own number, to express to them the confidence of the college in their efforts: "The Grand Old Duke", as now used, is to disconcert those who oppose you, to jeer their efforts, to try to win by ungentlemanly means what fair have failed to bring. It would be too bad to give up a song of such long association, but we feel that no expression of enthusiastic spirit whose purpose is to shake the nerve of a visiting team ought to be given in Williams college.

The Football Report

The report of the football management, published in another column, shows a season conducted with unusually efficient business ability. The balance of $634, turned over to the athletic council, though $100. less than that of last year, is with this exception $300.

larger than any other ever made, in spite of the many thorns that this year have bordered the managerial path.

The receipts of the Dartmouth game at Newton Center have always been what every football manager has counted upon to bring the season's balance over to the right side of the ledger. That $700.—practically the entire 1904-5 balance—was taken from the association pocket-book when Dartmouth changed the place of the game to Hanover was offset only by the $300. that the Amherst home game brought in above the Wesleyan. There was no appreciable cutting-down of the amount spent on the team to make up for this deficit, either for supplies or training table, and we note with approval an added expenditure of $90 for officials, the one item of expenses on which it does not pay to stint at all. Again through the generous help of the New York alumni in adding $500 to the $1000 available from the funds of the council was it made possible to secure coaching of the ability required. It is to the liberality of these loyal alumni that much of the ability of the team was due.

In the matter of subscriptions the report makes clear one defect in common with other football reports of the last few years, a growing tendency of the men in the three upper classes to show too little of the contributory spirit. That the members of the freshman class felt able to average over $6, a man shows commendable support of college interests, but in all justice the upper classmen should pay a larger share. In 1901 these classes paid 62 per cent of the total amount, in 1902 53 per cent, this year 46 per cent, while the absolute amount paid in by them was actually $100, less than five years ago. Particularly noticeable this year is the small amount received from the seniors, the least amount in years. It seems strange that these three classes cannot pay at last half of the total subscriptions. If college spirit grows with the years, this tangible expression of it in support of college athletics ought to grow with it.

CAMBRIDGE H. S. WINS

In Eighth Annual Interscholastic Meet—Three Records Broken

The eighth annual track and field meet of the Williams College Interscholastic Athletic Association was won on Weston Field Saturday by the Cambridge High school of Cambridge, N. Y., with a total of 361.6 points. This is the first time that the championship of the association has gone out of Berkshire county. Last year's winner, Drury, secured second place, with 204 points, and Pittsfield High, winner of two years ago, secured third with 161.3 points. Other point-winners were Troy High school 15, Adams High school 13, Ballston Spa High school 6, Searles academy 4, Hoosick Falls High school 4, and Williamstown High school, four times champion, 2.

Nearly all the schools in the association sent entries and the meet was closely contested, with the times and distances generally good. Three records of the interscholastic association were broken, in the quarter, half, and mile runs, the last two by Amell of Drury and the quarter by Wheeler of Troy. Amell of Drury was the star of the meet, securing first in the mile, half, and pole vault and third in the 100-yd. dash. Hay of Pittsfield won first in each dash, and Ashton of Cambridge won firsts in the discus and shot. Green of Cambridge did the best all-round work, with 15 points won by a first in the 220-yd. hurdles, second in the 120-yd. hurdles, shot put and discus throw, and a tie for second in the pole vault.

The summary of events follows:
100-yd. dash:—Won by Hay of Pittsfield; Robson of Hoosick Falls second; Amell of Drury third. Time, 10 3-5s.

220-yd. dash:—Won by Hay of Pittsfield; Wheeler of Troy second; Robson of Hoosick Falls, third. Time, 23 3-5s.

440-yd. dash:—Won by Wheeler of Troy; M. Daniels of Adams second; Guilds of Pittsfield third. Time 55s., breaking the interscholastic record of 55s. held by Flynn of Troy.

Half-mile run:—Won by Amell of Drury; Stone of Troy second; Hall of Searles third. Time, 2 08, breaking the interscholastic record of 2.10 held by Mears 1903.

Mile run:—Won by Amell of Drury; Hall of Searles second; Stocking of Williamstown third. Time 4 52 3-5, breaking the interscholastic record of 4:53 3-5 held by Curtis ex-'08.

120-yd. hurdles:—Won by Lawton of Cambridge; Green of Cambridge second; Bunce of Drury third. Time, 19s.

220 yd. hurdles:—Won by Green of Cambridge; Bunce of Drury second; Stewart of Pittsfield third. Time, 28 4-5s.

High jump:—Won by McInerney of Adams, 5 ft., 4 1/2 in.; Sisson of Pittsfield second, 5 ft., 3 1/2 in.; Barron of Drury and Collamer of Cambridge tied for third, 5 ft., 2 in. In jump-off for medal the latter won.

Pole vault:—Won by Amell of Drury, 8 ft., 9 in.; English and Green of Cambridge and Sisson of Pittsfield tied for second, 8 ft., 6 in. In jump-off for medal, English secured second and Sisson third.

Pittsfield C. C. Ties Tennis Team

The tennis team tied the Pittsfield country club team at Pittsfield Saturday afternoon, each team winning three matches. Smith and Schell 1906. Linen 1907 and Thompson 1908 represented Williams. The courts were in good condition, though a light shower had made them somewhat heavy. The Williams team was overconfident at the start, and had to play first-class tennis to tie the match at the end.

The summary:

Doubles—Schell and Smith defeated Brigham and Gardiner, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5; Linen and Thompson defeated Kernigan and Trimble, 6-3, 8-6.

Singles—Gardiner defeated Smith, 6-1, 9-7; Kernigan defeated Thompson, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3; Linen defeated Brigham 4-6, 6-4, 7-5; Trimble defeated Schell, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Juniors' Sixth Victory

The juniors played their last game of the interclass series on Weston Field after the 'varsity game Saturday, winning from the sophomores by the score of 2 to 1. This, the last of an unbroken series of victories, gives 1907 the championship again. The game, a pitchers' battle, was closer and better baseball than any of the series this year, Hoyne being found for two hits and Gillett for only one. This one, however, came in the last inning when, with two out, Southworth smashed a long double to center, bringing in Redick for the winning run.

The summary:

Batteries:—1907, Hoyne and Southworth; 1908, Gillett and Bedford. Umpire, Rutter '99.

The Obituary Record

The April number of the Williams College Bulletin, being the obituary record of the past year, has just been issued by Dr. Parsons. It contains biographical sketches of Williams alumni who have died within the last year. Thirty-six obituaries are recorded of alumni in classes from 1836, that of George P. Nelson, to 1905, that of Ezra Fisk, and ranging in ages from 28 to 24 years.

Among alumni of prominence that have died during the past year are Arthur L. Perry, LL. D., '52; two members of the board of trustees, Judge James M. Barker, LL. D., '60, and Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D. LL. D., '49; Gen. Merritt Barber '57, and Samuel P. Blagden '62. Knox Johnston '77, for thirty years before 1904, holder of the Williams quarter-mile record, is among those whose obituaries are recorded.

The register also contains an index of all obituaries published during the last ten years, and statistics of obituary sketches published during the last 25 years. 565 have been recorded by the necrologist, of whom 5 died at an age of over 95 years, 22 between 90 and 95, and 572 over 60.

OBITUARY

Ex-'58—Edgar M. Wood, one of the oldest members of the Berkshire bar, died at his home in Pittsfield, Saturday afternoon, aged 74 years. Born in Cheshire March 19, 1832, he prepared for college at the Connecticut Literary Institute, Westfield Academy, and Charlotteville Conference seminary, and entered Williams in the class of 1858. He left Williams in his junior year with Phi Beta Kappa rank, and graduated from Union in 1858. He immediately entered the study of law, graduated from Albany law school, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and was engaged in the practice of law in Pittsfield from then until the time of his death. Since 1868 he had been a commissioner of the circuit court of the United States. It is considered probable by many that Mr. Wood had tried more cases than any other attorney in Berkshire county, if not in the state.

Ex-'07—Hubbard is now at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

PRINCETON WEDNESDAYWilliams to Meet Strongest College Team in Country

For the second time since 1893 Williams and Princeton meet on the diamond Wednesday, at Princeton. Williams was defeated by the Orange and Black in 1903 by the score of 8 to 5. Rain has prevented scheduled games since. Princeton has this year one of the strongest college teams in the country, and has been beaten by only three college nines, and by very close scores. It is generally given the first rank among college teams. Princeton has beaten Harvard twice but has been shut out by Brown and Penn. State and beaten by Georgetown. The team leaves at 5:13 p. m. tomorrow and will return Thursday morning. Kelley 1908 will play in left field in place of Hogan.

The batting order of the Williams team follows:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b.

PRINCETON HITS BUNCHED

Williams Shut out by Orange and Black at Princeton

Bunched hits in the fifth and sixth innings gave Princeton the victory over Williams by a score of 3 to 0 at Princeton yesterday. The pitching of Heyniger and Byram was typically collegiate—very wild, but very effective in critical moments. Outside of innings four and five, Ford was as much of an enigma as the Princeton men. Princeton worked the hit and run game successfully, for Young, by forcing Wadsworth to cover second as the Princeton base-runner left first, left the right side of the diamond open for Princeton hits. A large number of alumni came from New York to the game by special car, and Rutherford '99 led Williams' cheers from the first to the ninth.

In the first, with two out, Young was hit and took second on an error, when Neild struck out. In the third bases on balls put men on first and second with two out, but Young popped to Sides. After further wildness by Byram in the fifth Warren struck out with two out and two on bases, and again in the eighth, after Warren had bunted safe—Williams' lone hit—and Young had received the sixth Princeton free ticket to first, Neild fanned. With two out in Princeton's half of the fifth, Wadsworth fumbled Cooney's grounder, and the two hits that followed gave two runs. Harlan's triple to left center and Vaughn's single scored Princeton's last run.

FACULTY SUMMER PLANS

What Those on Teaching Force Will do During Vacation

A glance at the resumé of faculty summer plans shows that the members of the faculty will be widely scattered. They may be found in at least fourteen different states, in Canada, and in several European countries. Thirteen will be in Williamstown part or all of the summer, and five will go abroad. Six of the faculty will devote some of their vacation to publications which they are producing. President Hopkins will be among those absent in Europe.

Mr. Billetdoux will spend his summer in Paris, France. Part of the time he will travel in Brittany and Normandy.

Mr. Bruns will attend the Wisconsin University summer school, where he will work on his thesis for his doctor's degree.

Rev. Mr. Barr will probably remain in Williamstown.

Mr. Capron will be at his home in Raleigh, Mass., all summer.

Dr. Franklin Carter will spend his summer at Meenhaga Lodge, Rainbow Lake, New York, the Adirondack camp of his son-in-law, Paul C. Ransom '86, headmaster of the Florida and Adirondack schools.

Prof. S. F. Clarke will leave immediately after Commencement to remain in Grove, N. Y., all summer.

Prof. Cleland will spend the first part of the vacation in Williamstown. He will go later to the region around Milwaukee, where he will gather further data for his geological report for the state of Wisconsin.

Mr. Cook will be at his home in Troy during the summer.

Mr. DeBeaumont expects to remain in Williamstown most of the summer.

Prof. Ferry will be in Williamstown most of the time in connection with college business, but will make occasional outside trips.

Dr. Fowler will be in eastern Maryland in the early part of the summer; later he will go on a tramping trip through the North Carolina mountains.

Dr. Gerig will be in Southern France all summer working on a biography of Catel, a Toulouse historian. He will also work jointly with M. Picot, a member of the French Academy, in publishing the letters of Arlier.

Mr. Green will be in Williamstown all summer.

Associate Professor Hardy will spend part of the summer in Williamstown, and will go on a Canadian fishing trip during the last of the vacation.

Williams Meets Columbia in Baseball Saturday

Williams and Columbia meet in baseball on Weston Field Saturday for the first time in three years. Rain prevented the contest scheduled at New York last year. In 1903 the teams broke even, Columbia winning the first game 12 to 3, and Williams the second 14 to 6. Columbia is on a New England trip this week, and has games scheduled with Trinity, Amherst and Wesleyan, the game with Williams Saturday completing the trip.

The Blue and White started the season well, winning the first eight games from such teams as Annapolis, West Point and Pennsylvania. Yale, Syracuse and Cornell, however, have beaten them, the last mentioned shutting out Columbia twice by the same score.

The batting orders of the teams follow:

WILLIAMS:—Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

COLUMBIA:—Lyons lf, Armstrong 2b, Collins ss, Mittenberg 1b, Kimbel cf, Oxnam, Nohowell 3b, Schmidt rf, Tilt p.

Alumni for Sixty Years

Among the oldest alumni who are expecting to be present at Commencement are two members of the class of sixty years ago, 1846. There are three members of the class living, Dr. Gabriel Grant of New York, Hon. John N. Murdock, M. D., of New York, and Hon. Emmons T. Mockridge, LL. D., of Philadelphia. Mr. Murdock is abroad, but the other two members are planning to visit Williamstown this month. The class numbered fifty, of whom thirty-three graduated.

Announcements

The Record announces the election to the office of associate editor of William Smith McClellan 1908, of York, Pa., and David Burnet Scott 1908, of New York city.

At the meeting of the board held Monday evening an amendment to the constitution was passed, reducing the number of members of the board to nine. According to this amendment, which will go into effect with the election of new members next winter, three men will then be chosen to take the place of the five 1907 men on the board.

This issue will be the last number of the paper for the year.

The Commencement Record

The 1906 Commencement Record will be issued during the first week of examinations. The book will be modelled after that of last year, will be of the same shape, and about the same general appearance, but will not be as elaborate. It will contain the usual write-ups, brought up to date, of the different branches of college activity, a program of Commencement week, and two special articles, and will contain more reading matter than any previous Commencement Record. President Hopkins has kindly consented to write a review of the year, treating the broader side of the undergraduate life, as well as the year among the faculty and the alumni, and the physical condition of the college. The Record also desires to thank Rev. T. C. Richards '87 of Torrington, Conn., the authority on the life of Samuel J. Mills 1809 who, when a freshmen a hundred years ago this August, was the moving spirit at that prayer-meeting about the haystack in old Sloan's meadow, which has done more to spread the name of the college than any other one event. Rev. Mr. Richards has written especially for The Record an article on Mills' influence on President Griffin, the man who above all others kept Williams from going to Northampton in the dark days of the twenties.

The book will be illustrated by thirty-three half-tones, more than in any previous book of this kind. The cuts are all new, of the best quality that can be secured, and will be more expensive than ever before. In addition to the usual half-tones, there will be separate prints of the captain and manager of each of the four teams. Among the prints will be the first one of Berkshire Hall to be run in a college book. No expense has been spared in printing the book. The cost is larger than that of any Commencement Record previous to 1905, but has been reduced slightly from that of last year to enable the book to be sold at the price of thirty-five cents. It will be put on sale at Sanford's news room, at W. O. Adams', and at Jesup Hall.

The book will be entirely creditable to the college. We would respectfully ask the support of every student wishing a concise review of the year in the various forms of college activities along with illustrations of the teams, boards and men that have represented Williams college.

For Seniors Going to New York

Mr. Harry D. Nims, '98, of New York city, has communicated with President Nomer of the City Government Club requesting a list of names of those members of the senior class who are to be in New York city next year. Mr. Nims is secretary of the College Men's Political Association of New York and is active in the politics of the city. His plan of getting in touch with the men as they graduate is to afford an opportunity for any who intend to enter upon a political career in the city.

Interclass Baseball Standing

The standing of the teams in the interclass baseball series is as follows:

	W	L	Per cent
1907	6	0	1.000
1908	2	3	.400
1909	2	4	.333
1906	1	4	.200

A game between 1906 and 1908 was scheduled for this afternoon. If played, the interclass schedule is completed for the first time in three years.

BUILDING OPERATIONSWork Done on College Buildings
—A Handball Court

Berkshire Hall is now practically roofed and the work of removing the staging and washing the bricks has begun. As soon as the terra cotta partitions are in, which will be at the end of the week, the plasterers will take charge and their work will be completed rapidly. The windows are surmounted by marble keystone facings, and there will be a panel parapet on the roof, as in East and South, with the panels decorated with conventional flower and fruit designs.

Most of the rough plumbing work has been installed and all of the plumbing on the first floor completed. The wide marble coping around the roof has just been completed. The new dormitory will resemble Morgan Hall in having shower baths on each floor and in the basement.

A large retaining wall to the north of the building and running in that direction will be built. This also is to be faced with marble and will enclose a flight of granite steps leading to the last entrance on the west side. The slope on the northern end will be graded and filled in nearly to Main St. The building will be entirely finished before September, and in all probability brief exercises will be held at the opening of the building when college begins.

The South College extension will contain seven suites, each with a study, two bedrooms and with one exception, a private bath, all connected by an interior hallway. The rooms are to be lighted by electricity, as in Berkshire, and each study will contain a large open fire-place as in the south entry of Berkshire. An iron staircase in the southern end leads to the entrances. Of these, one will be on the first floor, opening east, and the other in the west wall of the basement. The windows on the southern end of South College will be bricked in and the wall will serve as a fire-wall between the extension and old South. The plumbing and wiring is now being installed, and as soon as the walls are lathed the plaster will be set. Mr. Smedley expects that the extension will be completed by the contract date, Aug. 25.

The tiles for the swimming tank have arrived and are being put in place. All of the tank will be tiled, with the exception of the ceiling, which is to be of white enamel. Ten electric-light clusters will furnish illumination. Hot and cold water will enter through two pipes in the western end; the outlet is at the east end. All the contract material is now on hand for the pool.

Many of the older buildings on the college property will be torn down during the summer and the general appearance of the grounds improved. The old Albert Hopkins house, at the foot of Consumption Hall, will be removed and the ground levelled. Ground will be gradually filled in at the side of the baseball cage to provide for a handball court, planned to be built there in the future.

Freshmen Fall Twice

Two more games of the inter-class baseball series were played on the old campus yesterday afternoon. The freshmen lost both games, one to the sophomores and one to the seniors. The field was very wet and slippery, hence many of the numerous errors.

In the 1905-1906 game, nine sophomores splashed around the bases to two of the freshmen. Williams was in the box at the start for 1905 but was very wild and was replaced by Sears, whose work was little better. Brown made some good stops at first.

The score by innings:

1905-2 1 5 1 0 x-9 2 2
1906-2 0 0 0 0 0-2 6 8

Batteries-Gillett and Bedford; Williams, Sears and Hoch. Umpire, Watson 1905.

The seniors won their first game by defeating the freshmen 8 to 6. Six hits and two passes to first gave the upperclassmen a lead of six runs in the third, which the freshmen were unable to overcome.

1909-1 0 1 0 2 2-6 7 6

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

Williams Meets Harvard Saturday—Small Squad to be Taken

The football squad of about eighteen men will leave tomorrow at 12:58 to play Harvard at Cambridge on Saturday. While in Boston, headquarters will be at the Copley Square hotel. The game will be played in the stadium at Cambridge, commencing at 3.00 o'clock. The officials are: J. B. Pendleton of Bowdoin, referee; E. K. Hall of Dartmouth and Herbert Holton of the B. A. A., umpires; Farley of Harvard, head linesman. Two fifteen-minute halves will be played.

For a number of seasons Williams has been Harvard's first opponent on the gridiron. Since 1887 the two colleges have met in football every consecutive year, and in no game has Williams come out a victor, only scoring on the Crimson in three games out of the nineteen.

BASKETBALL MANAGER

At a meeting of the athletic council held Saturday evening the following appointments were made: Hockey association—Manager, Weeks 1907, assistant manager, Rising 1908; Tennis association—manager, Domett 1907, assistant manager, Thompson 1908; Golf association—assistant manager, Webster 1908.

In accordance with authority granted by the athletic council at this meeting Manager M. Brown of the football association has called a meeting of the basketball association for tomorrow evening, at 7.30, in Jesup Hall, to elect a president and manager in place of Pease 1907, who has not returned to college. At the same meeting will take place the election of cheer-leaders for the first semester of the college year.

Three men have signified their intention of becoming candidates for the position. A meeting of 1907 will be held tomorrow at 1.30 in Jesup Hall to nominate from these men, at which meeting the fourth senior member of the honor system committee will be elected. The candidates for manager follow:

J. H. Lapham.
A. W. Mitchell.
W. M. Sternberger.

Y.; secretary, Lucius Parsons Warren of Chicago, Ill.; treasurer, Archibald John Allen of Linwood, N. Y.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

The twenty-four members of Phi Society of Williams College were inducted into the Phi Sigma Kappa as Chi Chapter, at the close of the last college year. This national fraternity has twenty-two active chapters, and is represented, among other institutions, at Cornell, Yale, Brown, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, M. I. T., and Dartmouth.

The charter members are: Lowe, Demond, Gale, Little, Wilbur 1906; Blagbrough, Brown, A. M., Case, Lawrence, McCleary, Osborne, Wilder 1907; B. P. Allen, Eldridge, Nelson, Rand, Scofield, Sheldon 1908; Brady, Bridgman, Gallup, Hopkins, Sears 1909.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Nine Games—Colgate and Wesleyan Played Here

The football schedule for 1906 includes nine games, one less than last year. Five games will be played on Weston Field and four out of town. The substitution of West Point for Columbia, which has abolished football, is the principal change.

The schedule follows:

September 29—Harvard at Cambridge.
October 3—Massachusetts agricultural college at Williamstown.
6—Alumni at Williamstown.
13—Middlebury at Williamstown.
20—West Point at West Point.
27—Dartmouth at Springfield.
November 3—Colgate at Williamstown.
10—Wesleyan at Williamstown.
17—Amherst at Amherst.

Death of A. V. W. Van Vechten '47

Hon. Abraham Van Wyck Van Vechten '47 died on Aug. 28 at the home of his son-in-law, Samuel V. V. Huntington, 39 East 78th street, New York, at the age of 78 years. Mr. Van Vechten was born at Bloomingburg, N. Y., March 24, 1828. Preparing for college at Poughkeepsie Collegiate school, he graduated from Williams in the class of 1847 and later received the M. A. degree. He then studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and opened an office at 46 Pine street, New York city. He practiced law and engaged in the real estate business for fifty-four years, until his death. His interest in Williams college never flagged and his visits to Williamstown have always been frequent. He was the donor of the Van Vechten prize for extemporaneous speaking.

Sophomore Class Officers

At a meeting of 1909, held in Jesup Hall this noon, the following officers were elected: President Stillman Foote Westbrook of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; vice-president, Gilbert Horrax of Montclair, N. J.; secretary, William Ernest Hooh of Worcester.

THE FOOTBALL SITUATION

Hatch '03 and Watson '05 Coaches—Leading Candidates

The candidates for the football team have been working out on Weston Field since September 10. Secret practice has been carried on since the first few days and will be continued at least until after the Harvard game. Owing to this fact, no definite statement of prospects can be made.

Of last year's team, four have been lost by graduation, Bixby, Blaisdell, Campbell and Wilcox. A. Brown 1907 and Marshall 1908, while standing above the requirements of the Deen's office, will not join the squad at present. Johnson 1907, at tackle last year, is prevented from playing by a threatened attack of appendicitis. Jaekel 1907 will be unable to play through parental objection.

About thirty-eight men are reporting regularly for practice. According to the coaches the most promising material for the various positions is as follows: Center—Harter '08, Roberts '08; guard—Reid '08, Bargfrede '09, Guttersen '09; tackle—LaMent '08, Westbrook '09, Crawford '09; ends—Elder '08, Chapman '07, T. Fowle '08, Rooney '10, Stocking '10; quarterback—Waters '08, Wilson '08, Pierce '07, Soarritt '08; fullback—Robb '09, Clay '10, Peabody '10; halfback—D. Brown '08, C. Brown '09, Hill '07, Williams '09, Southworth '07.

The graduate system of coaching will be used this year with Hatch '03, captain of the 1902 football team, as head coach and Watson '05, captain of the 1904 football team, as field coach. Hatch has been in town for the past two weeks and will remain until after the Harvard game. He will be with the team whenever business will permit. Watson will have charge of the team during the season and will be assisted by other former Williams footballmen.

Dr. S. B. Newton '91 will serve as graduate adviser and will spend a week here before the Dartmouth game and a week before the Amherst or Wesleyan game. Dr. Newton, after graduation, took a medical course at the University of Pennsylvania, and since then has been coaching Penn. State, Lafayette and Lehigh. He is now practicing medicine in New York city. A plan is proposed to form a graduate advisory board of four or five members, with Dr. Newton, a recognized football authority, at its head. The plans of this board will be put in operation by the Athletic Council.

Junior Elections

The juniors elected the following officers for the year, at a class meeting held in Jesup Hall, yesterday noon: Clyde Merlton Waters, of Oberlin, Ohio, president; Richard Jerome Harman, of Rutland, Vt., vice-president; Harold Hawkins La Ment, of Pittsfield, secretary; John Kenneth Byard, of Fly Creek, N. Announcements

The Record regrets to announce that two members of the board, Francis Ferris Anderson 1908, of St. Paul, Minn. and Samuel Moody Meeker Jr., 1908, of Brooklyn, have not returned to college.

To 1910

On behalf of the undergraduates of Williams college, The Record extends to the class of 1910 a very heartily welcome. You have begun what will surely be the happiest four years of your life; whether you make them the most valuable or not will rest with no one but you yourself. This freshman year is really the vital year of your college course. It is the year in which you form your habits in college, and your habits in college—your way of thinking and going at things—are no determine in large measure your habits in life. The tide of good advice that flows in on you is then really needed; at any rate it will not be amiss to point out a few of the deeper pitfalls.

A multitude of college activities make their call upon each individual as he begins his course—such a multitude that no man can hope to do well in but a few.
That you are the largest class that ever entered Williams is cause for congratulation. Yet experience has always shown that there are more than enough tasks to go round for the few who show themselves real workers. It cannot be over-emphasized that what you get out of life in college is in exact ratio to what you put in;
that you cannot feel the joy and have the responsibility of college leadership without the preliminary training that goes with it; that the man who fings hard at the load need not worry about college honors. The road will seem rougher, but the end of the journey will be all the more pleasant.

The second danger lies in trying too many fields. The work must be systematized. The man who undertakes too much and does all in a slipshod way, will fail of the full enjoyment of his life in college just as much as the man who undertakes too little.
Especially is this true if thereby the curriculum be neglected.
What a man gets outside the curriculum is rarely more important than what he gets in it, but yet the curriculum is the most important single thing in a man's college course. This is markedly true in freshman year, when you make your first impressions in your curriculum work, impressions which count for much in the last three years.

The third danger will look out for itself if the other two are taken care of. The worst fault that grows on a man in college is his tendency to criticism of anything and everything—a sort of training he gives himself to do nothing but pick flaws. Fortunately the habit of destructive criticism seems to flow chiefly from lack of ability to do any constructive work. There are too many "dead heads" and too many little critics in college already; if 1910 can avoid looking at things through dark glasses it should become one of the best classes that ever entered college, even if it fail occasionally elsewhere. Again The Record would welcome 1910 to a heartily sharing of the pleasures and tasks, the happiness and responsibility of four years in Williams college.

No college exercises will be held Wednesday, October 10, the day on which the 100th anniversary of the Haystack meeting will be celebrated.

Class Prayer Meetings

The class prayer meetings are to be conducted on somewhat different lines this year. They are now known as weekly class conferences, and the successive topics are covered not only by Biblical references but by references to standard literary works, which will be reserved from time to time on a special shelf in the east wing of the library. The first conference will be held tomorrow evening at 7:15. 1907 will meet in 22
J. H., 1908 in 17 J. H., 1909 in 16
J. H. and 1910 in 15 J. H. The leaders are: 1907, Russell; 1908, Deyo; 1909, H. L. Fischer; 1910, Clark 1907.

The class officers for this year are: 1907, Prof. Spring; 1908, Prof. Moars; 1909, Prof. Goodrich; 1910, Prof. Hewitt.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

Death of Henry A. Ward ex-'55.

Henry A. Ward ex-'55 died during the past summer at his home in Rochester, N. Y., at the age of 72. Mr. Ward devoted his life to the pursuit of the natural sciences. He was the proprietor of a large establishment in Rochester which furnished natural history collections to museums, colleges and various other institutions, and originated "Ward's Cabinets." Born at Rochester, March 9, 1834, he entered Middlebury college; spent one year at Williams in the class of 1855, and then attended Harvard Scientific school, where he was assistant to Louis Agassiz. For four years he traveled extensively, and from 1860 to 1865 was professor of natural sciences at Rochester university. From 1866 to 1869 he was manager of various gold mines, and from 1870 to 1900 he traveled all over the world, collecting the specimens which he classified and grouped into collections for sale. He was one of the highest authorities in the world in his chosen field, and supplied countless museums, including many in Europe, with almost their entire stock.

Williams Holds Harvard to 7-0 Score in Opening Game

In the first game of the season for both teams, Harvard defeated Williams at football in the stadium at Cambridge on Saturday by the score of 7-0, the smallest score ever made between the teams, save in the 6-0 game of 1896. Few plays made possible by the new rules were successfully put through. Harvard made several attempts at the on-side kick without any success. Williams fumbled frequently, but played a fast, snappy game. Whether due to the new rules or not, time was not called during the entire game for injuries to either team, and but once for a dispute with the officials. Harvard gained the required ten yards but three times and Williams but once. Foster's long punting was a feature; Elder, D. Brown, Chapman and Waters did the best work for Williams. Foster's punts frequently went over the heads of the Williams men playing back.

Williams won the toss and chose the south goal. Parker kicked off for Harvard to Westbrook on the 23-yard line, who returned it two yards. Harvard was penalized five yards for the illegal use of hands, but gained the ball on a fumble in the next scrimmage. After several rushes Newhall attempted a quarter-back kick which went outside the lines and the ball was Williams'. After the next play Parker blocked Waters' punt, and Kersburg fell on the ball over the line for the only touchdown of the game. Parker's kick-off was returned 18 yards by Chapman, the longest run of the game, and the remainder of the half was a punting duel, the half ending with the ball in Harvard's possession on the Williams 32-yard line.

At the beginning of the second half neither side was able to make first down. Clay fumbled Foster's second punt, but fell on the ball back of the line, scoring a safety for Harvard. The ball saw-sawed up and down the field for the remainder of the game, being in Williams' possession on her own 12-yard line when time was called.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Between Brown, Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams

Brown, Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams have formed a basketball league, that this year the New England championship may be definitely determined. The association is called the New England Intercollegiate Basketball League, and has been entered into for two years, subject to renewal. Each team will play two games with each other five, one on the home floor and one on the opponents'. If possible, the champion of the New England league will play the winner of the "Big Six" intercollegiate series. A delegate from the new association will be sent to all the "Big Six" meetings.

The four managers met Saturday evening at the Worthy Hotel, Springfield, where the plans were perfected and a constitution drawn up. Manager Lapham was given authority by the athletic council to enter into negotiations, but the league as a whole must be definitely ratified by them.

MANAGER ELECTED

Lapham 1907 Chosen Head of Basketball Association

John Henry Lapham 1907, of New York city, was elected manager of the basketball association at the college meeting Friday night. Lapham prepared for college at Browning school, New York, graduating in 1903.

At the same meeting, three college cheer leaders were elected from the senior class; Johnson, Pierce and Warren.

An Unusual Report

Every track manager has much to contend with: he collects his subscriptions at a time when men in college are trying to finish the year without going into debt, and can offer little in the way of contests on Weston field in return. The track report for 1906, which appears in another column, is the most satisfactory report ever made by the track association. Not only is the balance turned in the largest ever made by any track management, but this was accomplished without any reduction in the expenditure for athletic supplies, and in the face of largely increased traveling expenses caused by the two meets at Brookline. The entries under "Guarantees" show where a large part of the balance was made. A further noticeable fact is that for once the three upper classes paid somewhere near a proportional share of the subscriptions.

To Record Competitors

On next Thursday first assignments will be given out in the competition for the five positions on The Record board open to new men from 1909 and 1910. To the men of the entering class, and especially to that large number who are unable to work for the college in athletics, the work of The Record gives an excellent chance to do their best for Williams.

At the same time a competitor is benefiting himself. The labor of the competition affords very useful training. The ability a man learns to get at the meat of things accurately, and then to write clearly—and, often, in very short time—what he has found out, is invaluable. Accuracy in statement and facility of expression are practical possessions, whatever a man's profession is to be.

The details of the competition will be explained fully tonight. One thing should be constantly emphasized. The elections are absolutely on merit. The system of marking assignments is the fairest that can be devised, and the competitor with the highest mark is sure of election.

DEBATE PRELIMINARIES

First Trials October 6—Question for Final Debate

The preliminaries for the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debate will be held Saturday evening, October 6, in the Biological Laboratory, at which three men will be chosen to compete for places on the teams. In the first preliminaries last spring eight men were chosen and a vacancy for three men left until this fall, to give a chance for debating material in the entering class. In the week following October 6, the concluding set of trial debates will be held, and two teams composed each of two men and an alternate will be selected to represent Williams in the finals.

The subject for this tricollegiate debate has been selected as follows: Resolved, that the policy embodied in the treaty now pending between the United States and San Domingo is a desirable departure in American diplomacy. In the discussion, all arguments depending on the Monroe Doctrine shall be considered irrelevant. This same question will be debated in the trials.

Cross-Country Runs

Commencing last Saturday, daily cross-country runs will be held until late in November. The time of starting from the Gymnasium will be posted each day in Hopkins Hall. Every man who finishes in ten runs during the season will be awarded an "H. H. C." cap, and will be allowed to compete in the class cross-country run, held at the close of the season, in which cups are given for first and second places.

Second Golf Team Defeated

The second golf team was defeated by the Adams team, Saturday, on the links of the Forest Park Country Club. The score:

GOLFERS HONORED

Williams Association Voted Into I. G. A.—Fall Prospects

The Intercollegiate Golf Association, consisting of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Columbia, last spring voted Williams in as a member, but no team will be sent to the annual tournament this fall. Several matches are being arranged by manager Jaekel with country clubs nearby, but no regular schedule will be made out until next spring.

The prospects for a successful season in golf this year are excellent. Of last year's team, which made so fine a record, Capt. A. Mitchell '07, L. Mitchell '07, Gregory '07 and Lynde '08 are still in college, and although the loss of intercollegiate champion Clapp '06, captain for two years, and Wilcox '09 cannot be offset, there is promising material in the freshman class in Dunning, Jackson and Shiland.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

Prof. Cleland Back From Mexico

Prof. H. F. Cleland returned Sunday from the International Geological Congress held Aug. 20 to Oct. 1 in Mexico City, under the auspices of the Mexican government. The Congress is held every three years in various parts of the world, the last two having been in Vienna and St. Petersburg. The chief object of the present conference was the examination of the volcanic phenomena and mines of Mexico.

Prof. Cleland travelled about 6,000 miles during the summer, exclusive of his journey to Mexico by way of Havana and Vera Cruz. The Mexican government furnished the members of the Congress with a private train of sleeping and dining cars. When the geologists left the train they were mounted, and a member of the "Rurales," (the crack Mexican cavalry), escorted each scientist. They were entertained by many prominent men, the most prominent of whom was President Porfirio Diaz.

1910 VAUDEVILLE

Williamstown Sees "Karnival" of Revelry

Brilliant Pageant in Parade—The Alluring Algerians, Dr. Blotz and Marie Dressler—Baseball Game Ends in Ten-Inning Tie—Sweater Rush Undecided.

The annual freshman parade, ball game, sweater rush, and fun-making foolishness were held yesterday afternoon, and the celebration, staggering under the euphonious name of Kappadocian Karnival, was pronounced by the oldest inhabitants to be the best in recent years. In striking and pleasing contrast to the frigid cold of last year, Wednesday was warm and bright, and an unusually large crowd of visitors enjoyed the spectacle.

The Parade

The parade was longer than usual, owing to the fact that 1910 is the biggest class, numerically, that ever entered Williams; and more humorous and kaleidoscopic than usual, owing to the fact that more money and labor were expended than is customary. A new feature that added not a little to the enjoyment was the presence of Sousa's (North Adams) Band, which not only lived up to the promise on the posters by playing two tunes, but went that one better. It was led by John Philip himself (Clough) in full regiments. The great bandmaster's make-up was admirable, but the consensus of opinion was that he lacked the snap of the original. Following the musicians came two postillions, Tommy Maher (Hurd) and Tod Sloan (J. S. Ely), who walked ahead of the drag which bore the senior committee. A bugler (Merrill) rode on the driver's seat, and filled in the pauses left vacant by the band. Behind the drag came six men dressed backwards, the Turnoverins, wearing false-faces on the back of their heads and long hair over their faces.

The rank and file of the class marched in squads as Arabs, turbaned with white towels and swathed in parti-colored cheese cloth. Behind the first squad marched the star feature of the whole aggregation, the sixteen alluring Algerians, nattily attired in white trousers and red military dress coats, with red caps, and bearing miniature guns. The squad was commanded and put through their evolutions by one of the smallest men in the class (Gould), who made an impressive appearance in his full dress uniform, with scimitar, silver helmet and heavy Colt, and showed a humorous agility that would do credit to the vaudeville stage.

The two most elaborate make-ups were worn by Dr. Blotz (Williams) who was cleverly disguised as a quack physician selling his

SPECTACULAR GAME

M. A. C. Defeated 5-0—Long Run by Chapman

Williams defeated Massachusetts Agricultural college on Weston Field yesterday afternoon 5-0 in a spectacular game. The touchdown was the direct result of a forward pass by Waters to Chapman, who with fine interference ran from the center of the field to the goal line. Both sides had difficulty in gaining ten yards, twenty-one punts being made during the game. This, together with the neutral zone between the lines of scrimmage, opened the game from the spectators' point of view. Williams' offense was more effective than that of M. A. C., the ball being in the opponents' territory most of the time. Williams handled punts cleanly, showing great improvement over the Harvard game, but made two costly fumbles in the second half. Clay and Chapman played brilliantly, and the work of Waters and Gutterson on defense was very noticeable.

Waters kicked off to M. A. C., defending the south goal. Three rushes netted but one yard, and M. A. C. was forced to punt. After several exchanges Waters received an M. A. C. punt, and by clever dodging made 28 yards before being downed. On the next play came the touchdown. The ball was in the middle of the field for the rest of the half. The second half was less interesting. After two fumbles had put Williams' goal in danger, the eleven held, blocked Cobb's attempted drop, and when the half ended had the ball on M. A. C.'s 30-yard line.

The summary:

Williams college attained an unusual excellence last year in minor sports—an excellence which resulted in a growing spirit in favor of joining the universities in their intercollegiate leagues. The golf association, after its matches with Yale and Princeton, was invited to join the golf league of which these two universities, as well as U. of P., Columbia, Cornell and Harvard, are members. The tennis association has, for some years, sent representatives to the meets of the university tennis league, with indifferent success. The hockey association petitioned the athletic council last spring for admission into the intercollegiate hockey league, a petition which was wisely refused.

The chief purpose for which any athletic league is formed is to settle the supremacy between natural athletic rivals. The nearness of institutions, and, far more important than that, the keen spirit of rivalry between them, is what brings them together, and what should bring them together. Harvard and Yale, so much larger than the other New England colleges, do not belong to a single association with them. Any small college that tries to enter into athletic relations with a league of universities enters an unnatural alliance.

That college also takes up too heavy an athletic burden. The trouble is that the burden does not look too heavy when first assumed. No college thinks of "taking on" a university league unless it has a team of unusual strength; and in the success of the fat years the lean years that must come are apt to be forgotten. The college world changes every four years, and Williams with its five hundred students cannot hope to compete at all successfully in a league with the universities with their thousands. Further, the financial burden made necessary by long trips to more distant institutions would be excessive.

This must not be interpreted to mean that Williams should never meet a university on the athletic field, but merely that the college is not justified in competing in a league of universities for a national championship. A Williams team of national championship calibre can obtain a claim to that championship without driving the average Williams team into a high class league. Last year's golf schedule showed one way, containing a championship tournament in a league of rival small colleges, and individual matches with a few of the large university teams. As it turned out, the winner of the New England league (Williams) met the winner of the university league (Yale), the precise arrangement proposed between the new Dartmouth-Brown-Wesleyan-Williams basketball league and the "Big Six." We do not feel that Williams has justification to enter anything so binding as a university league when these other equally conclusive arrangements are possible.

Concerning Sidewalks

Often an expenditure of a few dollars is really more appreciated by the college than as many thousands. Certainly to those who have weathered the Williamstown spring season of swampy sidewalks the money spent this summer on their improvement seemed the best of investments. Those who from February to April had to splash through the slough of despond that used to stretch between Hoxsie street and the West College driveway have particular cause for rejoicing. For that especial fifty yards to be dried forever seems a sidewalk millennium. And, now that the new sidewalk is there, the best way for us to express our thanks to the college will be to stay on it, and not try to make another dirt sidewalk out of the lawn beside it.

Additions to Art Department

The art department has received fifteen cases of specimens and illustrations, brought back by Professor Rice from his researches abroad. Spending part of last summer in England, Professor Rice worked largely in Egypt, Greece and Italy, where he collected potteries and architectural specimens. The most notable addition to the collection is a large fragment of a frieze, representing a Roman procession. Exhibits will be given, as last year, in Hopkins Hall.

Additions to Property

complete description and plans of both buildings have already been published in The Record. The inside work on the buildings will be entirely completed within a week. Marble porticoes were built over the east-facing doors of South College.

Arrangements have been completed by a prominent alumnus for the purchase of considerable Spring street property which will be held for a time in his name, and later transferred to the college. The price of the property was not made public. The property includes the houses owned by Fred C. Severn and William Upton, and extends on the east side of Spring street to Neyland & Quinn's grocery store. The purchase is part of a plan for improving the old campus, and the old buildings in the rear of the newly acquired property will be torn down before long.

The remodeling and removal of Jackson Hall to another site has been planned, but has not been brought up before the trustees. The building will probably not be removed entire but will be torn down, and the material used in the construction of a new Jackson Hall, with the old marble stone bearing the name over the doorway. Definite action will be taken concerning this matter at the fall trustees' meeting. At any rate the college will still continue to have a natural history building bearing the name of so generous a benefactor to the college as Nathan Jackson.

The remaining improvements to the college have been of a minor nature, and directed mainly toward the beautifying of the campus. Several of the older wooden buildings on the college property have been torn down and the ground levelled and seeded. Hopkins Hall and the Gymnasium have been repointed, the interstices between the stones and bricks being filled with Portland cement instead of mortar. The Hermitage, which has been used as a chart-house during the construction of Berkshire Hall and the extension to South College, will soon be torn down. The small stone pier, which stood due east of the old observatory, and was used thirty years ago for magnetic observations, was removed during the construction of the new dormitories.

During the summer the town and college authorities co-operated in laying new asphalt walks on the campus and repairing the old ones. A new stairway up the cliff to the east of the gymnasium has replaced the old one. The embankment around the South College extension has been graded and will be seeded. The same will be done with the terrace to the east and north of Berkshire Hall. Through the generosity of Henry S. Ludlow '92, the pool and billiard tables in Jesup Hall were fitted with new cushions and cloth.

1902—Rowland Haynes was married July 3, to Wilhelmina G. R. Rose, in the Adams Memorial chapel of Union Theological seminary, New York City. Mr. Haynes will be assistant in philosophy at the University of Chicago this year.

1910 Vaudeville

famous Carmine Pain Cure, and Marie Dressler, Queen of the Faries, (Lynn), a naughty sonbrette who scored a hit with her ballet dance. Josh Appleby, (Stern '09) walked in earth-stained overalls carrying a wildly screaming young metuously annoyed porker, which he fed from time to time with a two-quart nursing bottle filled with milk.

The freshmen baseball team, their faces generously besmeared with grease paint, walked disguised as old men. Five merry melody makers acted as a chorus and rendered in touching manner such recent music as "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and "Old Black Joe." Sandwich men carried monstrous white oil cloth signs with hits on the local merchants and the faculty. The enlivening feature of the parade was a man wearing a barrel on which was painted "The End." The barrel was worn for obvious reasons but the wind was tempered to the shorn lamb and he survived the celebration.

Line of March

The procession followed the usual line of march, going from the gymnasium, up Main street to the triangle in front of the Greylock, and then retracing its way to Spring street, down which the parade moved to Weston Field. The guests at the hotel were entertained by Dr. Blotz and his witty eulogizing of the Pain Killer, by Marie Dressler, who did a few fancy steps, the man in the barrel and the Algerians. The latter went through their "Terpsichorean revel" and the intricate figures were roundly applauded. On the parade's return the Algerians captured several bebies of young women along the line of march and executed a number of daring sallies, punctuated with pistol shots from the massive firearm of their Lilliputian leader.

The usual antics on Weston field were curtailed by other attractions. Following the Williams - M. A. C. game, however, the parade marched around to the bleachers, in front of which the best of the performers each held the boards for a few minutes.

The Baseball Game

The 1909-1910 ball game was to have gone six innings and to have been followed by the usual horse play, but the tennis were so evenly matched that the contest was allowed to proceed through ten full innings. It was then called by Umpire Ford, '07, on account of darkness, each nine having four runs. The game was above the average interclass standard and showed some excellent material among the freshmen. Lewis at short was the particular star for 1910, fielding and batting unusually well. Stolt pitched most of the game in good style, and was relieved by Templeton, who proved another puzzle for the sophomore hitters. Ballon on first and Livermore on third covered their positions cleverly. For 1909 Wadsworth put up a strong game behind the bat. Young, in the box, developed unexpected speed at critical times.

The following men played: 1909 - Wadsworth, c, Sears, Young, p, Perkins, 1b, Mahan, 2b, Williams,

THE LIFE OF MILLS

Illustrated Lecture by Rev. T. C. Richards '87 Sunday Evening

Rev. Thomas C. Richards '87, of Warren, will give a lecture, illustrated by about 75 stereopticon views, on "Samuel J. Mills, the Hero of the Haystack" before the student body in Jesup Hall at 7.30 next Sunday evening. The lecture will take the place of the usual Y. M. C. A. meeting. Rev. Mr. Richards played right guard on the '86 and champion '87 football teams. Since graduation, he has been a minister at Torrington, Conn., in the township where Mills passed his early life, and is now a minister at Warren. He is the best authority on the life of Mills and the story of the haystack, and is the author of "Samuel J. Mills, Missionary Pathfinder," the most complete biography of the man to whom we owe the inception of the foreign missionary movement. Rev. Mr. Richards will also speak in the Congregational church, Monday evening, and in North Adams, Wednesday evening.

Exhibition of Egyptian Antiquities

Prof. Rice has placed on exhibition in 13 Hopkins Hall a collection of Egyptian antiquities and photographs which he acquired on his recent Mediterranean tour. It includes votive offerings to the different kings, grave-pots, scarabs, glass, all dating from 5,000 to 10,000 B. C., a piece of a painted sarcophagus of the Ptolemaic era, and a colored cast of an Egyptian queen, made especially for Prof. Rice. A number of photographs of Egyptian race types have been placed in the room, and in the second floor hall are new photographs from Egypt. The art room will be open for exhibition during the first hour every morning in the week.

of French windows on the lounging room, which communicates with all the other rooms on the ground floor. Directly behind it are the dining room and stair hall, on the west the service hall, and the billiard room on the east.
In the second and third stories will be suites for fifteen men.

The building will be unusual in design. Its outline will be like no other building in Williamstown, and a precedent would be hard to find. The treatment of the roofs and chimneys is original. The detail has the same unique character as the mass of the building itself. The material used will be dark red brick, laid in a variation of Flemish bond. The mortar joints will be raked, making deep-cut interstices between the bricks.
The red of the brick work has given the key to the color treatment. In contrast with it will be the green of the slate roof and wood work.

Squires & Wynkoop of New York city are the architects, and Fred Squires 1900 will superintend the construction of the building. The contract, calling for completion by May 1, has been given to Perry A. Smedley of Williamstown.

Theta Delta Chi

Mr. Carleton G. Smith's house on the corner of Park and Whitman streets was bought by the Theta Delta Chi fraternity last June. The house is being thoroughly remodeled for use as a chapter-house. The lower floor has been thrown open into what is practically one large hall. The dining room is being finished in quartered oak, and a new fireplace has been built. The only exterior remodeling done at present is a red brick chimney on the north side. Mr. C. K. B. Nevin is the architect, and the contract has been let to Perry A. Smedley.
The improvements are to be completed by October 10.

Zeta Psi

Work began last week on the new Zeta Psi house, which is to be built on the southeast corner of Main and South streets. The present house occupying that site, formerly owned by Mr. Thomas McMahon, is being torn down, and the new house will be erected as fast as possible by contractor Perry A. Smedley to complete it by May first. William Neil Smith of New York city is the architect.

The general appearance of the new fraternity house will be colonial. A portico of four white columns supporting a gabled roof will form the entrance on Main street; there will also be a broad veranda on the rear. The building will be built of red Harvard brick, with white mortar and trimmings, and will have a hip roof of weathered shingles. Two bay windows will extend to the second floor on both the east and west sides.

The entrance opens into a large hall with a wide staircase in the rear. On the left will be a long room divided by pillars into smoking, reading and music rooms. The dining-room and reception-room will be on the right.
The ground floor will be finished in dark wood. The upper floors

MISSION ANNIVERSARY

Haystack Centennial Day on Wednesday

96th Annual Meeting of A. B. C. F. M.—Wednesday's Program in Fall—Addresses by Presidents Hyde and Tucker—Arrangements for Entertainment of Delegates.

The one-hundredth anniversary of the haystack prayer-meeting which resulted in the inception of the foreign mission movement, will be observed by a celebration in Williamstown on Wednesday. This is in connection with the meeting of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, which was invited, by the churches in North Adams and Williamstown, and by Williams college, to North Adams this year. President Hopkins is vice-president of the American Board. The sessions will last from Tuesday noon until Friday noon, with Wednesday's sessions devoted almost entirely to Williamstown.

The observation of the mission centennial will probably be the greatest celebration ever held in Williamstown. The officers of the American Board have co-operated with the college and the local parishes in an endeavor to make the celebration of world-wide extent, as befits the significance of the mission movement. The crowds of people which will be in Williamstown Wednesday will include college presidents, Board members, clergymen of all denominations, missionaries and native Christians from all over the world and divinity students and student volunteer workers. Probably 120 of the latter will be quartered in the dormitories, while the committee has had applications from 800 people for lodgings. All institutions of higher learning in the country existing at the time of the haystack meeting (about 34 colleges) have been invited to attend the celebration, including many colleges in the south.

The meetings on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday will be held in North Adams.

Haystack Centennial Day

Wednesday will be observed as Haystack centennial day. A skeleton program of events will be found in the calendar. Additional details appear below.

6.15 to 6.30 a. m. At sunrise the chapel chimes, rung by W. P. Yarnelle '07, will play the following hymns: "When morning gilds the skies," "Hail to brightness," "Awake my soul and with the sun," "From Greenland's icy mountains."

12 m.-2.00 p. m. A standing buffet luncheon will be provided in the Gymnasium by Wood of Greenfield for fifteen hundred people. Tickets to the luncheon will be fifty cents.

HERO OF THE HAYSTACK

Lecture on the Life of Samuel John Mills 1806

Rev. T. C. Richards '87, of Warren, gave an illustrated lecture on "Samuel J. Mills, the Hero of the Haystack," Sunday evening, in Jesup Hall. He told the story of Samuel J. Mills' life, described in detail the famous haystack prayer-meeting, told of Mills' efforts to maintain the foreign mission movement after its inception, and his home missionary journeys, and touched briefly on the growth of missions to the time of his death. In conclusion he gave the history of the haystack monument. The lecture was unusually interesting, and was closely followed by the more than two hundred present.

Samuel J. Mills, descended from noble Dutch ancestry, was born April 21, 1783, in Torrington, Conn. He received his early education at Morris Academy, which he left in 1802, returning to work on the farm at Torrington. Leaving his plow one day, he went to his father, told him of the wonderful desire which possessed him to evangelize the heathen, and was finally given permission to prepare himself for his great work. Williams was chosen over Yale by Mills, through the influence of Ammi Ruhamah Robbins, and because of its isolation. He entered in April 1806, and soon became one of the most prominent men in college, although far from prepossessing in appearance. While Mills and four associates were talking one warm day in August, 1806, under the maples in the present Mission Park, a thunderstorm drove them to the shelter of a neighboring haystack. Here they discussed the foreign missionary outlook, and Mills' earnest words, his "We can do it if we will," fired his comrades, and resulted in the foundation of "The Brethren." The first step was taken in carrying the Gospel to the heathen.

Interest was increased by meetings held from time to time, and after graduation Mills visited Yale to present his life-purpose to the students there. He finally entered Andover, graduating in 1812, and then set about organizing an American foreign missionary society. In 1812 the society had raised $1,000, and it was decided to send out five missionaries, and Judson, Newell, Nott, Hall 1808 and Rice 1810 were chosen to go. It was considered that Mills was more valuable in this country to turn young men to mission work, and with great self-sacrifice he remained home.

He went on two home missionary journeys through the little-known West and South to New Orleans. In 1818 he went to Africa for the American Colonization Society, organized for transporting negro slaves to Africa and liberating them. While in Africa Mills contracted quick consumption, and died January 6, 1818, on his way home. He was buried at sea.

FALL TRUSTEES' MEETING

Held in Williamstown Thursday—Subjects for Discussion

The annual fall trustees' meeting will be held in the seminar room, Griffin Hall, beginning at 9.00 a. m., Thursday. At the regular meeting of the board held last June several changes were made in the membership of the board. To fill the places made vacant by the death during the year of Judge James M. Barker '60 and Rev. Robert Russell Booth '49, Hamilton Wright Mabie, L. H. D., LL. D., '67, and Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D. D., '84, formerly alumni trustees, were elected to the permanent board. Bliss Perry, L. H. D., Litt. D., '81, of Boston, was elected alumni trustee by the alumni ballot, and, in accordance with the rules of the election, the men having the next highest number of votes on that ballot, were chosen alumni members of the board in place of the two elected to permanent membership: Hoa. Charles Sumner Holt '74, of Chicago, in place of Rev. Dr. Dewey, his term expiring in 1907, and Hon. Frederick Beach Jennings '72, of New York city, in place of Dr. Mabie, his term expiring in 1910.

Besides the usual routine business of appropriations, etc., some questions of larger policy will come up for discussion. The future of Jackson Hall will be brought before the board and a definite conclusion may be arrived at. The recent raise in the price of board by the boarding-houses in town has stimulated the agitation for a college commons, and the matter will be discussed, though probably without definite action being taken at this meeting. The property recently purchased on Spring street will be left as it is for the present.

First Wedding in New Chapel

The first wedding to be solemnized in the new chapel took place Saturday at high noon, when Miss Charlotte Hopkins, daughter of Mr. Archibald Hopkins '62, of Williamstown, was married to Mr. Henry Stuart Patterson '96, son of Judge Edward Patterson of the Appellate Division of the New York supreme court. The chapel was decorated with dark green oak branches around the pulpit and lectern, in front of which were placed white flowers. The ceremony was performed by President Hopkins and Dr. John H. Denison '90, uncles of the bride. Arthur C. Patterson 1900 was best man, and among the ushers were W. R. Thurston '96, Jerome R. Allen '95 and Henry Hopkins, Jr., 1903.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Morris K. Jesup of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Irvin McD. Garfield '93 of Boston; Mr. W. S. B. Hopkins '94 of Worcester.

The Haystack Centennial

Next Wednesday, the tenth of October, will be the most important date in the history of Williams college since the celebration of the centennial of its founding thirteen years ago, and perhaps of even broader significance to the world at large, since the centennial of missions must be considered by it of greater importance than the centennial of any institution of learning. Williams-town will be crowded with visitors. Probably, if the weather is propitious, five thousand would not be too high an estimate of the numbers that will gather to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of that great event, viewed by outsiders as the most important in the history of the college, the meeting of the five around the haystack that set in motion the cause of American foreign missions. In addition to those brought by the meeting of the American Board, the college will have as its guests the one hundred delegates from the colleges of the Connecticut Valley student missionary conference.

We venture the statement that the name of Williams was never spread so far by any one event as it will be by those of Wednesday. The Atlantic cable has rarely before been burdened with Williams news. The college, then, has an unprecedented necessity to appear at its best. The season is the right one. Given the right kind of a sunny autumn day, merely softening the outlines of the hills, the college plant could not appear to better advantage. Williams, however, can convey an impression by something more than its equipment. The tax on the entertainment committee, in their efforts to help the college appear at its best, despite the already generous student response, will be a severe one. The college authorities have given the student-body a holiday. It is to be hoped that every undergraduate who can will consider himself appointed a "college guide," and will assist the committee in piloting these strangers, all deeply interested in Williams college, about the campus.

There are to be two college presidents in town during the celebration. Since the student-body can scarcely hope to find seats in the chapel during the Wednesday morning service, it is to be hoped that some further opportunity will be given the undergraduates to come into touch with the personality of President Tucker or President Hyde, just as last year, at the conference of college presidents, the opportunity was given of hearing President Eliot.

An Appreciation

During the past summer a member of the faculty paid to Williams college the highest tribute which lay in his power, when he declined to leave the college to accept a position, at a substantial increase in salary, in a metropolitan institution. That a professor in Williams should voluntarily, and even without consultation with the college authorities, refuse an offer of such value, and should prefer his associations and his work to be in the small town rather than in the large city, is cause for the college to congratulate itself.

Professor Henry Loomis Nelson, for declining an offer to become head of the department of politics in the College of the City of New York, deserves the deepest gratitude of all concerned in the welfare of the college. Whatever may have been his considerations in preferring a chair in his alma mater, Williams escaped losing a man whose absence from the faculty would be severely felt. On behalf of the student-body, The Record wishes to express to him their hearty appreciation of his action.

Talk by Secretary Slack

On Friday evening, in Jesup Hall, Mr. Frank V. Slack, traveling secretary in the East for the intercollegiate committee of the Y. M. C. A., spoke before a combined meeting of the class conferences on "The purposes of our lives." He said that God had not given us life for any mean or selfish purpose, but to help Him in bringing to pass the time when He shall be supreme in every heart. The demands of Christian service call for men of the highest character and intellect, but men of that calibre too often consider that entering into active religious work is a waste of life.

GOLF AT AUBURNDALE

Williams Team Left for N. E. I. G.
A. Tournament Today

The Williams golf team, composed of five men, left town at 5.01 this morning for Auburndale, Mass., where the annual tournament of the New England Inter-collegiate Golf Association will be held on the links of the Woodland Golf club from Tuesday through Friday. The N. E. I. G. A. has as its members Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Dartmouth and M. I. T. Two years ago Brown won the team championship, in 1904 it was won by Amherst and last year by Williams. It is necessary to win the trophy three times to secure permanent possession. Williams also won the individual championship last year, Clapp 1906, defeating A. Mitchell 1907, in the finals. The most prominent individual players from other colleges are Peck of Dartmouth and Pfeil of M. I. T.

The Williams team will be composed of A. Mitchell '07, captain, L. Mitchell '07, Lynde '08, Jackson '10, and Dunning '10. A practice match with M. I. T. will be played this afternoon, the team matches taking place tomorrow. Bowdoin and Brown have not entered teams, but will send players to take part in the individual championships, held on Wednesday (qualifying round). Thursday and Friday.

Results of Debating Trials

The successful candidates in the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating trials held in the Biological laboratory Saturday evening were Bedford '08, Johnson '10, Shiland '10, and Woolsey '10. These four men, the seven who were successful in last spring's preliminaries (Fowle '08, Dodd, Ernst, Howe, Maclay, Robb, Wood '09), and the 'varsity debaters (Case, Matthews '07, Byard '08, Sayre, Toll '09), will compete on October 16 for the six places on the two teams. The final debates will be held December 7, Williams upholding the affirmative at home against Wesleyan, and the negative at Amherst against the Purple and White.

Cassino 1910 has left college.
Rev. T. C. Richards '87 preached in the Congregational church Sunday morning.

At a 1910 class meeting held Saturday afternoon in Jesup Hall Harry Louis Alexander of New York city was elected manager of the football team. Henry S. M. Clay of Philadelphia, Pa., was elected football captain.

At a 1909 class meeting, held Thursday evening in Jesup Hall, Mahlon Ernest Hopkins of Fishers, N. Y., was elected secretary; Joseph Osgood Hanson of Chicago, Ill., was elected to the honor system committee, and Kenneth Jenkins Howe of Mount Vernon, N. Y., class football manager.

NOTICE

—Trials for the college orchestra will be held this evening at 7.30 in Jesup Hall. Last year's members should report to elect a leader for this year.

ANTI-HEARST MOVEMENT

Led by Asst.-Prof. Clark in State Democratic Convention

Asst.-Prof. David Taggart Clark was a delegate to the Massachusetts state democratic convention, which nominated John B. Moran for Governor, last Thursday. He made a motion to rule out of the platform the clause containing an indorsement of Mr. Hearst's candidacy in New York state, and was almost able to commit definitely the party to this policy, in spite of the fact that the matter was already in the platform, and thus any attempt to remove it would seem a blow to the new party organization.

Mr. Clark, after making his objection from the delegation ranks in the gallery, mounted the platform, and, frequently interrupted by applause, delivered a short address to the convention, maintaining that the political issues of neighboring states did not concern a Massachusetts convention. In closing he moved a reconsideration of the vote which adopted this clause of the platform.

Opposition to Mr. Clark's speech was drowned by the shouts of his supporters. Finally a motion to lay his motion on the table was defeated, and the question came before the convention. Congressman James B. Sullivan warmly seconded Mr. Clark's motion. The question was put to a vote and the motion was lost by a very narrow margin, so close in fact that Mr. Clark's friends protested the result.

Mr. George Fred Williams, towards the end of the convention, moved a resolution for the indorsement of Mr. Bryan by the Massachusetts democracy. The Springfield Republican says in its editorial columns: "To Prof. Clark of Williams apparently belong the honors of the convention."

It is clear that the situation which Prof. Clark created led to George Fred Williams's act in offering the resolution indorsing Bryan in 1908. It further states that this resolution resulting from Asst.-Prof. Clark's action should be the cause of uniting the two wings of the Massachusetts democracy.

'Varsity Scores Much

The 'varsity lined up against the Braytons of North Adams on Saturday afternoon on Weston field for one 15-minute period. Three touchdowns and two goals were scored in that time. LaMent made the first touchdown after 11 minutes of play. Chapman caught the ball on an on-side kick and scored the second. By end runs the ball was carried over again by Clay, just before the end of the period. Forward passes, quarter-back runs and on-side kicks were used almost entirely by the 'varsity.

The 'varsity and the second team then played for 23 minutes, the 'varsity scoring four touchdowns. Every man on the squad was used in the practice.

Manager Brown has appointed the following football directors: 1907, Southworth, Donett, Townsend; 1908, Brady, Osterhont, Douglass; 1909, K. J. Howe, Jenkins, Kline; 1909, Alexander, E. W. Johnson, Stevens.

Missionary Anniversary

2.00-2.15 p. m. The Chapel chimes will play the following:
"The Morning Light;" "Ye Christian Heralds Go Proclaim;"
"From Greenland's Icy Mountains;" "Come, Thou Almighty King."

2.15 p. m. The culminating meeting of the day, as of the week, will be the meeting around the monument in the celebration of the centennial of the meeting of August, 1806. Seats for two thousand and sixty people have been erected in Mission Park, just west of the pine tree grove surrounding the monument. The seats are in sixteen sections, with aisles between, and are in the form of an amphitheatre, as the ground slopes towards the north, and each tier is slightly higher than the one in front. In front is a large speaker's platform, with seats for seventy-five.

Devotional exercises will be conducted by Dr. Arthur Little of Boston. The following ten native Christians will participate in the meeting: Arnold Sidoba Hiwale of India; Henry Hoisington Ka-lasinghe of Ceylon; Akaiko Amana of Hawaii; Fei Chi Hao and H. H.
Kung of China; Oscar M. Chamberlain of Turkey; Stephen ka-Ndunge Gunede of Africa; Rev.
S. Sato of Japan; Rev. Philip Reitinger of Bohemia and Frederick R. Ponce of Mexico. There will be a memorial thank offering conducted by Mr. John R. Mott and Secretary Harry Wade Hicks.
The meeting will conclude with a prayer-meeting, led by Mr. Luther D. Wishard.

5.30 p. m. The chimes will ring the following hymns: "Doxology," "All hail the Power of Jesus'
Name," "Abide With Me," "Ye
Christian Heralds Go Proclaim,"
"Saviour Again," "Pleyel's Hymn."

7.45 p. m. At the missionary praise service in the Congregational church these native Christians will speak: Stephen ka-Ndunge Gunede of Africa (Zulu);
H. H. Kung of China and Arnold Sidoba Hiwale of India. There will be missionary addresses by Rev. W. S. Dodd, M. D., of Western Turkey, and President William M. Zumbro of Pasu-mah college, Madura, India.
There will be brief addresses by newly appointed missionaries:
Edwin St. John Ward, M. D., who is going to Diarbakir, Central Turkey, and Rev. Stephen Van Rensselaer Trowbridge, who goes to Aintab, Central Turkey.

sible, all guests will be accommodated in private families. Over 800 applications for entertainment have been received by this committee; and in addition to this, many hundred more in attendance at the meetings will be quartered made for a careful registration of all these in attendance. All the historical sketch, ten illustrations, a bibliography of the subject, and a list of all missionaries who have gone out from Williams college.

Museum in Jesup Hall

The trophy cases and trophy room on the ground floor of Jesup hall, have been put at the disposal of this program committee, and will be used as a museum for relics of the haystack meeting and those who took part in it. A large number of interesting articles of great historical value have been collected, and among those which will be put on exhibit will be an oil painting of Francis L. Robbins of Enfield, Conn., one of the haystack men; Samuel J. Mills' compass, and his Bible containing his signature; the minutes of the missionary society founded by the haystack men when they were at Andover Theological seminary, and also the original constitution of that society in cipher. The old settee which those five men occupied when they were ordained as ministers, in Salem, Mass., will also be shown. The college will put on exhibition many of the letters written by the men of the haystack and others in connection with the erection of the monument.

Repairs to Haystack Monument

The haystack monument in Mission Park has been thoroughly cleaned and put into repair, in preparation for the events this week. The raised lettering of the inscription on its south face had been badly chipped by souvenir hunters and vandals; this raised lettering has been all chiselled off and the lettering carved in. A record of the centennial celebration will be carved in the face of the monument on its south side.

Special Music

At the Wednesday morning service in the chapel, the choir will render "Gloria in Excelsis." A student choir will assist at the afternoon open-air service in Mission Park.

Student Missionary Conference

The annual meeting of the Connecticut Valley Student Missionary Conference will be held in Williamstown Wednesday, in connection with the American Board meeting and Haystack centennial. This league includes Berkeley Divinity school, Dartmouth, Smith, Wesleyan, Yale, Williams, Amherst, Mount Holyoke, Mount Hermon school, Northfield seminary, Springfield Training school, Trinity and Hartford Theological seminary. Last year's conference was held at South Hadley. A meeting of the conference will be held in Jesup Hall Wednesday morning at 8.15, and a public meeting in the Congregational church at 9.30. This year's conference was to have been held at the Training school but was transferred to Williamstown to give the delegates opportunity to attend the Haystack meetings.

Of the delegates those from Smith and Mount Holyoke and those from the divinity schools will register in Hopkins Hall from 3.30 p. m. to 6.00 p. m. on Tuesday. Those from the other colleges will register in Jesup Hall from 5.00 to 6.00 p. m. and from 9.30 to 10.00 p. m. Tuesday, and also from 9.15 to 9.30 a. m. Wednesday.

HAYSTACK CENTENNIAL

Three Thousand Friends of Missions Celebrate One Hundredth Anniversary

Traditional Rainy Weather—Meetings of Student Conference—Speeches by President Hopkins, President Hyde, President Tucker, Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis and Others—$13042 Subscribed in Memorial Offering—Williams the Missionary Mecca.

The year 1906 will be memorable for the two greatest missionary gatherings of the century, the Nashville Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement in March, and the celebration of the 100th anniversary of foreign missions in Williamstown yesterday. The weather was traditional. The semi-centennial on Aug. 5, 1856, was marked by a thunder-shower much resembling that which caused the five to take shelter under the haystack in 1806, and this October tenth did its best to keep up the tradition. Rain prevented the sunrise prayer-meeting, although several of the older missionaries held an informal service around the monument in the wet, and the weather did not clear till noon. The culminating feature of the day came in the afternoon near the close of the services in Mission Park, when in five minutes $13,042 was raised as a memorial thank-offering for the cause of foreign missions.

Williamstown was thronged with missionaries all day. 794 registered in Hopkins Hall and 137 in Jesup Hall, and over two thousand more at North Adams. The attendance at the Mission Park meeting in the afternoon was estimated at 3000, in spite of the inclement weather of the morning. The oldest Williams missionary on the grounds was Rev. Joseph K. Wight '43, of Green Cove Springs, Florida, who went out to China under the American Board in 1849.

Owing to the inclement weather, the sunrise prayer-meeting, which was to have been held at 6.30 in Mission Park, was transferred to Jesup Hall. The meeting was led by Rev. S. L. Zwemmer of Arabia.

Student Conference Meetings

The student missionary conference, composed of the Western Massachusetts Volunteer Union and the Connecticut Valley Student Missionary League, was opened in Jesup Hall at 8.15 yesterday morning. The meeting was conducted by Mr. George O. Hood of Amherst. 137 delegates were in attendance. The address was given by Rev. T. H. P. Sailer, Ph. D., of the Presbyterian board and of the student volunteer movement on "Mission Study Class Methods."

The second meeting was held in the Congregational church, simultaneously with the meeting in the chapel. Rev. John H. Denison '92 of Boston spoke on "New Aims and Changed Purposes in Foreign Missions," Prof. Edward C. Moore, D. D. of Harvard spoke on "The Present Great Missionary Opportunity," and Rev. Samuel M. Zwemmer, travelling secretary of the student volunteer movement, spoke on "The Price of Missionary Success."

The Anniversary's Significance

Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, was the last speaker, taking as his subject "The Significance of the World-wide Anniversary." He spoke in outline as follows:

The meeting of the haystack is the first American event to be celebrated on its hundredth anniversary in five different continents. The six years of the new century have given an opportunity to determine the great events of the previous century in politics, democracy and religion, and we can now see that the greatest event was the movement begun at the haystack, in that it gathers up all other great events and overshadows them all. During the last century fifty million people have passed into political and industrial liberty, and the cause of this passing is found in the transcendent ideas of missionary-aria of the American Board, men who have fulfilled Lord Bacon's description of missionaries as 'builders of states and civilizations.'

"Foreign missionaries have climbed into the first paragraph of the first chapter of the history of every nation except Japan, and their achievements have outgrown in one hundred years the achievements of art, science and literature. The results of their labors are now being shown; the missionaries are coming into their own. God made man in his own image and it is for this reason that the greatest ideas, the conception of right and wrong slip into the uncivilized man's brain. It is not for us to say that it is impossible to connect men brought up in ignorance and superstition. It sustains our faith in God and His Son to read of the achievements of the missionaries.

Services in Thompson Chapel

The rain stopped a little after 9.00. Long before 9.30 the crowds of visitors in town had begun to fill the chapel and before the service began it was necessary to place seats in the aisles, while people were standing in the aisles. Continued on page 4.

GIFTS OF $60,000

Announced at Trustees' Meeting Today—A Press Bureau

Tuesday evening Hon. Alfred C. Chapin '69, of New York city, placed in President Hopkins' hands a check for $50,000, with no conditions as to expenditure, leaving that matter entirely in the hands of the trustees. The gift was made public at the trustees' meeting in Griffin Hall this afternoon. A check for a similar amount was given the president by Mr. Chapin just before Commencement last year.

The following members of the board were present at the meeting: Rev. William Wisner Adams, D.D., '55, of Fall River; Hon. Joseph Edward Simmons, LL.D., '62, of New York city; Rev. Daniel Merriman, D.D., '63, of Worcester; Hon. Eugene Delano, M.A., '66, of New York city; Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson, M.A., '67, of New York city; Hamilton Wright Mabie, LL.D., '67, New York city; Hon. Frederick Beach Jennings '72 of New York city; President Henry Lefavour, Ph.D., LL.D., '83, of Boston; Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D.D., '84, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hon. James Rudolph Garfield '85, of Washington, D. C.; Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren '85 of Boston.

A gift of $10,000 was announced from Charles T. Barney '70 of New York city, to be applied for the purchase of the property on Spring street secured during the summer.

An appropriation was made for the establishment of an undergraduate Williams press bureau, thus providing for the fulfillment of plans which have been maturing for over a year to get more Williams news into the papers of the country.

Other business taken up was of a routine nature. No promotions were made. The disposal of Jackson Hall was thoroughly discussed and the matter referred to the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, that a definite proposition may be secured for the May meeting.

The best entrance examinations for the Clark prize scholarship were passed by Rowland Sloan Hill, who prepared at the Pittsfield High school. The award of the prize is dependent on the satisfactory completion of the work of freshman year.

The Spirit of Mills in the Religious Life of the College

The last entry in the book of records of the Society of the Brethren, founded by Samuel J. Mills, is in the seventies, but that society, and the religious societies that grew from it, lived on until they became the nucleus of the college Y. M. C. A. that bears Mills' name. The undergraduate religious life of 1906 in Williams is thus linked by a living chain to the undergraduate religious life of 1806, and yet it is plain to the most cursory reader that religious conditions in college are vitally different now, and further, from the testimony of many of our alumni, that this change in the religious life of Williams has taken place within the last twenty years.

One of the plainest ways in which this change is shown is by the fact that the percentage of ministers going out from Williams is slowly decreasing with regularity. No undergraduate is able to tell the whole reason for this. Conditions in the world of which he can yet have no knowledge must have far more to do with it than conditions in the narrow circle of the college. Still one reason that must have much to do with this lessening of interest in the ministry is plain. Nowadays not one senior in two knows at the beginning of his last year what his life-work will be. College seems to have changed from a place to which some men go to fit themselves for a profession, to a place to which everyone that can enter goes as a necessary link to complete the educational chain. The minister-to-be is lost sight of among the many who are here only to get a general education.

This loss in the numbers of Williams men that enter the ministry, however, seems to be accompanied by a gain in quality. Of those that go to divinity school the proportion of the strong men in college is far larger than the proportion of the rank and file. It seems as if that same uprightness of character that lies back of the really strong man has something in it that leads a man to pass by the greater pecuniary rewards of business and the other professions to enter the profession where his greatest profit is not of gold.

With this change in the Williams men that enter the ministry, has there been any loss of interest in missions? Twenty-one men went abroad from this college as missionaries between 1808 and 1840, twenty-three men between 1840 and 1860, and the same number between 1860 and 1880. Since 1880 but five men have gone out as missionaries, and none since Rev. Boon Boon-Itt '89. While admitting that this shows a lack of interest felt by Williams men in foreign missions, we will not confess that it shows a lack of interest in missions as a whole.

There are other fields besides those across the ocean. The Williams missionary—for so he may be called—of the present day finds his field in the slums of our cities, in social settlement work largely among the poor and ignorant immigrants: work that is so much with the foreigner that it might be called foreign missions transplanted. Williams offerings support a mission college in the foreign field, Williams men carry missions to the foreigner in this country.

In this the college is not far from the spirit of the haystack men. But one of the five, James Richards, ever went abroad on an extended tour of mission service. Both Robbins and Loomis did frontier missionary work at home. From 1813 to 1815 Mills himself went on two long home missionary journeys. Then "he who had felt the darkness resting on the land from Lake Erie to the Gulf of Mexico was to know and make known the shadows that rested on darkest New York." In 1815, 1816 and 1817, he worked among the lower classes in New York city in the very localities where Williams men are working today. His "spirit of extreme devotion" is still alive in the college, among the best and not the many, manifesting itself at home rather than in the foreign field.

S. G. Allen of Johnstown, N. Y., has entered the class of 1910.

The honor system committee has organized for the year by the election of Pierce 1906, president, and Toll 1909, secretary.

OUR THREE SELVES

Address By President Hyde in Chapel This Morning

President William DeWitt Hyde, D. D. LL. D., of Bowdoin, spoke before the student body at the chapel services this morning, as follows:

"There are three selves in each one of us; there is the self of custom and convention which we present to the world around us, and then there is a better self than that. One of the boys who came to Bowdoin college this year, who appeared like every other boy had a letter sent in advance from a friend I knew telling me that a few weeks before, when a boat had been capsized, this fellow had tied three clotheslines together, and rescued at the peril of his own life the lives of the two boys in his boat. Now what he did any student in any one of our colleges is capable of doing. That better self is latent in every one of us when occasion is needed to awake it into activity.

"On the other hand there is a worst self in every one of us, given the proper occasion and the right environment. Not one of us who, if caught at the right moment, with the prospect of freedom from detection, might not have done things which would stamp him with infamy.

"There are three selves; the conventional self, the heroic self, the infamous self. Is it then, a mere matter of accident which of the three selves is brought out? No, we have the power of choosing the environment, the power of choosing which of these three selves could be made actual. Now, if a man takes that worse self in him and broods over it, and then looks out into the world, he will find the companions that will draw out the worse self and then that man's infamy is sure. The worst in you and the worst in the world together will work your ruin.

"But fortunately the opposite is equally true. Match the best in you and the best in your environment with the best in the world, within and without, and it becomes equally sure that the best in you will become supreme. Christ and Christianity offer the opportunity that will put this best in us into alliance with the best in the world.

"We are gathered here to consider missions. What is missions? Missions looks this fact in the face that there are three selves in every man. It is practically certain that in certain quarters of the earth the only self that will come out is the self of crime, sensuality, vice and shame; and missions simply says, we will go out into the world and will give these people their chance to find something outside themselves that will draw out what is best in them.

"It would be a thousand pities if any student of this historic institution were not at this historic time and place resolved to commit himself to what is best in the world about us, for that is what it means to you and me to confess before men Jesus Christ as our Lord and Saviour."

At a 1908 class meeting, held in Josup Hall on Tuesday, Richard Henry McIntyre, Jr., of Saranac Lake, N. Y., was elected to the honor system committee.

and the vestibule throughout the speaking. In the chancel were seated, in addition to the speakers, all the members of the board of trustees then in town, in academic costume, and the officers of the American Board. The choir sang a processional and recessional, and the anthem "Gloria in Excelsis." The invocation was given by Rev. Andrew Van Vranken Raymond, D. D., LL. D., president of Union college.

Opening Addresses

The opening address was given by President Hopkins, who spoke in outline as follows:

"In behalf of the college whose trustees are here met and the town where many of you are guests, I rejoice to bid you welcome. Two conditions are essential to secure the best results from college life, aloofness from the rush and turmoil of the world outside, and a comprehensive knowledge of and vital connection with the most notable movements of one's own times. We must not let the spirit of missions die out of our colleges."

"Faith in God laughs at impossibilities. 'We can if we will.' Yet what chiefly compels my homage for those men of 1806 is that they were to meet 'in their own persons' the exile, the toil, the danger,—no proxies. May this spirit of extreme devotion never perish from our American colleges."

President Samuel B. Capen, LL. D., of the American Board spoke in response, thanking the committee of arrangements, and stating that Williams' "chief glory in all the future will be the fact that this was the birthplace of American foreign missions."

New Premises, Old Conclusion

President William De Witt Hyde, D. D., LL. D., of Bowdoin followed. He took for his topic "The New Premises and the Old Conclusion," and spoke in part as follows:

"Every premise on which missions rested a century ago has changed. Yet the faith of Mills that 'we can do it if we will'; and the hope of Carey that 'expects great things of God;' shine undimmed and undiminished, and are the standards by which we test Christian manhood and womanhood today. A hundred years ago God was a judge; the Bible a statute book; earth a court room; man a prisoner at the bar; Christ our advocate; the cross of Christ the price of our release; death the end of the trial; and eternity the duration of the sentence."

"The man who held these premises felt driven to the ends of the earth to proclaim men's lost condition and impending doom; and to herald the tidings of Christ's offered way of escape."

"Our premises today are very different, but if they are wiser and broader, it is not because we are better or bigger men than they. It is simply because God has been at work a century longer on our intellectual environment than He had on theirs. The organization is now ready to our hand. We are not compelled like the men of the haystack to wring one from an incredulous and reluctant church. In the able and representative American Board, with its sagacious and devoted prudential committee,

MILLS' DESK

It seems to you very unlikely, that Mills should take such an active part, in 1806, he being a stranger in the place. In this belief, you are mistaken.

(It seems to me, in the spirit of the time. Christians, at that day, when they came together for religious purposes, felt, not as strangers, but as friends, and were free to talk, pray, or act. That formality and restraint, which now prevails, was not fashionable then. The spirit of Whitfield was there.

On some occasions, in the religious meetings, both in College and town, Whitfield's sermons were read. But those sermons do not now please the taste of the people. They are without form or comeliness; no rounded periods; no flowing easy style. They are drawn aside with the old adage.

Mills, the first week he was in Williamstown, was as free to act, according to the impulse of his zeal, or the dictate of his judgment, as he was at any time, during his stay in the place.

Yours Respectfully:

Byram Green

LETTER OF BYRAM GREEN 1808

MISSIONARY JUBILEE.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE,

August 5, 1856.

Order of Exercises.

1. INTRODUCTORY ADDRESS.—David Dudley Field, L. L. D., New York.
Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements.

2. SINGING.—St. Martin.

Let all the heathen writers join.
To form one perfect book;
Great God, if once compared with thine,
How mean their writings look.

[This stanza was sung under the hay-stack at the Prayer Meeting, 50 years ago.]

3. READING THE SCRIPTURES.—67th Psalm.

4. PRAYER.—Rev. Timothy Woodbridge, D. D., Spencertown, N. Y.

5. SINGING.—Peyal's Hymn.

1
Saw ye not the cloud arise,
Little as a human hand?
Now it spreads along the skies—
Hangs o'er all the thirsty land.3
When he first the work begun
Small and feeble was the day;
Now the word clothed swiftly run;
Now it wins its widening way.2
Lo! the promise of a shower
Drops already from above;
But the Lord will shortly prove
All the Spirit of His love.4
See how great a flame aspires,
Kindled by a spark of grace!
Jesus' love the nations fires,
Sets the kingdoms on a blaze.

6. JUBILEE ADDRESS.—Professor Albert Hopkins.

7. SINGING.—Lorenz.

1
Blow ye the trumpet, blow
The gladly solemn sound;
Let all the nations know,
'To earth's remotest bound;
The year of Jubilee is come,
Return, ye ransomed sinners, home.2
Exalt the Lamb of God,
The sin-atonement Lamb;
Redemption by his blood
Through all the world proclaim!
The year, &c.3
The Gospel trumpet hear,
The news of pardoning grace;
Ye happy souls, draw near,
Behold your Saviour's face;
The year, &c.4
Jesus our great High Priest,
Has full atonement made;
Ye weary spirits, rest;
Ye mourning souls, be glad!
The year, &c.

RECESS OF FIFTEEN MINUTES.

1. SINGING.—Coronation.

All hail the power of Jesus' name;
Let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth a royal diadem,
And crown him—Lord of all.2
Ye chosen seed of Israel's race,
Ye ransomed from the fall,
Hail him who saves you by his grace
And crown him—Lord of all.3
Sinners, whose love can ne'er forget
The wormwood and the gall;
Go spread your trophies at his feet,
And crown him—Lord of all.4
Let every kindred, every tribe
On this terrestrial ball,
To him all majesty ascribe,
And crown him—Lord of all.

2. PRAYER.—Rev. Chester Dewey, D. D.

3. ADDRESS.—The President of the College.

4. ADDRESS.—Rev. Dr. Anderson, Senior Secretary of the A. B. C. F. M.

5. ADDRESS.—George N. Briggs, L. L. D.

6. ADDRESS.—Rev. Dr. Wyckoff, Albany.

7. ADDRESS.—Rev. Dr. Tyng, New York.

8. SINGING.—(Original Hymn.)—Tune, Missionary Hymn.

Just fifty years are numbered,
Since, where we meet to-day,
A little band of Christians
Were gathered off to pray;
A youthful band and feeble,
Nor wealth nor fame was theirs;
Yet here with God they wrestled,
And mighty were their prayers.2
No earthly schemes or wishes
Those young disciples swayed,
And led their feet so frequent
To seek this quiet shade;
But sleep within their bosoms,
A holy flame burned bright,
Which soon 'round earth's broad circle
Shouta shed its glorious light.3
The love that moved the Saviour,
That drew him from the sky,
Moved them with tenderest pity
O'er heathen woes to sigh;
They yearned with quenchless ardor,
Their Master's steps to tread,
And bear his parting message
To lands with death o'er-spread.4
Now pause we here a moment
That sacred group to see;
Not bending 'neath the covert
Of some o'er-arching tree;
A haystack forms their shadow,
From careless eyes to screen,
Their roof's the clear blue heaven,
Their carpet, earth's broad green.5
Do not glad angels hover
On folded wing around?
Bends not the Saviour's presence
Above this hallowed ground?
Are not the prayers here uttered,
So fervent and sincere Breathed from each pleader's spirit
Into His listening ear?6
Where's now that band of brothers?
Some found an early grave
Afar from home and kindred,
Where India's palm trees wave,
But Ocean's pitying surges
A requiem long have wept
Above the dreary chamber Where Mills's dust has slept.7
Let us inscribe their tablet
In holy thoughts and aim,
In high and earnest effort
To spread the Saviour's name;
To keep the sacred beacon
They kindled, burning bright,
Till lesser flames shall vanish
In full Millennial light.8
O! watch there not around us
A glorious train to-day,
Of those who caught their mantle
And walked their holy way?
And hear we not their voices
Call us from sloth to rise,
To follow in their footsteps,
And meet them in the skies?9. EARLY GRADUATES AND RETURNED MISSIONARIES WILL NOW BE EXPECTED TO ADDRESS THE AUDIENCE.

10. SINGING.—Old Hundred.

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore
Till moons shall wax and wane no more.3
There Persia, glorious to behold—
There India shines in Eastern gold;
And barbarous nations, at his word,
Submit and bow, and own their Lord!2
Behold the islands, with their kings;
And Europe her best tribute brings;
From North to South the princes meet,
To pay their homage at his feet.4
Let every creature rise and bring Peculiar honors to their King;
Angels descend with songs again,
And earth repeat the loud AMEN.

JOSEPH WHELOCK, JR. IN

"JUST OUT OF COLLEGE"

we have a missionary organization which is a model of efficiency. One thing is left for us to do—to support it with the contribution of our monns and the loyalty of our hearts. Finally, every person who comes to Christian self-consciousness in a Christian land should force this question: "Is the best I have to give something which is more needed abroad than at home?" If the answer is negative it devolves upon him to make life-long and systematic consecration of influence, money, thought, and interest, to send and sustain those who have the fitness for missionary work he lacks. Every Christian a missionary in one of these two senses—this should be our watchword for the century to come."

Reflex Influence of Missions

Rev. Edward Judson, D.D., son of Adoniram Judson, followed with an address on "The Reflex Influence of Foreign Missions." He spoke in brief outline as follows:

"I always think of this place among the hills as a missionary shrine, the cradle of American foreign missions. Yet, when the men of the haystack came to Andover, they found there another group of men who had come to the same point in the missionary road.

"American Christianity is conditional upon world evangelization; our own land is to be Christianized by the way of China and Africa. The greatest things in life come when we are not striving for them. The cure for the evils at home is the foreign missionary spirit, the one form in which Christianity is purely unselfish. Finally, our interest in foreign missions must be intensive, not a fad; directed as much upon the foreigner within our gates as the one to whom we send our ministers across the seas."

Address by President Tucker

President William J. Tucker, D.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth college, delivered the next address. He said in part:

"We cannot remind ourselves too frequently or too urgently of the fact that missions from this country began in the simple affirmation of personal duty in terms of personal power. No one could claim, even in this academic presence, that Mills and his comrades originated the idea of missions from this country. While others, many others, were deeply feeling that the gospel ought to be carried to dark and heathen lands, they said: 'We can do it if we will.'"

"As I have traced the workings of Mills' spirit I have felt the constant influence of his relentless activity. Neither men nor opportunities escape him. Everywhere, even to the last, he is the same urgent, undeniable spiritual force. He is never daunted by obstacles. Determination there was in this young man, courage, independence, but not a trace of pride, or high mindedness or superiority. His humility found its most perfect expression in the naturalness of his service.

"But in spite of this the distinguishing characteristic of the missionary service, I am persuaded that the greatest obstacle to foreign missions in our day is the unendurable and unpardonable arrogance of our western civilization. We have created an atmosphere which is hostile to the spirit of missions. I do not see how we can long continue to be known as a missionary nation, how we can continue to strive successfully to render justice and to show mercy without learning how to walk humbly with God. I would that in some way, through the instrumentality of missions, God might convert the strength of this mighty nation into serviceable power.

"These young men of simple but assured power, are speaking to us today across the century. In the very act of giving themselves to the work of Christ in heathen lands, they gave to the churches the irrevocable word for foreign missions, the word which measures the greatness of the past, the word which communicates itself with power, the word through which we alone get our rights and our part in the glorious work of Christianizing the world.—'we can do it if we will.'"

In Mission Park

While the exercises of the morning and evening were in commemoration of the haystack centennial, the especial anniversary meeting was the open-air gathering in Mission Park yesterday afternoon.

Seats for over two thousand people had been erected in the form of an amphitheatre in Mission Park, just northwest of the monument. A large speakers stand fronted the audience. Every seat was filled and there were many more people standing nearby, and seated in automobiles and carriages. A fair estimate of the attendance is 3000.

Devotional service, led by Rev. Arthur Little, D. D., of Boston, opened the exercises. During the service the congregation sang the old missionary stanza, which Byram Green tells was sung under the haystack at the prayer meeting in 1806, and which was also sung at the haystack jubilee on the same spot in 1856, as shown in the program used on that occasion (see insert sheet).

Address by President Capen

The opening address was delivered by President Samuel B. Capen, LL. D., who spoke in brief part as follows:

"We are here upon consecrated ground. The results of that little prayer meeting went far deeper than Waterloo, Bunker Hill or Gettysburg; its very audacity was a challenge. The influences that have gone out from this spot have changed the map of the world. Mills declared 'Before we die our influence must be felt on the other side of the world.' How absurd it all seemed! Yes, the same absurdity as when a little band of inspired fishermen threw themselves against the Roman empire. These men won in the first century; Mills and his associates won in the nineteenth."

The Future of the Work

Rev. Arthur Judson Brown, D. D., of New York city, followed with an extended address on "The Future of Missionary Work." He spoke in outline as follows: "A prophecy of the future of missionary work is hazardous, still the missionary as well as the statesman and business man must try to forecast coming events. Missionary work must be conducted in the future amid changed the unique part of the program, the praise and thanksgiving of the ten native Christians from foreign mission fields. The first speaker was Arnold Sidoba Hiwale, a student at Bangor Theological seminary, who told of the gratitude his Christian countrymen felt for the work of the American board.

Henry Hoisington Kalasinghe, a Tamil of Ceylon, expressed heartfelt gratitude to the board for the improved condition of Ceylon over its condition when the missionaries first went there 85 years ago.Akaiko Amama, a powerful and well built Hawaiian, appealed for aid in doing Christian work among the natives of the Pacific islands.
Fei Chi Kao, a Chinese student at Harvard, who is preparing for missionary work among his countrymen, told of the martyrdom of his parents, his sister and her husband, in anti-Christian uprisings. He said that mission work in China was "simply booming."
The fifth speaker was H. H. Kung of China, a direct descendant of Confucius, who spoke words of greeting from the Chinese to the American board.At the close of the talks by the natives, Mr. John R. Mott spoke in behalf of the Memorial Thank offering. Slips for subscriptions were passed among the audience, and were brought forward as soon principal address at the mission-

"One of the greatest achievements of our time is that we have learned to do little things in a large way. Conversely, one of the greatest temptations of the age has been to do large things in a small way. The great plea of this age is for comprehensiveness of character. The man who is going to be a missionary must not have only one dimension, he must be four-square in the service of Christ. What we need in missionary service is the sustained note, a spirit of consecration which will not boil at a low temperature and then turn cold. We have done small things in a great way; to do great things in a great way is the task of our generation."KEELER'S*-:Hotel and Restaurant-:Broadway and Maiden Lane

Williams Defeats Middlebury Saturday—New Rules Used Much

In the game on Weston Field Saturday afternoon, chiefly interesting because of the number of forward passes, quarterback and on-side kicks employed, Williams defeated the Middlebury eleven, 16 to 0. Frequent fumbling and rugged playing by the Purple and a plucky defense by the visitors prevented more than three touchdowns. The forward pass, used 13 times, gained in all about 85 yards, and was in general successful, although it nearly gave Middlebury a score. Waters did the best work, and LaMent hit the line hard, although his two fumbles inside the 10-yard line in the first half probably cost touchdowns. Fisher broke up many of Williams' plays, and Harmon, though erratic, made two long runs.

Waters kicked off at 3.05 p. m. to Beane, Middlebury having won the toss and chosen to defend the north goal. After much fumbling by Williams, Middlebury in turn lost the ball on their 18-yard line. Straight football carried the leather to the 2-yard line, and LaMent went through for the first touchdown, after 6 minutes of play. Waters kicked the goal. A succession of fumbles followed the second kick-off, and when LaMent dropped the ball on a buck from the 6-yard line, Harmon fell on it for a touchback. Another fumble on the 4-yard line followed. Waters signalled for a fair catch after Fisher's punt, and tried unsuccessfully for a goal from placement from the 27-yard line. After the punt-out the ball was advanced to the 12-yard line, when Waters went around left end for a touchdown. Middlebury kicked off, and Williams advanced the ball 97 yards down the field, time being called when the leather was on Middlebury's 7-yard line.

But one touchdown was made during the second half, by D. Brown, although the ball was always in the Williams half of the field. Harmon intercepted a forward pass and ran 39 yards, the longest run of the game, passing every man except D. Brown. Time was called with the ball on Middlebury's 45-yard line.

DEBATE PRELIMINARIES

In Biological Laboratory Tomorrow—Judges in Final Contests

The preliminaries for choice of the triangular league debating team will be held tomorrow evening at 7.30 in the Thompson Biological Laboratory. The following sixteen men will compete: Case, Matthews 1907; Bedford, Byard, Murray, Sayre 1908; Dodd, Ernst, K. J. Howe, MacIsay, Robb, Toll, Wood 1909; Johnson, Shiland, Woolsey 1910. Each speaker will be given six minutes, with the option of using the first two minutes for rebuttal of the previous speaker. From the sixteen, two teams, each of two debaters and an alternate, will be chosen. Prof. Maxey, Asst.-Prof. Lewis and Asst.-Prof. D. T. Clark will serve as judges.

The triangular league, consisting of Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams, will hold its debates on December 7. Each college will uphold the affirmative on its own floor, and Williams will debate Wesleyan in Williamstown. The question has already been announced.

The preliminary list of judges is to be in the hands of the debating managers before tonight, according to the constitution of the league. This constitution provides for the appointment of a committee consisting of one alumnus from each college resident in New York, which committee will report a preliminary list of eight judges to the debating management of each college, making twenty-four names in all. Each management will choose from its list of eight the three judges for the debate in its own town. The New York committee of the colleges consists of George F. Hurd '03 (Williams), George W. Harper '00 (Wesleyan), and A. W. Atwood '03 (Amherst).

Wedding of Mr. E. A. Green 1902

On next Thursday evening, October 18, Miss Marie Louise Hammond, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hammond of Allston, will be married to Mr. Elmer Alanson Green 1902, recorder of Williams college. The wedding will take place at 8.00 p. m. in the Allston Congregational church, and the ceremony will be performed by Rev. John O. Hoaring, pastor of the church. Charles K. B. Nevin of Boston, superintending architect of the Thompson Memorial Chapel, will be best man, and among the ushers will be Dr. Loraude Rosa Woodruff, instructor in biology and Arthur W. Carr 1902. Mark Homer Rogers 1900 will be the organist. Mr. and Mrs. Green will be at home after December 1 on Southworth avenue.

MEN'S PATTERNS

Address by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards Sunday Evening

Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards of New York city addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening on "The Pattern on the Mount."

A man who can see things is valuable in the world—a man who plans with forethought and directs labor leading to the completion of some ideal. The modern tendency is to give the man who works with his hands too much credit. What of the man who works with his brains? There must be an architect for every house and a captain for every ship.

Moses was a man who could see. He saw, up there on the mountain, what kind of a man and leader he ought to be. He drew up from his abstract vision—the pattern of what he was to do—the concrete ten commandments. Pontius Pilate saw the pattern of what God designed him to be in a vision, but he was not man enough to follow it and so he betrayed Jesus.

Any plan or pattern can be God's, whether it be secular or religious, and we can follow it as such. At some time every man is taken up on the mount and shown a vision, which he may follow or not according to his character. A man's worth is measured by what he does with the pattern in his vision. Out in the unappreciative world it may be hard to follow it, but he who does is a man.

Plans for Dartmouth Game

In case two hundred men sign for the trip to Springfield October 27 for the Dartmouth-Williams football game, a round-trip rate of $1.90 can be secured. Tickets will probably be good for both Friday and Saturday from Williamstown to Springfield, but only on Saturday for the return. At least two hundred and fifty of the five hundred seats reserved for Williams will be kept for a cheering section. The admission will be a dollar and fifty cents.

Tickets for the game will probably be in Williamstown this week. A notice will be posted in Hopkins Hall for all intending to go to Springfield to sign.

Dramatic Club Plans

First trials for "Cap and Bells" will be held Wednesday, Oct. 31. Parts may be had of Jaekel 1907 on or after Wednesday, Oct. 17. Donald McDonald, last year's dramatic coach, has been chosen coach for this year's play. "My Friend from India."

VOL. 20 OCT. 15, 1906 No. 28

The Honor System

Without doubt the Williams institution in which we all can take the greatest amount of just pride is the honor system. It represents a high ideal, and, more than that, an ideal that is not a castle in the air, but one that has been brought down from the heights of theory by ten years of practice. It gives the college the moral advantage of a system founded on the best that is in a man, and the practical advantage of freedom from the irksome restraint of the proctor system.

The excellent constitution of the honor system has already been explained to the entering class, so that its details need little comment. The hard thing in fulfilling the constitution would be to report any violation of its articles. The man who failed to report one of his friends caught cheating would not lose the respect of the college—they would not know what he had done—but he would do more than that, he would lose his own self-respect.

The constitution—the letter of the honor system,—important as it is in clearly defining the requirements and penalties, is not so important as the spirit of the system. The constitution is drawn up so that it can apply to any written work done in a class room. That the statement is not always called for for such work does not signify, as a few have claimed, a tacit admission that on papers of lesser importance aid may be given. What it does signify is a trust that our own personal sense of honor will supplement that sense when codified into rules.

A man who uses fraud on the chance that the honor statement will not be required for one particular exercise, is violating the spirit of the honor system. Whether the signing of the honor statement—the requirement of the letter of the system—is demanded or not, the aid has been received. Another man's work has been substituted, dishonesty has been shown. A man must have a very elastic conscience if it can stretch so far as to justify that action. The honor system indicates a high advance over preparatory school conditions. It is a man's system, and should be used in a man's way.

COMMUNICATIONS

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

It seems strange to one who is at all conversant with the different phases of college athletics, that Williams does not support a gymnastic team. When one considers the exceptional opportunities open to Williams men to develop along gymnastic lines, and realizes the benefit and pleasure to be derived from such a course, it is surprising that more encouragement has not been given to the training of a gymnastic team. There are few gymnasiums that are better equipped than ours for such a purpose: as it is, a great deal of costly apparatus stands idle, and the main purpose for which a gymnasium is built fails of its purpose.

Consider for a moment the advantages of gymnastic training on the individual himself. It is undoubtedly the only direct method of building up muscle and developing a strong physique, with perhaps one exception. That exception is the method by which a man is told to push the pulley-weights so many times, or ply the dumb bells, each day. As well ask a man to saw a cord of wood: this system may be effective, yet there are few men that can endure the tedium of this routine process. On the other hand, teach him to do some little feat, however simple, on the rings or bars perhaps, and his interest is immediately aroused. One exercise invariably leads to another requiring more skill, and a man is led on to attempt more as he finds himself becoming more proficient. This characteristic of gymnastics lies at the bottom of its efficiency, and is accountable for the success which everywhere attends such work.

On the other hand can as much

be said for competitive athletics? There is not a doctor of authority in the country who has, for instance, ever favored competitive running. The short life of professional runners is notorious, and should be a warning. The ideal mode of exercise, according to the best authorities on the subject, is one that combines intelligently directed work in the gymnasium with moderate exercise in the open air. Thus to interest men in gymnastics would do much toward developing them more effectively.

Gymnastics from the spectator's point of view is another very pleasing feature of this work. Who will deny that a long program of athletic events does not become monotonous after a while? How many people would pay good money to see a man on the stage whose act consisted of jumping over six feet? On the other hand, work skillfully and gracefully done on the different pieces of apparatus never fails to arouse interest. The one unwelcome feature of our basketball games last winter was the tedious wait for ten minutes between the halves. How interesting it could have been made if Williams would have had a gymnastic team to fill up that time with some clever exhibition work!

As the case stands, then, Williams has a gymnasium that is complete in every particular for the training of a gymnastic team;
there is material in the college that would furnish a very promising nucleus for such a team, and the college has a physical director who is in every way capable of training it. All that is needed is an effort by those interested to organize and make a decisive beginning. It is to be hoped that this will be done in the near future, so that Williams college may have a gymnastic team whose influence will create a greater interest among the students at large in gymnastic work.

OBITUARIES

'57—Dr. Alexander Hutchins, a prominent physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., died at his residence, 796 De Kalb avenue, in that city, on July 30, after a brief illness. Dr. Hutchins was born in New York city, January 24, 1835, and graduated from Williams in the class of 1857, as valedictorian. He entered Harvard Medical school, but later attended New York Medical college, where he received the degree of M. D. in 1860. He was house surgeon at Blackwell's Island until 1861, when he was commissioned a surgeon in the United States Navy. He continued a private practice in Brooklyn from 1863, when he resigned from the navy, until his death. From 1876 to 1879 he was president of the Kings County Medical Society, and in 1883 was elected president of the Medical Society of the State of New York. He was consulting physician of St. John's, St. Mary's and Long Island College hospitals, and was the author of several medical monographs. At the time of his death he was senior consulting physician of Brooklyn hospital.

1900—George Power Merrett died in New York city on Oct. 8. Rev. Mr. Merrett was born at Twickenham, England, on Aug. 9, 1873, but came to this country when very young. He prepared for Williams at Mt. Hermon school and entered with the class of 1900. While in Williams, he raised $3,000 for the churches at South Williamstown and Sweet's Corners, and their present success is in a large measure attributable to his interest in them. After graduation he entered Union Theological seminary and upon completion of his course there, in 1904, became pastor of the Moravian Presbyterian church, where he remained until his death.

'96—Irish has been elected a director of the Syracuse University Club for a period of three years.

1902—O'Neill is coaching Syracuse in football.

ALUMNI NEWS

'52—Rev. Stephen C. Pixley celebrated last summer the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival as a missionary in Natal. Rev. Mr. Pixley is the first member of the American Zulu mission to complete fifty years of service. He sailed from Boston October 25, 1855, by the sailing vessel Springbok, and did not reach Durban, Natal, until January 20, 1856. He went first to Amanzimtoti and later to Amahlongwa for 12 years, and has since been at Inanda. At the time of his arrival there were no schools, no frame buildings and no church organization, while now there are, around Inanda, 3000 pupils and over 4000 communicants. Rev. Mr. Pixley has also done important work in translating the Bible into the Zulu tongue.

'69—William W. Wight has been elected president of the Wisconsin society of the Sons of the of the American Revolution.

'71—Ex-Judge James R. Dunbar has been appointed chairman of the commission to carry out the improvements upon the Suffolk County Court house, Boston.

'96—Rev. Clarence W. Dunham has resigned from his church at Warrensburg, N. Y., and accepted a call to the Mount Kisco church in Westchester presbytery, N. Y.

'99—Miss Leslie Stafford Crawford of Trebizond, Turkey, and John Gale Hun of Albany, were married June 7 at the home of James C. Greenough '60, in Westfield, Mass. The bride is the granddaughter of Edward Don Griffin, third president of Williams, daughter of Rev. Lyndon S. Crawford, D. D., '76, and sister of Douglas G. Crawford 1904. The groom is a grandson of the late John B. Gale '42. The best man was Alexander D. Falek '99, of Elmira, and the ushers were Henry R. Conger '99, of New York, Robbius Gilman '99, of Yonkers, and Charles E. Lyon of Princeton, formerly instructor in German at Williams. Mr. Hun has been instructor in mathematics at Princeton for three years.

'99—George H. Ansley will be married on October 18, to Miss Charlotte Estelle Fish of Salamanca, N. Y.

Original Program Preserved

A large number of programs of the fiftieth anniversary of the Mission Park meeting, called the Missionary Jubilee, and held Aug. 5, 1856, were placed in the library at that time by Rev. Calvin Durfee, D. D., '25, for use at the centennial, and some of these were distributed at the meeting last week. These were found by Mr. Burr 19 years ago among some old library papers in a packet, marked, "Order of Exercises at the Missionary Jubilee at Williams college, 1856. Let them be preserved. Let them be seen in August, 1906. Prepared by Calvin Durfee. Distributed by Charles S. Durfee. (1860), Archibald Hopkins (1862), Amos L. Hopkins (1863), Charles ———." (Paper torn. The last were young boys in Williamstown at that time. Of course the classes do not appear on the packet.) This is the program of which a reproduction appeared in the supplement to Thursday's Record.

Meteoritic Specimens

During the summer six portions of meteorites have been added to the collection of the astronomical department. There are two type specimens of each of the three kinds of meteorites. The largest is a section two inches thick and eleven inches across, which fell in Canon Diablo, Arizona. It is known as a siderite, consisting chiefly of iron. There are several portions of the crust of this specimen. The other siderite is from the Sacramento mountains in New Mexico. There are two specimens of siderolites, showing a mixture of iron and stone. The aerolites are composed entirely of stone. All the portions are cut to show the exterior crust as well as the interior structure in the rough and polished form.

SCHOLARSHIP HONORS

Faculty Passes New System of Awards for High Rank

At a faculty meeting on Monday evening the committee appointed last spring for investigating methods of awarding honors for high scholarship, consisting of Ass't.-Prof. D. T. Clark and Ass't.-Prof. M. N. Wetmore, submitted its report. The new system finally accepted by the faculty will appear as follows in the college catalogue:

"At the end of each college year the faculty will award honors for high scholarship. These honors will be of two grades, viz: 'honors' and 'highest honors.' The names of the recipients will be read at the Commencement exercises, and will be printed in a pamphlet, which will be sent to the recipients, their parents, the trustees, and the faculty; and the names of the recipients will also be printed in the next annual catalogue. The names of seniors taking honors may be printed on the Commencement program.

"The award will be made in accordance with the following conditions:

"I.—FRESHMAN, SOPHOMORE, JUNIOR AND SENIOR CLASS HONORS.

"Class honors" thus designated will be awarded at the end of each year to the students in each class who have attained A in courses amounting to at least 24 semester hours in that year, and have fallen below B in none; and 'highest class honors' will be awarded to the students in each class who have attained A in all their courses for that year, provided the same amounts to at least 30 semester hours.

"II.—FINAL HONORS.

"A.—GENERAL FINAL HONORS.

"General final honors" will be awarded to those students who have attained A in at least half the hours of their entire course, and have fallen below B in none; and 'highest general final honors' will be awarded to those who have attained A in all the courses taken by them in college.

"B.—FINAL HONORS IN SPECIAL FIELDS.

"Final honors" will be awarded at graduation in any 'major' subject of study, as designated on page 44 of the catalogue, to any student who has attained A in all the courses making up his 'major.'

This list of honor men, published in the catalogue, will be entirely separate from the list of those receiving scholarships. In the pamphlet containing the names of the recipients of honors will also be published the names of all those receiving prizes at Commencement, including holders of Clark scholarships. By saying "attaining A in all the courses" for a year, is meant not an A average for all the courses taken during the year, but that an A grade must be obtained each semester in each

1910 Defeats 1909 69 to 48 in Annual Interclass Meet

The freshmen won the annual sophomore-freshmen track meet yesterday afternoon on Weston Field, scoring 69 points to the sophomores' 48. The meet was one of the best ever held and showed much promising material among the freshmen. Horrax, captain of the sophomore team, was easily the star of the meet, scoring 30 of the points won by his team. He was the only sophomore to win a first place, finishing in the lead in both the hurdle events, both the jumps, the pole vault and the discus throw. The 1909 team was handicapped by the absence of several weight men, who were not allowed to compete on account of football practice. The freshmen team, on the other hand, was well balanced, getting at least a second place in each event. Kelley and Merrill did the best work for the freshmen. The closest race of the day was the 120-yard hurdles in which Horrax and Merrill breasted the tape almost together in fast time. In the mile run, Grannis 1910 set a fast pace and gained a lead which the rest of the field could not make up. The high jump was closely contested, three men clearing 5 feet 8 inches.

FOOTBALL WITH ARMY

Williams Meets West Point Saturday—The Officials

For the first time in two years Williams and West Point met in football Saturday on the Academy gridiron. The West Point eleven has not been scored on so far this season, Colgate playing them a tie game without score last Saturday. The game in 1904 resulted in a victory for the Army by the score of 16 to 0. Since 1900 the Purple and the Army have met four times and Williams has never scored, the closest game being that in 1900 which West Point won 5 to 0.

The football team will leave at 2.01 Friday, will stay over Friday night at the Palatine hotel in Newburgh, and will return to Williamstown late Saturday night. Eighteen men will probably be taken. The officials for the game will be: Umpire, Denniston of U. of P.; referees, Vail of U. of P. A section of the grandstand will be reserved for Williams men, and as a large number of New York alumni expect to see the game, a special car from New York city to West Point will probably be provided.

English 4a and 4b Restored

Announcement has been made that at the trustees' meeting last Thursday it was decided by the board to revive English 4a and 4b. These courses, the earliest rhetoric courses given in the college curriculum, were limited in 1904-5 to those who were not taking or had not taken English 2, and were discontinued last year. The courses, which are requirements for graduation, call for two themes each semester on one of a list of assigned subjects from every member of the two upper classes, these themes to be discussed and corrections pointed out in a personal conference with some member of the English department. The details in the courses are in the hands of the executive committee of the trustees and are not settled as yet. Probably but one theme will be demanded the first semester. No action has yet been taken which will exempt any member of the upper classes from writing the themes.

A Chapel Custom

The leading characteristic of the services in the Thompson chapel has always been their dignity, an impression furthered last year by the orderly conduct of the student-body in making their exit from chapel without confusion. The system of leaving chapel begun this fall sacrifices order to haste. It inconveniences the upper classes by forcing them to be jostled together for fifty feet as if in a theater exit; it inconveniences the lower classes by forcing them, to avoid worse confusion, to lose time by leaving the building by what is, for many of them, the wrong door. Visitors in the rear of the chapel are now compelled to wait, as they were not last year, until the jammed centre aisle is empty; the lawn in front of the chapel is rapidly disappearing under the feet of the freshmen who have recitations in Hopkins and the sophomores who have recitations in Griffin. It scarcely seems as if much time was saved; two minutes would be an outside estimate, while five minutes' leeway is allowed at the beginning of every recitation in the schedule.

This is all outside of the argument founded on the long-established custom of the precedence of the classes in leaving chapel. In defending this precedence we do not claim to be defending the senior class, but rather college customs. Those to whom the customs of a quarter century of the college weigh little when compared with the loss of two minutes in the first recitation hour are not among the undergraduates. To the undergraduate the customs are the blood and bone of his college life, and any attempt to do away with them, whether they apply to senior, junior, sophomore, freshman or all classes alike, arouses his instant instinctive antagonism. His "Why" must find a reasonable answer to satisfy him. The custom of the years urges the old method of precedence; the argument that time is lost by the new does not seem applicable.

The Record would suggest that with a return to the old system (1) it would seem possible for a definite allowance to be made in the work of courses coming the first hour for whatever inconvenience occurred, if necessary; (2) that the privilege might be given those to whom it would be convenient of leaving in order of classes by the west (chancel) door after the faculty have gone out, and by the east basement door for those going to Griffin; and would add (3) that in case the disadvantages of the present system still seem to be outweighed by the little time that may be saved, it would be more acceptable either to shorten the chapel service, or, better, to begin chapel one minute or two earlier.

The 1906 Baseball Report

To measure managerial success wholly by the size of the balance turned in is as unfair as it is easy. The balance tells nothing of the policy adopted toward the team or of the interest that may be aroused in that particular branch of athletics, and tells next to nothing about the business ability shown. A large balance reported by an association in one year may be in reality less praiseworthy than a small balance reported in another.

The baseball manager has another difficulty to face that affects his report most of all, the weather. His preliminary budget for the season must be a gamble that the skies be propitious on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and, above all, on Decoration day. By great exertion and some frugality the 1904 management was able to report a balance when rain had swept away the May 30th receipts; in 1905 and 1906 the receipts from that one game exceeded the balance turned in by some hundreds.

All these must be considered in judging the 1906 baseball manager's report. The weather bureau set few storm signals for his home games. The weather for four of the five big games after the middle of May was perfect, and the sudden rain at the fifth came too late to affect the gate receipts. The team's excellence drew crowds that broke all records, and after the 16-inning 1-0 victory over Dartmouth an unusually large balance should have been assured. Gate receipts, the item that has usually determined the size of baseball balances, increased nearly $500 over the previous year.

The increase in the expenses that went with this increase was not justifiable. Athletic supplies were given out too lavishly. Without a second team to equip, they nearly doubled the expenditure of 1905. The training table also doubled the 1905 expenditure, and was run on a costly and unbusinesslike basis so apparent as to call for a stringent athletic council ruling this fall to correct the worst abuses. On the other hand a moderate policy was used in securing subscriptions, and no one would grudge a cent of the added hundred dollars expended for coaching. It is hard to find fault with a report that shows so large a balance, but, the more its items are studied, the more the conviction is borne home that a sum much larger should have been turned over to the council, and that the management was extravagant.

course, i. e., a man can not combine a high A in the first semester's work with a high B in the second semester to secure an A average. In the event of a student obtaining A in all courses making up two or three major subjects, "final honors" will be awarded the same as when A is attained in all the courses of a single major. The first award of honors under the new rules will be made at the 1907 Commencement, at which time the first pamphlet will be issued.

A. A. U. Basketball Guide

Spalding's basketball guide, edited by George T. Hepbron, issued under the auspices of the A. A. U., appeared this week. The book contains the Williams scores and, on page 42, a cut of the Williams basketball team of last year, but has no write-ups of college basketball. There are none but minor changes in the A. A. U. rules, the most important of which is a provision for two inspectors, one at each end of the hall, to determine whether or not baskets are thrown according to the rules. Williams does not play under these rules, but under those of the intercollegiate association.

OBITUARIES

'39—Prof. Samuel James Andrews, D. D., for many years a professor in Trinity college, died at his home, 956 Asylum avenue, Hartford, on October 11. Prof. Andrews was born at Cornwall, Conn., and entered Williams in the sophomore class, in 1836. After graduating in the class of 1839, he studied law in Hartford and Boston, and then opened a law office in New York city. He soon removed to Marietta, O., and, deciding to enter the ministry, attended Lane Theological seminary in Cincinnati for a year, in 1845. He was licensed to preach, and was pastor of Congregational churches, first at Torrville, Conn., and then at East Windsor, Conn. He travelled and studied abroad in 1854, and upon his return preached for some years at Hartford. He became instructor in metaphysics, moral philosophy and logic at Trinity, which position he held until 1883. He was a member of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. In 1879 Union conferred upon him the degree of D. D. Dr. Andrews was a man of eminent scholarly attainments and was the author of numerous articles and books on religious subjects, conspicuous among them "The Life of Our Lord on Earth," published in 1863, a standard work. Only two members of the class of 1839 are now living, Prof. William Porter, D. D., of Beloit, Wis., and Rev. Samuel J. White, D. D., of Walton, N. Y., and but four alumni from earlier classes.

'44—Hon. Marshall Wilcox, LL. D., the oldest member of the Berkshire bar, died at his home in Pittsfield on Sunday, October 14. He had been suffering for some time with heart trouble, and death resulted from a paralytic shock. Mr. Wilcox was born in Stockbridge, on March 19, 1821, and received his preparatory education at Lenox academy, at Lenox. Graduating from Williams in the class of 1844, he commenced the study of law. He entered the law office of Lester Filley, in Otis, where he studied until 1847. In that year he was admitted to the bar and practiced law from then until his death. In 1853 he removed from Otis to Lee. In 1866 he was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives from Lee, and in 1868 to the state senate. It was largely through his efforts while there that a state appropriation of $75,000 was secured for Williams. In 1871 he removed to Pittsfield, where he lived until his death. For several years he had been the oldest lawyer in Berkshire. Williams conferred the degree of LL. D. upon him in 1891. Rev. Dr. Addison Ballard '42 officiated at the funeral yesterday, and the bearers were James S. Knowlson '43, William B. Rice '44, Judge Joseph Taeker '51, Thomas Post '58, Charles E. Burke '81, Walter F. Hawkins '84 and Charles L. Hibbard '92. The superior court was adjourned for the day as a mark of respect.

All students who have not adjusted their accounts with the treasurer by noon of Saturday, October 20th, will be reported to the Dean for suspension under the rule.

A DECISIVE DEFEAT

Williams Loses to Army 17-0—Team Weakens in Second Half

West Point defeated Williams Saturday at West Point by the score of 17-0, making one touchdown in the first half and two in the second. The Williams line-up was considerably changed from that of former games. Elder is confined to the infirmary, and was unable to take the trip. Captain Waters took his place at left end, playing full-back on defence, and Pierce went to quarter, playing end on defence. Swain started the game at right tackle.

The field was very wet and muddy, and rain fell during the second half, giving the heavier Army line an advantage. At the opening of the game Williams played brilliant football, forcing West Point to punt whenever they had possession of the ball, and making steady gains through their opponents' line. Williams made some gains by means of the forward pass, but in general this play, as well as the quarter-back runs, was unsuccessful. Williams could not gain consecutively, and was never dangerously near the West Point line. During the first half Williams made first down four times and West Point but twice. The Army played its strongest game in the second half, using shift plays, and successfully working the on-side kick and a double pass from quarter to half back to end, while the Williams line weakened, and the team developed a tendency to fumble. Mountford made three attempts to drop-kick a goal from the field, but failed each time, the last attempt from the 40-yard line falling only a few inches short. Swain was especially conspicuous on the defense; Chapman and LaMent did well on offense. Clay, hurt in the first three minutes of play, was dazed and unable to play his best game. For West Point, Smith, Pullen and Mountford were the stars. West Point made most of their gains on line plunges through the right side of the line and through Harter. Threatening weather prevented the attendance of the large number of New York alumni expected. Head coach Hatch was at the game.

West Point kicked off to Chapman, who returned the ball to the 45-yard line. The Army, holding for downs, failed in its turn to gain and punted to Clay. A forward pass netted Williams twenty yards, but it was not allowed because Pierce failed to run five yards before passing the ball. The Army then got the ball on a quarter back kick, but failed to gain and punted. A West Pointer intercepted an attempted forward pass, and the ball was carried to Williams' 20-yard line. Mountford tried to drop-kick a goal from field, but failed. The Army again brought the ball within striking distance of the goal, and tried an other drop-kick with the same result as before. This left the ball

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Address by President Hopkins on Value of Friendship and Achievement

In the absence of Asst. Prof. Lewis, who was prevented by illness from speaking at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening, President Hopkins delivered a short address on the topic, "Is Life Worth Living?"

This question, which we hear asked every now and then, is one of the signs of a wearisome, agnostic and sceptical age. A rightly constituted man derives much happiness out of life. There are two things which tend to make life worth living: one is living for those who love us, who are our friends; the other, taking an active part in the great movements of our times. It is an excellent practice to form close associations with worthy men, for we get out of them the best of affection. One of the best features of life in college is the fact that here many of our deepest and most lasting friendships are formed. Those who get the most out of life are those who have the closest and purest friendships.

Personal activity in great movements is far better than mere passive participation in them. Pleasure comes from passing impressions and only plays a receptive part, but joy comes from taking an active part in something. "It is more fun to be out on the track than to sit still in the bleachers." In both intellectual and physical processes there is the greater satisfaction of actively employing one's faculties. It is higher and nobler to put forth our activity than to put forth our receptivity.

The possibility of achievement is one of the chief attractions of an enterprise. Samuel J. Mills is mentioned with admiration and interest because of his initiative and unlimited activity. His boundless energy was manifested in his trip on horseback to the Mississippi, his work in the slums of New York, and his exploring trip to East Africa. What the Christian Association needs is this same activity. So long as the Association maintains publicly its ideal of higher life, prosperity, respect and achievement are bound to follow. In the same way, the chief reason for the present honorable position of missions is what missions have achieved. Formerly they were regarded by many with a kind of half-scorn, but their educational and humanitarian value have increased so greatly that they now command respect. The Student Volunteer Movement, too, owes its success to its achievements.

Dr. Hopkins concluded his address by reading a short poem entitled "If I had Eaten my Morsel Alone," by Archbishop Derry, which was also read by Rev. Mr. Trowbridge in one of the Haystack Centennial meetings held in North Adams.

Scholarship Honors

The new system of awards for high scholarship, announced in the last number of The Record, should be looked at from two points of view: the amount of additional recognition it confers on high scholarship and the stimulus it gives to raise standards of scholarship.

From the standpoint of recognition of high scholarship, the present system is a great improvement on what has gone before. There has never been any real reason why high scholarship for one year should not receive some of the recognition given to high scholarship for four. While in the class of "final honors", we would hazard the guess that there have not been half a dozen men in the history of the college who would have been eligible for "highest general final honors," we believe, nevertheless, that it is a good thing to have such a pinnacle on which to place the future

Mommisens or William Dwight Whitney that may enter. "General final honors," which no man could scarcely win without Phi Beta Kappa in addition, is more a logical conclusion of a system that confers "class honors" than a practical much-needed recognition, but "final honors in special fields" gives honor where honor has long been due. The college catalogue, to be sure, has always stated the privilege of a grant of these honors in special cases, but this statement has been so near a dead letter that college history is said to record but one occasion of its use. To summarize views expressed at length last year, a curriculum arranged to combine an education along general lines with an education in special fields ought to show the second some measure of the reward given for the first.

The new system could have been made more beneficial from a student point of view, if it had provided more stimulus to raise standards of scholarship. The class of men who can and do get marks high enough to win "class honors" or "general final honors," do not need a stimulus from without as do those in the next rank. The same applies in less degree to the "final honors in special fields." Here the requirement seems to be a bit too severe to be practical as a stimulus. To allow a B in three semester-hours of a major would have encouraged more men to better work without lowering the standard of the honor too much.

The proposal of the committee that seems the most demanded in college at present was the one which was not put into the final system—that the names of high-standing men who do not receive money scholarships, be printed in the catalogue as well as those who do. These men now receive no recognition for the general excellence of their curriculum work until the end of their college course, and have no chance of finding out how they average with other men except from their grades—a basis so uncertain that from it a scholarship man cannot even tell accurately what his scholarship is to be. The award of "class honors" will affect few of them: the stipulation that no C can be obtained will eliminate many of those otherwise eligible.

The catalogue scheme is quite unfair to the non-scholarship man. The statement is printed that the list of holders of scholarships is considered an honor list. The average reader of the catalogue gains the impression that this list of about one-sixth of the college is the honor list of the whole college. It should seem only fair that the standing of the men of high rank in the other five-sixths receive a like recognition; certainly it would tend to raise standards of scholarship among them as this new system of honors cannot.

Williams, 39; Adams, 0.

On Saturday afternoon in a drizzling rain, the Williams golf team defeated Adams 39 up. On account of the inclement weather, Adams brought only five instead of ten men as scheduled. A. Mitchell in his match with Plunkett, played the best golf of the day, scoring 39-39, 78.

The summary:

NEW BASKETBALL RULESGame Made Rougher—Cowell '06
on All-New England Five

The official collegiate basketball guide for 1906-7, edited by Harry A. Fisher of Columbia, was issued last week. The book contains write-ups of the season of 1905-6 among the colleges in the different sections of the country, and contains the rules under which Williams will play.

The rules for next year have several important changes. One official is given entire control of the game. A delay of but two minutes is permitted for time out. A minimum dimension of 70 by 35 feet is given for basketball courts, with a provision that the side lines and end lines be at least 3 feet from any obstruction. The most important change is the definition of holding, which now reads as follows: "Any actual holding of an opponent with the hands, or impeding his progress in any manner more than momentarily shall be considered holding." The official interpretation of this rule states that it means only that the man guarded shall be free to move in some direction at any time, when the arms, body or legs are used. There is no limitation of "momentary" impeding, and a further interpretation apparently permits of hacking, consequently there seems to be no question but that the game will be much rougher under the new rules.

The guide assigns the Eastern Intercollegiate basketball championship to Pennsylvania, and, in a very fair article from the Williams standpoint, written by Mr. James A. Bartlett, athletic editor of The Dartmouth, gives the New England Intercollegiate championship to Dartmouth, with the Williams five second. Mr. Bartlett ranks the other teams in the following order: Syracuse, Colgate, Wesleyan, Holy Cross, Brown. The book contains a picture of the Williams team and the season's scores.

Mr. Frank L. Hardy, of Cushing Academy, chooses as an all-New England five: Grebenstein (Dartmouth) and Dearborn (Wesleyan) as forwards, Lang (Dartmouth) as center, and ex-Captain Cowell '06 (Williams) and McGrail (Dartmouth) as guards. Of Cowell he says: "He is as good a goal thrower as any New England forward, and no forward ever scored on him to any extent." For his second team he picks Neild (Williams) and Russ (Dartmouth) forwards, Pryor (Brown) as center, and Captain Tower '07 (Williams) and Rix (Dartmouth) as guards.

NOTICES

in Williams' possession on their own 15-yard line, close to the side lines. Waters punted poorly, the ball going out of bounds at the 20-yard line. West Point carried the leather over the goal line after twelve minutes of play, after a hard struggle, taking three downs to make the last six yards. No goal was kicked. Chapman again received the kick-off. Neither side was able to gain, and after much punting the half ended with West Point in possession of the ball on the Williams 30-yard line.

Weeks received the kick-off in the second half but advanced it only to the 25-yard line. Punts were exchanged twice, on the last of which Smith of West Point got through everybody but LaMent, who brought him down with a fine tackle. The next punt rolled over the goal for a touchback. After the punt-out, Smith on a trick play outside right tackle, plunged 20 yards for the second touchdown, from which a goal was kicked. Chapman again received the kick-off. A forward pass was fumbled and the ball was the Army's. On an on-side kick by Monntford, Stearns made a good gain. West Point then carried the ball over the line by straight football. Waters was hurt in the head soon after the kick-off, and was obliged to leave the game. The half ended with the ball on Williams' 30-yard line, after Monntford had narrowly missed in his third attempt at a drop kick.

COLLEGE NOTES

The trials for Cap and Bells will be held on November 1.

The freshman football team will play the Hotchkiss school at Lakeville, Conn., on Wednesday.

At a meeting of the debating teams, held on Thursday evening in Jesup Hall, Case 1907 was elected captain.

Prof. Cleland and the members of Geology 11 made a trip to Cheshire Saturday, to inspect a recently opened mine.

Mrs. Sinclair of South street gave a tea to the officers and chairmen of committees of the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday afternoon.

Sixty-seven men have yet to take a cut this semester. Of this number there are six seniors, eight juniors, seven sophomores and forty-eight freshmen.

Booth '50, Tyng '61, Pearson '86, Sheppard '92, Garfield, Miller '93, Wood '98, Alden '03, T. Jaekel and Kitchell '04, Judson '05 and Curtis ex-'07 were in town recently.

Prof. Russell has written an article on "Phlegmatism" which will appear in the Philosophical Review for November. It will also appear in the January number of Mind and of the Journal of Philosophy.

At a meeting of the members of the Co-operative Association, held at 1.30 Friday, an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of a director from the freshman class on the first Saturday of December, was passed.

The John Bascom club has been organized in Chicago to secure a bronze bust of Dr. John Bascom. The bust is to cost over $700, and will be finally deposited at the University of Wisconsin, of which Dr. Bascom was president from 1872 to 1886.

A meeting of the Massachusetts legislature's committee on taxation will be held tomorrow morning at 10.30, at the state house, Boston. Town counsel Clarence M. Smith ex-'77, will be present to uphold the town's position and the college may send a representative.

The constitution and by-laws of the Athletic council and associations in printed form have been distributed among the freshman class. They are similar to those distributed in former years, except that Williams' membership in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States is noted. The only other New England colleges in this association are Tufts, Holy Cross and Dartmouth.

At a recent visit to Williams-town, Wallace Clement Sabine, assistant professor of physics in Harvard, an authority on the subject of acoustics, recommended that strips of cotton flannel be hung over the walls of the chapel in different portions of the apse and the transept to get rid of the echoing caused by the resonance of the stone. Mr. Francis R. Allen, of the firm of Allen and Collins, who were the architects of the building, was in town to supervise the work.

THE NIGHT BEFORE

Annual Banquet of Conn. Valley Alumni Friday—The Speakers

The sixth annual meeting of the Williams Alumni Association of the Connecticut Valley will be held at Cooley's hotel, Springfield, on Friday evening, October 26. The banquet has been set for this date, the evening before the Dartmouth football game, that students may be enabled to attend both the banquet and the game.

A business meeting, for the annual election of officers, will be held at 6.30 p. m., and at 7.00 the banquet will be held. A musical program will be provided. Addressees will be made by President Hopkins, Prof. Hewitt, Rev. John Shoridan Zelle, D. D., '87, and Bainbridge Colby '90. Representatives are expected from the Boston, Worcester, Hartford, and New York city alumni associations, in addition to the local alumni, and undergraduates. The tickets for the banquet will be $1.50. All applications, whether from alumni or men in college, should be made to the secretary of the association, Rev. John Luther Kilbon '86, 323 St. James avenue, Springfield, who has also prepared to engage rooms at the local hotels for those coming from a distance. Plans for the banquet have been made on the supposition that many of the undergraduates will attend.

1856 Class Report

Col. and Dr. Henry Root, of Whitehall, N. Y., the secretary of the class of 1856, has just completed and published an attractive pamphlet of sixteen pages, describing the recent semi-centennial anniversary and reunion of the class. The booklet has on its cover a picture of old Griffin Hall, the way that the '56 men remember it, and contains three photographs of Williamstown and vicinity, and a view of the eight members of the class of '56 present at their reunion, grouped on West College hill.

Dr. Root has published a complete account of the class reunion. The report begins with the program, containing the menu of the banquet, and includes the preparations for the meeting and a description of the various events of the celebration. Reminiscences of the famous meeting of the class with Amherst '56 on Mount Ponnetook, in Charlemont, are recalled, and the full text of the correspondence between the Williams and Amherst '56 class secretaries published in full. This includes a letter from C. H. Hitchcock, Amherst '56, the only man who has given instruction in the three colleges of Amherst, Williams and Dartmouth. The book contains many reminiscences of President Garfield, who was a member of the class.

1902—Miss Rose D. Kinsman of Springfield and Arthur Francis Bassett, also of Springfield, were married in that city on September 26.

Ex. 05—Miss Roda Atkins, and Ellwood Williamson Watson, a former member of the class of 1905, were married at Atlantic City, N. J., on Wednesday, Oct. 3.

WILLIAMS VS. DARTMOUTH

On Hampden Park Saturday— Teams, Line-ups and Officials

The annual Dartmouth-Williams football game will be played on Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass., next Saturday, starting at 2.00 p. m. A special train will leave Williamstown at 10.45 and will arrive at Springfield about 1.00. The time of starting has been placed at this hour to give those having 9.30 recitations time enough to attend them. The train will return from Springfield early in the evening at a time not yet definitely settled. Tickets good going on any train Saturday morning and returning any time in the first three days of the next week will be put on sale by the management as soon as they reach Williamstown for $1.90. These can also be obtained at the station before the train leaves. This rate is conditional upon 200 going; if over 300 go, a rebate will be given.

Hampden Park is located at a ten minutes' walk from the station, turning up Main street to the right, and down Clifton street on the left hand side of Main street. Trolley cars run past the corner of Clifton and Main every minute. The field is laid out on the Springfield (Connecticut Valley league) baseball club's ground and is unusually level. The dirt portions of the diamond have been turfed over. Williams will have the whole east side of the field, Dartmouth the west (river) side. A corps of sixteen undergraduates will act as ushers on the Williams side. A section of the central portion of the Williams stand will probably be reserved as a cheering section. Tickets admitting to grounds and to a reserved seat are now on sale at $1.50; tickets admitting to the grounds only will cost $1.00. A final sale of tickets will be held in Jesup Hall tomorrow noon at 1.30.

The Hampden Park gridiron is one of the best in the east. The Harvard-Yale contests were held there before the colleges broke off relations in the nineties, and last year the Brown-Dartmouth game was played there, as it will be again this year.

Dartmouth, like Amherst and Williams, started the season this fall under great disadvantages. Twelve "D" men did not return to college, leaving as veterans only Lang at tackle, De Angelis, Pritchard and Stearns at ends, Captain John Glazo at quarter back and Greenwood at full. In addition, the new rules are unsuited to the style of game the Green has played in the past, and Coach Folsom is opposed to the "open game." In spite of this, the team has yet to be scored on. Comparative scores give no basis for judgment of the relative merits of the two teams, as Dartmouth's 26 points against M. A. C. merely show the Green's strength after two weeks more of

MASS MEETING TONIGHT

New Song for Dartmouth Game— Prof. Russell to Speak

A college meeting will be held at 7.30 this evening in Jesup Hall to practice songs for the Dartmouth game. Watson '05, DeCamp '00, Black '00 and C. A. Wright '97, old football men who have been on the grounds during the last week, have been asked to speak, and Prof. Russell will also talk on the coming Dartmouth game.

To get the singing of the college in better unison before Saturday's game, all the college songs will be practiced at the meeting. The words of the song written by Talcott Miner Banks '90, which will be used for the first time at the game, follow. The words have been set to march music by Mr. Salter.

Unshaken stand the everlasting mountains.

Circled majestic round the walls we love;

Unceasing flow for us a thousand crystal fountains, Filled from the bounty of the skies above.

So steadfast shall endure our Alma Mater's glory.

Rising triumphant over all her foes:
Brave hearts exult to tell the honors of her story.

Gladly they follow where her banner goes.

Williams, thrice hail to thee! We pledge our last endeavor,

Long as the breath of live our bosom fills;

And, through the coming years, thy loyal sons shall ever

Cheer for the purple of the Berkshire hills!

Rev. Dr. Cadman to Preach.

Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y., will preach in the Thompson Chapel next Sunday morning. Dr. Cadman, who is an Englishman by birth, is a graduate of Richmond college (London) and received the degree of D. D. from Wesleyan and Syracuse. For the past six years he has been pastor of the Central Congregational church of Brooklyn. During the five years previous to 1900 he was pastor of the Metropolitan Temple. One year ago last Sunday he preached in the chapel, and has been heard here every year for a number of years. Dr. Cadman is considered among the first pulpits orators in New York, and his powerful addresses have always commanded the most careful attention here. Dr. Cadman will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening.

SOCIETIES JOIN FORCES

'Technian and 'Logian, Separated for 111 Years, Unite Until Xmas

At the close of the regular meeting of the debating societies last evening, action was taken to bring about a temporary union of Philologist and Philotechnian until Christmas. Frederic T. Wood '98 addressed the 'Technian society on the present situation of debating and at the close of his talk that society invited Philologist to unite with them, the meetings to be held in 'Technian Hall. The other society accepted the invitation.

A committee, consisting of the two secretaries, Maclay 1909 ('Technian) and Ernst 1909 ('Logian), was appointed to draw up plans for a joint program every week. The meetings of the joint societies will begin a week from Wednesday.

"A LOSING VENTURE"

Town Counsel Says Williamstown Would Prefer College Away

The Massachusetts legislature's recess committee on taxation gave a hearing at the state house, Boston, on Tuesday morning on the taxation of college property. Williams college was not represented, but the town sent town counsel Clarence M. Smith ex-'77 to uphold its position. Mr. Smith stated that the poverty of colleges was less real than generally supposed, that they make their own deficits, and that there was a unanimous vote of Williamstown in favor of the bill. He said that in Cambridge the exempted college property amounted to only 7 per cent. of the total valuation, whereas in Williamstown it amounted to 33 per cent. In response to a question from a member of the committee as to what the town would do if the college should leave, Mr. Smith said:

"If it were put to a popular vote, Williams college would not stay in Williamstown a minute. The feeling of the town is that, at least from a financial standpoint, the college is a losing venture."

Mayor Michael F. Dwyer of Chelsea, opposed the Feiker bill vigorously, saying that he did not wish anything done to interfere with the work of giving an education to the poor boys of Tufts college. Among the others who spoke in opposition were Presidents Eliot of Harvard, Seelye of Smith, Huntington of Boston university, G. Stanley Hall '67 of Clark university, Pritchett of M. I. T., Sawyer of Williston, Stearns of Phillips Andover. Besides Town Counsel Smith, those who appeared in favor of the measure were Senator W. H. Feiker of Northampton, the author of the bill, and William J. Reilly of Amherst. President Eliot brought out the point that only two ways had ever been found for supporting schools, by the government, and by exemption from all civil duties.

VOL. 20 OCT. 25, 1906 No. 31

The Football Situation

The work of the football team through the first half of its schedule has been, on the whole, satisfactory. The team gave Harvard the hardest struggle any Williams eleven had given the Crimson in years, and the results of the other early games were in large measure what was expected. Nor was the work of the eleven in the game with West Point so disappointing as the score would indicate or as general college opinion has apparently decided. In the first half the Army was fairly outplayed; in the second half the superior weight and greater staying power of the home team were what definitely turned the scale. Williams comes up to the Dartmouth game with a good record behind it.

Dartmouth, it is generally conceded, has a much weaker eleven this year than it has turned out for some time. The Hanover college has lost much by the departure of a majority of the football "D" men, and more by the departure of the rules to which it had so long adapted its style of play. A college cannot change its style of play in a year, and Dartmouth, with a coach who deprecates the new rules, is finding it difficult to leave the old for the new. The score of the M. A. C. game makes clear, however, that Dartmouth has developed fast in the last two weeks.

Against Dartmouth, with this weaker eleven, Williams has a far better chance to win than in any football game since 1901. To be sure the team is not at the top of its power, with Colgate, Wesleyan and Amherst to come after; but neither is the Green, with Princeton, Amherst, Harvard and Brown on its schedule. Williams always plays its best against Dartmouth. The men on the team have worked hard all the week. If the constant fumbling that has marred the week's (and the season's) work so far can be stopped, The Record frankly believes that Williams has a fair chance for victory.

The team has done its part; but it is only a part, and because some have proved faithful is no reason why others should lag. The student-body has its part to accomplish: our support is absolutely necessary for victory. This is no overdone theory, no stock fiction of the editorial pen: lack of this support in the M. A. C. game two years ago, to take a simple well-known example, was the prime cause of a Williams defeat. Dartmouth realizes its truth, and with three more games to which student delegations will accompany the team, sets a minimum of 250 as the number that will go to Springfield Saturday; Williams, with but one other out-of-town game, should do as well from its smaller undergraduate total. The team's support so far has been only fair. College spirit has been quite half-hearted this fall, and needs reviving badly now.

And yet it would be far better to cast our college spirit, if it deserves that name, to the four winds of heaven, than pry it out of people. If a freshmen, under the five per cent cut rule, feels that he cannot afford the absence the trip will cost him; of if a man in any class feels that he can afford to save up enough cuts and money to go to Amherst only, it is excuse enough. But the rates are low, the men are needed to cheer on the team, and we need to go ourselves to feel the joy of united action that only these trips can give us.

C. A. Wright '97, who played center for Williams, and who later, while at Columbia, was chosen as guard on the "All-America" team, and R. Clifford Black 1900, center of the '99 team, are assisting in the coaching this week.

COLLEGE NOTES

Alexander 1907 and Swain 1909 have been taken on the training table.

T. J. Dowd, coach of last year's baseball team, was in town Tuesday.

The game scheduled for yesterday between 1910 and the Hotchkiss school was cancelled by the freshman management on account of lack of practice.

On January 1, 1907, the fare on all lines of the Boston and Maine, south of New Hampshire, will be reduced to a two cents per mile rate.

Newton '91 has been in town the past week. He coached the sprinters, distance runners and broad jumpers of the track team yesterday and today.

The following freshmen are entitled to wear their numerals as a result of winning firsts in the sophomore meet: Coe, Grannis, Kelley, Shields, Thomas, Wood.

Maclay '94, Wood '98, Squires '00, Austin '05 and Dryfoos ex-'09, have been in town recently. Ansley '99 has been at the Greylock on his wedding tour, as has Garfield '93.

A meeting of the Dentscher Verein, to act on the amendments proposed in the last issue of The Record, will be held in the German room, Hopkins Hall, at 7.30 tomorrow evening.

Yesterday a geology excursion was made by thirty-three men to Stone Hill, Flora's Glen and points on the Green river. On Saturday a trip will be taken to Shelburne Falls.

President Hopkins has written Rev. Hugh Black, the famous Scotch author-minister, who preached here last year on "The immortality of good influence," and who is again lecturing at Union Theological seminary this year, to secure him to occupy the college pulpit for some Sunday in the immediate future.

At the first meeting of the Western New York club, held Monday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Hompe 1907; vice-president, Groben 1908; secretary and treasurer, Sears 1909. The president was empowered to appoint a committee of three to make arrangements for a banquet to be held sometime in November. The club organized with eighteen members.

The Pennsylvania club, composed of all men in college from Pennsylvania, was organized Tuesday evening with the following officers: Waller 1907, president; Woodcock 1908, secretary-treasurer. The club, which has a membership of nineteen, plans to hold several smokers during the year. The club will also subscribe to a Philadelphia daily paper to be put in the Jesup Hall reading room.

The college catalogue is in the hands of the printer. First proofs of the pages containing the class rolls will be posted in Hopkins Hall for correction in about a week. It has been discovered by looking through old records and deeds that Hoxsey is the proper way of spelling the name of the street running between the Chi Psi and Delta Kappa Epsilon houses. In consequence, the other three variant spellings will be dropped from the catalogue.

FAST PRACTICE

'Varsity and Scrub Battle for an Hour and a Quarter

The last long practice in preparation for the Dartmouth football game at Springfield Saturday was held on Weston Field yesterday afternoon. A sharp final practice was held this afternoon. A large corps of coaches were on hand. C. A. Wright '97 had charge of the linemen and S. B. Newton '91, graduate, advisory coach, R. C. Black 1900, and J. A. De Camp 1900 were also on the field.

After the preliminary practice the linemen were exercised in making holes in the opposing line and blocking plays. The lines were placed facing each other as in play, but instead of starting them with the snap of the ball a pistol was used. The scrimmage was fast, and lasted for an hour and a quarter. Neither the 'varsity nor the scrub had much advantage. A number of regular 'varsity men played for part of the game on the second team, and frequent changes in the line-up were made. The first line-up was as follows:

WILLIAMS.	SCRUB.
Elder l e.	r e Pratt.
Swain l t.	r t Brooks.
Harter l g.	r g Reid.
Morse c.	c Sternberger.
Gutterson r g.	l g Rice.
Alexander r t.	l t Bargfrede.
Chapman r e.	l e T. Fowle.
Pierce q b.	q b Mahan.
LaMent l h b.	r h b Robertson.
C. Brown r h b.	l h b C. Brown.
Waters f b.	f b Westbrook.

The practice began with the scrubs kicking off to the 'varsity. In the entire time of play the 'varsity scored three touchdowns, and the scrub one, by a 70-yard run by T. Fowle on a fumble. The 'varsity showed improvement in speed, but fumbled badly, and the ball rarely changed hands by either eleven's holding for downs. The forward pass was worked successfully by the 'varsity several times. Waters' throws being remarkably accurate.

Williams vs. Dartmouth practice than Williams had had when it scored 5.

Dartmouth's line is heavy; its tackles, both veteran players, for Hobbs was captain of last year's Andover eleven, are fast and aggressive, but its three centre men are of more mediocre ability. The ends of the team are experienced, but the Williams ends should outplay them. The back field has not as yet shown itself to be of previous Dartmouth quality, but in Captain John Glaze at quarter-back the eleven has half its strength. A fair field general, with speed and dodging ability in trick plays and in a broken field, and one of the surest drop-kickers in a football suit today, he is the man Williams has most to fear.

In commenting on the Williams eleven's chances for the game, Field Coach Harry T. Watson said this morning:

"The team, as a whole and individually, has been coming very fast since the West Point contest, and I shall be surprised if they do not play fifty per cent. better against Dartmouth than they did in last Saturday's game. The line men are charging much lower and harder, while the backfield is much faster than at any time this season. Several important changes have been made in both the line and backfield, which should give us more speed.

"If the men will go into the game Saturday with a determination to play the best there is in them, to show that same fighting spirit which they have shown at times this year, the result will be a revelation to Williams men. The team has great possibilities, but success will be won only after that style of play has been used in which the eleven men are in every play, helping along the man with the ball."

The Dartmouth line-up, telegraphed from Hanover this morning, with ages, weights and heights of the players, follows:

Dartmouth-Williams Football

On October 27, 1883, Dartmouth and Williams met for the first time in football, Williams winning 5 to 2. Since 1888 games have been played every year, except in 1900. In 1890 Williams kept Dartmouth from scoring, but Dartmouth has kept Williams to zero in 1893, 1894, 1896, 1897, and since 1901. Williams has scored 77 points, Dartmouth 286. The scores of the games follow:

CHART OF THE DARTMOUTH-WILLIAMS GAME

WILLIAMS 0, DARTMOUTH 0

The Green Outplayed on Hampden Park—A Disputed Decision

Much to the surprise of both colleges and the entire football world Williams held Dartmouth to a tie game on Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass., Saturday, neither side scoring in forty-five minutes of play. The game was unusually interesting to watch as the game was spectacular and fast and both elevens had excellent chances for touchdowns. Each college thought it had scored once. Well toward the end of the first half Williams held Dartmouth for downs on its 8-yard line, after Hobbs had shot through for 8 yards and only a fine tackle by C. Brown had saved a score. Captain Waters punted, and Captain Glaze of Dartmouth made a fair catch on his 28-yard line, nearly in front of the goal posts. With Stuart holding the ball, he tried for a goal from placement, and the kick just curved enough to go about four feet to the west of the posts.

It was no optical illusion, however, that caused Williams' burst of cheering after 11 minutes of play in the second half. Waters, from his 26-yard line, made an on-side kick that bounded over Dartmouth's goal line after Glaze had, as it appeared from both stands, got his hands on the ball but fumbled it. Elder and a second Dartmouth man missed the ball, and finally Brusse of Dartmouth fell on it back of the goal line. Head linesman Foster, stationed near the goal line by Referee Pendleton to watch such a play, ruled that the ball had not been touched before it crossed the goal line, and that the play was thus a touchback. If Glaze touched the ball, the play should have counted 2 points for Williams.

Dartmouth was fairly outplayed by the Purple. At the beginning the Hanover backs made good gains, and at the end of the first half, and all through the second the Green was on the defense. The Williams eleven was in far better condition than Dartmouth at the end. Williams' offense was ragged, most of the gains being made by individual brilliancy rather than through excellence of the interference. Dartmouth's offense was poor, and made but four first downs to Williams' seven. Dartmouth played an old-style game, and her attempts at the quarterback run and forward passes were failures. Williams, on the other hand, made

ALL HALLOWE'EN

Annual Senior Celebration on Wednesday Evening

Wednesday night will witness the annual Hallowe'en celebration of the senior class. The carnival will be held in the Adams block, where a special stage with curtains is to be erected, and will be carried out on a grander scale than in any past year. The number of invited guests, outside of 1907, will be as usual, however, very exclusive. It is considered extremely bad form for the recipient of an invitation to have any other engagement for that evening.

The refreshments provided by the committee will be of the usual rustic order. The favorite beverage of Sweet's Corners, Mass., will be served in connection with a lunch-cart banquet by a corps of waiters furnished by the freshman class.

Following the immemorial custom, all lights in college buildings must be extinguished at 8 p. m., at which hour the senior class will form in line at the gymnasium. The parade will march through the campus on a tour of inspection, ending at the Adams block. Here a varied and interesting program will be rendered by the invited underclassmen. A quartette and orchestra will supply entertainment for the intermissions. The "stunts" arranged for will be kept a secret until the parade reaches the hall, when printed programs will be circulated.

Verein Constitution Amended

At a meeting of the Deutscher Verein held Friday evening in Hopkins Hall, the amendments to the constitution which were printed in The Record of October 18 were adopted, with the exception of Articles I and II, which were made to read as follows:

Article I. The Deutscher Verein shall be open to all those who are taking or have taken German 3, 4, 5 or 6.

Article II. To those having had a grade of A or B in German 3, 4, 5 or 6.

The amendments will go into effect immediately instead of upon Feb. 1, 1907, and the faculty will announce those who are eligible to membership. Meetings will be held in the second week of every month.

The following men were taken on the football trip to Springfield, Saturday: Alexander, Chapman, Pierce, Southworth 1907; D. Brown, Elder, LaMent, Reid, Waters 1908, Bargfrede, C. Brown, Gutterson, Harter, Morse, Robb, Swain, Westbrook 1909, Brooks, Johnson, Peabody, Pratt 1910.

Saturday's Game

Last Saturday the Williams eleven achieved what for eight years has seemed the impossible. The string of Dartmouth football victories was broken, and the two points that would have given Williams an actual victory seemed to have been made. At any rate the Green was clearly outplayed for the greater part of the game. The team played its hardest on Hampden Park: it kept gaining confidence and was stronger in the end than in the beginning. If the team can perfect its football in the next three weeks the way it has perfected its spirit in the last week, the Colgate, Wesleyan and Amherst problems—each as hard or harder to solve than Dartmouth—will lose their difficulty.

The unified support given by the student body showed that college spirit had been rising, too. The excellent work of the eleven deserves the further excellent support of the college, in the practice as well as on the Saturdays.

The Value of Communications

A single board of nine men, no matter how hard it try, cannot give so valuable an opinion on many subjects as those more closely connected with those subjects. The only long communication published this fall, on the need and value of a college gymnastic team, was made more authoritative by the fact that its writer was an expert in the subject. A single board of nine men, no matter how hard it try, must sometimes fail to express the tendency of college opinion on matters of college interest, as was seen in the hazing controversy of two years ago, and cannot touch on all matters that deserve discussion.

All of which leads us to lament that these many opinions of value do not see pen and paper. The requirement of signature is made in communications for obvious reasons. In view of the limited space in The Record, we would further ask those who may write communications to keep their length within reasonable bounds. The Record believes that the college paper ought to be a clearing-house of student opinion as well as a bank of issue.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Talk by Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman on "The Power of Love"

Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D., who occupied the college pulpit yesterday morning, spoke at the Y. M. C. A. meeting yesterday evening on the power of love. The Corinthians, to whom St. Paul addressed his words on love, represented the acme of the culture of their age, and added to this a special gift,—that of uniting culture and religion. However, in the words of Matthew Arnold, "Greek culture was a very great thing, but the world cannot live by it." What, then, is more excellent than culture? It is the everlasting power of love.

True culture is the knowledge of that which is best for the improvement of our own lives. It is not given to all of us to have what we call culture, but the fire of love can burn in the humblest breast. Love is the power that prevails in the last analysis, not culture nor knowledge. Some people, too, are troubled with spiritual experiences. But "the best thing to do when you get a vision is to keep your mouth shut." The power to love a fellow man, no matter what his condition may be, is the greatest thing of all.

The true test of love lies in the matter of forgiveness, which is the retraining of a man. Science scoffs at the idea of their being any forgiveness in Nature's make up; man may not pay now, but Nature is sure to remember him later. The test, the proof of God's love, lies in His forgiveness. He trusts and protects us. Love is the universal human language.

We must let love occupy a larger part of our life. Most men's lives are too much troubled with ideals that are bed-ridden, that never get out, but lie upstairs all their lives. It is our duty to bring down these ideals and put them into flesh and blood. It is because we are always compromising between our ideals and our selfishness in carrying them out that we are not better men.

NOTICE

—The first division of candidates for Cup and Bells, as posted in Hopkins Hall, will meet for first trials for the club on Thursday at 7.30 p. m. in Jesup Hall. The second division will meet on the following Thursday, November 8.

A. Mitchell '07 Wins Golf Finals

A. W. Mitchell 1907 defeated L. W. Mitchell 1907 Thursday in the finals of the college golf championship. The match was at thirty-six holes, A. Mitchell winning by 3 up and 2 to play.

The first 18 holes were made on Tuesday, with both players in good form, at the end of which A. Mitchell stood 2 up. In the last half of the match both men improved their scores. A. Mitchell increasing his lead to five up on the 22nd hole. By winning four out of the next five holes, however, L. Mitchell stood but one down at the turn. On this last round A. Mitchell played the best golf ever put up by any amateur on the Taconic course, making a 36 and breaking the college record for 9 holes, and though L. Mitchell did an excellent 39, A. Mitchell won out by 3 up and 2 to play. The 9 hole card of 36 is a new amateur record for the course and equals the professional record made by George Parr, the local professional, on the links this summer. The 18-hole record is held jointly by A. Mitchell 1907 and George Parr, with 76.

This is the third year A. Mitchell has won the college championship. The cards follow:

good use of the new rules, and gained much ground on open formation plays. On defense the teams were more evenly matched; Waters broke up many of the Dartmouth trick plays, and LaMent and Westbrook backed up the line strongly. In the line, the right side proved the stronger, but the Dartmouth linemen, especially Lang, came through repeatedly.
Most of Dartmouth's gains were made outside Swain and between Morse and Harter. LaMent and Waters starred on the offense for Williams, Stuart for Dartmouth.
A notable feature was the entire absence of fumbling.

Waters won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Chapman ran in the kick-off 14 yards, and C. Brown and LaMent made first down. On an attempted forward pass, the ball went to Dartmouth, but the Green was held 17 yards from the line. Brusse's pass to Glaze was poor, and Williams recovered the ball, but was soon forced to kick. Williams held again on her 22-yard line. Glaze's try for goal from placement went wide, and, after each eleven had tried to gain, Dartmouth got the ball 27 yards from the Williams goal, as C. Brown was blocked when he tried to catch Glaze's short punt.
Dartmouth made first down on the 17-yard line, but was held for downs, as described before. Late in the half Elder made the first of his brilliant plays by securing a long punt, well placed by Waters out of Glaze's reach, on Dart-mouth's 30-yard line. On an attempted forward pass, Waters dodged through for 15 yards.
Lament added six, outside left tackle, and LaMent and Westbrook made it first down on Dart-mouth's 5-yard line. Three line plunges netted but a yard, and Dartmouth got the ball four yards from her goal. After Dartmouth's punt out, Waters tried a goal from placement from the 40-yard line, but the kick went wide, and Stuart by a dodging side-line run, ran it back 32 yards. Time was called a moment later.

The ball was at the Dartmouth end of the field till the last minute of the second half, and the Green was constantly on the defense. At the start of the half Peabody was substituted for Westbrook, who had played himself out by his fine work in the first period. Williams' first attack on the Dartmouth goal was stopped on the 31-yard line; her second on Dartmouth's 43-yard line. The most spectacular play of the game followed. Waters, forced to punt from his 50-yard line, sent a high spiral to Glaze on his 17-yard line. The supposedly elusive Dartmouth quarter caught it cleanly, but was downed in his tracks by a beautiful diving tackle by Elder. Dartmouth could make but a foot in two rushes, and again punted. C. Brown ran the kick in 7 yards, and Dartmouth was penalized 15 yards for piling on.
Williams made first down, but owing to a poor pass by Morse, lost 5 yards. Waters kicked over the line for the play that caused the dispute. At the very end of the half Pever, who had replaced McDonald at left guard on Dartmouth, broke through and blocked a punt of Waters'. The

ALUMNI REUNION

Connecticut Valley Association
Meets at Springfield

The sixth annual dinner of the Connecticut Valley Alumni association was held at Cooley's hotel, Springfield, Friday evening, and was attended by about fifty alumni and guests. At the business meeting, held at 6.30 p. m., the following were chosen as officers for next year: President, Rev. D. Butler Pratt '83 of Springfield; vice-presidents, Hon. Joseph Tucker '51 of Pittsfield and Rev. John L. Kilbon '86 of Springfield; secretary, Edward T. Broadhurst 1901 of Springfield; treasurer, Frank J. Demond '82 of Springfield; executive committee (re-elected), Solomon B. Griffin '72 of Springfield, Dr. J. Clark Hubbard '77 of Holyoke, and Henry K. Hyde '87 of Ware.

The banquet was served at 7.30, with Rev. John H. Lockwood '68 as toastmaster. President Hopkins spoke a few words informally, insisting that the alumni should look forward rather than backward. He was followed by Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelle '87 of Plainfield, N. J., in a witty speech on Williams education. As one reason for refusing a Williams assistant professorship, he said that "the glory and strength of the faculty consist in what men are left off it."

Professor Hewitt spoke on the development of the American college, bringing out the point that the small college is rapidly passing in New England. There are scarcely any now with two hundred students, accepting that as the small college definition. He predicted a student-body of 600 for Williams next year, and said the only possible way to limit the number would be to stiffen the examinations, while he preferred to see Williams' facilities increase. He advocated a return to the study of the humanities and less weight laid on the sciences. "Let Williams try to train men for great literature and great statesmanship, not train them how to make wealth, but to use wealth."

Rev. Dr. Willard Scott '75, of Worcester, was the last speaker. Dr. Scott emphasized the responsibility the alumni have in helping out the college, and concluded as follows: "We must cultivate comradeship, not brotherhood, which we've worn threadbare. Brothers are those who are born in the same family, comrades those who have chosen each other of their own will. We must have group enthusiasm as well as individual enthusiasm. We should come to these reunions for expression of Williams' enthusiasm and of Williams' comradeship."

The following alumni were present besides the speakers: Rev. Dr. Theron A. Hawkes '44, Hon. Milton B. Whitney '49, Hon. William G. Harding '57, Prof. George F. Mills '62, Dr. Edward B. Nims '62, Rev. John H. Lockwood '68, Solomon B. Griffin '72, Clarence B. Roote '76, Dr. J. Clark Hubbard '77, Rev. George W. Andrews '79, Frank J. Demond '82, John Tatlock '82, Robert A. Clark '85, Dr. Harry B. Holmes '85, Rev. John L. Kilbon '86, John C. Robinson '86, T. M. Taft '86, Josiah M. Lasell '86,

THE COLGATE GAME

Purple Meets Strong Maroon Eleven on Weston Field Saturday

Williams meets Colgate at football Saturday afternoon at 2.30 on Weston Field in a game which will probably be no less closely contested than that against Dartmouth.

The officials for the game will be as follows: J. A. Evans, Williams '93, referee; Wrightington of Harvard, umpire; H. L. Easton of Yale, head linesman. Evans and Easton were referee and head linesman, respectively, in the game last year.

Line-up of the Teams

The Williams back-field is still undecided, but the line-up will probably be as follows:

Elder le, Swain lt, Harter lg, Morse c, Gutterson rg, Alexander rt, Chapman re, Waters qb, D. Brown chb, C. Brown lhb, Westbrook fb.

The Colgate eleven will start the game as follows:

Player.	Position.	Weight.
Houseman	left end	182
Simmons	center	230
Linn	right guard	203
Boardman	right tackle	185
Knapp (capt.)	right end	161
Stowell	quarterback	164
Whelan	left halfback	148
Cottrell	right halfback	159
Woodman	fullback	192
Average weight		183

The Colgate Eleven

Colgate will start seven men in Saturday's line-up who played against Williams last year: Boardman, Houseman, Huntley, Knapp, Simmons, Stowell and Whelan, and a guard on last year's eleven, Ford, has been beaten out for his position by Linn. The men lost by the Maroon from the 1906 team, however, include Castleman, whom some picked for All-American fullback, Range, one of the best fullbacks that has played against Williams in recent years, and Cartter, who had the extraordinary record of playing every minute of every game in his four years of college football. In spite of this loss the Colgate eleven has an excellent record, and its scores against West Point, though the Army played no such football in that contest as it did against Williams, and against Syracuse, show its power.

Little definite is known about the Colgate team except from its scores. The attack has been weakest, although the playing of a fast halfback as the veteran Stowell at quarter shows that the backfield cannot be very poor. Woodman, the Maroon's freshman fullback, made big gains through the Cornell line. The team made little ground against Syracuse, scoring on a fumbled punt.

The defense of the team has been remarkable. West Point, could not gain through the heavy,

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATED

An Evening of Music and Mirth—The Programme

The class of 1907 added a new lease of life to the All Halloween celebration last night, when they held a grand carnival of music, mirth and missiles in the Adams block. From the standpoint of the members of the class the affair was a huge success, but the performers appeared inclined to criticize the lack of a proper decorum, which seemed at times to interfere somewhat with the correct rendition of their efforts.

The senior class met at the gymnasium at 8.30, and made a tour of the campus to assure themselves that all lights were extinguished. The undergraduates who had received postals appeared meanwhile at the hall, and were marshaled in an anteroom while the class was seated. A temporary stage, with sheets as curtains, had been arranged, and the hall connecting was utilized as a haven for the hungry and thirsty.

The festivities were opened by a little light music by the underclass members of the mandolin club, which was submitted to by the audience with undisguised impatience. Following this the regular program, as given below, was run off in a haze of smoke and uproar that would have shamed the Chicago stock exchange. The committee had provided a liberal supply of apples and tomatoes, which made the appearance of each performer little short of a bid for summary death. Gould 1910 acted as the man behind the megaphone, with much verve and success, while Gravea 1910 and Paine 1910, late of the Algerian guards, alternated at the piano. Some of the numbers were really remarkable for the skill displayed. Graves 1910 emphasized the opportunity for a college vaudeville by some very clever legerdemain with cards and billiard balls, that would have perhaps been better appreciated after the enthusiasm of the audience had lost its first frenzy. It was openly regretted by all present that the undergraduate Macbeth did not seem to be in good voice. Toll 1909 had a witty speech on the abolition of the Halloween celebration that was good enough to get a long and comparatively undisturbed hearing, and H. L. Fisher 1909 scored a hit more than once in a quite impromptu speech on a congenial subject.

The most popular number of the evening, however, and the only one suffered to proceed without any interference on the part of the audience, was a duet on the mandolin and guitar by Noble 1909 and Powell 1910. They were repeatedly encored, and discouraged real music. The celebration closed before midnight with the singing of "Come Fill Your Glasses Up." Refreshments of a between-the-acts nature were served between the numbers, with "Harveyized" but

NEW COLLEGE SONG

To Be Practiced at Mass Meeting in Jesup Hall Tonight

A college meeting will be held in Jesup Hall at 7.30 this evening to practice the college songs and to rehearse two new ones. The marching song written by T. M. Banks '90 and set to music by Mr. Sumner Salter, which was tried at the college meeting last week, will be rehearsed again for use Saturday. A new song, "The Purple Team," both the words and music of which were written by C. F. Brown 1909, will also be tried. The words follow:

We will sing this song as we march along

To old Williams and her fame:
Let the mountains sing and the valleys ring

With the glory of her name:
And when to the fray in bold array
She turns her might.

We will cheer, cheer, cheer, for the Purple dear,
And fight, fight, fight.

Cheer for the Purple Team as we march along.

Cheer for the Purple Team with voices strong.

Cheer for the Victory in Purple and Gold agleam,

We'll never give in, we'll fight till we win.

All hail the Purple Team!

Debating Teams Chosen

At a meeting of the 'Varsity debaters held Monday evening the make up of the teams for the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debates was decided upon as follows: Upholding the affirmative, Roy Herbert Case 1907 of Canandaigua, N. Y., and Howard Saurier Dodd 1909 of Glen Ridge, N. J., with Henry Wolcott Toll 1909 of Denver, Col., as alternate; upholding the negative against Amherst at Amherst, John Kenneth Byard 1908 of Fly Creek, N. Y., and Francis Bowes Sayre 1909 of South Bethlehem, Pa., with Morris Leopold Ernst 1909 of New York city as alternate.

The Law

The first of a series of talks on the different professions as life works will be given before the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday evening at 7.30 in Jesup Hall by Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren '85 of Boston. Mr. Warren, who will speak on "Law as a Profession," is practicing law in Boston in partnership with I. McD. Garfield '93. He has been a trustee of the college since 1902.

Hockey Rink and Tickets

The hockey rink on Weston Field will be leveled for the coming season and the sides boarded, but the rink will not be enlarged as intended. Tickets which will be good for admission to all games and which will permit the holder to use the rink, will be issued by Manager Weeks at $2.00 each.

'VARSITY GAINS EASILY

Four Touchdowns Scored Against Scrub—Frequent Fumbling

The 'varsity and second team lined up yesterday afternoon for two scrimmages of about twenty minutes each. A. Brown 1907, left half-back on last year's football team, was out again for the first time since the Harvard game, and played left half on the 'varsity for the last few minutes of play, making a 20-yard run for a touchdown the first time he took the ball. Clay 1910 was also out in uniform for the first time since the West Point game. The field was wet and muddy, and a drizzle was falling all afternoon, which accounted for the too frequent fumbling of both teams. The scrub scored once in each half on long runs by Pratt and Wells, after fumbles. The 'varsity, by on-side kicks, forward passes and plays from special formations, carried the ball the length of the field for a touchdown, and after Chapman's attempt to drop a goal from field had failed, scored a second touchdown again largely by plays using the new rules. In the second half the 'varsity scored twice.

The scrubs were unable to make first down by straight rushes during the entire time of play. Neither line held at all well on kicks. Pierce at quarter for the 'varsity ran in punts in good style, but when trying quarterback runs ran back too far, losing many yards. Pratt went down fast under punts and allowed but few gains around his end.

At the first kick-off the line-up was as follows:

'Varsity.	Second Team.
Chapman re,	le T. Fowle,
Alexander rt,	lt L. Fowle,
Gutterson rg,	lg Pike,
Morse c,	c Roberts,
Harter lg,	rg Reid,

Philotechnian and Philologist

Do the interests of Williams debating demand that Philotechnian and Philologist unite? The answer to this question depends very much on the perspective of those who are considering the matter. To the older alumni of the college, to make permanent such a scheme of union as is now to be tried by these societies until Christmas will seem rank heresy, to the younger alumni perhaps possible, but a proposal that needs strong reasons to prove its necessity, while probably the majority of men in college have not given the matter a second thought.

Barring the Adelphe Union, we have no societies and few institutions in Williams college that can look back on a past like that of the two debating societies. Founded in 1795, they possessed an importance during the first eighty years of the college that can at present scarcely be imagined.

NEW YORK
Formerly at Union Square

One of a freshman's proudest possessions was his debating society pledge-button; men so prominent as Edward Everett delivered addresses before the societies' meetings. Debating was the one interest of the college, and even the college catalogue printed 'T' and 'L' after the names of the students enrolled by each society. The rivalry between the two was bitter, and by its very bitterness brought out the best that was in every one of the members.

Now the emphasis in undergraduate life is laid elsewhere, and debating is in danger of being pushed still farther back by the flood of new activities unless some changes are made soon. And still the burden of proof for any such radical changes in the present societies lies very strongly on the side of those who argue for their combination. They must show that conditions in college would justify the action. The Record believes with them that conditions do justify the action, that something must be done for the interests of debating in Williams, and that this combination is the best thing that can be done.

Two years ago, the debating societies, although interesting fewer men than they should have, interested those few deeply, but at present even the 'varsity debaters' can give them little of their time. The debater's year is full. In September and October come the preliminaries of the first debating league, in December the finals. Immediately the preliminaries of the second league begin, and in March come the finals with Brown and Dartmouth. From March until May comes a respite, and then the preliminaries of the first league begin again. In short, the time any one of the 'varsity debaters' has to put into society debates is extremely limited, and the experience of the last two years has shown that there is not enough activity outside of the 'varsity debaters' to support the societies as they should be supported. Apparently something must be done.

The fact that there are two 'rival' societies instead of one does not add to the interest, for the rivalry between them has for some time entirely disappeared, except in jest; no class now in college ever listened to an inter-society debate, the last expression of that rivalry. On the contrary, what interest there is is lessened by the division. No man can learn how to debate with a row of empty chairs to address, and it does not take much mathematics to see that a single society might have its hall well filled, while, in the present chronic empty chair stage, neither society's hall is even moderately well filled. Debating is an intellectual effort, and there are, unfortunately, not many in college self-sacrificing enough to make the effort for their own intellectual development along these lines where there are none of their fellows to help them on. The society rivalry gives no stimulus; it would be better for the few to concentrate their efforts as much as possible and, when all outside stimulus is lacking, get the benefit of all the mutual stimulus they can. Some material benefits that would result to Williams debating from this proposed concentration of forces will be considered in the next issue.

Parodies

The additions to the number of Williams songs in the last ten days have shown that there is far more ability in college to write dignified, original verses and music than had been supposed. There is another musical field that we might do well to invade at the same time. In view of the fact that the Wesleyan and Amherst games are but a few days off, it would not be amiss to be thinking up parodies of popular tunes for use at these games.

A parody, unlike a true college song, has no lasting value in itself, but it often serves a purpose which more substantial music cannot. It makes excellent music for a football game, for it is, at bottom, nearly as much cheer as song, is in fact a song with a cheer movement. The success of parodies in other colleges has been marked. Dartmouth's variation of "Rufus Rastus Johnson Brown" has proved its worth, and the success of "It Certainly Is Old Williams Day" shows what even hasty effort can do. It does not require much poetical ability to write a parody, and doesn't require any musical ability at all. The leader of the Glee Club will be glad to receive any such verses, and any placed in The Record box will be turned over at once to the proper persons.

Anyone who heard the Williams singing swell out over Hampden Park Saturday would readily believe that this college is fairly on its way to rank with Wesleyan as a singing college. We have shown that we can sing well the songs we have, the ability to write new stirring songs seems to be with us again, and with one or two catchy parodies as well to use against Wesleyan and Amherst our musical results will be for once as good as could be asked for.

Knapp is doing the punting of the team. Stowell the drop kicking.
Houseman, who played an excellent game at tackle against Williams in Albany last year, is a strong defense player and very fast down the field under kicks.
On paper the Colgate eleven looks stronger than either Wesleyan or Amherst at their present stage of development.

Past Williams-Colgate Games

Williams and Colgate first met on the gridiron in 1895 and have played each other in every year since then except 1894 and 1900, in games which have been, with two exceptions, unusually close and interesting. Since 1901 the games have been particularly hard fought. In 1902 Colgate swept the Williams eleven off its feet for the first ten minutes of play until a Williams rally more than turned the tables. In 1903 Colgate was beaten rather easily, but in 1904 the Maroon, outweighing Williams, won on three successive long runs by Castleman late in the second half on a wing shift play, followed by line plunges.
At Albany last year Colgate, weakened by the absence of Runge, was beaten in a gale of wind by a single touchdown, Williams gaining 352 yards to Colgate's 76.

In the nine years Williams has won seven games and kept Colgate from scoring in five. Williams has scored 94 points, Colgate 35.

The scores:

1895	Williams 30	Colgate 6
1896	Williams 4	Colgate 0
1897	Williams 0	Colgate 18
1898	Williams 5	Colgate 0
1901	Williams 29	Colgate 0
1902	Williams 15	Colgate 5
1903	Williams 6	Colgate 0
1904	Williams 0	Colgate 6
1905	Williams 5	Colgate 0

OBITUARIES

Ex-64—James Cowan died at his home, 35 Suffolk street, Holyoke, on October 9, after a short illness. He was born at Westfield March 8, 1841, and prepared for college at Pittsfield High school. He entered Williams in the class of 1864, in the fall of 1860, but at the end of his freshman year he left college and enlisted in the 34th Massachusetts infantry. For three years he served as a corporal, until severely wounded in the battle of Winchester, after which he was taken to a Philadelphia hospital, and did not recover until after the close of the war. He then returned to Pittsfield, and entered the book business, where he was also connected with the Springfield Republican. In 1881 he removed to Holyoke as private secretary to William Whiting. From 1887 to 1896 he was in the printing business, and from 1896 until his death he was connected with the Milton Bradley Co. of Springfield. He was active in literary work, his two best known books being "Daybreak" and "The Martians."

COLGATE OUTCLASSED

Williams Victory by Score of 23 to 9—Goal From Field by Stowell

In a spectacular game that showed clearly the possibilities of the new rules, Colgate was defeated by Williams on Weston Field Saturday afternoon by the score of 23 to 9. The defeat was the worst Colgate has received this year, and broke up the series of one-touch-down games which seemed to have become an established thing between the two teams. Forward passes, end runs, much punting and a brilliant drop-kick made the game the most interesting seen on Weston Field this year. The ball seasawed up and down the field constantly. During the first half Williams, in spite of the fact that LaMent and Westbrook were not in the line-up, played its best game of the season, and seemed to daze the Colgate eleven by the rapidity with which its varied formations were run through. In the second half, Williams, after a muffed punt, was swept off its feet, but rallied finely, held for downs on the 1-yard line, and took the heart out of the Colgate attack. Had the halves been but 25 minutes long, the score would have been only 11 to 9, but the Williams attack gained in strength as the goal line was approached. The game was hard fought and the rules strictly interpreted. One Colgate man was disqualified for kneeling and two Colgate men and one Williams man for technical roughness.

Colgate showed the lack of coaching for a good defense under the new rules, was especially poor in tackling and their three center men charged very slowly and were outplayed. The Maroon eleven had but one consistent ground-gainer, Woodman, and made most of its yards off the tackles. Williams was much outweighed, but the whole Colgate team showed the loss of its last year's stars, Castleman and Runge. The feature of a game that was all features, however, was Stowell's drop-kick in the second half. Standing on his 33-yard line near the middle of the field, a poor pass from the Colgate center bounded to him. With the Williams line men charging through, he kicked the ball squarely between the posts. Captain Knapp and Houseman, who apparently had the best football knowledge of the men on the eleven, were outplayed by Elder and Chapman.

The Williams offense was snappy, and showed much improvement over the Dartmouth game. Waters used excellent judgment in running plays in the first half, but in the second half tried one trick play after Colgate had shown it had solved the formation. C. Brown, in spite of his lack of speed, showed great improvement in offense and tackled well in the open field, and Waters' interference on end runs frequently took care of two and three men.

Resolutions Passed Regarding Award of Numerals

At the college meeting, held in Jesup Hall Thursday evening, a set of seven resolutions was passed with regard to class athletics. Of these resolutions three were substantially re-enactments of action taken last year. One, No. 6, was put into effect November 23, 1905, and two more, Nos. 2 and 3, were passed by a college meeting May 21, with the exception of the provision concerning the winning of eight points in the sophomore-freshman track meet. The resolutions, which were amended so as to be considered in effect from the beginning of the college year, follow:

1. Football numerals shall be granted only to men taking part in the annual freshman-sophomore football game, and to managers of these teams.
2. Baseball numerals shall be granted only to men taking part in at least eighteen innings of the interclass baseball series, and to managers of these teams.
3. Track numerals shall be granted only to men winning a first place or any eight points in the annual freshman-sophomore track meet.

4. Numerals, even though won in a regular way, shall not be worn by anyone until notified by letter of this privilege by the manager of the corresponding 'varsity team.

5. Any man winning a letter with a 'varsity team shall have the right to wear the numerals of his class.

6. Any man taking part in class athletics must play with the class in which he is registered at the Dean's office.

7. All freshman teams shall be directly under the control of the captain and manager of the corresponding 'varsity team.

THE LEGAL PROFESSION

Address by Hon. B. W. Warren '85—Value of Devotion

Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren '85, a trustee of the college, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall yesterday evening on the law as a profession. The talk was the first of the series of life-work talks to be given this fall and winter.

All professions have a price, and that of the law is a high one—a price that may be summarized in the word denial. One who wishes to be admitted to the bar must begin early in his education, though not necessarily specializing, to develop as an all-round man. A college education will be almost necessary to his success. He must devote his entire time to the study of the law, and must be prepared to give up temporarily all social and domestic relations.

From the financial standpoint a lawyer begins making a competence comparatively late, and even then generally does not make more than in other professions. The average yearly income is low, probably nearer $3000 and $4000.

The life of a lawyer is a "continual intellectual struggle," and he cannot know too much. Many lawyers fail, generally because they are not prepared to pay the full price of success. The law is a profession of "crystallized common sense," and the successful lawyer must have, besides his wide general knowledge, a knowledge of men. This does not necessarily mean magnetism, but a thorough knowledge of human nature with which to judge, impress and convince jury and justice.

The practice of the law has changed within the past forty years, and the lawyer is now less of an orator than formerly. The law itself is less profitable than it was half a century ago, most of the cases being accident and injury suits. The lawyer is now employed more to keep his client out of court than to plead his case within court. He also often has to be a good business man in order to advise what methods are legal.

The successful lawyer must be a man of character and reliability, and above all he must pay the price—the price of denial and ceaseless work.

The final makeup of the college orchestra has been decided upon, as follows: First violin, LaMent 1908, Noble 1909, Westbrook 1910; second violin, Birdsell 1907, Loughridge 1908, Harrower 1910; cornet, Merrill, Wood, Dealy 1910; 'cello, Sternberger 1907, Reid 1908, Doubleday 1910; drums, Hoyne 1907.

A Debating Benefit

The proposed union of Philo-technian and Philologian can be made to result, if carried out, not only in a strengthening of interest among the debaters but also in benefits of a more material nature. The present facilities afforded 'varsity debaters for working up a debate are poor. The only place which can be used by them for conference purposes is some alcove or the west wing of the college library, both of which are not private enough and may interfere with others using the building. In fairness to all, the debaters ought to have a suitable conference room like that of the college press, as well as a suitable place for a library of the many books of reference used by them.

The college, although it should recognize the undergraduate intellectual interests, cannot afford to spend much money for such a conference room so long as it already presents the debaters with the use of the halls in South College. The proposed union, however, would at once throw open to the college for dormitory purposes one of the debating halls, and thus, since property now giving no revenue would then return a sizeable sum each year, render the needs of the debaters entitled to more consideration.

The combined debating society would have a second source of revenue, the society libraries. Most of the undergraduates are not aware of their existence; few of them, whether debaters or not, have ever laid hands on one of their nine thousand dust-covered volumes. Nor is neglected opportunity the reason for this. The books, at the top of South College, are not conveniently located for reference purposes, and the halls are of necessity always locked. Though the majority of the volumes are old and out of date, the libraries are by no means worthless; the amount of new material (and even fiction) they contain is quite considerable. One of them has been valued at $1,000—probably an overestimate—but it is probably not going too far to state that the two together are worth that amount.

Though a few of these books are of value to the college library, the cramped condition of Lawrence Hall demands an outside seminar system rather than an addition to the volumes put upon its shelves. It would be far preferable, from all points of view, if such an outside debating library could be started, that could at the same time be so located as to be a study room for debaters, in short, a debater's seminar.

A room that could easily be utilized for this purpose is the tower room of the old chapel, now Goodrich Hall. It is away from the part of the building where recitations are carried on and is therefore quiet, it is easily accessible to the debaters, to the library, and particularly to the branch library in Goodrich Hall that contains many of the government publications. It is large enough for a conference room, and has a small alcove-room opening from it that is almost ideally fitted for the shelves of a debating library. Its use would relieve library congestion and satisfy a debating need. The expense of fitting up would be slight, and could be easily met by the results of the union of the societies—if not by the surplus revenue the college would derive from the use of one of the debating halls, by the sale of the less useful part of the debating libraries.

Freshman Athletics

The seven resolutions passed at Thursday's college meeting were, with one exception, either a re-statement of the old method of awarding class numerals or an extension and systematization of that method. The single exception, the concluding resolution, is the most important one of all for the good of Williams athletics. Freshman teams are the class teams most necessary to have well managed, since they bring to light future 'varsity material, and since they alone play outside games. Owing to inexperience rather than any lack of hard work, it has often proved the case in the past that the success of freshman managements has been in inverse ratio to this necessity. The system of control by the 'varsity authorities is intended to bring about that schedules arranged neither involve too much expense nor are too difficult, that the teams receive proper coaching, and that all suspicion of lavishness or favoritism in the award of numerals be done away with.

A particular team that has always been handicapped by the old arrangement is the freshman football team, which is not only compelled to form its schedule long after other teams have completed theirs, but is put still more at a disadvantage by the fact that no class manager for the eleven can be elected to hurry through this schedule-making until two weeks after college has opened. It is evident that this team would be much benefited if the 'varsity football manager were allowed to make up its schedule in the previous spring. The spirit of the resolution—to help freshman athletics as much as possible—would allow this action, if not the letter.

COLLEGE GEOLOGISTS

Representatives from Eight Institutions at Meriden

Williams sent six representatives to the Intercollegiate geological excursion at Meriden, Conn., last Saturday. The colleges represented in the association are Amherst, Brown, Harvard, M. I. T., Mt. Holyoke, Smith, Wesleyan, Wellesley, Williams and Yale. The Williams delegates left town at 2.30 Friday afternoon and arrived at Meriden at 7.29 p. m. Friday evening. After spending the night at the Winthrop hotel, Meriden, all of the college delegates started at 8 o'clock Saturday morning to examine the geological formation and lava outcroppings of the Connecticut valley. Several quarries near Meriden which illustrated the main lava outcroppings were visited first, after which a trip was made to the lower lava sheet at Lamentation Mountain. The tour extended as far as Berlin, where the party disbanded at four o'clock.

All of the colleges of the association were represented except Amherst and Smith. The delegates numbered in all 56. Williams was represented on the tour by Prof. Cleland; Conter, Keith and Weeks 1907; Groben and Sleeper 1908. Prof. Cleland was elected permanent secretary of the Intercollegiate Geological Association. The 1907 excursion will be held in Providence, R. I., instead of at Williamstown as originally intended.

New Board Track

The contract for the new board running track has been awarded to the firm of Clark & Brown of Williamstown. Two-inch planks will be used in the construction, thus making the new track double the thickness of the old one. The track will be twelve laps to the mile, and will be of the general shape and dimensions of the old one.

Colgate Outclassed

In the line Morse and Gutterson did the best work, although the latter played so aggressively that he frequently got offside.

Waters kicked off at 2.30 to Colgate, defending the north goal.
The ball was returned to the 27-yard line, but Colgate was unable to gain. The ball exchanged hands twice, a Williams forward pass went wrong, and Colgate line plunges made 25 yards. Penbody caught an on-side kick on Williams' 35-yard line and by two perfectly executed forward passes—
D. Brown to Swain and Waters to Elder—the ball was taken to Colgate's 22 yard line. With nine yards to gain on the third down, Waters tried a drop-kick but failed, Colgate getting the ball on the 15-yard line. Cottrell then went outside right tackle on a delayed pass, and had a clear field with the exception of C. Brown, who stopped him on Williams' 50-yard line. Chapman got the ball on an attempted quarterback kick and ran 20 yards with it.
Neither side was able to gain and Waters punted to the 15-yard line, where Stowell missed the ball and
C. Brown fell on it. From here
D. Brown went around right end for a touchdown after 15 minutes of play. Waters missed an easy goal.

Waters again kicked off, but Colgate was forced to punt. C.
Brown, Elder, Waters and Penbody brought the ball to Colgate's 42-yard line. A forward pass, D.
Brown to Swain, covered the rest of the distance, the touchdown being made five minutes after the first. Waters kicked the goal.
The third touchdown was made 43 seconds before the close of the half, and brought forth the best old-style football of the day, after a 25-yard run by D. Brown and a penalty of 23 yards, when straight line bucking and double passes with Elder carrying the ball, placed the ball on the 3-yard line.
Peabody made the touchdown and Waters kicked the goal.

At the start of the second half Chapman returned the Colgate kick-off to the 30-yard line and Waters added 20 from open formation. Punts were exchanged, the last of which Peabody muffed and the ball was Colgate's. An onside kick netted 14 yards and the next play, a forward pass, carried the ball over the line. Stowell missed the goal. Chapman gain received the kick-off but Williams was penalized for offside play and lost the ball on an attempted forward pass. Colgate was unable to gain and Knapp fell back as if for a punt, but made a forward pass which made first down on the 23-yard line. Here Stowell dropped his goal from field.

Waters received the next kickoff but slipped and was unable to advance. Williams was penalized five yards for offside play by Gutterson and the ball went to Colgate on the 7-yard line. By a ground rally the Williams line held one yard from the goal line.
Waters immediately punted to the 33-yard line, where Colgate made a fair catch and Stowell tried to score a goal from placement. The ball went back of the line for a touchback. For the rest of the half, with the exception of the last few minutes, neither side was able to gain, and in the exchange

1910 5; Albany Academy 0

In their first game of the season, the freshman football team defeated Albany Academy on Weston Field Saturday afternoon after the Colgate game 5-0. The work of the 1910 team, although marred by fumbling, poor passing and misunderstanding of signals, was full of fight, and at times, fast. Their offense was better than their defense. Although they held Albany for downs a number of times, as a rule Albany's plays went through the line and kept the secondary defense busy. Stevens played well at fullback, and the work of Lewis at left halfback and Cheney at quarter was fast, particularly on the offense. Albany's strong point was defense.

Neither side could gain consistently in the first half, played mostly under the old rules. The freshman's score came in the second half, and was made by Lewis after a 48-yard run by him had placed the ball on the 3-yard line. Cheney made good gains toward the end of the half.

OBITUARIES

'65—Hon. Samuel Seward Benedict died at his home at Benedict, Kansas, after a few days' illness, on October 29. Mr. Benedict was for many years prominent in the political life of Kansas. He was the son of William Benedict of Manchester, Vt., and was born there November 9, 1843. Graduating from Williams in the class of 1865, he studied law at Manchester, and soon removed to Omaha, Neb. In 1868 he made his home in Wilson county, Kansas, where he resided until his death. He engaged in agriculture and stock raising upon a 1000-acre ranch. In politics he was a Republican, and was elected State representative in 1872 and 1875, and to the State senate in 1876. He was re-elected several times, and served eight years on the ways and means committee. From 1895-1897 he again served in the house, and at the time of his death was state senator from Wilson and Neosho counties. He was United States Indian inspector and a regent of the University of Kansas.

COMMITTEE HERE

Six Members of Legislature Visit Williamstown for Two Hours

Six members of the Massachusetts legislature recess committee on taxation visited Williamstown this morning and inspected the college plant. The members of the committee present were: Hon. G. H. Garfield of Brookton, Hon. Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville, Representatives Thomas W. Williams of Attleboro and Henry S. Ames of Orange, with Clerk James C. White. They arrived at 10.30 and were shown about the campus by President Hopkins, going into the Chapel, Clark Hall, Jesup Hall and the Gymnasium. The committee paid special attention to the Berkshire Quadrangle, but went into no dormitory except Jesup. No member of the committee expressed any opinion on the advisability of taxing college dormitories, as provided in the Feiker bill. The members returned to North Adams at 12.30. The taxation committee left Boston Tuesday and held a hearing at Pittsfield yesterday.

At 2 p. m. this afternoon, in the council chamber of the North Adams city hall, the committee held a general hearing on assessment and collection of taxes, college taxation included. The Williamstown representatives at the hearing were, the board of selectmen, Samuel P. Blagden Jr. ex-'96, George B. Waterman and Samuel Starkweather, Stephen A. Hickox, Almon E. Hall and Clarence M. Smith ex-'77. President Hopkins was present and represented the college.

Communion Service

Rev. Willard Scott, D. D., '75, of Worcester, will preach in the chapel at the morning chapel service next Sunday. Following the service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Dr. Scott, who has been in the college pulpit several times, is a noted clergyman, lecturer and after-dinner speaker. He graduated from Williams in 1875, and three years later from the Union Theological seminary of New York city. He has been pastor of numerous Congregational churches in both the east and west, was for six years president and superintendent of instruction of the Nebraska Chautauqua Assembly, and was president and chairman of the board of directors of the Congregational Sunday School and Publication Society of Boston. He has been a contributor to Monday Club Sermons, and was on the editorial staff of The Advance, Chicago. He is a frequent speaker at Williams alumni reunions and dinners. Dr. Scott will also speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening.

A preparatory service to the communion service will be held in the assembly room in the basement of the chapel at 7.30 Saturday evening.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

Prof. Maxcy Reviews Opening Number of the Fall

Unable, within the limits allowed by The Literary Monthly, to expatiate after the leisurely manner of "the Opium Eater," we must, perforce, content ourselves with what appear to be the leading articles in the November number now before us.

The principal short story is Mr. Mygatt's "Miss Dorothy." Description and plot structure are the two avenues by which we naturally approach the consideration of this or any narrative. We are impressed—as we have been on more than one previous occasion—by this writer's ability to reproduce a scene, to draw a vivid picture. He has the gift of selection; he chooses the details that give life, that make his scene rise clear and distinct before the reader's eye—no mean gift. Witness the canoe in the sudden storm, and the lake with its environment of mountain and shifting lights. In character delineation and plot structure, however, he is not at his best. The division of Dave's narrative into sections marked "I" and "II" is distinctly stiff; we wonder how Dave spoke these captions. The heroine, too, does not convince us, although she is "likeable." She is too forward in urging the old Colonel on so short acquaintance to reveal the cherished secret of his love story; and later, at a very critical moment, she takes the initiative and practically goads Dave on.—if he has a spark in him. Furthermore, her southern dialect, so marked at the outset, fades and ultimately disappears as the story advances. But the little touch in the closing paragraph is entirely worth while, and goes far to retrieve other faults. It is seldom that a story possesses a more characteristic "full close," as Stevenson called it.

Mr. Westermann's "Beneath the Sea" arouses shadowy memories of the 'mighty line' where Barabas tells over his gains; of Milton, whose genius for pressing mere geographic names into his service was marvelous; of Keats's sensitiveness to color, light, and beauty. If we must make a suggestion, it would be that in forty verses of heroic meter the interjection of no less than twenty-one trochees and five spondees is perhaps a questionable over-use of the substituted foot, and that the recurrence of twenty sibilants in the closing stanza is not altogether in the interests of euphony. It might be objected that these sounds are in keeping with the theme of the opening lines of the stanza in question, but we feel that the verses suggest not so much the connotation of hissing serpents as the gliding sinuosities of the 'vast, bloated monsters,' conceptions associated with liquids and vowels. We note, too, in

TWO LONG RUNS

Pierce Scores Twice for Scrub in Yesterday's Practice

The last long practice before the Wesleyan football game was held yesterday afternoon on Weston Field. One period of scrimmage, lasting about fifty minutes, was played. At first the scrimmage was loose and marked by bad fumbles, but became much faster after about ten minutes play. The scrub kicked off and the 'varsity gained well at the start. The feature of the practice was two long, dodging runs by Pierce, who scored twice for the scrub, once by picking up a 'varsity fumble, and the second time by a runback of a punt for 65 yards through the whole 'varsity team, dodging Elder cleverly. The first team then braeed, and scored two touchdowns by a rapid, varied attack. Both elevens used the forward pass for big gains.

The line-ups were constantly shifting. The 'varsity started as follows: le Elder, lt Brooks, lg Gutterson, c Roberts, rg Harter, rt Swain, re Chapman, qb Waters, lib Robb, rlb C. Brown, fb Clay.

Addition to Gargoyle Gate

Work was begun Monday on the Gargoyle gate at the entrance to Weston Field, and it is expected that the remaining part of the main structure will be completed this fall. The part now added will consist of a wood and stone roof over the west gateway, as shown in the cut published in The Record two years ago, with a large stone pillar at the side of the gateway, containing room for the man receiving tickets. The curving approach walls, which were not in the original plans, though in the cut, will not be built until next year, as extensive filling in would be required. The work is being done by H. C. Wood & Co. of North Adams, the contractors of the main part of the building.

A College Museum

College museums are generally considered luxuries rather than necessities. Whenever a small college has a separate museum building, it has generally been built, not from the college funds, but from the gift of an interested alumnus or the bequest of a rich collector. And yet, Williams at present, has a real need for such a building, and has, besides, an opportunity to combine sentimental ends with practical ones in its construction.

The various specimens and exhibits that would go to form this museum are to be found crowded together in comparatively out-of-the-way places all over the campus. The art room, two flights up in Hopkins Hall, where few seldom go, in spite of the pains that have been taken to keep it open at convenient hours, is so overcrowded with works of art as to seriously interfere with their proper exhibit. The Greek room, on the same floor, contains, in addition to the many casts, a valuable collection of coins of the ancient world, which can of necessity only be seen during recitation hours.

Clark Hall is now needed wholly for recitation and laboratory purposes, yet it is similarly crowded with objects most of which are not demanded for teaching purposes and should properly be in a museum. The excellent collection of geological and other specimens it contains cannot be suitably displayed in the limited space of the building. The Assyrian slabs with cuneiform inscriptions, the ethnological specimens sent back by missionaries, etc., of themselves deserve a better place. At the rapid rate at which the collection is growing it will absolutely demand more space in a very short time. Even now it has become necessary to put some of the specimens in Jackson Hall, where they are now about as valuable for exhibition purposes as if they had never been unboxed.

As for Jackson Hall, the usefulness of the specimens it contains has already been discussed in these columns. Most of them have become so damaged in the course of the years that they could not be put into suitable condition without too great expense; fortunately, many of the best are still in fair preservation.

Lastly, the library contains within its walls many interesting letters, deeds and other documents bearing on the early history of the college—most of them under lock and key—that should be put on exhibition, if there was a suitable place anywhere. Such interesting relics as Ephraim Williams' watch and sword, the seal of the old free school, etc., should have some place where they can be put before the public view. The library possesses a complete set of autographs of men connected with Williams college, a full set of presidential autograph letters, and letters from all the prominent American statesmen, poets and authors, as well as from many foreigners of note. On the walls of the east wing hangs one painting that is more valuable than the wing itself.

So much the college has already as the nucleus for a college museum. The two departments of instruction most interested are eager to see their material that has been gathered placed where it can be better arranged and made more accessible to the student-body and to visitors. A building that would contain all these interesting exhibits would secure by its very existence further contributions to the various collections. The result of the exhibit of papers of Williams interest made at the centennial of the college was that many of the treasures of private collectors displayed there were turned over to the library. Certainly any collector will be more ready to give to Williams if he knows his gift will be suitably preserved, cared for and brought before the public eye.

The expense of a museum building of suitable size would be considerable, and, although the trustees of the college have recently received gifts of $100,000 to use as they wish, from the undergraduate point of view there are other needs—notably more dormitory accommodations for scholarship men—which are more pressing than that of a museum. over, some disposal must be made soon of Jackson Hall, so out of keeping with the rest of the campus in its present location in the Berkshire Quadrangle. If, as has been proposed, a new Jackson Hall is built partly from the material of the old one in some new location, to perpetuate thus the gift of one of Williams' most generous benefactors, it could not be used for a better purpose than as such a museum.

It would scarcely be a perversion of the original gift of Nathan Jackson—for the use of the Lyceum of Natural History—to use Jackson Hall for museum purposes. The building has been used for many years solely as a storehouse for these natural history specimens, and these specimens—many of them collected by the first natural history expedition ever sent out by an American college—would always be a prominent part of whatever was gathered together in the new museum. By its increased prominence the new Jackson Hall would be a more fitting monument to one who has done so much for the college.

Reception to Henry M. Alden '57

On Saturday next Col. George Harvey, editor of the North American Review and Harper's Weekly, will give at the old Harper building, Franklin square, New York city, a reception to Henry M. Alden, L. H. D., '57, who has been for thirty-seven years editor of Harper's Magazine. The reception in honor of Mr. Alden's seventieth birthday will bring together in old Franklin square what is probably the most notable gathering of men and women since the days of Washington, when it was still in "the Court end of the town," or, perhaps, even since the earlier days of the Bayards, Livingstons and Stuyvesants.

Among those who will be present at the reception to the veteran editor are Thomas Bailey Aldrich, who was born on the same day as Mr. Alden, Mark Twain, Thomas Nelson Page, William Dean Howells, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Richard Watson Gilder, Howard Pyle, Edward Bok, Hamlin Garland, Lyman Abbott, Margaret Deland, Kate Douglas Wiggin, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Richard Harding Davis, George Ade, Andrew Carnegie, President John H. Finley, President C. F. Thwing, Owen Wister, Frederic Remington, President Woodrow Wilson, David Graham Phillips, and Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson.

Mr. Alden is one of the twelve men who have received the degree of L. H. D. from Williams. The others are George L. Raymond '62, Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, Henry Loomis Nelson '67, Isaac Henderson '72, Rollo Ogden '77, Bliss Perry '81, and (non-graduate) Frederick Leake, William Everett, E. P. Morris, C. F. P. Bancroft and Theodore Roosevelt.

The Wesleyan Team

Wesleyan lost by graduation last year but two men, Van Sordam, the best dodging runner that played against Williams, and Captain Dearborn at right guard, but has been severely handicapped so far this year. Seeley, the 212-pound guard, has been having trouble with his studies, as has Reiter, who was a fast end last season. Up to Wednesday noon neither had passed off the entrance conditions which they must dispose of before they are eligible for the team. Hampson '08, the punter on last year's eleven, did not return to college.

The freshman class has brought good material to Wesleyan. Joy, at left guard, is the find of the season. Remarkably fast on his feet, he has blocked many punts this year, and gets down on kicks with the ends. Van Tassel, a back, will probably start the game at tackle. Palmer, a third freshman, has been doing the punting for the team in a manner which makes Hampson's loss little felt in this department. In the line Captain North and Taylor are veterans, with both particularly strong in carrying the ball. Doe, at center, is unusually fast for his weight. The ends are inexperienced, but have been quick in following the ball. Finley, at end last year, has not yet recovered from injuries to his side.

The backfield is weaker than last year's. Woodhead and Gildersleeve are veterans, the latter the best offensive back on the team, and the former the mainstay of the defense. Moore at quarterback is no Van Sordam, but has developed marked ability as a drop-kicker. He has scored consistently in practice, and made a neat kick from the 38-yard line against Vermont.

The Season

The Wesleyan season has not, on the whole, been particularly successful, though all the work of the year has been sacrificed for the Williams game. The team has gained mostly by old-style football, and has as yet taken little advantage of the new rules, although the eleven purposely concealed its strength in the game with the Training school. The work of the team has been quite erratic, with the offense strong only in spurts, but the defense has been better, and the whole team has proved instantly ready to take advantage of an opponent's mistakes. The men are being coached by "Bosey" Reiter, a former Princeton halfback, for the third successive season. Although the eleven does not seem as strong as last fall's, the Wesleyan undergraduate body are confident of victory.

OBITUARIES

'67—Dr. Conegys Paul died at his home in Philadelphia on June 29. Dr. Paul was born at Belvidere, N. J., and graduated from Williams in the class of 1877. He then entered the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, receiving the degree of M. D. there in 1869. Soon after entering the medical profession he established a reputation as an alienist, but ill-health and much suffering handicapped a most promising career. He was a practicing physician in Philadelphia from 1870 to 1883, in Belvidere, N. J., from 1883 to 1886, and in Plainfield, N. J., from 1886 to 1893. He removed to Chicago in 1893, but soon returned to Philadelphia, where he remained until his death. He was assistant demonstrator in anatomy in the University of Pennsylvania.

'90—Dr. Charles Spaulding was killed in Kansas City, Mo., on June 23, by a fall down an elevator shaft. Mr. Spaulding was born at Townsend Harbor, Mass., on March 17, 1867, and prepared for college at Lawrence academy at Groton. He entered Williams in the class of 1890. After leaving college he was principal of Drury academy, North Adams, until 1894, when he took up the study of medicine. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, while practicing his profession at North Scituate, Mass., he was appointed naval surgeon on board the Massachusetts hospital boat, Bay State. He located in Kansas City in 1901, and was practicing medicine there at the time of his death. His death was a particularly sad one, coming but a few days before the date set for his marriage to Miss C. Brown of Kansas City.

Ex-'01—George Leland Horton, son of the late Col. George Horton, was killed in the collision between the two Hudson River passenger steamers, the "Saratoga" of the Troy line and the "Adirondack" of the Albany line, near Tivoli, N. Y., on October 12. He was watchman and freight clerk on the Adirondack, and it is supposed that he was killed in his room at the moment of the collision. His body was not found until ten days later. Mr. Horton was from Troy, and entered Williams in the class of 1901, but left college during his sophomore year on account of the death of his father.

Success in Debate

Last evening Professor Maxey addressed the meeting of the combined debating societies on some points necessary for success in debate. The two qualities necessary for this success are persistence and interest. If a man does not at first succeed, he should, as Daniel Webster did, try until he does. Moreover, he must be interested in his subject; and the subjects must not be worn threadbare with previous discussion. The debater must also persuade, must be in sympathy with his audience, and appeal to its emotions as well as its intellect. He must understand his subject, and must be careful to acquire clearness by eliminating extraneous matter. After all, it is not prizes nor the combination of the societies, but interest that will make the Adelphi Union debates worth while.

passing, that "quintessences" (sic), "mesmeristic," "umbrous," "iridescent" (sic), and "sub-aquanean" do not appear in the recent edition of the Standard Dictionary. These, however, are minor matters. The poem is marked by virility and beauty, both in conception and in execution.

"The Experiences of a Weather Prophet" is conceived in lighter vein,—and well conceived. Mr. Gibson's story has about it a delightful vigor and spirit. It "goes." The writer's familiarity with the technical vocabulary of the meteorologist, the weather prophet, and the astrologer gives his "experiences" substance, and conveys the sense of repression so necessary to this style of composition: we do not feel that he has written himself to a standstill. This is the characteristic that gives much of the vigor to the Book of Snobs and the Roundabout Papers.

The leading article of the month is undoubtedly Mr. Dutton's critical appreciation of Tess. It is written with unmistakable sympathy for this much discussed piece of character creation. The essayist has evidently risen above the level of those shallow critics who, because a novel is based upon a philosophy of life that most of us condemn as untrue, can not—will not—detect the hand of the master. As Mr. Dutton says, "although the colors may be dark, yet the figure of Tess stands forth a living, breathing creature." If any character in the modern novel possesses what Prof. Bliss Perry in his Study of Prose Fiction calls "moral unity," bearing the impress of its environment upon it, certainly Tess Durbeyfield is that character. We may indeed recoil from many scenes—the inn at Sandbourne, the early dawn at Stonehenge, or that last morning on the hillside just out of Wintonchester—yet the inevitableness of it all, its logical truth,—granting Mr. Hardy's premises,—can but carry conviction. As a piece of exposition, Mr. Dutton's essay is characterized by consistent clearness,—that great desideratum of expository style. We are inclined to question whether possibly he does not at least once shift his point of view: whether at first emphasizing the study of "effects" he does not pass on to character analysis in which the original lines of investigation merge or disappear. But this is a rather technical rhetorical question and should not be unduly emphasized nor allowed to interfere with our appreciation of an excellent bit of criticism.

We should be glad to pause over Mr. Leed's ballad with its delightful and vivacious lilt, and to say a word regarding Mr. Witherell's allegorical fantasy, and—but the chimes ring out the end of the hour and the opportunity has fled.

COLLEGE NOTES

Southworth '07 is coaching the sophomore football team.

Warren has been elected captain of the senior basketball team.

Prof. Milham staked out the position of the new board truck on the old campus yesterday afternoon.

The Musical clubs' concert scheduled for Saturday evening has been postponed until December 9.

Durfee was elected manager of the senior basketball team at a meeting held in Jesup Hall, Wednesday afternoon.

The Thanksgiving vacation will extend from 12.30 p. m., Wednesday, November 28, to 12.30 p. m., Friday, November 30.

Dr. S. B. Newton '91 has been in charge of the coaching this week. He will probably remain until the end of the season.

Thirty men met in Jesup Hall Tuesday noon for the formation of a Greater New York club. After discussing the purposes of the organization, mainly to stimulate Williams' interests in the metropolis, the following temporary officers were elected: President, Lapham 1907; vice-president, Mygatt 1908; treasurer, Sternberger 1907.

The first regular meeting of the Deutscher Verein was held Tuesday evening, the following officers being elected: President, Winston '08; vice-president, Hazen '08; secretary and treasurer, Ernst '09. It was decided that meetings be held on the first and third Thursdays each month in the German room in Goodrich Hall, and that a play be given some time during the winter.

Souvenir Program

A souvenir program of the same general style as that published for the Dartmouth game will be issued for Saturday's contest. The program will have an ornamental cover, and will contain, besides cuts of the captains and managers of both teams and the squad pictures, facts of interest about the players; statistics, score-cards and the songs and yells of the two colleges.

Williams-Wesleyan Games

Williams and Wesleyan first played football with each other in 1881, before Williams had met either Amherst or Dartmouth, and have had games in every year since 1896. Since 1900 Wesleyan has won but once, on Andrus field last year, but the games in the four years preceding, in which Inglis, Wesleyan's famous full-back, was in college, were all defeats for the Purple. Of the thirteen games played Williams has won five, Wesleyan seven, and one, that of 1903, has been a tie. Williams has scored 111 points, Wesleyan 161.

The scores follow:

1881	Williams 10	Wesleyan 0
1887	Williams 6	Wesleyan 18
1889	Williams 17	Wesleyan 20
1896	Williams 6	Wesleyan 0
1897	Williams 0	Wesleyan 22
1898	Williams 0	Wesleyan 22
1899	Williams 5	Wesleyan 11
1900	Williams 0	Wesleyan 35
1901	Williams 11	Wesleyan 5
1902	Williams 28	Wesleyan 5
1903	Williams 5	Wesleyan 5

OPEN FORMATION—MORSE PASSING THE BALL

ROBB TYING THE SCORE BY TOUCHDOWN, SECOND HALF

A POORLY PLAYED GAME

Williams Defeats Wesleyan 18-11—Long Run by Swain

Williams defeated Wesleyan Saturday on Weston Field by the score of 18 to 11. Wesleyan was much stronger than expected and in the first half completely outplayed the Purple. In the second half Williams improved, gained its second touchdown by good line-bucking after a clever play by Chapman, and after that kept Wesleyan in its own territory all the time.

The work of the Williams team was in direct contrast to that displayed the previous Saturday against Colgate. The eleven seemed to suffer from overconfidence and lacked its usual snap and dash. Fumbling was frequent and disastrous. The line, especially Morse, Swain and Alexander, played up to their average game and easily outplayed the Wesleyan line. The ends, especially Elder, who was in poor condition, were frequently circled and seemed unable to adapt themselves to Wesleyan's tricks. The backfield did not work together and made little interference for the men with the ball, perhaps owing to the fact that two of the men were playing in positions new to them, and gains were made almost entirely by individual effort. Robb played a good individual game, hitting the line hard for consistent gains. Waters ran plays off slowly and punted poorly, largely because Wesleyan, sending a tandem through center and guard.

TWO STEPS TO SUCCESS

Rev. Dr. Scott Talks on "Enterprise and Comradeship"

Rev. Dr. Willard Scott '75 of Worcester addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting last evening in an informal talk on "Enterprise and Comradeship." He discussed first the contrast between the present point of view on this subject and that of thirty years ago. Nowadays if a man does not "prove his faith by his works" he is a hypocrite; there is now a new appreciation of human nature and a different view of the call of God.

Individualism is the great demand of the present. The altruistic spirit now is not the first consideration; "every man for himself" is the modern day proverb. A man can accomplish most when he discovers his inner self, and the man who has found himself is characterized always by enterprise. Individuality is enterprise, and is the first step on the stairs to success.

The second step to success is comradeship. Recognition of self must be accompanied by recognition of other selves, otherwise we become "big-headed." We can best recognize another self, a comrade, by appreciating the value of our own self. By acquiring a sense of ourselves we come into a sense of comradeship for others.

By the linking together of the enterprise of an individual and the comradeship among several, much social betterment will result. "Be somebody and get something" is a good motto with which to start out in life from college.

HEARING ON TAXATION

Committee Addressed by Dr. Bascom and President Hopkins

The members of the Massachusetts legislature recess committee on taxation, to which the Feiker bill was reported by the state legislature, some of whom visited Williamstown Thursday morning, held a hearing in the council chamber of the North Adams city hall, Thursday afternoon. The hearing began at 2:50 p. m. and the matter of college taxation was discussed from 4:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. The following members of the committee were present, as well as Clerk James C. White: Hon. George H. Garfield of Brookton (chairman), Hon. Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville, Rep. William Turtle of Pittsfield (house chairman), Rep. Thomas W. Williams of Attleboro, Rep. Henry S. Ames of Orange, Rep. Charles A. Andrews of Holyoke, Rep. Julius Meyers of Cambridge and Rep. Edward C. Creed of Boston.

The Two Problems

Dr. John Bascom '49 opened for the town's side of the case, speaking in substance as follows:

"There are two problems involved in the taxation controversy. First, should the state of Massachusetts tax her institutions for higher education? Massachusetts certainly ought to render all the aid she has rendered in the past and, if possible, more. The towns are not opposed to the aiding of the institutions by exemption from taxation, but they do claim that the institutions look to the wrong person for aid.

"The real question is: On whom ought this burden of tax exemption to be laid? This burden ought to be laid on the state as a whole, to be fair to the towns. Given thirty towns, if one town of the thirty has a college within its boundaries, the population of that town get no terms of education which the other twenty-nine do not get. All the towns in the state of Massachusetts have these educational opportunities. The advantages are for all, therefore the burdens ought to rest upon all. The towns need justice.

"The question is becoming more urgent every year as the industrial features of the colleges increase. Whereas now all additional property bought by the college raises the question of taxation by the town, under the system of exemption by the state, the colleges,

VOL. 20 NOV. 12, 1906 No. 36

The Wesleyan Game

The result of the Wesleyan game, though quite unexpected, was by no means so disappointing as has generally been supposed. It became evident very quickly Saturday afternoon that the Wesleyan eleven had been greatly underrated, and that, instead of the easy victory we must admit Williams had looked for, the Purple would do well even to come out on top. And yet, when all is said, there is no denying that the team put up a poorer game in Saturday's contest than it has for three weeks, a fact which cannot be excused by any plea of poor condition. The sudden shift in the backfield two days before the game worked havoc with team play on the offense: the defense alone, in the second half, showed its old form.

The eleven continues to have the confidence of the college, who feel that the brace that kept Wesleyan away from Williams' goal in the second half can be continued by further improvement during the week. Still, it is a serious matter for a team to have its annual "slump" so late in the season. The score of the Amherst-Dartmouth game makes it clear that the eleven, whose record has been so good thus far, will need such improvement to win on Pratt Field Saturday.

Town and Gown

Some three weeks ago a sign was stolen from in front of the Gymnasium, and the town fathers, rightly suspecting, in all probability, that students were at fault, felt the enormity of the offense so strongly as to consult the college authorities about the matter. The sign, in spite of some quiet effort, still remains stolen. The incident of itself is of very small account, but it is only one of many incidents which have served of late to embitter the town and the student-body against each other. We do not yet have town and gown riots, and the feeling between the two is by no means so bitter as in the majority of college towns, but it is growing worse, and the undergraduates ought to do their part in trying to better it.

This unnecessary feeling seems to be a part of life in all college towns. Some blame for it rests with the townspeople, who see in the college only the greedy untaxable institution that is buying up their taxable land, and in the college students only influences which lead their sons to smoke and loaf and be extravagant. The good is apt to go unheeded, and the bad, as in the case of the stolen sign, to be always magnified.

We must confess, however, that the undergraduates are the most to blame. The sudden release from immediate restraint that comes to most when they enter college goes to the head, with the result that a college man is far too ready to think he can do no wrong, and to look down on others as inferior beings. He feels that he can do what he wants to, and though sober undergraduate sentiment must favor the observance of the law, the spirit of fun is sometimes carried by a few to a point where the statute-book's provisions could be applied.

The result is a painful dilemma. James H. Canfield, himself a Williams man, has some plain words that apply in his excellent book on "The College Student and his Problems." He says: "If you are treated like a boy, you resent it and become unpleasantly aggressive. If you are treated like a man, you are disappointed—and you yourself constantly ask those in authority to remember that 'boys will be boys.'"

If we are to assume the privileges of men, we should act more like men. Stealing one sign is not a state's-prison offense, nor is it going to cause a town riot against the college. What does keep increasing the local bad feeling is to jeer fire engines every time they climb Consumption Hill, and to interfere with every show that comes to the Williamstown Opera house. We expect boy's privileges in everything we do, but rise up in our wrath at the mention of boy's punishments for some things we do. We strenuously insist that we are not boys that have to be constantly chastised, and most illogically will not be men enough to keep from repeated doing of these things that we ought to be punished for.

CHOSEN TO CABINETHon. James R. Garfield '85 Appointed Secretary of Interior

Hon. James Rudolph Garfield '85, commissioner of corporations, has been appointed by President Roosevelt to the cabinet, to assume his duties March 4, in place of the present secretary of the interior, Ethan Allen Hitchcock, who will retire on that date. Mr. Garfield, the son of President James A. Garfield '56, was appointed commissioner of corporations of the newly formed bureau of commerce and labor in 1901, and since then has carried on the work of that position with great success. He was chosen to the secretaryship of the interior by the president, who agreed with Secretary Hitchcock, that he was "the best man to carry on the exceedingly onerous, difficult and responsible work of the department."

Second Freshman Victory

In their second game of the season, the freshman football team defeated Troy High school on Weston Field Saturday afternoon, after the Wesleyan game, by the score of 15 to 0. The work of the freshmen showed a great improvement over that of the week before. The passing was for the most part, accurate, fumbling was reduced, and team work was more noticeable. Lewis again showed his speed and ability to get clear from tacklers, and both Cheney and Putnam made good quarterback runs.

The freshmen made all three touchdowns in the first half. Harrower scored the first one after Lewis' 30-yard run; Lewis the second by a 28-yard run; and also the third a few minutes later by a 70-yard run. Darkness prevented goal tries, as well as a second half.

A Poorly Played Game

nearly blocked his kicks. In running in punts, C. Brown made several good catches.

Williams won the game by its excellent work on defense. After being swept off its feet in the first five minutes, the work of the line improved, and in the second half Wesleyan could only gain by her trick plays. Wesleyan gained mostly off tackle and around the ends, although it scored its second touchdown by line plunges. The Middletown eleven played what its coach considered its best game of the season. It took advantage of the new rules and used many trick plays. A long forward pass from a kick formation gave good gains, largely because two or more men were always ready to receive the pass. Moore at quarterback ran his plays off quickly and used good judgment in the selection of his tricks in the first half. Doe and Hammond did the best work in Wesleyan's line.

The First Half

Wesleyan kicked off to Waters on the 25-yard line who returned it 5 yards. On the first line-up Robb fumbled and the ball went to Wesleyan. On a well-executed trick play Woodhead went around Elder for 20 yards. Unable to gain, Moore fell back as if for a drop-kick but instead made a forward pass to Douglass who scored a touchdown. Moore kicked the goal after about a minute and a half of play. Woodhead again kicked off. Elder receiving the ball and retreating it to the middle of the field. Williams punted to the 30-yard line but recovered the ball again near the middle of the field, when C. Brown secured the ball on an on-side kick. Waters made 10 yards, but a forward pass touched the ground, and the ball was Wesleyan's on their 40-yard line. The ball changed hands twice, and a forward pass to Chapman gave Williams first down on Wesleyan's 33-yard line. By a variety of plays Williams carried the ball to the 1-yard line, but was penalized 15 yards for hurdling.
Elder, on a quarterback kick, ended three Wesleyan men and scored the ball two yards from the goal and Robb carried it over by a plunge through the center of the line. Waters kicked an easy goal.

Elder got the kick-off on the 12-yard line, but Williams was thrown back 4 yards, and Waters punted out of bounds at the 30-yard line.
Wesleyan made half the distance to the goal by a forward pass and went through on line plays for their second touchdown, by Palmer, Moore missing a difficult goal.
Neither side had much of an advantage after the next kick-off and the half ended with the ball in Williams possession on its own 50-yard line, and the score Wesleyan 11, Williams 6.

Chapman Captures Kick-Off

Guttersen kicked off in the second half. The ball touched the ground and Chapman, coming down the field quickly, jumped, caught it as it bounded, and dodged through to the 5-yard line.
On the first down Williams fumbled and Palmer punted out of bounds at the 24-yard line. In seven rushes through the line, using the close tandem formation with Robb carrying the ball, the second touchdown was scored. Waters kicked goal.

After Gutterson had kicked off to Palmer on the 15-yard line, Wesleyan carried the ball twenty-one yards, but was forced to punt. Later Wesleyan's first illegal forward pass (failing to go over the scrimmage line 5 yards from the center) gave the ball to Williams on the 32-yard line. Waters made 12, C. Brown 7½, and Robb made it first down on the 9 yard line. On the third down Williams had 4 to go and could not make it. Palmer punted out of immediate danger. The ball exchanged hands several times, remaining in Wesleyan's territory.

50-Yard Run by Swain

On their own 50-yard line Moore attempted his fourth long forward pass and the feature of the game resulted. Swain broke through, and, blocking the pass with his hands, caught the ball as it bounced to him, and sprinted away from the Wesleyan team for a touchdown, from which Waters kicked an easy goal. The half ended four minutes later with the ball in Wesleyan's possession on their 35-yard line.

which ought to have opportunity for growth without restraint by the town, would have greater liberty of action. The harmony of the college communities would be greatly increased. Higher education should be handled by the state with the vigor, liberality and knowledge which should belong to it."

Dr. Bascom Questioned

The members of the committee were then at liberty to ask questions. In answer to a query as to the advantages a college gives a town Dr. Bascom stated that it only held the same relation that all property did in any town and, later, that if the college should be reoffered to Williamstown on the present conditions of exemption from taxation, he did not think Williamstown would accept it.

Representative Ames, after bringing out the point that the local tax rate would be reduced one-third, to a very low rate ($12), if the taxes from the college property went to the town, asked Dr. Bascom "if the fact that the tax rate in college towns, with all this exemption, was an average rate, as well as the fact that there was strong competition among towns for the presence of state normal schools, even though they knew of the burden of exemption, did not show that the presence of the college greatly enhanced the value of the surrounding property." Dr. Bascom replied by laying this second fact to human short-sightedness, and said that "if the first advantage is purchased by a steady drain through all generations, it is purchased too dearly." Towards the end of the questioning he also said: "The college has dealt very fairly with the town in what it has been willing to pay under the law; what we object to is the law."

Feiker Bill Opposed

After a few words from Town Counsel Clarence M. Smith, Dr. Hopkins addressed the committee, emphasizing that he was at the hearing in the interests of the town as well as of the college. After stating that what Dr. Bascom had said had nothing to do with the definite proposition before the committee to remove the exemption on dormitories—the Feiker bill—he showed how intimately the prosperity of the town depended upon the prosperity of the college. "The college gives work for the laborers of the town and beautifies the property it buys, and has not had property exempted which it has acquired. Take the college out of the town, and what would the town be?" Other towns have offered the college a free site with exemption forever. In 1825 Williamstown itself raised a large sum of money to keep the college from moving to Amherst.

"This question is never raised in New York state; in Ohio all the colleges are exempt. In Rhode Island a college does not even have to pay taxes on the business blocks it owns, and all private property of professors, up to $10,000, is also free from tax.

"The college is not a money-making institution, but exists only through gifts. Three-quarters of these gifts come from gentlemen outside the state of Massachusetts. To pass the Feiker bill would be bad faith to such men as Governor Morgan, who gave the money for Morgan Hall, not for Williamstown, but for educational purposes. The college cannot think of making money. No student pays half of what his education costs him, and those that are helped by the college pay less than that."

Basketball Agreement

An agreement has been drawn up by the managers of the New England Intercollegiate Basketball league for a post-season series with the champion of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league. The agreement, as drawn up, provides that the team winning two out of three games shall be the winner of the series, that the games shall be played on the courts of the Eastern League champion, and that the games shall be played between March 9 and March 19, 1907. The paper has been signed by the managers of the Dartmouth and Wesleyan basketball teams, and the provisional consent of Princeton, Yale and Columbia has also been assured. Objection has been made by the Brown and Williams managements to the clause regarding the court, and Williams and Wesleyan, although Wesleyan signed the agreement, are agreed that New York city will be the best place for the championship series, in any event.

Alumni in Town

The following Williams alumni have been in town: Stoddard '54, Ide '71, Abbott, Mynderse '72, Scott '73, Geer '79, Nelson '83, Wilcox, Bailey '85, Leonard '86, Reynolds, Hitchcock '90, Cluett, Opdyke, Starr '93, Huntington '94, Jay ex-'94, Marsh '95, Cluett, Haight '96, Hedges '97, Ide, Waterman '98, Rutter, Oakman, Conger '99, Squires, Danforth, Draper, Black 1900, Davenport, Jay 1901, Berking, Everdell 1902, Lyon, Wood, Peters, Hatch 1903, Bell ex-'03, Baker, Barker, Danforth, Erskine, Jones, Judson, Mitchell, Kitchell, Bridgewater 1904, Townsend, Huggins ex-'04, Eldred, Lord, Brown, Judson 1905, Cantwell, Appell, Eggleston, Griswold, Holroyd, Brady, Wooster, Bowman, Holst 1906, Tomlinson, Westervelt ex-'06, King ex-'08.

Exhibition of Italian Art

Photographs of a number of paintings by Italian artists, illustrating general Italian art rather than any particular school, have been placed on exhibition in the frames in the hall of the second floor of Hopkins Hall. The pictures, mostly well-known, are of the Renaissance period. A later series of photographs will illustrate the separate periods of art. Prof. Rice has secured a large number of photographs for exhibition purposes, enlarged and mounted to fit the frames in Hopkins Hall.

Crook, at right half, and Lewis, the veteran quarterback, had graduated. Slutsack, the most brilliant player on the team, except Capt. Hubbard, will not return to college until the next semester, and Priddy, who was out of college in 1904, again failed to return. A more serious loss was that of Bryant and Con-

President Hopkins Speaks in Boston

Tuesday evening President Hopkins spoke at the first annual dinner of the Hooker association, held at the American house, Boston. President Hopkins spoke on "The Place of the Soldier Today" and gave many reminiscences of "Fighting Joe" Hooker and the civil war, particularly of Lee's surrender at Appomattox. About 300 were present at the dinner, including veterans of the civil war, and of the Spanish war and prominent officers of militia. Among the other speakers were Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., and ex-Governor John L. Bates.

Boon-Itt Memorial Building

The work of securing funds for a memorial building to the memory of Rev. Boon Boon-Itt '89, for which Williams college contributed through the agency of the Y. M. C. A. systematic giving committee, has been completed, and the total sum of $11,024.14 collected by the special committee, of which Rev. John F. Fitch, Jr., '89, was chairman, has been turned over to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. The memorial building will be erected in Bangkok, Siam, for Christian work especially among the educated young men of that empire, whose gifted leader Rev. Mr. Boon-Itt was. Among those who contributed to the fund in Siam were the American, British, Japanese, Austrian and Danish ministers to Siam, the crown prince of Siam and his brothers, ministers of the Siamese court, and the lord mayor of Bangkok.

An informal dinner and smoker of the New England Intercollegiate Press association, to be held at the American house in Boston tomorrow night, will be addressed by Mayor Fitzgerald and one or two practical newspaper men of Boston. Clarry '07 will represent the Record board.

FRESHMAN VICTORY

Hoosick Falls H. S. Beaten 16-5 by Brilliant Individual Work

In their game with Hoosick Falls High school yesterday afternoon, on the Williamstown High School Field, the freshman football team won 16 to 5. The game was the poorest 1910 has played. Although there was much brilliant individual work, the freshman team play was poor, signals were confused, and several inexcusable fumbles were made. For the most part the freshman line held well, but Hoosick ran several plays around the ends during the first half. Cheney and Putnam played their usual good game at quarter, while Lewis in the first half and Waldo in the second half excelled at left halfback, and Steel at left end. Except for three attempted forward passes by Hoosick and two on-side kicks by the freshmen, there was no attempt made to use the new rules. During the first half Hoosick had possession of the ball but once, and then immediately lost it on a fumble.

Three minutes after the game was called Harrower went over the line for the first touchdown. Austin missed an easy goal. Hoosick kicked off to 1910. Lewis made a 25-yard run, and after a few short gains, Johnston made a long run around the end, and Lewis took the ball over the line for the second touchdown. Austin kicked a goal. Lewis caught the next kick-off, and ran it back to the center of the field, just before the half ended.

The freshmen opened the second half by kicking off to Hoosick's 20-yard line, where the runner was downed in his tracks. An exchange of punts followed, in which Steel got the ball on a fumble and ran 30 yards for a touchdown, but missed a difficult goal. At this point Hoosick braced, and 1910 went to pieces. In spite of Waldo's good defense work, Hoosick rushed the ball to the 1-yard line where 1910 held for downs. Austin punted out of bounds, and the ball went to Hoosick on the 3-yard line. After trying the line twice successfully, Robson circled 1910's right end for a touchdown. Time was called after an unsuccessful try at goal.

The summary:

COLLEGE MEETING

Prof. Russell Will Speak in Jesup Hall Tonight—New Songs

An important college meeting will be held in Jesup Hall at 7.30 tonight, at which Professor Russell and Coach Hatch will speak with reference to the Amherst game Saturday. Three new parodies have been written, and will be found on the sheet inserted in tonight's Record. These will be rehearsed, as well as some of the less well-known old ones. These sheets should be saved for use on Pratt Field Saturday.

Last Hard Practice

For an hour and a quarter yesterday afternoon the coaches put the football squad through secret practice in the baseball cage, after which there was about forty-five minutes of scrimmage on Weston Field. No regular game was played, the 'varsity being kept on the defense most of the time. The second team succeeded in gaining through the line and on trick plays, but during most of the play no account of downs was taken. When the 'varsity was given the ball the scrub were unable to hold them, the forward pass being worked with good results. Stevens punted well for the second team. Today the last practice of the year was held, followed by the customary bon-fire.

Rev. Dr. Coffin Will Preach

Rev. Henry Sloan Coffin, D.D., of New York city, will preach in the college pulpit Sunday and address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the evening. He has spoken in the chapel several times before, preaching last year on June 17, and is remembered as a convincing talker, himself a young man, especially able to hold the attention of young men. Dr. Coffin is pastor of the Madison avenue Presbyterian church of New York, and a lecturer at Union Theological seminary.

VOL. 20 NOV. 15, 1906 No. 37

The Game with Amherst

On Saturday next comes the game towards which all the efforts of the Williams and Amherst football seasons of 1906 have been directed. Comparison of the scores of the two teams favors Williams. Amherst made a poorer showing against Dartmouth than Williams, at no time threatening the Green's goal line; against M. A. C. what slight advantage the comparison gives is with the Purple. Comparative scores, however, are dangerous to handle, and all ordinary considerations have little weight when Williams plays Amherst. The Wesleyan game has had its effect, and the team is not suffering from over-confidence. The college believes that the team will do its best on Pratt Field, and that best will be just a little better than the best of the Purple and White. Williams certainly has a good fighting chance—its best chance to win since 1901.

It goes without saying that the college is going to support the team to the best of its ability. The railroad rate is unusually low, even the admission not exorbitant, and the refusal of the college authorities to put over recitations becomes of less importance when no man will have to take more than a single cent. There cannot be many who are able to present themselves an excuse for staying in Williamstown that will satisfy their own consciences. Four hundred should be the minimum number of students cheering the team on Saturday.

The support given the team at the Dartmouth game was excellent, and we venture that those who went to Springfield got so much out of the trip that they will be more than glad to repeat the experiment. Since then we have seen another example of what support could do for a football team in Wesleyan's snappy cheering and united singing, so that those who stayed at home on the Saturday of the Dartmouth game have had a chance to see what they missed. We have all seen on Hampden Park or Weston Field why we want to go; Coach Hatch will explain tonight why the team wants us to go. The Record believes that college spirit is such that no further appeals for student support will be necessary.

More Class Basketball

The extension of the class basketball series meets with The Record's heartiest approval. The real reason of the management for arranging this longer schedule this year, to develop new material, would of itself justify it, but there is another more important benefit derived.

There are a few people who honestly believe that an athlete must belong to a somewhat lower order—people to whom the name of athletics conjures up the picture of the prize-fighter and the paid professional. It would do these few good to see a "scrub" game of basketball of the kind that go on in the gymnasium all winter. Class basketball preserves a good deal of this same spirit that makes athletics a pleasure and not a task. Men go into it for the real pleasure of the game; it is a branch of athletics that nearly every one tries his hand at some time. Anything that can give the college more of sport for sport's sake is to be welcomed.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

Sir:—I desire through the columns of The Record to make an appeal to the student-body for their help and co-operation in preserving the lawns and the edges of the walks on the campus.

The college took a great deal of pains during the past summer to have the walks put in condition, making them smooth and serviceable, and laying new ones where they were most needed. The present season of the year, as well as the period in the spring when the frost is leaving the ground, is one of the hardest on the lawns, and it is only by the exercise of constant thought and care that it is possible to keep the turf in good condition. It has become a saying that the paths follow the students, instead of the students the paths.

The college has done so much in the past few years in providing for the comfort and welfare of the men who come here to enjoy its privileges, that I feel sure that the student-body will respond to an appeal like this, and help as far as possible, by using the walks that have been provided, and not render unsightly a campus that can be made one of the most beautiful and attractive in the country. May I, therefore, request this of the undergraduates, trusting that it will be received in the spirit in which it is made.

Yours very truly,
WILLARD E. HOYT.

[The above communication deals with a matter that has given trouble since the first lawn-mower was heard in Williamstown, and probably will continue to give trouble until the campus is one mass of concrete. That it recurs so constantly each year is somewhat discouraging; it seems useless to try to arouse a spirit against it.

It does not need the resources of logic to show that we need to mend our ways. The "hurry-up" spirit that prompts some of us all of the time, and all of us some of the time, to strike out in green fields and pastures new is quite distinctly young-American; yes, a little too young-American. We doubt if the most cheery optimist ever thought that everybody would "keep off the grass;" still, if we can get to the point where only some of us cross lawns some of the time, we will have done our part in beautifying the campus. Considering the amount of money the college spends to add to the campus' attractiveness, we surely ought to be willing to do our trifling share.—Ed.]

The Final Game

nell, who made consistent gains at the head of Amherst's tandem on Weston Field last year, and who possessed such unusual speed for heavy men that they would be sure to have been equally valuable under the new rules. This left only Capt. Hubbard, reelected to lead the team this year. F.
Crook, Gildersleeve, Osborne and Kilbourne to form the nucleus of an eleven. Freshman material has been found to fill the positions of tackle, end and fullback.
Bench, captain of the baseball team, has fitted in at quarter, and the remaining positions have been filled in with last year's substitutes.

The strength of the Amherst eleven is centered in Captain Hubbard. Hubbard was last year chosen All-America half-back by the majority of newspapers and football critics, and has this year played so near his last year's form that Amherst has built its attack and defense around him. On offense he is a never-tiring ground gainer, who makes more yards after he is first tackled than he did before. Against Dartmouth he did practically all of Amherst's gaining, but against Yale Amherst could not make first down. On secondary defense he proved himself last year the best man back of any line that opposed Williams.
He has been doing the punting of the team, made two 70-yard kicks down the wind against Yale, and averaged 50 yards against Dartmouth. He has not yet made any of his practice placement goals from the 48-yard line in a game.

The Amherst ends are weak.
The veteran Crook is in poor condition, and Keating was frequently circled in the Dartmouth game.
On account of this sudden weakening Spring, the baseball catcher, may start the game at left end.
The tackles should be the best-played positions in the line, as Kilbourne was equal to the other Amherst linemen last year, and McCoy has proved the best man in 1910. Guards and center are all players of experience. So far this year no team has been able to pierce this line for consistent gains, but has directed its attack off the tackles, where the weakness of the ends seems to have more than balanced the strength of the tackles.

The backfield, outside of Capt.
Hubbard, is mediocre. Beech, at quarter, is inexperienced and far from brilliant, and the remaining backs are fast, but poor ground gainers. Wiggins, the freshman half, has proved a second Hubbard on defense. The team has used the forward pass successfully, but has been saving its trick plays for Saturday's game. Amherst, to win the game, expects its strong line and its excellent secondary defense to keep Williams from getting within scoring distance, and expects Hubbard, by a brilliant run like his 105-yard sprint against M. A. C. or by repeated line-backing, to make its points.

Amherst, however, has one powerful source of strength that Wesleyan, with all its surprising ability, lacked. The Wesleyan eleven, when its trick plays failed to gain, had little to fall back on in the way of straight football. The Amherst team, outside of what trick plays it may have and what use of the new rules it may make, has a ground-gaining offense and a reliable defense to return to. The eleven is not the product of one season, but of four very successful seasons of old style football that have preceded it, and the team is composed largely of veterans that have been drilled for more than one year under a well-organized coaching system. The Amherst team, in short, is strong in reserve force.

Amherst's Season

Amherst always plays a shorter schedule than its rival colleges, and this year began even later than usual, the first game, with Tufts, not being played until October 13. Against Vermont the team played poorly, but the quick work of the linemen in blocking kicks and recovering fumbles brought Amherst, without making a first down, to Yale's 3-yard line. M. A. C., scoring on drop-kicks, gained ground on cross bucks. Dartmouth, like M. A. C., was unable to overcome the strong Amherst defense when near the goal line, though Stuart made six end runs for 30 yards or better in midfield.

THE FOOTBALL PAST

Scores of All Williams-Amherst Games Ever Played

Williams and Amherst have been football rivals, with but two breaks in the series of games, since 1884. In this 22 years of football the Purple has had much the better results, as Amherst has won but seven of the twenty-two games, and but three, those of 1889, 1891 and 1897 were ties. The points were equally disproportionate, Williams having scored 358 points to Amherst's 198.

Williams had matters all its own way down to 1894, losing but two games in the ten years. Since then Amherst has held Williams nearer even, the games for the last twelve years being five to three in Amherst's favor. The list of games shows some strange reversals of form. Thus, in 1885 Williams defeated Amherst 57 to 0 on the old campus—Amherst's worst defeat—but was only able to win 18 to 15 at Amherst. Again, the Williams lowest point, the 0-60 game of 1892, comes between a 0-0 game in 1891 and a 30-12 game in 1893. Amherst has failed to score in eight games, Williams in four, and two of these 0-0 contests. Last year was the first time Williams had failed to score since 1892.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Green

The annual freshman sophomore evening, talking on the subject "Physical Culture."

The anthem, "Saviour, the Source of All Blessings," sung by the choir in chapel Sunday evening, was composed by Mr. Salter.

On Saturday morning Prof.

of the college entrance examination board at Columbia university.

The college quartette is made up as follows: Pevner '07, first tenor; Yarnelle '07, second tenor; Henry '10, first bass; LaMent '08, second bass.

A student band of fifteen pieces under the leadership of Beecher 1907, has been organized at Am-

Prof. Ferry attended the laying college, in New York city, Friday, as the representative of Williams.

The concert which was to have been given by the musical clubs in Montclair, N. J., on December 21, has been cancelled because the management has been unable to secure an audience room.

On account of the college meet-

The Musical association man-of joint concerts with Amherst and Dartmouth. The dates would be sometime after midyears. The Amherst Outplayed

The Amherst game gratified far more than it disappointed. It was gratifying to know that, whatever the outcome, the Williams eleven outplayed Amherst for the last two-thirds of the contest; it was disappointing that this outplaying could not have been turned into points and thus made the Williams superiority that was so evident to those who saw the game on Pratt Field equally evident to those who make their comparison of teams from scores only.

The charts of the game show Williams' superiority, but not its fighting spirit. Captain Waters' men played the best football they could on such a field, and repeatedly drove an equally stubborn defense down to the last ditch. Amherst has good reason to be proud of the team that defended its goal so well; Williams more reason to be proud of the team that forced the Purple and White to do the defending.

The Basketball Schedule

The basketball schedule for 1907 is printed in another column. The main features of this schedule have been determined by two things; the necessity for a large number of preliminary games to insure the proper development under fire of an untried team, and the restriction by the faculty athletic committee of the number of games permitted. The fact that this year's manager was not elected until this fall was a handicap in securing games, and the management, like that of every other association, has been obliged to see to it that a balance at the end of the season can be assured.

The restriction of the number of games is a continuation of the recognized policy of the faculty committee towards basketball. Last year the number of games allowed was reduced from 23 to 19, this year from 19 to 16, on the basis that basketball, being under the control of one of the three greater associations, is, like hockey, tennis and golf, a minor sport and has been overestimated. At the same time the committee realize that it is the most important winter sport in Williams and should therefore be given a prominent place.

The college body holds a higher view of the importance of basketball than the committee. By turning over the election of the basketball manager to the whole college, it has shown that it is beginning to regard basketball as a major sport, and this feeling is, we think, gaining ground in other colleges. Dartmouth, for example, has even gone so far as to grant the "D" for basketball. It is as much the center of athletic life in winter as baseball and track are in the spring. Although the team has cuts enough to take five trips, the management has been forced, to be able to turn over a balance at the season's end, to make its reduction in out-of-town games, and has thus weakened its schedule. The Record feels that the reduction in the number of games this season, following the substantial reduction of the season before, is not justified by the conditions.

The schedule contains the usual number of games with teams of proven strength. For the third time Harvard is scheduled to play in Williamstown, and it is to be hoped that a third cancellation will not be forced upon the Williams management this year. The Yale game is given a more important place. Of the other members of the Eastern Intercollegiate league, U. of P. makes no trip through Massachusetts. Columbia is out of the question, and it would have been foolish for the interests of the team to have sacrificed any of the preparatory games for Princeton and Cornell.

The newly-formed New England league systematizes the schedule with three of our recognized basketball rivals. Of the others Syracuse is the most conspicuous absentee. Syracuse's request for two games, one on their home court, could not have been complied with in any case under the sixteen-game provision, and negotiations could go no further. It is to be regretted that no game was secured with the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. Although the policy of playing any non-collegiate teams is a poor one, this particular five has been a traditional opponent of the Purple since the first years of Williams basketball, and has always played a clean, fast, open game. Although no trip east was taken by the leading western fives, there is no western college with which The Record would prefer to see Williams holding athletic relations than with Oberlin.

Last year's basketball five was over-trained at the end of the long season. The elimination of all games before the Christmas recess is consequently for the best interests of the team. The schedule preserves a proper balance between hard and easy games and gives the college an opportunity to see almost every team on the list play in Williamstown. In view of the difficulties under which it was made out it must be considered excellent.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULESixteen Games, Thirteen at Home
—Yale, Harvard and Oberlin

The 1907 basketball schedule, as approved by the faculty athletic committee, consists of sixteen games, but three of which are played away from home. Last year eighteen games were played, eleven in Williamstown. The most important absentees from this year's schedule are U. of P., Syracuse and the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. Union college is given a game for the first time on a Williams basketball schedule, and for the first time Williams and Oberlin meet in athletics. According to the provisions of the New England Intercollegiate Basketball League, two games, one in Williamstown and one away from home, are played with Wesleyan, Brown and Dartmouth. Two members of the Eastern Intercollegiate League will play in Williamstown. The schedule follows. The date of the Tufts game is not definitely decided.

Williams Best

In the second half Amherst's attack failed to gain any distance, the five plunges of the Purple and White netting exactly 1 yard.
Williams gained 131 yards in this half and 68 in the first, making 199 yards in all. Amherst gained 112 yards in the first half. Hubbard, as always, was the life of the Amherst eleven. His high galloping run gained many yards at the first of the game, but, when Amherst had the ball on Williams' 10 yard line, two plunges netted him but three yards and a half.
His work on defense was a feature although he backed the strong side of the Amherst line. Atwood gained well on a tandem formation. Spring and Keating, the Amherst ends, were quick in recovering Hubbard's low, driving punts. Though it was almost impossible to control the wet ball, Gildersleeve made but one poor pass during the game.

The Williams offense was united and the formation plays brought good gains. Robb hitting the line hard in the first half, C. Brown and D. Brown making gains in the second half. Most of the gains came through the right side of Amherst's line. The wet field, however, prevented quick turning and cost the Purple many yards.
Once, in the second half, on a quarterback run, Spring was drawn in, McCoy and Wiggins boxed, and Waters had a clear field when he slipped in the mud and fell, losing a yard. Waters used excellent judgment in running the plays, especially by punting in the first half.

In the line the Williams tackles outplayed Amherst. Morse was all over the field, twice capturing short kicks, but most of Amherst's gains were made between him and Gutterson. Gutterson was offside five times and was replaced by Reid in the second half. The Williams backfield handled punts cleverly in the first half but missed four of Hubbard's low punts in the second half. The star work for Williams, however, was done by Elder, who was down the field with unusual speed under kicks and followed the ball so closely that he got the ball three times before the Amherst backs could capture it. He fairly shared the honors of the game with Hubbard.

First Half

Hubbard kicked off to Waters, who ran it in nine yards to the 26-yard line. Waters punted to Amherst's 45-yard line, and Elder fell on the ball. The first play netted 5 yards, C. Brown made 6, Robb 2 and C. Brown 4. Waters kicked out of bounds on Am-herst's 27-yard line, and the Purple and White started their attack, carrying the ball to Williams' 35-yard line, a 16-yard run by Hubbard featuring. Waters punted, and Amherst advanced to the 18-yard line, but was penalized for holding, after making 23 yards on a forward pass, Hubbard to Keating. After the ball had changed hands several times, always in Williams' territory, a forward pass, Hubbard to Crook, put the ball on the 24-yard line, and a kick from formation was recovered on the 11-yard line, but neither Atwood nor Hubbard could budge
the Williams line.

Waters punted to the 32-yard line, and Elder was given the ball on a poor decision. Waters again punted to Amherst's 49-yard line. Amherst failed to gain, and Morse pulled down their short kick from formation. Williams attacked the right side of the Amherst line, Waters keeping the play in the driest part of the field. Robb made 5, and, on the close formation, dredged through for 9 and then 5 more. On the next down he made 1 yard, and Waters punted to the 18-yard line, where Robb fell on the ball. Amherst held for downs, but risked a short kick and lost the ball. Robb made 7 and 2, C. Brown 5, making first down, and then 2. Robb added 33, taking the ball to Amherst's 11-yard line. With 4½ yards to go, Waters' short kick went to Beach, just over Amherst's goal line. Hubbard punted out, and when time was called Amherst had the ball on her 35-yard line.

Second Half

Amherst never got by Williams' 45-yard line in the second half, while Williams was five times inside Amherst's 25-yard line. Gutterson kicked off and Keating ran the ball in 18 yards. Hubbard punted and Waters, on the first play, made 9 yards off Amherst's tackle. After two short gains Waters gathered 7 more and Westbrook 6. C. Brown got 9½ off Kilbourne, taking the ball to the 19-yard line. Williams was forced to kick, Hubbard returned the punt to the 39-yard line and the Williams attack advanced 18 yards in 6 rushes. Later Elder recovered a punt on Amherst's 22-yard line, but Waters was forced to kick to Beach, who made his sensational run.

The Amherst ends captured two kicks, but Williams got the third punt on the 34-yard line. D. Brown, who had replaced Robb, made 2 yards, C. Brown 11 and 2½. Gutterson was offside, but D. Brown made 10 yards straight through the Amherst line. After two gains Williams was penalized again, but on a mix-up of signals Chapman took the ball and ran through Amherst's center for 10½ yards. D. Brown made 8 more, but Hubbard caught the onside kick Williams was forced to make on its 25-yard line. Hubbard punted, Williams was unable to gain, and kicks were exchanged several times. Just before the half closed C. Brown made an onside kick from the Amherst 32-yard line, and Morse fell on the ball 18½ yards from Amherst's goal.

NEW FOOTBALL CONTROL

Six Alumni to Form Graduate Advisory Committee

At a meeting of the Athletic Council last Thursday evening, a new system of control over the football interests of the college was adopted. Under the new provisions a graduate advisory committee of six alumni has been chosen and this will have complete control over all that pertains to football at Williams, subject to the formal ratification of the Athletic Council. The members of the advisory board were selected as follows: Dr. S. B. Newton '91, chairman; C. A. Wright '97, W. M. Rutter '99, R. C. Black 1900, J. A. Hatch 1903, H. T. Watson 1905. The committee is permanent, subject, however, to change at the discretion of the Council.

In theory this committee is to be an arm of the Athletic Council which will only have power except as delegated to it by the Council. Its primary object will be to determine the field coaches each year, to advise the manager in his selection of a schedule, to determine just what alumni will assist the coach in his work with the eleven, and, in general, to direct the coaching of the team and the general football policy of the college.

The chief aim of the new system is to prevent the football system acquired in one season from dying with the end of that season. Under the new conditions there will be a body whose business it is to take charge of football matters after the season, and to prepare for the succeeding one. In the words of Coach Hatch, "the work for next year's football team started this morning." The records of games, successful plays and teamwork are to be carefully filed and referred to in successive seasons for the development of future elevens. Under the operation of this system the football team of each year is not the product of that season only, but of preceding seasons. A method in some respects similar to this has proved one of the secrets of success of the Yale elevens.

Death of Wilhelmus Mynderse '71

Wilhelmus Mynderse '71, one of the foremost members of the New York bar, died suddenly at his home, 94 Joralemon street, Brooklyn, Thursday evening, Nov. 15. Mr. Mynderse was born at Seneca Falls, N. Y., November 25, 1849, and prepared for college at Mount Pleasant Military academy, Sing Sing, N. Y. He graduated from Williams in the class of 1871, and joined the staff of the New York Sun, temporarily. He soon decided to take up law, and entered Columbia Law school, where he graduated in 1875. His practice commenced with the firm of Butler, Stillman and Hubbard, with which he continued to the time of his death. In January, 1895, the firm became Butler, Notman, Joline and Mynderse. It continued under this name until 1905, when it became Butler, Notman and Mynderse. The firm had offices at 54 Wall street.

Mr. Mynderse had been called the head of the admiralty bar in this country. He had many of the great English firms as his clients, including the London Lloyds. He was a trustee of the Long Island Historical society, the Brooklyn hospital, the Church Charity Foundation of Long Island, and the Brooklyn Academy of Music, and vice-Chancellor of the Cathedral of the Incarnation at Garden city. He was also director of four New York banks and trust companies, and three insurance companies; and belonged to the Grolier, Church, and University clubs, the Downtown Association and the Hamilton club of Brooklyn.

Mr. Mynderse has for many years contributed funds for the use of the Williams Art department; he at first contributed to the Art association, but in 1899 he offered to support the association for five years as an experiment. He has since that date furnished funds for the purchase of equipment and material, aided also by Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson and Mr. Frederick Beach Jennings.

THE ANNUAL FLUKE

1909 Wins Deserved Victory 5-0

By Blocked Punt

In a close game with many exciting moments 1909 won the underclass football contest yesterday afternoon, played on Weston Field in a drizzling rain. The condition of the field prevented open play, and thus discounted the value of the strong freshman ends. Only one forward pass was tried. Brown to Engelhard, resulting in a 15-yard gain. The slimy ball alipped several times from the hands of the backs, and the resulting scrambles for the ball gave the exciting features of the game. The 1909 victory seemed sure until the freshmen gamely held for downs on their 1-yard line; but when Stevens' punt was blocked by Swain, Robb fell on the ball back of the line for a touchdown. Thus, although the sophomore touchdown came by the annual fluke, the score may be said to indicate the true strength of the teams. The sophomore backfield worked as one; and indeed the superiority of 1909 was due chiefly to team play, which the freshmen, on offense, lacked very much. The sophomores made consistent gains by line-bucks by Robb and Westbrook through the tackles and guards. Robb excelled for 1909, and was well supported by the other backs. Stevens' punting was the feature of 1910's game.

Wadsworth won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Brown ran the kick-off back to the 1909 20-yard line. Robb and Brown each gained five yards through the line, but the freshmen held on the next play. 1909 then failed to make the required distance, but the ball went back to the sophomores on a fumble. A double pass and four line plays netted 25 yards, and placed the ball in freshman territory. 1909 was penalized 5 yards, Lewis was thrown for a loss, and Stevens punted. The freshmen held for downs, but were forced to kick, Stevens' long punt going over the

VOL. 20 NOV. 22, 1906 No. 40

Our Minor Activities

There is probably no small college in the country where undergraduate interests and activities are so well systematized as at Williams. From 'varsity team to camera club almost every possible interest is organized and leads a more or less active existence. We have more student organizations than Dartmouth, where there are twice the number of undergraduates, with the result that there is scarcely any man so sluggish as not to be interested in some one among this multitude, while most of the men that can get things done are prominent in two or three.

If a man enters everything in which he is interested, his time is too crowded; one organization takes from another and all the activities cut into the work of the curriculum. The man who conscientiously tries to follow his bent in college and at the same time both do justice to his college work and get those many less tangible benefits that do not come from the study of books is likely to put the question squarely to himself: Are our many activities worth while?

Every one of these activities is, we think, quite worth while. Since no one doubts the value of the larger organizations, the question comes down to the minor activities where our reward is more largely what we get out of them ourselves than what the college gives us for doing work for its interests. These are, in general, poorly supported by the student body, not to be wondered at when we consider how few we are, how many the clubs and societies that we support, and how few of us have time to get really interested in a minor organization. We do not think those at the head of these organizations should be discouraged by this lack of interest. If even but one or two men are led to careful work or earnest thought by the stimulus they gain in such a society, that society has shown it has a reason for being. To give concrete examples, the two papers read by students at the closing meeting of the Classical society last year entirely justified that society's existence, however much mechanical or half-hearted work may have been put upon the student portion of the other meetings. Interest in the old Deutscher Verein may have been generally slight, but when a few students could show so much interest as to give a German play, was the club not entirely worth while?

Leaving aside the good the student members of any association get from the talks of the faculty members, we must also consider the good the college gets, in addition to the good the club gets. These organizations are instrumental in securing speakers who address the whole student-body on more or less popular themes. It is here, rather than in lack of interest in these activities, that we fail of our duty. The attendance of the student-body at the evening lectures given by the various associations in past winters has been inexcusably small.

Most of us will never again have so good a chance to get free knowledge and culture with so little effort on our part as here. Most of us will never again have so good a chance to hear men who are authorities in their chosen field. To be sure, only one or two of us have the time for the careful work or earnest thought, but we all ought to have the time to give over an hour or two to listening to the result of some other man's work on what we should be interested in for our own good. The demands of the curriculum, of course, often interfere with some, but if it was the curriculum that kept all but twenty or thirty of us away, North Adams could not keep two theatres running all winter. That we have not attended in greater number what few lectures we have had in the past seems to say that we do not really care for any education except what we are required to get. We can scarcely expect the tedium of the winter evenings to be relieved more than it has been if we do not show a better appreciation of such opportunities as we have been given, but which so few of us seem to have realized.

Editor of the Record:

Sir:—As an alumnus who has noted the various changes in college customs for more than thirty years, and who believes that only the best of them should be retained, I would like to enter a protest against the ringing of the college bell except for "championship" victories.While it is true that a "League" no longer exists, and the Athletic Council decides annually "what games are to be considered 'championship' games," still it is well known that only games with teams in previous leagues are recognized, hence the ringing of the bells for a victory over Colgate is one of those changes in custom which does not appeal to old traditions.In far worse taste, to say nothing of established custom, has been the ringing of the bell for tie-scores with both Dartmouth and Amherst, implying that we expected defeat in each instance.

Yours truly,

F. W. Olds '76.

CLASS BASKETBALL1907 and 1910 Win Opening Games of Series

The interclass basketball season opened yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium, the games resulting in victories for the seniors and freshmen by runaway scores.
With the exception of the senior team, lack of practice was clearly evident. The passing and accurate shooting of the senior team were features of the contests. The freshmen played well together and at times did some good passing.
1908 and 1909 were weak in shooting and team play.

1907. 34; 1909, 3

The seniors played the sophomores, winning 34 to 3. In the first period the sophomores did not score while the seniors made 13 points. In the second half the seniors improved their shooting and scored 19 points. Durfee shot accurately and frequently got free from his man. The sophomore guarding was very loose.
Horrox threw the only basket for his team by a long shot from the side. The seniors used substitutes in the last part of the game, and scored but once.

Time 15-minute periods.

1910, 23; 1908, 13

The junior-freshman game was closer, but the underclassmen had the game well in hand at all times.
Fouls were called frequently, but neither side converted many into into points. Lambie scored first, batting the ball in from the side, and, after three fouls had been called, Lewis made the best shot of the day with a throw from the side half the length of the floor.
Lambie shot another basket, and Fuller by clever dodging caged one. The first period ended with the score 9 to 3 in the freshmen's favor. Scoring was more frequent in the second half, Templeton and Harman caging three each.
Lambie and Templeton did the best work for 1910, Watters and B.
P. Allen for 1908.

line for a touchback. After the punt-out the sophomores gained the ball on a fumble and made first down, but Wadsworth was thrown for a loss, and Brown punted 30 yards. 1910 was penalized 15 yards for holding and Stevens punted to the middle of the field. After four plays the half ended with the ball on 1906's 30-yard line.

Brown started the second half by kicking off to Cheney, who brought the ball to the freshmen's 35 yard line. Although 1909 was penalized 5 yards, 1910 could not gain, and Stevens tried an on-side kick which Pike secured at the sidelines. After two short gains, 1909 made 15 yards on the only forward pass of the game. Brown's inside kick, 10 yards by Robb, and Morse's quick recovery of a fumble brought the ball to the 1910 10-yard line. 1909 could make but 9 yards in four plays against the strong freshman defense, and the ball changed hands on downs, but 1 yard from the goal line. Stevens dropped back of the goal line to punt out of danger, but Swain broke through the line and blocked the kick. Robb secured the ball after two freshmen had attempted to fall on it. Westbrook heeled Brown's punt-out, but Wadsworth's drop-kick for goal fell short.

Powell's kick-off, 15 yards penalty for sophomore holding, and a fumble placed the ball on the 1909 17-yard line in the freshman's possession. Two more 5-yard penalties were offset by two freshmen losses, and 1910 was held for downs. Brown punted out of danger, Stevens returned the kick, and time was called with the ball on the 1909 12-yard line in their possession.

CATULLUS AND LESBIA

Address by Dr. Wetmore Before
First Meeting of Classical Society

The first monthly meeting of the Classical society for this year was held in the west wing of the library Tuesday evening. Eight meetings in all will be held during the year as well as a lecture by some speaker secured from outside. The season's program has not yet been fully completed.

At Tuesday's meeting Asst. Prof. Wetmore, assisted by members of Latin 3, who read the several poems brought up, read a paper on the chronological arrangement of the Lesbia poems of Catullus. The following men read: Porter 1907. Aldrich, Deyo, Hill, Sheldon, Walker 1908. Lesbia was probably the infamous Claudia, or Clodia, sister of the still more infamous P. Clodius Pulcher. Though married, she was considered by Catullus almost his lawful wife. The poet, hot-headed and young, thought himself upright and pure in his love for this woman and was certainly sincere. Not until he found out her true character did he recoil from her and thus atone for his sins. To this woman whom he addressed as Lesbia, Catullus inscribed some of his most spontaneous and most beautiful poetry.

The poems can be divided into three groups—the first breathing out his undivided adoration, the second the quarrel and reconciliation, the third his growing distrust of her character and the final break. The poems, which are usually numbered as in the earliest editions, were rearranged in chronological order by Dr. Wetmore. In the first group come poems 2, 3, 5, 7, 51, 53, 92, 43 and 86. In these poems Catullus raves over Lesbia's kisses and beauty. Under the second group were read numbers 8, 107 and 36, in which she tires of him, and at last returns to him only because he may be useful to her. In the third group 109, 70, 73, 77, 104, 87, 75, 72 and 55 were read. Catullus still loves Lesbia, and this love he never loses, but all respect and hope of reconciliation are gone. The poet prays to the gods to be cured of his love for the woman he is coming to despise through all his devotion, but never does he forget the old Lesbia, his ideal of the good and beautiful. Finally, even this ideal of a glorified Lesbia is shattered, and there is nothing left but the repulsive reality of Clodia (though he always calls her by her assumed name)—the woman whose depravity was the common talk of Rome.

Of all the Roman poets Catullus can be said to have spoken most freely from his heart. Lesbia ruined his life, but she also gave the world one of the greatest masters of poetry.

Honor System in Other Colleges

Prof. Rice, who was the Williams faculty representative at the recent conference of New England college presidents, held at New Haven, has given out that this movement, started at Williams, is regarded in all of the New England colleges except two with favor. The first honor system adopted in New England was started under the direction of Prof. Rice among the members of the class of 1896.

The honor system has been in use at Wesleyan for several years past and at Amherst for a single year, and wherever introduced has proved a success. The present senior class at Yale is endeavoring to introduce it in that university and the prospects are that it will be adopted there within a year.

Little sympathy for the system is expressed by Harvard, where the old stock argument of the artificiality of an honor statement is still maintained. An attempt was made to introduce it at Brown a few years ago, but it was unsuccessful because of the opposition by both faculty and students. The movement, however, is again being agitated there with a better outlook for success.

Faculty opposition rather than student indifference has proved to be the usual rock on which the adoption of an honor system has been wrecked. Before leaving for New Haven Prof. Rice obtained a vote from the Williams faculty showing their attitude toward the system, which was unanimously favorable. Sympathy toward it was expressed by the representatives at the conference from Amherst, Boston University, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Middlebury, Tufts, Vermont, Wesleyan and Yale.

OBITUARIES

'66—Hon. Abram Olin Whipple, one of the pioneer settlers of North Dakota, died at his home at Devils Lake, N. D., on May 19, after an illness of many months. Mr. Whipple was born at Shaftsbury, Vt., and graduated from Williams in the class of 1866. After graduation he went west and located at Faribault, Minn., where he studied law for several years in the law office of Gordon E. Cole, and was later superintendent of schools of Rice County, Minn. He removed to Devils Lake, N. D., when it was but a hamlet, and was one of the earliest settlers of Ramsey county. He established in 1885 the First National bank of that town, of which he was president for twenty years. He is survived by two sons, Ten Broeck Whipple 1902 and Howard G. Whipple 1903.

'68—Gordon Shillito, a retired business man of Cincinnati, died at the home of his brother, Stewart Shillito, in that city on November 3. Heart trouble was the cause of his death. He was born in Cincinnati, prepared for college at the Mount Pleasant Military Academy at Ossining, N. Y., and graduated from Williams in the class of 1868. He engaged in mercantile business, being a member of John Shillito & Co., a large dry goods firm doing an extensive business abroad. He was for many years manager of the Paris house of the firm.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

Review of November Number by Prof. Morton

The Literary Monthly for November is pleasant reading. There is little or no slovenly English, the standard of excellence having risen steadily of late. Considering that we cannot expect mature productions and that we cannot enter into the minutiae of verbal criticism, there is not much to gratify the fault-finder. Let him be content with suggesting that more vigor and robustness is the next quality to strive for.

Mr. Leeds has two contributions, the first well written, though somewhat disconcerting, and the second an appreciative study of Clough in rhythmical and poetic prose and with fine idealism as well as a refreshing love of sincerity.

Bliss Perry's book on Whitman is reviewed by Mr. Westermann. The tone is fair and judicious. We regret that the author had to be content with exposition when he had such a fine subject for a psychological study. "The egotist had become the philanthropist, but a quiet and unobtrusive one." We are skeptical of such transformations in plays; when found in real life they challenge our analysis. Perhaps we may have from the author a subsequent treatment of Whitman along these lines.

Apis Mellifera is neat and clever, in good, crisp style. What more need be said?

Turning to the poetry, the two poems of Mr. Gibson we find, as usual, delicate, sometimes exquisite, really poetic. If defect there be, it is in too regular a verse structure. Reading them aloud it is difficult to avoid singing. While short poems do not allow of much variation, there should be enough deliberate substitution of feet to break up the tendency to beat time.

The Forest Perilous is spirited, with good swing and enticing rhythm, as befits the chosen form. What improvement might be suggested is of the kind which comes with practice, simply working out what is evidently congenial to the author's nature. Mr. Loomis suffers more than the other contributors from the imperfect proof-reading of this issue. For "crow" read "cove," and for "split" read "spilt." It is a pity to spoil the impression of earnestness by such carelessness.

This Monthly as a whole is good without that distinction which it sometimes attains, but which cannot be demanded of every number. If the average does not fall below this level the editors will have no reason to be ashamed.

A. H. M.

At a meeting of the freshman class this afternoon in Jesup Hall, samples of class sweaters were shown by the committee. After the meeting the 1910 class picture was taken on the steps of Hopkins Hall.

CLASS GAMES

Seniors and Freshmen Win By Runaway Scores

The seniors won their second game in the interclass basketball series in Lasell Gymnasium Saturday afternoon by defeating the juniors 31 to 12. During the first half of the first period, both sides failed to score. The play was fast, guarding was close, and there were few opportunities for shots. About the middle of the half, the senior team began to show its superiority. Durfee and Warren started the scoring by throwing a basket each in quick succession, and at the end of the half the score was 17-2 in 1907's favor. 1908 scored most of its points after the senior second team went in in the middle of the second half. Out of seven fouls called, Warren threw one, and Watters none. Warren and A. R. Wilson excelled in basket-throwing.

The underclass game was neither so interesting nor so well played as that between the seniors and juniors. The sophomore passing and shooting was poor. The short passing of the freshmen was the best of the day, but Lewis' long passes were often wild.

Lewis covered well, and Lambie's basket-shooting was quick and sure. Templeton, when free from his man, shot with unusual accuracy for a class game. Westbrook started the scoring with a basket from almost the center of the floor, and the freshmen added thirteen more goals to this in the first period. The sophomore team play was ragged, and there were but two goals to the credit of 1909 in the first half. The sophomores improved slightly in the second half, making four baskets to the freshmen's seven.

B. P. ALLEN 1908 FIRST IN

Cross-Country Run in Slow Time
—Five Men Finish

For the second time in two years B. P. Allen '08 took the winner's cup for the annual cross-country run. The distance, from South Williamstown to the gymnasium, a little less than five miles, was covered by him in 27 minutes and 50 seconds, just 50 seconds slower than his time in the 1905 run. Wilder '07 pushed Allen so hard all the way that it was only the final sprint up Spring street that determined the winner.

Soon after the start from the Hotel Idlewild, South Williamstown, Allen, Bonner and Wilder took the lead, Bonner dropping a little behind after a few hundred yards. In passing through Sweet's Corners Allen and Wilder were on even terms, and here also Fisher '09 took fourth place from Lawrence '07 and held it to the finish. At the red bridge, about half way between Sweet's Corners and Williamstown, Allen and Wilder were still shoulder to shoulder, the latter appearing to be in fresher condition; Bonner followed at a hundred feet. Just before turning into Spring street, Allen drew ahead of Wilder and finished twenty feet in the lead. Bonner coming nearly a minute later.

The order of finish was as follows: B. P. Allen '08, Wilder '07, Bonner '09, Fisher '09 and Lawrence '07.

Bronze Tablet to Rev. Dr. Booth

A bronze tablet to the memory of Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., LL. D. '49, for thirty-nine years a Williams trustee, has been placed in the vestibule of the Rutgers Riverside church in New York city. The inscription follows: "To the memory of the Reverend Robert Russell Booth, D. D., LL. D., Fifth Pastor of the Rutgers Presbyterian church. Born May 16, 1830; Died November 23, 1905, in the twentieth year of his official relation to this church and the fifty-third year of his ministry. Moderator of the General Assembly in 1895. 'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.'"
